More Floods, More Trouble
But Look At China
Dirigibles Stay Up
War Creeps Nearer

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

STILL MORE FLOODS threaten. Levees of the Mississippi valley are watched day and night, the river constantly rising. Many are flocking to high ground, in five states. In these emergencies the American army and marines might be made useful, as soldiers are made useful, in other countries. The work would not be undignified, but heroic.

IF YOU THINK we have hard times in America, look at China's Szechuan province. Half a dozen lines are devoted to this information. Twenty million Chinese starving, famine follows devastating red army; the last chicken stolen, grain and seed gone, terrible hunger and disease. There are gruesome accounts of the sale of human flesh, of Cannibalism and the sale of children by starving parents.

They have on "over-production" in China, no "machines taking the bread out of workmens' mouths," nevertheless, the bread is "out."

THE NEW ZEPPELIN, in spite of engines out of order on her return from Brazil to Germany, kept on her way at fifty miles an hour, fighting winds over the Mediterranean. That is one advantage of a dirigible—she stays up. The heavier-than-air plane, with engine trouble, comes down.

IT WAS NECESSARY to get radio permission from France to take the short cut home and fly over French territory, on the theory that each country owns all space above its soil up to the fixed stars. That means considerable space, the earth revolving on its axis as it turns 'round the sun, which is going heaven knows where.

The atmosphere, only another ocean, should be free to every flier, at a certain height above ground, as the ocean is of water free to every ship, a certain distance from shore.

Exclusive rights to space are silly, since enemy bomb dropping ships would come anyhow.

MORE TENSION, more unpleasantness between England and Italy. Anthony Eden, the British foreign secretary, tells the league that England will think up "new penalties" against Italy.

Mussolini not disturbed, and not interested in talking peace, intimates that Mr. Eden may go ahead and think to his heart's content, now that Italy has beaten Ethiopia, with England's permission.

Most disagreeable for England, Italy suggests that one war more or less would make little difference to her; it probably wouldn't, since the real fighting will be air fighting.

ENGLAND KNOWS what kind of war is coming, if it does come, and will spend fifty million dollars more for airplanes, this year, with a greater increase next year.

This year's appropriation will exceed two hundred and sixty million dollars. Who would have believed that when Bleriot was flying his rickety little plane across the English channel, twenty-five years ago, to win Northcliffe's ten thousand pound prize.

WAR IS COSTLY and a frightful nuisance to England. The British Isles cannot feed the British people; recently there was not enough wheat in England, Scotland and Wales to feed the people for two weeks. England must import and store great quantities of wheat, probably from Canada where 220,000,000 bushels are in reserve. She must store vast supplies of oil, and has already ordered the gradual delivery of 40,000,000 gas masks, one for everybody; all much waste effort.

WHAT WE NEED to store here is the biggest, most efficient fleets of airplanes and submarines, then invite the rest of the world to come and look at them.

DEATH IS DECREED FOR TWO SLAYERS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 11.—(AP)—For the $14 robbery-slaying of Jasper A. Milliken, two youthful ex-reformatory inmates were convicted tonight by a jury which decreed electrocution sentences for both.

The two, Howard Dunn, 22, and William Farmer, 19, both of Knoxville, had hoped testimony of insanity would save them from the electric chair.

"Show no mercy," District Attorney General J. Carlton loser had shouted to the jury two hours before the verdict was returned. "They showed no mercy to Milliken," loser added.

In prosecution testimony, Dunn had been quoted as saying that Farmer shot Milliken while the latter, a mild-mannered, 42-year-old employe in the state division of markets, pleaded for a "square deal."

3 MEN DROWNED AS AIRSHIP AND LAUNCH COLLIDE

Big Puerto Rican Clipper Strikes Boat In Take-Off From Harbor

MIAMI, Fla., April 11.—(AP)—A 19-ton queen of the southern skyways, the Puerto Rican clipper, collided with a launch while it was taking off from the harbor of Port-of-Spain, Trinidad today, costing the lives of two passengers and the plane's steward.

The dead are E. Roman Martinez, 52, of Havana, export manager for the Eagle Pencil company of New York.

Eric C. Brough of London, England.

Amadeo Lopez, 24, of Miami, the dining steward.

A pontoon struck the launch and water poured into the damaged hull of the 35 passenger Miami-Rio de Janeiro-Buenos Aires airliner, drowning the three men who were unable to escape.

Jose Iturbi, world famous pianist, escaped from the flooded compartments with 15 other passengers and six crewmen.

The airliner, first announced by Pan American airways as the Brazilian clipper, but later said by them to be a sister ship, the Puerto Rican, left here Thursday on the regular passenger, mail and express flight of six days down South America's east coast to Buenos Aires.

Among the rescued, some of whom Pan American officials here said suffered apparently not serious cuts and bruises in the hasty exit from the crippled airliner, were:

Iturbi and his secretary, Miss Jean Dalrymple. Iturbi, winging to fill 14

TITTERTON DEATH PROBE IS PUSHED

Ring Of Doorbell May Have Signalled Murder Of Young Authoress

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—The shrill ring of her doorbell, detectives suggested tonight, may have signalled the murder of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton, in her Beekman place apartment yesterday.

Wiley Straughn, delivery boy for a tailor shop, told investigators into the 34-year-old crime writer's death that he rang the bell several times at half past eleven yesterday morning—the hour Mrs. Titterton's death is believed to have occurred.

An autopsy showed today that the woman, wife of an executive of the National Broadcasting company, died of "strangulation by ligature" following a criminal assault. Her body, virtually nude, was found in the bathtub of the Titterton apartment at 22 Beekman place—a short, narrow street, paralleling the East river on which many well known persons make their homes.

Straughn told detectives he went to the five story brownstone apartment building to deliver a dress.

He said he had been instructed to ring the downstairs lobby bell and if there was no answer he was not to go

25 PERSONS TAKE RABIES TREATMENT

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 11.—(AP)—Twenty-five persons in two localities near here were taking anti-rabies treatments today following discovery of hydrophobia and the death of a two-year-old child.

Two cows suffering from the disense in Etowah sent 15 residents of that town to physicians for treatment, Dr. E. M. Akins said, while the death of two-year-old Joan Hughes of Soddy caused ten persons to take treatment in that community.

Little Joan was bitten five weeks ago by her pet dog but the family was not alarmed, even after finding the dog dead the following day. Thursday when her condition became critical she was brought to a hospital here but she died 18 hours later.

Dr. Akins said eight persons, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gravley and their six children, had drunk milk from one of the cows in Etowah while others had handled the animal or helped dispose of the carcass. She was killed when she tried to bite everyone who came near her. The other cow's milk had not been used.

EASTER SERVICES TO BE CONDUCTED

Elaborate Musical Programs Will Be Heard At All Churches

The various churches of Monroe and West Monroe will observe Easter Sunday with appropriate ceremonies. Special services, sermons and elaborate musical selections, often by augmented choirs, will be heard. Special masses will be celebrated in St. Matthew's Catholic church and Grace Episcopal church will have a greatly enlarged choir.

At the First Baptist church, the pastor, Rev. L. T. Hastings, will preach on "The Sevenfold Glory of the Risen Christ." The Knights Templar will attend this service in a body.

The First Methodist church will have the usual preaching services. There will be an infant baptism Sunday at 4 p.m. and an elaborate cantata at 7:45 p.m. This is entitled "The Dawn of the Kingdom." The music is by J. Truman Wolcott. Mrs. Clyde V. Sanders is directing the presentation, with Mrs. John Sholars as organist. Jack May will present the baritone parts and Conrad Cage will give the tenor.

An Easter service sponsored by the Frank P. Stubbs Memorial Bible class will be held at the Paramount theater at 9:45 a.m. Adult Woman's Bible classes of the church will attend and

MOTORMAN ROBBED BY NEGRO BANDITS

Two unidentified negroes, one of whom was armed with a .22 rifle, held up Pete Heflet, streetcar operator at the end of the Lee avenue line Saturday night about 8:30 o'clock.

Heflet told police that he had just switched his trolley preparing to make the run to town, when the two negroes commanded him to hand over his money. The one with the rifle threatened to shoot Heflet. His companion, however, persuaded him to take the money about $9 in small change and bills, and leave the motorman unharmed.

The holdup occured near a spot which has been the scene of four stickups by bandits in the past several years, in each case the victim being a street car motorman.

Heflet was operating car number 108 and was carrying no passengers at the time he was robbed.

CALLES SAYS MEXICO IS SWEPT BY CHAOS

EL PASO, Texas, April 11.—(AP)—General Plutarco Elias Calles, shorn Samson of Mexico, declared today he had been banished by a "country swept with chaos" as he paused in his hurried air trip to a California exile.

Despite his insistence that he is "through with politics," the now-weakened "strong-man" told questioners that he wants to return to his native country.

During his brief luncheon stop here Calles assailed in bitter terms the man who sent him into forced exile.

WORLD OBSERVES CLOSE OF LENT

Christians Proclaim The Resurrection Of Jesus Of Nazareth

(By Associated Press)

Christians throughout the world today proclaimed the resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth with appropriate ceremonies bringing to a close the annual 40 days of Lenten mourning.

Contrasting with the more sombre character of the pre-Easter religious observances, preparations at home and abroad were made for a joyful Sunday holiday.

From Vatican City, seat of the Catholic church, came an appeal for world peace, addressed to all the nations through the newspaper Osservatore Romano. The paper lamented that:

"Our dramatic world continues to exchange the cult of life for the cult of fire and force.

"Force, placed above the laws of justice, has come to be the supreme law of history."

Across the Mediterranean and half of Africa armed forces of Italy's Mussolini relentlessly pursued the apparently depleted forces accompanying Emperer Haile Selassie in northern Ethiopia.

At London Queen Mary expressed the wish that all save the court should go out of mourning for the late king, George V, after Easter.

Fashionable New Yorkers, diplomatic and governmental figures at the nation's capital, parades along Chicago's Michigan boulevard, movie folk in Hollywood—in fact, persons in all walks of life—greeted Easter with Sunday best, hopeful that favorable weather forecasts for the day would be borne out.

Angry Spokesmen Tell Senate Committee Of Alleged Armament Plan

CLAIM TEAR GAS AND CLUBS ARE GATHERED

Weapons Declared Ready For Use In Event Of Strikes And Disorders

By PrPeston L. Grover
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—Angry labor spokesmen told a senate committee today there was a mass movement of machine guns, tear gas and police clubs into industrial centers for use in curbing strikes and disorders.

The testimony was given in the quiet of a senate committee room while a mile away, in the heart of Washington, 500 delegates to the Workers Alliance convention conducted a noisy but orderly march to the white house—in company of a hundred policement—to ask President Roosevelt to back their request for a six billion dollar relief program. They marched away, complaining no assurance was given that the president would do anything.

J. P. Harris, red haired Portsmouth, Ohio, steel worker, was the first to appear before the senate labor subcommittee with stories of industrial plants "aiming" for possible conflict with labor. In support of his assertions came a mass of data compiled by the senate munitions investigating committee and presented at the hearing by Heber Blankenhorn, an employe of the national labor relations board.

At one point, Harris testified that he knew the Wheeling Steel Corp.,

RED CROSS ASKS MORE AID HERE

Additional $2,500 Sought In Parish For Tornado Sufferers

A new appeal for additional disaster relief contributions, growing out of the appalling destruction to life and property in five southern states last Sunday and Monday, was received by C. R. Tidwell, chairman of the Ouachita chapter of the American Red Cross Saturday afternoon.

A telegram from Richard F. Allen, manager of the eastern area of the American Red Cross, urged that an additional $2,500 be raised in this parish over and above the $1,500 already assigned to Ouachita parish chapter in previous relief appeals following the floods in the northeastern sections of the country.

About $1,300 had already been subscribed to meet the previous requests for aid, Chairman Tidwell said. Immediate plans to raise the additional funds required were being worked out by the finance committee of the local chapter in response to the appeal.

"We trust that every citizen of Ouachita parish will contribute generously to this worthy cause," Tidwell said.

D. A. R. Urges River Bridge Be Named For Juan Filhiol

By a curious coincidence, almost simultaneously with the announcement at Baton Rouge Saturday that the new bridge over the Ouachita is to be officially named the "P. M. Atkins bridge," the Fort Miro chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in a meeting held Saturday afternoon, adopted resolutions asking that Governor James A. Noe use his authority in having the bridge named the "Don Juan Filhiol bridge."

Action by the D. A. R. was the culmination of a long-entertained plan on the part of the members to urge that a public memorial to the founder of Monroe should be erected in this city and West Monroe. A proposal to name the bridge after the Spanish adventurer who established the first organized community on the Ouachita river has at various times been informally discussed, it was stated Saturday by officers of the Fort Miro chapter, but no definite action was taken until the announcement last Thursday that the official opening of the bridge would occur May 1 next. Following this development the members of the chapter at their meeting Saturday adopted formal resolutions incorporating their proposal in a request to the governor to take action to perpetuate the memory of Don Juan Filhiol. The members were wholly unaware that an official announcement had been made in Baton Rouge earlier in the day fixing the name "P. M. Atkins bridge," as the name of the historic structure.

The resolution adopted by the D. A. R., which was forwarded to Governor Noe Saturday, follows:

"Whereas, Don Juan Filhiol, founder of Monroe and West Monroe, gallant soldier who built the first fort on the Ouachita river, at the end of Calypso street, for the protection of the first white settlers along its banks, and who lies buried in West Monroe, La., has never been honored by a monument of any kind; and

"Whereas, the bridge now being constructd at Louisville avenue, Monroe, would make a fitting memorial to his memory.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the Daughters of the American Revolution, Fort Miro chapter, in regular meeting convened, this eleventh day of April, 1936, petition his excellency, Governor James A. Noe to use his authority to have the bridge named 'Don Juan Filhiol bridge, built by the Long-Allen administration.'"

New Ouachita Span Will Be Named 'P. M. Atkins Bridge'

Monroe Business Man To Be Honored At Dedication On May 1st

The new traffic bridge over the Ouachita river, which is to be officially opened with elaborate ceremony under auspices of state, parish and Twin City auspices, on May 1, will be known as the "P. M. Atkins bridge."

Announcement to this effect was made by A. P. Tugwell, chairman of the Louisiana highway commission, at Baton Rouge Saturday.

The signal honor accorded Mr. Atkins, president of the Monroe Hardware company of Monroe, is made, Chairman Tugwell said, "in recognition of the hearty cooperation he has given to the state highway commission, in his loyal and enthusiastic support of the bridge project ever since its inception, and his earnest efforts in aiding the ultimate completion of the plans for this undertaking which has so great importance to the welfare of the people of north Louisiana."

Mr. Atkins, who is a colonel on the staff of Gov. Noe, will be one of the speakers at the celebration to be held in Monroe and West Monroe on the occasion of the opening ceremonies.

The celebration will bring to Monroe a great gathering of high administration officials and prominent persons from all parts of the state. Governor Noe, who will be accompanied by a delegation of his staff, will be the principal speaker. Governor Noe's little daughter, Gay Noe, will officiate in cutting the ribbon which will mark the opening of the bridge.

LUER KIDNAPER HELD AT DALLAS

DALLAS, April 11.—(AP)—Dallas police today arrested Lloyd (Blackie) Doyle of St. Louis, sought since 1933 in connection with the kidnaping of August Luer, aged Alton, Ill. resident, in 1933.

Doyle, under a state indictment for the Illinois kidnaping, was arrested as he rode in an automobile with a woman in a residential section.

Shortly after police placed him in jail secretly, another man and woman were arrested in a northeast Dallas apartment house.

Luer was kidnaped from his home at Alton in 1933 by desperadoes who knocked Mrs. Luer to the floor when she attempted to interfere, Frank Blake, chief of the Dallas bureau of investigation, department of justice, said.

37 INDICTMENTS BY GRAND JURY

Parish Investigating Body Requests Suppression Of Gambling

Thirty-seven true bills were returned by the Ouachita parish grand jury Saturday noon upon the completion of its investigations for the spring term of district court, which convenes here Monday, May 4. Twenty cases were "no-billed" and four cases were pretermitted or continued.

The grand jury reported that "pursuant to law, we have made an inspection of the courthouse and parish jail and as a result of said inspection, we urgently request that the police jury take immediate steps to have the interior of the court house and the jail repainted, and that the covers to all drain pipes in the jail be replaced.

"The question of gambling has been carefully considered, and it is requested by this body that all local law enforcement officers (city, parish and state), use diligent effort to suppress gambling in all forms, and especially the operation of slot machines, marble tables, and all other types of mechanical devices used for gambling purposes."

No cases of outstanding interest are to be tried in the spring court term, the list of true bills showed. The defendant facing the most serious charge is Nottie Lee Jones, negro woman accused of manslaughter in the death of George Thomas, negro. The woman originally was charged with murder, but was indicted for manslaughter.

In one case which was given an element of surprise Wednesday during the grand jury's investigations, Solomon S. Sheftall and R. B. Alexander, local young men who previously had not been accused in the case, were indicted for assault with intent to rob Henry C. Mickie, of Monroe. W. L. Applin, Port Gibson, Miss., youth, alone had been charged with the offense, but after his case came before

AIR BASE SOLDIER GRAVELY WOUNDED

SHREVEPORT, La., April 11.—(AP)—The discharge of a machine gun mounted on a pursuit plane may cost the life of a New Orleans soldier who was wounded at Barksdale field Saturday morning.

Private Sidney J. Collongues, 21, of the 71st Service Squadron, was wounded in the back with a 30 caliber machine gun bullet while standing in front of a target during synchronization and harmonization of tone of the guns.

At the post hospital he was reported in a serious condition Saturday night. He was given a blood transfusion after the mishap.

The bullet entered his back just below the left shoulder and emerged in front over his right lung. He lost considerable blood before reaching the post hospital a mile away.

He was standing about 60 yards in front of the plane when the command "clear" was given. It was believed he did not hear the command.

EXPERTS STUDY LEAKS IN PROPOSED REVENUE PLAN

WASHINGTON, April 11. — (AP) — While predictions were made by business spokesmen that the $799,000,000 tax program would be substantially changed in the senate, house tax experts concentrated today on stopping what they termed the biggest revenue leaks in the plan.

Proceeding cautiously, since they conceded a matter of constitutionality might be involved, Democrats on the house ways and means tax sub-committee agreed to tax certain kinds of corporation dividends paid in the form of stock rather than in cash, a move calculated to block one potential avenue of escape.

Bogus Money Passed In Several Areas; One Prisoner Pleads Guilty

With the arrest of N. A. Washburn, 55, of Shreveport, and J. S. Overton, 39, of Monroe, by United States secret service operatives Saturday afternoon, a counterfeiting ring which had been operating in the southwest for several months was broken up, the government agents announced last night.

The men were arrested in Monroe and a large quantity of spurious five-dollar bills, and enough paper to manufacture several hundred thousand dollars worth of the bogus bills was seized by the operatives at a house located in the south side of the city.

Cooperating with the federal men in making the arrests were Superintendent of Police L. V. Tarver and City Detectives D. J. Bedsole and L. G. Parker.

The first indication that the federal authorities had of the existence of a ring of counterfeiters in this section of the country was brought about by the passage of a number of counterfeit five-dollar bills at Ruston. The bills were said to have been exchanged for good money at the Magnolia service station, the Texaco station and Crosby's drug store at Ruston. The date of the passing of the bills was fixed by the government as last February 27.

The owners of the victimized businesses at once informed the late Sheriff A. J. Thigpen, and it was said

CLEAN-UP WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

Mayors Of Monroe And West Monroe Urge Public To Cooperate

Mayor Arnold Bernstein of Monroe and Mayor C. C. Bell of West Monroe Saturday issued a joint proclamation designating the week beginning Monday, April 20, as "Clean-up Week," and urged all residents to lend their aid and cooperation in ridding the Twin Cities of all unsightly rubbish and insect and disease producing filth.

The clean-up campaign will be in charge of the Monroe health unit and Dr. Douglas Williams, the director, stated yesterday that he felt certain the residents of the two cities would give their cooperation and support.

"I am sure that all residents of the Twin Cities will respond in a generous manner to the support of a program that means so much to the general health of the cities," Dr. Williams declared.

Members of local Boy Scout troops will assist the health department in the clean-up work and Olan C. Black, scout executive, yesterday pledged the organization's support to the program.

Following the completion of the clean-up campaign, the health department will sponsor and supervise a mosquito control program in Monroe, West Monroe, Brownville and Sterlington, Dr. Williams announced. This program will continue throughout the mosquito breeding season and will be financed through the cooperation of city officials of Monroe and West Monroe, the Ouachita parish police jury and the major industrial plants located in these communities.

"Malaria has been on a decided increase in this area," Dr. Williams said, "and the health department will do all in its power to fight this disease and keep it down, and with the wholehearted cooperation of the public and the parish and city officials as well as the industrial corporations

TUPELO GETS BIG GIFT FOR EASTER

TUPELO, Miss., April 11.—(AP)—Tupelo was presented today with an Easter gift of $1,000,000 as a special grant from the works progress administration to be used in clearing up residential portions of the city which were wrecked last Sunday night by tornadoes with a death list of 204 persons and injuries suffered by approximately 1,000 others.

Announcement that the million dollars had been assigned was made at the office of Dr. Wayne Allision, state WPA director. Dr. Alliston said the fund would be expended under direction of John McKee, director of the treasury accounting division.

In the meantime, until rebuilding operations get under way, many Tupelo citizens whose fine homes were destroyed in the Willis Heights suburb slept in box cars, under tents or in vacant stores and some of them ate their meals from Red Cross kitchens along with hundreds of others whose every possession was swept away by the wind.

STATE'S BANKERS TO MEET MONDAY

Five Hundred Expected To Assemble Here For Annual Convention

Representatives from nearly every bank in Louisiana and many from institutions in cities outside of the state will assemble here tomorrow for the opening of the 36th annual convention of the Louisiana Bankers' association. Attendance is expected to reach as high as 500, judging from advance reservations.

Headquarters will be established at Hotel Frances.

Featured among the events of the first day will be an address by W. S. Elliott, of Canton, Ga., on the subject of "Unit Banking." Mr. Elliot who was president of the Georgia Bankers' association several years is vice-president of the Bank of Canton and is an outstanding representative of the smaller town "independent banker," but at the same time nationally known among the banking fraternity for his services with the United States treasury department a member of the executive council the American Bankers' association and other outstanding activities.

In addition to the address by Mr. Elliott, the business session of the first day will include the reports of the various officials and committees the association and the address of the president, W. B. Gladney, of Bastrop.

Entertainment will comprise an old time barbecue, a golf tournament, boat ride and a dance at Hotel Frances.

The principal speaker on the second day will be the nationally known Frank M. Totten, of New York, who will talk on "Constructive Custom Relations." He is chairman of

DEATH IS DECREED FOR TWO SLAYERS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 11.—(AP)—For the $14 robbery-slaying of Jasper A. Milliken, two youthful ex-reformatory inmates were convicted tonight by a jury which decreed electrocution sentences for both.

MIAMI, Fla., April 11.—(AP)—A 19-ton queen of the southern skyways, the Puerto Rican clipper, collided with a launch while it was taking off from the harbor of Port-of-Spain, Trinidad today, costing the lives of two passengers and the plane's steward.

The dead are E. Roman Martinez, 52, of Havana, export manager for the Eagle Pencil company of New York.

Eric C. Brough of London, England.

Amadeo Lopez, 24, of Miami, the dining steward.

A pontoon struck the launch and water poured into the damaged hull of the 35 passenger Miami-Rio de Janeiro-Buenos Aires airliner, drowning the three men who were unable to escape.

Jose Iturbi, world famous pianist, escaped from the flooded compartments with 15 other passengers and six crewmen.

The airliner, first announced by Pan American airways as the Brazilian clipper, but later said by them to be a sister ship, the Puerto Rican, left here Thursday on the regular passenger, mail and express flight of six days down South America's east coast to Buenos Aires.

Among the rescued, some of whom Pan American officials here said suffered apparently not serious cuts and bruises in the hasty exit from the crippled airliner, were:

Iturbi and his secretary, Miss Jean Dalrymple. Iturbi, winging to fill 14

TITTERTON DEATH PROBE IS PUSHED

Ring Of Doorbell May Have Signalled Murder Of Young Authoress

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—The shrill ring of her doorbell, detectives suggested tonight, may have signalled the murder of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton, in her Beekman place apartment yesterday.

Wiley Straughn, delivery boy for a tailor shop, told investigators into the 34-year-old crime writer's death that he rang the bell several times at half past eleven yesterday morning—the hour Mrs. Titterton's death is believed to have occurred.

An autopsy showed today that the woman, wife of an executive of the National Broadcasting company, died of "strangulation by ligature" following a criminal assault. Her body, virtually nude, was found in the bathtub of the Titterton apartment at 22 Beekman place—a short, narrow street, paralleling the East river on which many well known persons make their homes.

Straughn told detectives he went to the five story brownstone apartment building to deliver a dress.

He said he had been instructed to ring the downstairs lobby bell and if there was no answer he was not to go

25 PERSONS TAKE RABIES TREATMENT

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 11.—(AP)—Twenty-five persons in two localities near here were taking anti-rabies treatments today following discovery of hydrophobia and the death of a two-year-old child.

Two cows suffering from the disease in Etowah sent 15 residents of that town to physicians for treatment, Dr. E. M. Akins said, while the death of two-year-old Joan Hughes of Soddy caused ten persons to take treatment in that community.

Little Joan was bitten five weeks ago by her pet dog but the family was not alarmed, even after finding the dog dead the following day. Thursday when her condition became critical she was brought to a hospital here but she died 18 hours later.

Dr. Akins said eight persons, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gravley and their six children, had drunk milk from one of the cows in Etowah while others had handled the animal or helped dispose of the carcass. She was killed when she tried to bite everyone who came near her. The other cow's milk had not been used.

EASTER SERVICES TO BE CONDUCTED

Elaborate Musical Programs Will Be Heard At All Churches

The various churches of Monroe and West Monroe will observe Easter Sunday with appropriate ceremonies. Special services, sermons and elaborate musical selections, often by augmented choirs, will be heard. Special masses will be celebrated in St. Matthew's Catholic church and Grace Episcopal church will have a greatly enlarged choir.

At the First Baptist church, the pastor, Rev. L. T. Hastings, will preach on "The Sevenfold Glory of the Risen Christ." The Knights Templar will attend this service in a body.

The First Methodist church will have the usual preaching services. There will be an infant baptism Sunday at 4 p.m. and an elaborate cantata at 7:45 p.m. This is entitled "The Dawn of the Kingdom." The music is by J. Truman Wolcott. Mrs. Clyde V. Sanders is directing the presentation, with Mrs. John Sholars as organist. Jack May will present the baritone parts and Conrad Cage will give the tenor.

An Easter service sponsored by the Frank P. Stubbs Memorial Bible class will be held at the Paramount theater at 9:45 a.m. Adult Woman's Bible classes of the church will attend and

MOTORMAN ROBBED BY NEGRO BANDITS

Two unidentified negroes, one of whom was armed with a .22 rifle, held up Pete Heflet, streetcar operator at the end of the Lee avenue line Saturday night about 8:30 o'clock.

Heflet told police that he had just switched his trolley preparing to make the run to town, when the two negroes commanded him to hand over his money. The one with the rifle threatened to shoot Heflet. His companion, however, persuaded him to take the money about $9 in small change and bills, and leave the motorman unharmed.

The holdup occured near a spot which has been the scene of four stickups by bandits in the past several years, in each case the victim being a street car motorman.

Heflet was operating car number 108 and was carrying no passengers at the time he was robbed.

CALLES SAYS MEXICO IS SWEPT BY CHAOS

EL PASO, Texas, April 11.—(AP)—General Plutarco Elias Calles, shorn Samson of Mexico, declared today he had been banished by a "country swept with chaos" as he paused in his hurried air trip to a California exile.

Despite his insistence that he is "through with politics," the now-weakened "strong-man" told questioners that he wants to return to his native country.

During his brief luncheon stop here Calles assailed in bitter terms the man who sent him into forced exile.

WORLD OBSERVES CLOSE OF LENT

Christians Proclaim The Resurrection Of Jesus Of Nazareth

(By Associated Press)

Christians throughout the world today proclaimed the resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth with appropriate ceremonies bringing to a close the annual 40 days of Lenten mourning.

Contrasting with the more sombre character of the pre-Easter religious observances, preparations at home and abroad were made for a joyful Sunday holiday.

From Vatican City, seat of the Catholic church, came an appeal for world peace, addressed to all the nations through the newspaper Osservatore Romano. The paper lamented that:

"Our dramatic world continues to exchange the cult of life for the cult of fire and force.

"Force, placed above the laws of justice, has come to be the supreme law of history."

Across the Mediterranean and half of Africa armed forces of Italy's Mussolini relentlessly pursued the apparently depleted forces accompanying Emperer Haile Selassie in northern Ethiopia.

At London Queen Mary expressed the wish that all save the court should go out of mourning for the late king, George V, after Easter.

Fashionable New Yorkers, diplomatic and governmental figures at the nation's capital, parades along Chicago's Michigan boulevard, movie folk in Hollywood—in fact, persons in all walks of life—greeted Easter with Sunday best, hopeful that favorable weather forecasts for the day would be borne out.

LABOR LEADERS SAY MANY FIRMS OBTAINING GUNS

Angry Spokesmen Tell Senate Committee Of Alleged Armament Plan

CLAIM TEAR GAS AND CLUBS ARE GATHERED

Weapons Declared Ready For Use In Event Of Strikes And Disorders

By PrPeston L. Grover
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—Angry labor spokesmen told a senate committee today there was a mass movement of machine guns, tear gas and police clubs into industrial centers for use in curbing strikes and disorders.

The testimony was given in the quiet of a senate committee room while a mile away, in the heart of Washington, 500 delegates to the Workers Alliance convention conducted a noisy but orderly march to the white house—in company of a hundred policement—to ask President Roosevelt to back their request for a six billion dollar relief program. They marched away, complaining no assurance was given that the president would do anything.

J. P. Harris, red haired Portsmouth, Ohio, steel worker, was the first to appear before the senate labor subcommittee with stories of industrial plants "aiming" for possible conflict with labor. In support of his assertions came a mass of data compiled by the senate munitions investigating committee and presented at the hearing by Heber Blankenhorn, an employe of the national labor relations board.

At one point, Harris testified that he knew the Wheeling Steel Corp.,

RED CROSS ASKS MORE AID HERE

Additional $2,500 Sought In Parish For Tornado Sufferers

A new appeal for additional disaster relief contributions, growing out of the appalling destruction to life and property in five southern states last Sunday and Monday, was received by C. R. Tidwell, chairman of the Ouachita chapter of the American Red Cross Saturday afternoon.

A telegram from Richard F. Allen, manager of the eastern area of the American Red Cross, urged that an additional $2,500 be raised in this parish over and above the $1,500 already assigned to Ouachita parish chapter in previous relief appeals following the floods in the northeastern sections of the country.

About $1,300 had already been subscribed to meet the previous requests for aid, Chairman Tidwell said. Immediate plans to raise the additional funds required were being worked out by the finance committee of the local chapter in response to the appeal.

"We trust that every citizen of Ouachita

D. A. R. Urges River Bridge Be Named For Juan Filhiol

By a curious coincidence, almost simultaneously with the announcement at Baton Rouge Saturday that the new bridge over the Ouachita is to be officially named the "P. M. Atkins bridge," the Fort Miro chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in a meeting held Saturday afternoon, adopted resolutions asking that Governor James A. Noe use his authority in having the bridge named the "Don Juan Filhiol bridge."

Action by the D. A. R. was the culmination of a long-entertained plan on the part of the members to urge that a public memorial to the founder of Monroe should be erected in this city and West Monroe. A proposal to name the bridge after the Spanish adventurer who established the first organized community on the Ouachita river has at various times been informally discussed, it was stated Saturday by officers of the Fort Miro chapter, but no definite action was taken until the announcement last Thursday that the official opening of the bridge would occur May 1 next. Following this development the members of the chapter at their meeting Saturday adopted formal resolutions incorporating their proposal in a request to the governor to take action to perpetuate the memory of Don Juan Filhiol. The members were wholly unaware that an official announcement had been made in Baton Rouge earlier in the day fixing the name "P. M. Atkins bridge," as the name of the historic structure.

The resolution adopted by the D. A. R., which was forwarded to Governor Noe Saturday, follows:

"Whereas, Don Juan Filhiol, founder of Monroe and West Monroe, gallant soldier who built the first fort on the Ouachita river, at the end of Calypso street, for the protection of the first white settlers along its banks, and who lies buried in West Monroe, La., has never been honored by a monument of any kind; and

"Whereas, the bridge now being constructd at Louisville avenue, Monroe, would make a fitting memorial to his memory.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the Daughters of the American Revolution, Fort Miro chapter, in regular meeting convened, this eleventh day of April, 1936, petition his excellency, Governor James A. Noe to use his authority to have the bridge named 'Don Juan Filhiol bridge, built by the Long-Allen administration.'"

New Ouachita Span Will Be Named 'P. M. Atkins Bridge'

Monroe Business Man To Be Honored At Dedication On May 1st

The new traffic bridge over the Ouachita river, which is to be officially opened with elaborate ceremony under auspices of state, parish and Twin City auspices, on May 1, will be known as the "P. M. Atkins bridge."

Announcement to this effect was made by A. P. Tugwell, chairman of the Louisiana highway commission, at Baton Rouge Saturday.

The signal honor accorded Mr. Atkins, president of the Monroe Hardware company of Monroe, is made, Chairman Tugwell said, "in recognition of the hearty cooperation he has given to the state highway commission, in his loyal and enthusiastic support of the bridge project ever since its inception, and his earnest efforts in aiding the ultimate completion of the plans for this undertaking which has so great importance to the welfare of the people of north Louisiana."

Mr. Atkins, who is a colonel on the staff of Gov. Noe, will be one of the speakers at the celebration to be held in Monroe and West Monroe on the occasion of the opening ceremonies.

The celebration will bring to Monroe a great gathering of high administration officials and prominent persons from all parts of the state. Governor Noe, who will be accompanied by a delegation of his staff, will be the principal speaker. Governor Noe's little daughter, Gay Noe, will officiate in cutting the ribbon which will mark the opening of the bridge.

LUER KIDNAPER HELD AT DALLAS

DALLAS, April 11.—(AP)—Dallas police today arrested Lloyd (Blackie) Doyle of St. Louis, sought since 1933 in connection with the kidnaping of August Luer, aged Alton, Ill. resident, in 1933.

Doyle, under a state indictment for the Illinois kidnaping, was arrested as he rode in an automobile with a woman in a residential section.

Shortly after police placed him in jail secretly, another man and woman were arrested in a northeast Dallas apartment house.

Luer was kidnaped from his home at Alton in 1933 by desperadoes who knocked Mrs. Luer to the floor when she attempted to interfere, Frank Blake, chief of the Dallas bureau of investigation, department of justice, said.

37 INDICTMENTS BY GRAND JURY

Parish Investigating Body Requests Suppression Of Gambling

Thirty-seven true bills were returned by the Ouachita parish grand jury Saturday noon upon the completion of its investigations for the spring term of district court, which convenes here Monday, May 4. Twenty cases were "no-billed" and four cases were pretermitted or continued.

The grand jury reported that "pursuant to law, we have made an inspection of the courthouse and parish jail and as a result of said inspection, we urgently request that the police jury take immediate steps to have the interior of the court house and the jail repainted, and that the covers to all drain pipes in the jail be replaced.

"The question of gambling has been carefully considered, and it is requested by this body that all local law enforcement officers (city, parish and state), use diligent effort to suppress gambling in all forms, and especially the operation of slot machines, marble tables, and all other types of mechanical devices used for gambling purposes."

No cases of outstanding interest are to be tried in the spring court term, the list of true bills showed. The defendant facing the most serious charge is Nottie Lee Jones, negro woman accused of manslaughter in the death of George Thomas, negro. The woman originally was charged with murder, but was indicted for manslaughter.

In one case which was given an element of surprise Wednesday during the grand jury's investigations, Solomon S. Sheftall and R. B. Alexander, local young men who previously had not been accused in the case, were indicted for assault with intent to rob Henry C. Mickle, of Monroe. W. L. Applin, Port Gibson, Miss., youth, alone had been charged with the offense, but after his case came before

SHREVEPORT, La., April 11.—(AP)—The discharge of a machine gun mounted on a pursuit plane may cost the life of a New Orleans soldier who was wounded at Barksdale field Saturday morning.

Private Sidney J. Collongues, 21, of the 71st Service Squadron, was wounded in the back with a 30 caliber machine gun bullet while standing in front of a target during synchronization and harmonization of tone of the guns.

At the post hospital he was reported in a serious condition Saturday night. He was given a blood transfusion after the mishap.

He was standing about 60 yards in front of the plane when the command "clear" was given. It was believed he did not hear the command.

EXPERTS STUDY LEAKS IN PROPOSED REVENUE PLAN

WASHINGTON, April 11. — (AP) — While predictions were made by business spokesmen that the $799,000,000 tax program would be substantially changed in the senate, house tax experts concentrated today on stopping what they termed the biggest revenue leaks in the plan.

Proceeding cautiously, since they conceded a matter of constitutionality might be involved, Democrats on the house ways and means tax sub-committee agreed to tax certain kinds of corporation dividends paid in the form of stock rather than in cash, a move calculated to block one potential avenue of escape.

CLEAN-UP WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

Mayors Of Monroe And West Monroe Urge Public To Cooperate

Mayor Arnold Bernstein of Monroe and Mayor C. C. Bell of West Monroe Saturday issued a joint proclamation designating the week beginning Monday, April 20, as "Clean-up Week," and urged all residents to lend their aid and cooperation in ridding the Twin Cities of all unsightly rubbish and insect and disease producing filth.

The clean-up campaign will be in charge of the Monroe health unit and Dr. Douglas Williams, the director, stated yesterday that he felt certain the residents of the two cities would give their cooperation and support.

"I am sure that all residents of the Twin Cities will respond in a generous manner to the support of a program that means so much to the general health of the cities," Dr. Williams declared.

Members of local Boy Scout troops will assist the health department in the clean-up work and Olan C. Black, scout executive, yesterday pledged the organization's support to the program.

Following the completion of the clean-up campaign, the health department will sponsor and supervise a mosquito control program in Monroe, West Monroe, Brownville and Sterlington, Dr. Williams announced. This program will continue throughout the mosquito breeding season and will be financed through the cooperation of city officials of Monroe and West Monroe, the Ouachita parish police jury and the major industrial plants located in these communities.

"Malaria has been on a decided increase in this area," Dr. Williams said, "and the health department will do all in its power to fight this disease and keep it down, and with the wholehearted cooperation of the public and the parish and city officials as well as the industrial corporations

TUPELO, Miss., April 11.—(AP)—Tupelo was presented today with an Easter gift of $1,000,000 as a special grant from the works progress administration to be used in clearing up residential portions of the city which were wrecked last Sunday night by tornadoes with a death list of 204 persons and injuries suffered by approximately 1,000 others.

Announcement that the million dollars had been assigned was made at the office of Dr. Wayne Alliston, state WPA director. Dr. Alliston said the fund would be expended under direction of John McKee, director of the treasury accounting division.

In the meantime, until rebuilding operations get under way, many Tupelo citizens whose fine homes were destroyed in the Willis Heights suburb slept in box cars, under tents or in vacant stores and some of them ate their meals from Red Cross kitchens along with hundreds of others whose every possession was swept away by the wind.

BIG STORE OF PAPER AND BILLS IS FOUND

Bogus Money Passed In Several Areas; One Prisoner Pleads Guilty

With the arrest of N. A. Washburn, 55, of Shreveport, and J. S. Overton, 39, of Monroe, by United States secret service operatives Saturday afternoon, a counterfeiting ring which had been operating in the southwest for several months was broken up, the government agents announced last night.

The men were arrested in Monroe and a large quantity of spurious five-dollar bills, and enough paper to manufacture several hundred thousand dollars worth of the bogus bills was seized by the operatives at a house located in the south side of the city.

Cooperating with the federal men in making the arrests were Superintendent of Police L. V. Tarver and City Detectives D. J. Bedsole and L. G. Parker.

The first indication that the federal authorities had of the existence of a ring of counterfeiters in this section of the country was brought about by the passage of a number of counterfeit five-dollar bills at Ruston. The bills were said to have been exchanged for good money at the Magnolia service station, the Texaco station and Crosby's drug store at Ruston. The date of the passing of the bills was fixed by the government as last February 27.

The owners of the victimized businesses at once informed the late Sheriff A. J. Thigpen, and it was said

STATE'S BANKERS TO MEET MONDAY

Five Hundred Expected To Assemble Here For Annual Convention

Representatives from nearly every bank in Louisiana and many from institutions in cities outside of the state will assemble here tomorrow for the opening of the 36th annual convention of the Louisiana Bankers' association. Attendance is expected to reach as high as 500, judging from advance reservations.

Headquarters will be established at Hotel Frances.

Featured among the events of the first day will be an address by W. S. Elliott, of Canton, Ga., on the subject of "Unit Banking." Mr. Elliott, who was president of the Georgia Bankers' association several years ago, is vice-president of the Bank of Canton and is an outstanding representative of the smaller town "independent banker," but at the same time is nationally known among the banking fraternity for his services with the United States treasury department as a member of the executive council of the American Bankers' association and other outstanding activities.

In addition to the address by Mr. Elliott, the business session of the first day will include the reports of the various officials and committees of the association and the address of the president, W. B. Gladney, of Bastrop.

Entertainment will comprise an old-time barbecue, a golf tournament, a boat ride and a dance at Hotel Frances.

The principal speaker on the second day will be the nationally known Frank M. Totten, of New York, who will talk on "Constructive Customer Relations." He is chairman of the

BEARD SENTENCED TO DIE IN CHAIR

DALLAS, Texas, April 11.—(AP)—A jury here today found Dwight Beard, 25-year-old North Carolinan, guilty of murder and sentenced him to die in the electric chair.

The verdict was returned after twenty hours of deliberation. Beard was convicted of murder in the hold up shooting of ex-detective John Roberts here last Dec. 25.

The youthful Beard, who once played football for the North Carolina State college, and wrestled on the varsity team, threw away a cigarette and rose as Judge Grover Adams rapped for order after the jury entered.

He heard his second condemnation to death within two years without a trace of emotion.

Statesmen Of Key Nations In Europe Study Italian Question

GENEVA, April 11.—(AP)—The statesmen of the key nations of Europe have been given the opportunity to study over Easter just what Italy means by the question: "Is the presence of Italy desired?"

That question, asked by Baron Pompeo Aloisi, trusted representative of Premier Mussolini to the League of Nations, was directed personally to the representatives of Great Britain, France, and Belgium last night.

They had met with the Italian envoy to determine what they, as signatories of the Locarno pact, should do about Germany's act of re-militarizing the Rhineland.

But their session followed a meeting of the league council's "committee of 13" in which Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, listed a series of charges that Italy was using poison gas against Ethiopians. Eden demanded that the committee of 13, which includes every member of the league council except Italy; remain in continuous session until Italy and Ethiopia talked peace.

He yielded, however, to suggestions for compromise, by which the committee adjourned until next Thursday to permit its president, Salvador De Madariaga of Spain, to attempt joint peace negotiations with Italy and Ethiopia.

Gorgeous

BY LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

CHAPTER XXVI

Tim said, "Is that you, Gorgeous?"

She must have answered, though she wasn't aware of what she said. But she must have said something, because Tim went on, easily and casually.

"How've you been?" he asked. "What have you been doing?"

"Oh, this and that. I've been busy—"

Over and over she had planned this conversation, what she would say when Tim called and how she would say it. She had even rehearsed the words. And now Tim's voice was coming to her over the wire, and everything that she had planned was forgotten. She could think of nothing but the most commonplace of phrases. Could Tim hear the way her heart was pounding? No—of course not, but she wished it would stop. It made it hard to speak naturally. The words choked in her throat.

"How did you enjoy your trip?" she asked.

"My trip? Oh, you mean down to Maryland. It was so-so. Weather was bad most of the time."

"When did you get back?"

"Last week."

Last week! The strange tightness about Toby's heart increased. Tim had been home a week and this was the first time he had called her. All through the days since she had seen him, she had clung to the belief that there was some reason for his silence. There must be a reason! Well, there was. He hadn't written or telephoned because he hadn't wanted to!

Tim went on, "I meant to call you sooner, Gorgeous, but one thing and another came along. You know how it is. It's a little late, I guess but I thought if you weren't doing anything else tonight we might step out somewhere—"

He left the sentence unfinished, waiting for her to answer.

Toby fought desperately to control her voice. She prayed he might not notice the pause, but it was a moment before she could speak. Then she said, "I'm sorry, Tim. I was just leaving."

It wasn't much of an untruth. After all, she had had an engagement for that evening. She could have been dancing at that very minute if she hadn't decided to leave the others and come home. And she wouldn't have Tim Jamieson thinking that, because he had neglected her, there was no one else to show her attentions! She wouldn't have him thinking she was spending the evenings waiting to hear from him!

She had spent a good many of them that way. All the more reason why Tim mustn't know!

He took his dismissal lightly. "Sorry," he said. "Well, I'll call again some of these days."

"Yes, do." Her words, politely impersonal, matched him. Then she said good night and put down the telephone.

She went back to the davenport, huddled against the cushions. She was glad that the room was dark, except for the single light. She was glad no one else was there to know that Tim no longer cared. She lay with her cheek against her arm, staring at the shadows, trying to face this fact. Everything was changed now that she knew Tim didn't care and had never cared. He couldn't have, of course—

When Harriet reached home Toby was in bed. She lay very still and Harriet, thinking her roommate was asleep, moved quietly so as not to waken her.

A few days later Harriet asked, "What's become of Tim Jamieson, Toby?" and Toby was able to say, naturally enough, "Oh, he's around. I had a call from him the other night."

Later the same day Toby stopped in at the Model league office. She was talking to Sally when she noticed a girl across the room. Toby went on speaking, but a moment later she turned again. Then she crossed to where the girl was sitting.

"Hello," she said, "I did—" recognize you at first."

It was Maurine Ball and it was the first time since leaving Bergman's that Toby had met any of the girls from the store.

"Hello." Maurine's manner was difficult. "I—I saw you, but I didn't know if you'd want to speak to me."

"Why, Maurine!"

"Well, I didn't know—"

It was no wonder Toby had not recognized Maurine. She had changed greatly. She was thinner and the lines of her face seemed sharpened. She wore a suit and hat Toby had seen before, but now they looked shabby.

"I'm glad to see you," Toby said. "I've thought about all of you at Bergman's often. But what are you doing here?"

"I was hoping to see Mr. Blake," Maurine hesitated, then said impetuously, "Toby, I want to talk to you!" She looked about the room, where half a dozen others were waiting, some in groups, some alone. "Isn't there some place," Maurine asked, "where we could go that would be quieter?"

Toby rose. "Sally," she said, "can we use the little office off the hall for a while?"

It was a room used chiefly for filing cabinets, but there was a desk there and chairs. Sally nodded and Toby led the way.

"This is better," she said, when they were seated. "What did you want to talk to me about, Maurine?"

The other girl seemed to hesitate. "I don't know just how to say it—" she began. Suddenly there was a flash of her old assurance. "I guess I might as well get it over! It's about the watch—the one that was stolen at Bergman's. I was the one who took it."

"You took it!"

Maurine nodded. "I put it in your locker," she said. "I don't know why—yes, I do, too! I thought you were making a play for Howard Pharis and I was crazy about him. But I didn't know they'd fire you, Toby. Honestly, I didn't know that!"

"So that's the way it happened!"

Maurine went on unhappily, "Miss Burrows knows about it. Gladys found out and told her—anyhow I think it was Gladys. She never liked me. You could go back to the store—only I don't suppose you want to. I guess you're getting along swell, aren't you? I saw your picture in a magazine. You looked just beautiful!"

Toby said, "No, I don't want to go back to the store, but I am glad they know I didn't take the watch. I'm glad to know how it happened."

"It was an awful thing to do," Maurine said remorsefully. "I guess I deserved everything that's happened since. They let me go after Gladys told about what I'd done."

"Where are you working now?"

"I had a job, but it was only temporary. I haven't done anything for about three weeks now. That's why I came to see Mr. Blake. I guess it was plenty nervy of me—thinking I might have a chance as a model—but there's no law against trying."

Toby eyed the other girl. Maurine's beauty had dimmed and shabbiness made this more apparent. No, she hadn't a chance of becoming a model, whether she talked with Ben Blake or not.

Suddenly Toby noticed Maurine's hands. They were lovely—long, tapering fingers, smooth and soft-looking. Toby leaned forward. "Listen, Maurine, if you want a job I'll tell you what to do. Go to the shop where I have my manicures—I'll give you the address, and I'll come back and see that you get to talk to Mr. Blake. He needs a hand model. I happen to know that. You'd be surprised how many girls pose for hand or throat or shoulder pictures. Lots of them earn their living that way. I've got to go now, but I'll telephone the beauty shop—"

She hurried away and a few minutes later was back. "It's all right," she said. "Marie will take care of you. They're to charge it to my account, and you can pay me whenever you want to."

"Toby—to think of you doing this for me!"

"Why not?"

"After the way I treated you—!" Maurine's dark eyes were misted.

"That's all over," Toby said steadily, "and we'll both forget about it. Besides, if I hadn't left Bergman's I might never have taken up modeling. It really was a good thing for me that it happened."

They left the building, each taking different directions. Toby went to Duryea's, walking swiftly. She arrived exactly on the minute of her appointment.

"Cecile sent some dresses over," Duryea told her. "Try on the blue one, will you? I want to see what it looks like."

Toby said she would and went to the dressing room. The blue dress and another of green and white plaid hung suspended from a rod.

She opened her makeup kit, applied powder and a touch of rouge, and then slipped the blue dress over her shoulders. It was a heavenly shade, blue as July skies. The dress was a crisp organdie, with a full skirt and fitted bodice and a sash so new that it copied the past. Never in her life had Toby worn anything more becoming.

She went out to where Duryea was waiting. "Well—" she said, smiling, and turned slowly, mannequin-fashion.

Duryea beamed. "Perfect!" he said. "It's the kind of dress I've been wanting them to send for you. Exactly right—the color, style, everything—!"

He stopped abruptly, sensing rather than seeing another presence in the room.

'GLY-CAS IS THE REAL MEDICINE OF THEM ALL'

Declares Mrs. Thurman Who Is Now Able To Enjoy Her Meals For The First Time In Years; Appetite Good Now, Former Strength And Energy Returns, Sleeps Good, Like New Again.

Hundreds upon hundreds of former sufferers right here in Monroe will tell you that Gly-Cas has a remarkable effect on the most agonizing rheumatism, neuritis, stomach, liver, kidney, bowel and blood troubles even where all else tried had failed to have any effect.

For example, take the case of Mrs. F. W. Thurman, 2711 DeSiard street, Monroe, cultured and refined lady who has lived here a number of years. Read what she said recently in a statement reaching the Phoenix Drug Co., 348 DeSiard street, this city:

"For years I had dieted very strictly, was very choicy with my foods but in spite of it all I was sure to suffer after every meal I ate," said Mrs. Thurman, "Gas would form badly, attacks of indigestion would come, my heart would palpitate and I was terribly nervous. It was so bad that I would actually become frightened when it was time to eat. I realized it was necessary to maintain my strength —but even then I was weakened greatly and lost my strength and energy. I was also badly constipated and even the strongest of laxatives soon lost their effect on my stubborn case. As time went on I could notice other complications setting in and as medicine after medicine repeatedly failed in my case I was terribly worried about my condition."

"But upon giving this new Gly-Cas a short trial all my health worries were soon at an end," continued Mrs. Thurman, "Those dreadful poisons and gases were soon removed from my system. My appetite was restored and I was soon able to eat and enjoy my meals without any distress afterwards. I have not had a single attack of indigestion since I first began with Gly-Cas, my former strength and energy has been restored, I get a full nights natural sleep, rest well and it is a pleasure to do my work feeling as I do today. Gly-Cas is a medicine that does exactly as it claims to do. No wonder it seems everyone is praising this new remedy, it deserves it all and more too."

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug Co., 348 DeSiard street, this city, and by leading druggists in surrounding towns.

Statesmen Of Key Nations In Europe Study Italian Question

GENEVA, April 11.—(AP)—The statesmen of the key nations of Europe have been given the opportunity to study over Easter just what Italy means by the question: "Is the presence of Italy desired?"

That question, asked by Baron Pompeo Aloisi, trusted representative of Premier Mussolini to the League of Nations, was directed personally to the representatives of Great Britain, France, and Belgium last night.

They had met with the Italian envoy to determine what they, as signatories of the Locarno pact, should do about Germany's act of re-militarizing the Rhineland.

But their session followed a meeting of the league council's "committee of 13" in which Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, listed a series of charges that Italy was using poison gas against Ethiopians. Eden demanded that the committee of 13, which includes every member of the league council except Italy, remain in continuous session until Italy and Ethiopia talked peace.

He yielded, however, to suggestions for compromise, by which the committee adjourned until next Thursday to permit its president, Salvador De Madariaga of Spain, to attempt joint peace negotiations with Italy and Ethiopia.

Gorgeous

CHAPTER XXVI

Tim said, "Is that you, Gorgeous?"

She must have answered, though she wasn't aware of what she said. But she must have said something, because Tim went on, easily and casually.

"How've you been?" he asked. "What have you been doing?"

"Oh, this and that. I've been busy—"

Over and over she had planned this conversation, what she would say when Tim called and how she would say it. She had even rehearsed the words. And now Tim's voice was coming to her over the wire, and everything that she had planned was forgotten. She could think of nothing but the most commonplace of phrases. Could Tim hear the way her heart was pounding? No—of course not, but she wished it would stop. It made it hard to speak naturally. The words choked in her throat.

"How did you enjoy your trip?" she asked.

"My trip? Oh, you mean down to Maryland. It was so-so. Weather was bad most of the time."

"When did you get back?"

"Last week."

Last week! The strange tightness about Toby's heart increased. Tim had been home a week and this was the first time he had called her. All through the days since she had seen him, she had clung to the belief that there was some reason for his silence. There must be a reason! Well, there was. He hadn't written or telephoned because he hadn't wanted to!

Tim went on, "I meant to call you sooner, Gorgeous, but one thing and another came along. You know how it is. It's a little late, I guess but I thought if you weren't doing anything else tonight we might step out somewhere—"

He left the sentence unfinished, waiting for her to answer.

Toby fought desperately to control her voice. She prayed he might not notice the pause, but it was a moment before she could speak. Then she said, "I'm sorry, Tim. I was just leaving."

It wasn't much of an untruth. After all, she had had an engagement for that evening. She could have been dancing at that very minute if she hadn't decided to leave the others and come home. And she wouldn't have Tim Jamieson thinking that, because he had neglected her, there was no one else to show her attentions! She wouldn't have him thinking she was spending the evenings waiting to hear from him!

She had spent a good many of them that way. All the more reason why Tim mustn't know!

He took his dismissal lightly. "Sorry," he said. "Well, I'll call again some of these days."

"Yes, do." Her words, politely impersonal, matched him. Then she said good night and put down the telephone.

She went back to the davenport, huddled against the cushions. She was glad that the room was dark, except for the single light. She was glad no one else was there to know that Tim no longer cared. She lay with her cheek against her arm, staring at the shadows, trying to face this fact. Everything was changed now that she knew Tim didn't care and had never cared. He couldn't have, of course—

When Harriet reached home Toby was in bed. She lay very still and Harriet, thinking her roommate was asleep, moved quietly so as not to waken her.

A few days later Harriet asked, "What's become of Tim Jamieson, Toby?" and Toby was able to say, naturally enough, "Oh, he's around. I had a call from him the other night."

Later the same day Toby stopped in at the Model league office. She was talking to Sally when she noticed a girl across the room. Toby went on speaking, but a moment later she turned again. Then she crossed to where the girl was sitting.

"Hello," she said, "I did—recognize you at first."

It was Maurine Ball and it was the first time since leaving Bergman's that Toby had met any of the girls from the store.

"Hello." Maurine's manner was difficult. "I—I saw you, but I didn't know if you'd want to speak to me."

"Why, Maurine!"

"Well, I didn't know—"

It was no wonder Toby had not recognized Maurine. She had changed greatly. She was thinner and the lines of her face seemed sharpened. She wore a suit and hat Toby had seen before, but now they looked shabby.

"I'm glad to see you," Toby said. "I've thought about all of you at Bergman's often. But what are you doing here?"

"I was hoping to see Mr. Blake," Maurine hesitated, then said impetuously, "Toby, I want to talk to you!" She looked about the room, where half a dozen others were waiting, some in groups, some alone. "Isn't there some place," Maurine asked, "where we could go that would be quieter?"

Toby rose. "Sally," she said, "can we use the little office off the hall for a while?"

It was a room used chiefly for filing cabinets, but there was a desk there and chairs. Sally nodded and Toby led the way.

"This is better," she said, when they were seated. "What did you want to talk to me about, Maurine?"

The other girl seemed to hesitate. "I don't know just how to say it—" she began. Suddenly there was a flash of her old assurance. "I guess I might as well get it over! It's about the watch—the one that was stolen at Bergman's. I was the one who took it."

"You took it!"

Maurine nodded. "I put it in your locker," she said. "I don't know why—yes, I do, too! I thought you were making a play for Howard Pharis and I was crazy about him. But I didn't know they'd fire you, Toby. Honestly, I didn't know that!"

"So that's the way it happened!"

Maurine went on unhappily, "Miss Burrows knows about it. Gladys found out and told her—anyhow I think it was Gladys. She never liked me. You could go back to the store—only I don't suppose you want to. I guess you're getting along swell, aren't you? I saw your picture in a magazine. You looked just beautiful!"

Toby said, "No, I don't want to go back to the store, but I am glad they know I didn't take the watch. I'm glad to know how it happened."

"It was an awful thing to do," Maurine said remorsefully. "I guess I deserved everything that's happened since. They let me go after Gladys told about what I'd done."

'GLY-CAS IS THE REAL MEDICINE OF THEM ALL'

Declares Mrs. Thurman Who Is Now Able To Enjoy Her Meals For The First Time In Years; Appetite Good Now, Former Strength And Energy Returns, Sleeps Good, Like New Again.

Hundreds upon hundreds of former sufferers right here in Monroe will tell you that Gly-Cas has a remarkable effect on the most agonizing rheumatism, neuritis, stomach, liver, kidney, bowel and blood troubles even where all else tried had failed to have any effect.

For example, take the case of Mrs. F. W. Thurman, 2711 DeSiard street, Monroe, cultured and refined lady who has lived here a number of years. Read what she said recently in a statement reaching the Phoenix Drug Co., 348 DeSiard street, this city:

"For years I had dieted very strictly, was very choicy with my foods but in spite of it all I was sure to suffer after every meal I ate," said Mrs. Thurman, "Gas would form badly, attacks of indigestion would come, my heart would palpitate and I was terribly nervous. It was so bad that I would actually become frightened when it was time to eat. I realized it was necessary to maintain my strength—but even then I was weakened greatly and lost my strength and energy. I was also badly constipated and even the strongest of laxatives soon lost their effect on my stubborn case. As time went on I could notice other complications setting in and as medicine after medicine repeatedly failed in my case I was terribly worried about my condition."

"But upon giving this new Gly-Cas a short trial all my health worries were soon at an end," continued Mrs. Thurman, "Those dreadful poisons and gases were soon removed from my system. My appetite was restored and I was soon able to eat and enjoy my meals without any distress afterwards. I have not had a single attack of indigestion since I first began with Gly-Cas, my former strength and energy has been restored, I get a full nights natural sleep, rest well and it is a pleasure to do my work feeling as I do today. Gly-Cas is a medicine that does exactly as it claims to do. No wonder it seems everyone is praising this new remedy, it deserves it all and more too."

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug Co., 348 DeSiard street, this city, and by leading druggists in surrounding towns.

Plans Being Made For Opening Of Jewelry Concern On May 1

Plans for the opening May 1 of one of the most handsome business houses in the downtown district of Monroe were well under way during the past week with workers rapidly remodeling and transforming the building at the corner of DeSiard and St. John streets for occupancy by Peacock's jewelry store. The plans were announced by Morris Schuster, one of the store executives.

The advent of the Peacock organization in Monroe marks another evidence of the upward trend in business conditions. When the store is completed it will make an imposing addition to the retail shopping district.

The structure occupies a frontage of 30 feet on DeSiard and 80 feet on St. John street. The new store will be ultra-modern in its design and arrangements, especially adapted to the requirements essential in serving the jewelry-purchasing public. In addition to jewelry the store will be equipped with a complete optical department and a section for luggage and leather goods.

The exterior of the store will follow an entirely original "peacock" architectural motif. The front will be of black agate vitriolite, with polished aluminum trim. Walls will be sandblasted and decorated in harmonious colors. The interior woodwork will be birchwood, with mahogany finish, trimmed with aluminum. The showroom floor will be 45x30 feet and will be done in modern azrock, with marble effect, and decorated in peacock coloring. Indirect ceiling lights will furnish subdued natural radiance throughout the store. Special lighting effects will also be introduced in the exterior display windows.

The show cases will be specially designed, and will be fitted with plate glass. The architectural designs were prepared by H. H. Land and associates.

Max Moses the store manager, and Morris Schuster, are now in New York making selection of the stocks which will be ready for display on the opening day, May 1. Mr. Schuster, in making announcement of the opening plans, said that it was designed to rush the work of remodeling to completion in ample time to serve patrons who will be buying presents for the May and June graduations, as well as June weddings.

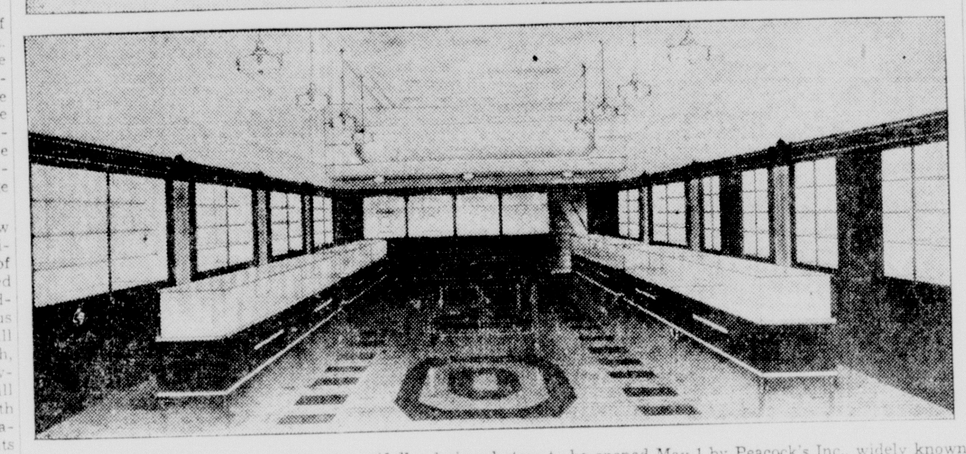
Peacock's Inc., is the largest credit jewelry store in Louisiana. It has branches in Shreveport and Fort Worth. Following its established policy the concern will employ only local people, Mr. Schuster said, and only local labor is used in the present remodeling operations, which will cost over $12,500.

Merchandise to be handled by the store will include Bulova, Gruen, Hamilton, Elgin and other famous watches; Gorham, Reid and Barton, 1847 Rogers Bros., and Oneida Community silverware; Wherry and Hartmann luggage. In diamonds only certified blue white perfect stones will be carried, Mr. Schuster announced.

"Our aim is to have merchandise to fit every pocketbook," he said, describing the store's policy of service.

Archimedes, famous mathematician of Sicily, was so elated at solving one great problem that he sprang from his bath and ran into the street, shouting, "Eureka!" (I have found it!)

PEACOCK'S TO OPEN MONROE STORE ON MAY 1



Two views are seen here of the beautifully designed store to be opened May 1 by Peacock's Inc., widely known credit jewelers. The store, located at the corner of DeSiard and St. John streets, is ultra-modern in architectural conception. Top, the handsome front done in black agate vitriolite, with aluminum trim. Below, the spacious display room, with its azrock marble floors, decorated in peacock colors.

YOUNG DELHI RESIDENT JOINS U. S. MARINES

DELHI, La., April 11.—(Special)—Woodrow Carter of Delhi was one of ten young men enlisting in the U. S. Marine Corps in New Orleans recently for duty on the west coast. He was transferred to San Diego, Calif., for training. He will be assigned to duty aboard some plane carrier, battle ship or overseas station.

Prior to his entry into the marines, Carter lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo C. Carter, in Delhi. He graduated from Delhi high school last year.

Applicants to fill marine vacancies receive their preliminary examinations in their home localities and those selected receive their final examinations at U. S. Marine corps headquarters, 535 St. Charles street, New Orleans.

TRI-PARISH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION CONVENES

TALLULAH, La., April 11.—(Special)—The Tri-Parish Medical association held the April meeting at the Tallulah club building here with physicians from East Carroll, West Carroll, Tensas and Madison parishes in attendance. The essayists were Dr. W. W. Purks, baby specialist, and Dr. W. Pierce Robert, cardiac specialist, both of Vicksburg. A general discussion followed.

The president, Dr. Joseph Whitaker, of St. Joseph, presided, and Dr. Davis, of Trannsylvania served as secretary. Preceding the session a supper was served at the Post Inn cafe here.

WPA COMMITTEE NAMED

JENA, La., April 11.—(Special)—According to Miss Ethlee Neill, parish supervisor of recreation for the works progress administration, the following committee has been named to assist in mapping out a program in Jena: W. F. Mackey, J. P. Wade, Rev. D. F. Anders, Mrs. J. C. Hinckley and Mrs. C. B. Perrin.

25 ON HONOR ROLL

MARION, Ala., April 11.—(Special)—Twenty-five Marion institute students, including Cadet W. W. McClary of Monroe, won recognition on the honor roll for the month of February, Major L. H. Baer, academic dean, announced today. Students maintaining an average of 80 or above with no grades below 80 are eligible for the dean's list. A good standing in conduct is also required. Special privileges are granted those on the list.

BONITA WILL ELECT MAYOR AND MARSHAL

BASTROP, La., April 11.—(Special)—Citizens of Bonita will go to the polls Tuesday to nominate a mayor and a marshal. There are two candidates for mayor and four for marshal. The three present members of the board of aldermen are unopposed.

For the first time in its history, Bonita has a woman candidate for mayor. She is Mrs. Emma H. Williamson, who is opposing H. H. Honeycutt, the incumbent.

The four candidates for marshal include G. R. McDowell, incumbent, G. W. Manley, W. S. Neal and Fay Simms.

The aldermen are C. S. Reeves, F. M. Doles and G. C. Harp.

MASONIC COMMANDERY WILL ATTEND CHURCH

The annual Easter service of the Monroe Knights Templar commandery will be conducted at the First Baptist church at 11 o'clock this morning. The sermon will be preached by the pastor, Rev. L. T. Hastings.

Members of the commandery will report in full uniform at the Masonic temple and will march in a body to the church where they will be seated in the main auditorium.

The sermon and music will be of a nature appropriate to the Knights Templar.

AUTO STOLEN

The theft of a Ford automobile belonging to Vincent P. Zagone, 803 Natchitoches street, West Monroe, was reported to the Monroe police Saturday. The car was said to have been stolen sometime late Friday night while it was parked in the 200 block of Catalpa street. The license number of the stolen automobile is 161841.

BAND DIRECTOR

Col. Castro Carazo, director of the Louisiana State university cadet band, former orchestra conductor of New Orleans and well known to radio audiences, who will direct the L. S. U. cadet musicians in all of the concerts in which they are to appear on state tour late this month and early in May. The ten towns in which the group is scheduled to play are New Orleans, Alexandria, Winnfield, Monroe, Ruston, Shreveport, Natchitoches, Plaquemine, Lafayette and Lake Charles.

FAIRBANKS WILL HOLD EVANGELISTIC MEETING

FAIRBANKS, La., April 11.—(Special)—An evangelistic campaign was launched here April 13 to continue through April 26. The services will be conducted at 7:45 p.m. daily by Evangelist George S. Cooper, who will be in charge. Rev. Cooper is affiliated with the Church of God and in addition to the work of evangelism will emphasize young people's enterprises for the church, along with other phases of gospel endeavor, including a "Gospel Trumpet" literature campaign.

PRESBYTERIAN MANSE FINISHED AT JONESVILLE

JONESVILLE, La., April 11.—(Special)—The Presbyterian manse, which was recently completed, is now occupied by Rev. K. C. Seawright, who formerly divided his time between the church at Jonesville and the Winnsboro church, and who now devotes his full time to the local church.

Necessary funds for the erection of this manse were raised by public subscription, with Judge R. M. Taliaferro of the court of appeals at Shreveport, donating the plot on which the manse stands.

Plans were drawn by Wilbur Ellis of Monroe. The total cost of the manse was approximately $3,000. It is modern in every respect with bath and study for the pastor.

Golgotha

Caesar of mighty Rome, whose legions tramp
The dusty roads from Gaul to Galilee,
From eastern cities to the farthest camp
Of lonely sentries by the northern sea;
What do you do, upon this barren slope,
With sullen, stupid hatred at your side?
For all your power, do you dare to hope
That what you have here can be—crucified?

You are betrayed. For all you have and prize—
Death which you rule by; fear, which is your aid—
Are from this moment helpless. In the skies
The hosts of all mankind march unafraid,
Singing, triumphant, freed eternally
From loneliness, defeat, and barren loss—
Because your blindness stood on Calvary
And raised eternal life upon a Cross!

The Miracle Of Rebirth

Widespread religious observance of Easter prevents in great measure the perversion of its significance so common in the celebration of some other red-letter days in the calendar which, originated in patriotic or other sentimental impulses, have become dedicated to harmless, but irrelevant outdoor activities. The churches exert an influence which manages to hold the Easter celebration largely to its true note—rejoicing at rebirth.

Spring infallibly repeats the miracle. The world is always the better for its recurrence. There are people who view mundane things through blue glasses and feel that a doomed civilization, torn by international dissensions, is nearing its end. They hold that human ingenuity is steadily perverting its powers to the accomplishment of coming destruction. These, and the less pessimistic, need the stimulus that Easter brings to all who search history and their own hearts for invigorating truth.

The world cannot go mad so long as it holds to the counsels of religion and of its divinely implanted instincts. Decadence is followed by fertilization and fructification. Nature teaches its lesson; Easter urges humans to reflect upon it. The inspiration of this season is indispensable to progress, growth, improvement. It is well that the rejoicing with which we celebrate rebirth has its undertones of solemnity appropriate to the significance of the occasion.

LAST OF A 'PIONEER'

On April 30 the navy department will open sealed bids for sale of the obsolete cruiser Alton, with the proviso that no matter who buys the ship it must be scrapped or sunk by the end of this year. The sale will mark the passing of one of the historic vessels of our navy.

Not that the Alton ever fought a great engagement, or carried the flag into any historic battle. Her importance lies in the fact that she was the first vessel in what used to be called our "new navy"—the first step on our progress toward naval greatness.

Under he name Chicago, this cruiser was launched in 1885. At that time our navy was obsolete, skimpy, and undermanned. The building of the Chicago marked the beginning of modern construction; within a few decades, we ranked as one of the two strongest naval powers in existence.

The uneventful life of this rusting cruiser records a revolution in America's attitude toward the use of sea power. When the Chicago was laid down, we were content to be weak; now we insist on being as strong as the strongest.

UNSUNG, UNSEEN

They were gay, inspired youngsters, those Fascist youths who departed from Italy for the Ethiopian conquest several months ago. They were proud of their uniforms, and of their shiny guns; and proud that they had been singled out to disseminate the culture of the "Roman Empire."

As they embarked, bands played, there were bombastic speeches, and shouts of praise for "Il Duce"—it was a hero's sendoff.

Now shift the scene to the present. Hospital ships are returning from torrid Africa. Thousands of these Fascist youths line the decks. There is scarcely one who does not bear visual evidence of wounds, sickness, or great hardship. They are a disappointed, weary, diseased and dejected lot.

Where are the bands now? The speakers, the glorious shouts of the nation? Nowhere in evidence. A fighting nation cannot waste its time on men whose usefulness has ended.

That is a spectacle no country can afford to forget.

It's rather difficult to restrain our admiration for the enterprise of thieves who have gotten away during the last few days with a 400-pound church bell, a cement mixer and a steam roller.

A couple of congressmen brand each other as a "fool" and a "jackass." Now that this problem is solved the lawmakers can turn to something constructive.

More Truth Than Poetry

A PLEA IN DEFENSE

(On learning that the maple is an unpopular tree.)

They've had a long and restful sleep,
But now that March has fled,
They're here and there
And everywhere,
Bright little dots of red.
In yonder skies there seems to be
A lifting of the gloom
Where far and wide
On every side
The maples are in bloom.

The frost may linger on the hill,
The winds blow keen and cold,
The chilling rime
Of winter time
May lie on wood and wold.
But hope cannot be far away.—
Past any shade of doubt,
The voice of Spring
Is murmuring:
"The maple trees are out."

The maple trees—the pioneers
Of brighter, happier days—
On many a bough
Birds gather now
To sing their pleasant lays.
And bye and bye beneath the sky
We all may take our ease,
And drowse and dream
Beside the stream,
Beneath the maple trees.

Man Can Defeat Disaster

By BRUCE CATTON

Anybody who lives beside an American river might do well to reflect on two things—the case of Portsmouth, Ohio, and the fable of the three little pigs.

The pigs, as you may remember, set out to build houses. One pig saw trouble coming, built a solid house of brick, and got by nicely when the huffing and puffing began. The other little pigs, building less securely, had a great deal of trouble.

Now, Portsmouth is a solid industrial city nestled down on a point of land between the Ohio and Scioto rivers. Some years ago the citizens decided to take a leaf from the smart pig's book and get ready for trouble. So they laid out $750,000 to build a great steel and concrete flood wall along the waterfront.

There are a good many other cities along the Ohio, from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati, and of them all Portsmouth seems to have been the only one that went to the expense of putting up a big wall. There must have been years when the $750,000 put into that wall looked like a bad investment.

But Portsmouth sat tight and waited. This spring the snows melted, the rains descended, and the waters rose; and what happened?

Every other city in the vicinity was flooded. From Pittsburgh, where catfish made their nests among the lamp posts of the main stem, all the way down to the neighborhood of Cincinnati, the water went swishing through the streets, driving people from their homes, workers from their shops, and merchants from their stores. Many lives were lost; property damage rose to astronomical figures.

But Portsmouth snuggled down behind its flood wall and went about its business dry-shod. Its mills, railroad shops, and public utilities carried on without a let-up. Children played unconcerned in yards 20 feet below the level of the swollen river. Cash registers clicked and jangled in stores that might easily have been full of water.

City Manager Frank E. Sheehan estimates that Portsmouth would have suffered property damage of at least $1,000,000 if it had not been for the wall. Industrial payrolls of $350,000 a week would have been suspended. There would have been heaven knows how much suffering and hardship for individuals.

There is the neatest kind of moral in all this, both for those who live in river cities and for those who do not.

Those great "natural" catastrophes that visit us every so often—whether they be floods, industrial depressions, or wars—don't come out of a blue sky. We can see them, years in advance. And despite all that we say about their irresistible force, it is possible to get ready for them.

Portsmouth proved it. Isn't the tip worth taking?

BARBS

A Shreveport, La., girl has talked incessantly for a week. It seems a bit hard on her elders, who also may want to use the phone.

The Detroit inventor, unable to explain why he shot his spouse, might have been testing the gun's recoil.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE VOYAGE OF THE BELLS—A strange belief connected with Holy Week, is that referring to the mysterious pilgrimage of church bells, for centuries the country people of France have been under the impression that all church bells travel to Rome and back between Thursday and Saturday of the Holy Week, to receive their blessing at the hands of St. Peter's. As a result of this belief, no church bell is rung on the last three days. Instead, the bell-ringers use gigantic alphorns which can be heard 12 miles around.

My cartoon was drawn after an original photo of this strange custom.

TUESDAY: FROM GANGSTER TO CHIEF JUSTICE

(Copyright, 1936, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

There is much wailing these days about the plight of young men. The lads are reputedly suffering for the omissions of unthinking elders. Compared to my boyhood and the average existence of that period I see no cause for blubbering. Things are not so easy these days but that may be just as well.

Youth was riding high, wide and handsome. I remember being in Palm Beach one boom winter when the son of a friend of mine, home from an eastern college, phoned his father excitedly about 2 a. m. to send money. He had run up an $80 check in a night club and was shy $11. The father sent it in a hurry. At breakfast I expected to see the son get a good dressing down.

It wasn't even mentioned. That, of course, was youthful profligacy on a whopping scale, but things of that sort were happening and heading a lot of first-rate boys and girls for the bow-wows. At the age of this boy I had been working five years and only making $5 a week—glad to get it too.

I rarely spent more than 50 cents an evening until in my 20's. Any number of sons of men I know have had allowances of $50 a week before reaching majority. I never sat down stairs in a theater until 22 years old—and things that bore young men today were a thrill for me until I reached 20.

Youth thinks things are tough because it has had things so easy. It complains there are no jobs. There were no jobs when I cut loose on my own, too, and furthermore employers were paying their help half real money and half script.

I was fired three times in as many months because staffs were being cut down and I was the last on the payroll—plus perhaps that I wasn't of any great value to begin with.

Any man who has attained 50 or more, unless a silk-stockinged lucky who never had to work, has had a tougher time getting a toehold and holding it than most youths floundering today.

It is only fair to youth to say it is not courting sympathy. It has stuck out its chin awaiting whatever comes. And it can take it too. Don't worry. And don't be so maudlin!

My favorite fashionist, Beaunash of the theater programs, reveals the raglan coat is still popular. It has survived a hundred and one styles since introduced in England 30 years ago.

An European correspondent writes that the Douglas Fairbanks-Lady Ashley marriage excitement gave Europe a grand chuckle at a time when the corners of its mouth were down. People forgot war and rumors and alarms to read of the middle-aged lover fluttering about and struggling to be romantic at 53, or is it 56? Anyway it gave England and the continent a chance to pull some fast ones, ha, ha, in the bars and where not and anythng that can releve the tension over there is something of a blessing.

Perhaps the most vicious of the New Deal stage travesties is that at the Winter Garden in which Bob Hope spoofs preposterous spending. Those who have seen it think the Republican national committee should buy the rights, hire Hope and present it in every city, town and hamlet in the country.

A lady in Mexico, Missouri, sends me a clipping from her weekly paper of 1901. Part of it reads: "The cigaret so far is smoked only by town dudes. No man of stability would be seen with one. It was reported that when a cheap carnival show came through the county this summer one of the hussies in the Oriental side show smoked openly after her vulgar dance. The cigaret is a fad and, of course, will never acquire any permanent popularity."

And a theater reporter, in recounting the crowds at a recent auspicious first night, observed that in the foyer between acts he counted 74 fashionably gowned women as they stepped from the theater proper. Only four were not preparing a cigaret for a light.

No one has really tasted melancholy who hasn't heard one of those gargantuan pipe organs in a movie cathedral bleating, wheezing, trembling out the sobby strains of Music Goes Round and Round like an aged, weepy elephant trying to dance a jig. Incidentally, I know two learned word beaglers who recently spent a long evening trying to find out the origin of "Out upon thee, fie upon thee, hold faced jig." It seems no dictionary gives the definition of jig as trollop.

Most strangers to New York are impressed by the ancient automobiles driven by equally ancient drivers and bearing ancient ladies and gentlemen. The truth is that such equipages usually denote what the negro calls "quality folk," people who shun display or the swank so often essayed by the nouveaux riches. The smartest conveyance in the metropolis, from the native viewpoint, are the horse drawn cabs, owned privately, that circle the park just before the home-going rush in the evening. Mostly the occupants are from Murray Hill, Washington Square and Gramercy Park. People, indeed, who have not seen Broadway for 25 years. They belong to the past and are proud of it.

All the area of Egypt that is under cultivation, or is habitable, is along a narrow groove worn in the desert sand by the Nile river. The Nile is not filled by rains that fall in Egypt, but by snow and rain from the peaks of equatorial Africa.

Your Baby's Health

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of daily columns by Dr. Fishbein, covering every phase of the most important subject in every home, the care and feeding of children during the first two years of their lives. Mothers are urged to clip these columns and save them in scrapbook form, to make an invaluable book on the subject of baby's health.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

In previous generations, the woman who was about to bear a child kept the matter a secret from even her husband until well along in the course of the event. As the time approached when the child was to be born, she would notify her doctor.

In many instances, however, the doctor was not notified until the moment of childbirth. Then, in the home, with the aid of a neighbor or a relative, the child would be brought into the community.

Advances of scientific medicine have greatly changed our points of view in relation to what is proper in childbirth. Nowadays, the intelligent woman will consult her doctor long before she is ready to have a child.

He finds out whether her health will permit her to have a child without seriously injuring herself and without danger to the prospective baby.

The intelligent woman also consults her doctor just as soon as she realizes that she is going to have a baby. He examines her to make certain of the diagnosis. He confirms his examination by various tests made in the laboratory as well as by physical examination of the patient herself.

The doctor will do many things to regulate the expectant mother's habits and hygiene, according to her condition. He will control her diet, her exercise, her rest, her work, and every other factor of her existence, in relation to the physical changes which she will undergo during this period. He will make certain that everyone of the organs is functioning satisfactorily.

Such care previous to childbirth, known as prenatal care, is of utmost importance in lowering the amount of sickness and death associated with this condition and also with bringing healthy children into the world. It serves to relieve the prospective mother of much anxiety and helps to keep the well woman well.

The doctor finds complicatinos the moment they develop, and prevents their becoming worse. He studies the condition of the coming child and regulates the life of the mother so as to make the child, at the time of its birth, as capable as possible of undergoing the vicissitudes of the first year of life. The first year of life, like the last, is a most dangerous one.

Regardless of the vast expenditures in educating women concerning the importance of prenatal care, there are still tremendous numbers who do not realize its necessity and fail to understand what proper prenatal care includes.

These people do not recognize the danger of persistent vomiting, bleeding, nausea, and even difficulty with their vision, although every one of these symptoms is a warning that great danger is near.

Approximately 20,000 women lose their lives in the United States every year as the direct or indirect result of childbirth. Many of these deaths are preventable.

Much of the blame attaches to the women themselves. Because of ignorance and negligence, thousands of them fail to take advantage of what modern medicine can do to prevent complications and insure the birth of a healthy child.

New Deal In Washington

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON.—Several developments on the labor front point to intensification of the long struggle between employers and employes in industry.

These include unprecedented political activity by labor groups, evidence of repressive tactics of a sensational nature, the rise of labor organizations to demand a voice in new fields, and likelihood of a senate investigation of industrial practices inimical to labor organization.

The old-fashioned conception of the employer as a benevolent personage with the welfare of his workers at heart, though it still must apply in many cases, has taken a severe jolt with the revelation reported to have been made in a senate probe that major industries were secretly buying stores of machine guns, tear gas, revolvers, and ammunition, in anticipation of labor strikes.

The evidence was found by the senate munitions committee in the files of Federal Laboratories, Inc., of Pittsburgh, dealers in tear and nauseating gas, who handle pistols and machine guns on the side.

Correspondence was reported to show that purchases had been made by employers with great secrecy. Among Federal's customers, the committee evidence is said to reveal, have been the Weirton Steel Co., Cudahy Packing Co., H. C. Frick Coke Co., Southern Natural Gas Co., and Bethlehem Steel.

Will Probe 'Labor Spies'

These revelations are being used as a talking point by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, head of the new industrial union movement, and will be followed up by the La Follette sub-committee in its preliminary hearings which will be used to base a request for full investigation of violations of civil rights.

The national labor relations board has a vast store of evidence as to industrial espionage which is being placed before the sub-committee and which has a direct bearing on enforcement of the Wagner labor disputes act—probably the most commonly flouted law in the country today.

It has been common practice, this evidence indicates, for large corporations to employ "stool pigeons" to join labor unions, make reports on the unions' affairs and memberships, and to obstruct or nullify their work from the inside. Activities of labor spies would be first on the investigation's agenda.

It is also proposed that the committee cover the whole field of civil liberties violations.

Move Will Aid F. D. R.

Obviously, the exposure and denunciation of these alleged tactics—with recommendation for legislation in some cases—would aid militant labor organizers. It would also accrue to the benefit of the Roosevelt administration, which will have the support of organized labor and pose as its champion while its opposition has the support of the American Liberty league, chiefly representative of anti-union employers.

Organization of Labor's Non-Partisan league by George Berry of the pressmen, Lewis of the miners, and Sidney Hillman of the clothing workers is important because it will be difficult for the other A. F. of L. leaders to avoid playing along with them.

With Berry at its head, the movement can't be branded by Bill Green and conservative leaders as a mere offshoot of the Lewis-Hillman Committee for Industrial Organization.

The league's support of Roosevelt means that 160,000 miners and 40,000 garment workers in Pennsylvania, and 236,000 needle trades workers in New York, probably will be delivered to the national Democratic ticket in November.

Study Farm Workers' Plight

Another recent development was the unprecedented amount of official attention paid the meeting in Washington of representatives of unionized farm hands, sharecroppers, and tenant farmers under auspices of the National Committee on Rural Social Planning.

Atrocious violations of civil liberties—murders, beatings, evictions, and other types of repression—were reported. It was testified that local officials of federal agencies cooperated in repressions of agricultural worker unions.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and Dr. Will Alexander, chief of the resettlement administration's rural rehabilitation division, addressed the conference and deplored conditions among sharecroppers—but hinted that they shouldn't organize, as that would provoke violence.

Nevertheless, large numbers of liberal Washingtonians turned out for the meetings, and the organization of this type of worker—already endorsed by Lewis and other industrial labor leaders—received considerable impetus.

DEPUTY KILLED, ANOTHER WOUNDED IN STILL RAID

SANFORD, N. C., April 11.—(AP)—A deputy sheriff was slain and a deputy and an alleged whisky still operator wounded today in a gun battle near here precipitated when sheriff's officers raided the still.

Deputy Sheriff James Thomas was shot to death and Deputy Owen Taylor wounded seriously in the abdomen. Robert Williams, who officers said was the operator of the still, was shot at least once, but his condition was not immediately determined.

PEACOCK'S WILL OPEN HERE SOON

Plans Being Made For Opening Of Jewelry Concern On May 1

Plans for the opening May 1 of one of the most handsome business houses in the downtown district of Monroe were well under way during the past week with workers rapidly remodeling and transforming the building at the corner of DeSiard and St. John streets for occupancy by Peacock's jewelry store. The plans were announced by Morris Schuster, one of the store executives.

The advent of the Peacock organization in Monroe marks another evidence of the upward trend in business conditions. When the store is completed it will make an imposing addition to the retail shopping district.

The structure occupies a frontage of 30 feet on DeSiard and 80 feet on St. John street. The new store will be ultra-modern in its design and arrangements, especially adapted to the requirements essential in serving the jewelry-purchasing public. In addition to jewelry the store will be equipped with a complete optical department and a section for luggage and leather goods.

The exterior of the store will follow an entirely original "peacock" architectural motif. The front will be of black agate vitriolite, with polished aluminum trim. Walls will be sandblasted and decorated in harmonious colors. The interior woodwork will be birchwood, with mahogany finish, trimmed with aluminum. The showroom floor will be 45x30 feet and will be done in modern azrock, with marble effect, and decorated in peacock coloring. Indirect ceiling lights will furnish subdued natural radiance throughout the store. Special lighting effects will also be introduced in the exterior display windows.

The show cases will be specially designed, and will be fitted with plate glass. The architectural designs were prepared by H. H. Land and associates.

Max Moses the store manager, and Morris Schuster, are now in New York making selection of the stocks which will be ready for display on the opening day, May 1. Mr. Schuster, in making announcement of the opening plans, said that it was designed to rush the work of remodeling to completion in ample time to serve patrons who will be buying presents for the May and June graduations, as well as June weddings.

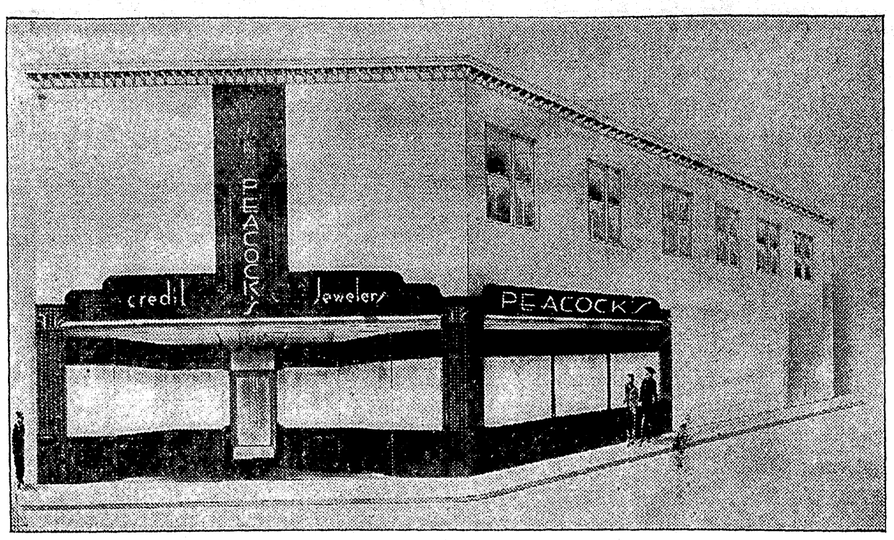
Peacock's Inc., is the largest credit jewelry store in Louisiana. It has branches in Shreveport and Fort Worth. Following its established policy the concern will employ only local people, Mr. Schuster said, and only local labor is used in the present remodeling operations, which will cost over $12,500.

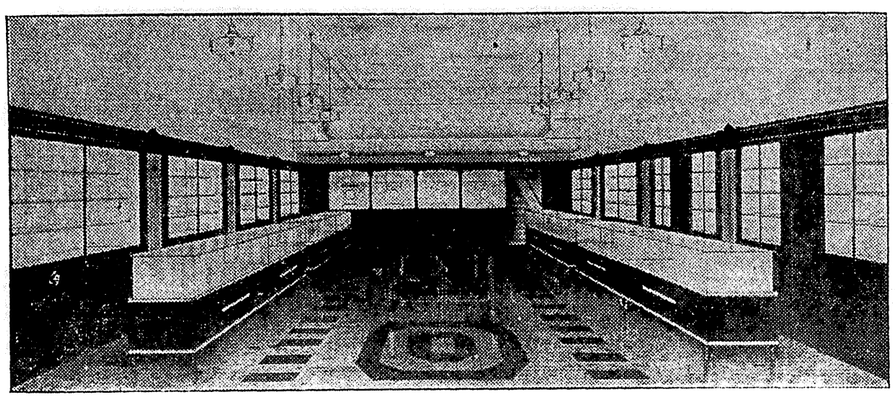
Merchandise to be handled by the store will include Bulova, Gruen, Hamilton, Elgin and other famous watches; Gorham, Reid and Barton, 1847 Rogers Bros., and Oneida Community silverware; Wherry and Hartmann luggage. In diamonds only certified blue white perfect stones will be carried, Mr. Schuster announced.

"Our aim is to have merchandise to fit every pocketbook," he said, describing the store's policy of service.

Archimedes, famous mathematician of Sicily, was so elated at solving one great problem that he sprang from his bath and ran into the street, shouting, "Eureka!" (I have found it!)

PEACOCK'S TO OPEN MONROE STORE ON MAY 1





Two views are seen here of the beautifully designed store to be opened May 1 by Peacock's Inc., widely known credit jewelers. The store, located at the corner of DeSiard and St. John streets, is ultra-modern in architectural conception. Top, the handsome front done in black agate vitriolite, with aluminum trim. Below, the spacious display room, with its azrock marble floors, decorated in peacock colors.

YOUNG DELHI RESIDENT JOINS U. S. MARINES

DELHI, La., April 11.—(Special)—Woodrow Carter of Delhi was one of ten young men enlisting in the U. S. Marine Corps in New Orleans recently for duty on the west coast. He was transferred to San Diego, Calif., for training. He will be assigned to duty aboard some plane carrier, battle ship or overseas station.

Prior to his entry into the marines, Carter lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo C. Carter, in Delhi. He graduated from Delhi high school last year.

Applicants to fill marine vacancies receive their preliminary examinations in their home localities and those selected receive their final examinations at U. S. Marine corps headquarters, 535 St. Charles street, New Orleans.

TRI-PARISH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION CONVENES

TALLULAH, La., April 11.—(Special)—The Tri-Parish Medical association held the April meeting at the Tallulah club building here with physicians from East Carroll, West Carroll, Tensas and Madison parishes in attendance. The essayists were Dr. W. W. Purks, baby specialist, and Dr. W. Pierce Robert, cardiac specialist, both of Vicksburg. A general discussion followed.

The president, Dr. Joseph Whitaker, of St. Joseph, presided, and Dr. Davis, of Trannsylvania served as secretary. Preceding the session a supper was served at the Post Inn cafe here.

WPA COMMITTEE NAMED

JENA, La., April 11.—(Special)—According to Miss Ethlee Neill, parish supervisor of recreation for the works progress administration, the following committee has been named to assist in mapping out a program in Jena: W. F. Mackey, J. P. Wade, Rev. D. F. Anders, Mrs. J. C. Hinckley and Mrs. C. B. Perrin.

25 ON HONOR ROLL

MARION, Ala., April 11.—(Special)—Twenty-five Marion institute students, including Cadet W. W. McClary of Monroe, won recognition on the honor roll for the month of February, Major L. H. Baer, academic dean, announced today. Students maintaining an average of 80 or above with no grades below 80 are eligible for the dean's list. A good standing in conduct is also required. Special privileges are granted those on the list.

BONITA WILL ELECT MAYOR AND MARSHAL

BASTROP, La., April 11.—(Special)—Citizens of Bonita will go to the polls Tuesday to nominate a mayor and a marshal. There are two candidates for mayor and four for marshal. The three present members of the board of aldermen are unopposed.

For the first time in its history, Bonita has a woman candidate for mayor. She is Mrs. Emma H. Williamson, who is opposing H. H. Honeycutt, the incumbent.

The four candidates for marshal include G. R. McDowell, incumbent, G. W. Manley, W. S. Neal and Fay Simms.

The aldermen are C. S. Reeves, F. M. Doles and G. C. Harp.

MASONIC COMMANDERY WILL ATTEND CHURCH

The annual Easter service of the Monroe Knights Templar commandery will be conducted at the First Baptist church at 11 o'clock this morning. The sermon will be preached by the pastor, Rev. L. T. Hastings.

Members of the commandery will report in full uniform at the Masonic temple and will march in a body to the church where they will be seated in the main auditorium.

The sermon and music will be of a nature appropriate to the Knights Templar.

AUTO STOLEN

The theft of a Ford automobile belonging to Vincent P. Zagone, 803 Natchitoches street, West Monroe, was reported to the Monroe police Saturday. The car was said to have been stolen sometime late Friday night while it was parked in the 200 block of Catalpa street. The license number of the stolen automobile is 161841.

BAND DIRECTOR

Col. Castro Carazo, director of the Louisiana State university cadet band, former orchestra conductor of New Orleans and well known to radio audiences, who will direct the L. S. U. cadet musicians in all of the concerts in which they are to appear on state tour late this month and early in May. The ten towns in which the group is scheduled to play are New Orleans, Alexandria, Winnfield, Monroe, Ruston, Shreveport, Natchitoches, Plaquemine, Lafayette and Lake Charles.

FAIRBANKS WILL HOLD EVANGELISTIC MEETING

FAIRBANKS, La., April 11.—(Special)—An evangelistic campaign was launched here April 13 to continue through April 26. The services will be conducted at 7:45 p.m. daily by Evangelist George S. Cooper, who will be in charge. Rev. Cooper is affiliated with the Church of God and in addition to the work of evangelism will emphasize young people's enterprises for the church, along with other phases of gospel endeavor, including a "Gospel Trumpet" literature campaign.

PRESBYTERIAN MANSE FINISHED AT JONESVILLE

JONESVILLE, La., April 11.—(Special)—The Presbyterian manse, which was recently completed, is now occupied by Rev. K. C. Seawright, who formerly divided his time between the church at Jonesville and the Winnsboro church, and who now devotes his full time to the local church.

Necessary funds for the erection of this manse were raised by public subscription, with Judge R. M. Tallaferro of the court of appeals at Shreveport, donating the plot on which the manse stands.

Plans were drawn by Wilbur Ellis of Monroe. The total cost of the manse was approximately $3,000. It is modern in every respect with bath and study for the pastor.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF NECROMANCY

Alleged To Have Collected Small Fortune Through 'Evil Eye'

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—(AP)—A magistrate held Mrs. Bridget Caprara today for obtaining money under false pretenses, a technical charge for accusations that she collected a small fortune for giving neighbors immunity from her "evil eye."

The 48-year-old woman was beaten with a hatchet last February in a cemetery, and Mrs. Theresa De Luca, 55, is under $1,000 bail in connection with the attack.

Mrs. De Luca testified she paid Mrs. Caprara $2,000 in two years.

"She promised me good luck for my boarding house, and then she said if I didn't pay more money she would destroy my family," said Mrs. De Luca. "When my son died last June she said it was because I hadn't given her enough money."

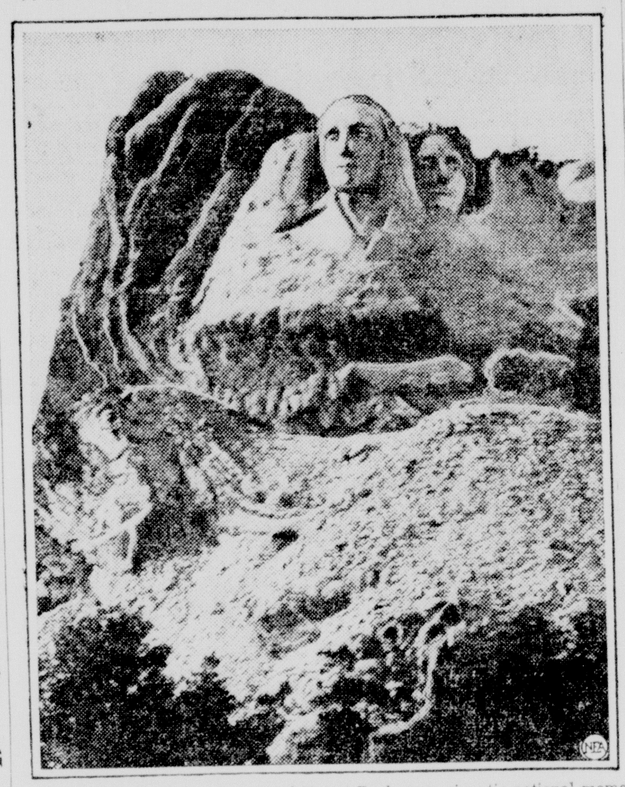
Other witnesses accused Mrs. Caprara of witchcraft. The magistrate fixed bail at $3,000.

FERRIDAY MASONS TO GO TO ALEXANDRIA MEETING

FERRIDAY, La., April 11.—(Special)—A number of Ferriday and Concordia parish Masons are planning to attend the meeting of Master Masons in Alexandria April 19.

The Mastr Masons will meet with Oliver lodge, No. 84 and the occasion is a visit from W. H. Booth lodge No. 380, of Shreveport, which will confer the degree of Master Mason on a large group of candidates.

WASHINGTON HIGH, ALOOF IN STONE



From the gray-white granite of Mount Rushmore, gigantic national memorial in South Dakota, the sculptured face of George Washington here looks out, aloof from all the world, across to the forested mountains to the southeast. The face of the first president is 60 feet in height and that of the entire monument 240 feet. At the right is the face of Thomas Jefferson, kindly and quizzical in expression. A few finishing touches this summer and Gutzon Borglum, world-famed sculptor, will complete the heads of these two great statesmen. The face of Abraham Lincoln, at the extreme right, then will be blocked out and work started on that of Theodore Roosevelt in 1937.

TWO ARE INJURED AS CARS DERAIL

Observation Car And Two Pullmans Of I. C. Flier Leave Tracks

JACKSON, Tenn., April 11.—(AP)—Two persons had minor injuries today as the result of a derailment of the Illinois Central north-bound flier, the Floridian, 10 miles north of here late last night.

The observation car, in which four persons had berths, and two Pullmans left the track beyond a switch. Conductor Bob Scott of Jackson said there were 43 passengers on the train running between Miami, Fla., and Chicago.

The injured:

John Moseley, attached to the U. S. S. Woodcock, chin lacerations and several teeth knocked out.

B. B. Early, Rockford, Ill., three fractured ribs.

Both of the injured men were thrown from their berths. They were given emergency treatment.

The observation car was the first to leave the track. It broke loose from the train and plunged down a 10-foot embankment, turning on its side.

About a quarter of a mile from the observation car, two of the train's seven Pullmans jumped the rails and rolled to a stop against an embankment which prevented any possibility of their overturn.

None of the 18 passengers in those cars was thrown out of his berth.

COURT WILL HEAR JUDGESHIP CHARGE

COUSHATTA, La., April 11.—(AP)—Whether an election contest suit alleging irregularities in the nomination of Paul Stephens of Coushatta for the tenth judicial district judgeship will be heard on its merits will be decided Monday by Judge F. E. Jones.

The suit was brought by Judge J. W. Jones Jr., of Natchitoches, against Stephens, his opponent in the March 3 primary election for the tenth district judgeship. Stephens was declared the nominee by the District Democratic Executive committee, which reported he had a majority of 167 votes.

Judge Jones in his suit alleged irregularities in the election, the purchase of votes and flase and erroneous returns.

JONESVILLE PLANNING ANNUAL FLOWER SHOW

JONESVILLE, La., April 11.—(Special)—The annual flower show, sponsored by the Jonesville Woman's club, will be held this year on April 25, in Block high school auditorium.

Invitations have been extended to every flower lover in Catahoula parish to attend and display home grown flowers. A special prize will be awarded to all winners of first places and a prize to the individual winning the largest number of first places. All flowers for display will be received by the judges until 12 o'clock.

Classifications are as follows: white roses, bush; pink roses, bush; red roses, bush; yellow roses, bush; climbing roes, any color; pansies; verbena; white lilies; colored lilies; best floral centerpiece for dinner table; best bouquet of mixed flowers; larkspurs.

Miscellaneous group: bouquets of any flowers (all one kind not listed above).

Husbands display: In this group of flowers the men will compete with each other only. They must select and arrange their bouquets without suggestion. All married men are eligible to compete. The prize for this will be a large cake.

TORNADO DONT'S LISTED BY DEAN

CLEMSON COLLEGE, S. C., April 11.—(AP)—Don't, says Dean F. H. H. Calhoun of the Clemson college school of chemistry and geology, worry about tornadoes; the chances are about one in 625,000 that one may strike where you are.

Other facts about tornadoes, he says, are: An average of only 50 occur each year; the area of damage is seldom greater than a square mile, and only 20 of the 50 do much damage.

But in case you are near a tornado about to strike, he gives this advice:

"Run toward the northwest. The tornado comes from the southeast and the winds are not as strong on the northwest side as on the southeast.

"In other words, run at right angles from the storm. Never run straight from it, or it may catch you.

"You should never be in a building or under a tree. Lie in the open flat on the ground, or—better—in a low place or in a ditch.

"If you are in a building, the lower floor is the safest, except the cellar.

"And always move to the northwest—away from the approaching storm."

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR FILLING IN ROAD GAP

JONESVILLE, La., April 11.—(Special)—Information has been received here of plans of the Louisiana highway commission to complete gravel highway No. 820 to connect with the highway leading from Jonesville to Monterey. The plans call for a gap of four miles of grading and surfacing with washed gravel, to be furnished complete by the contractor.

At this time of the year, with all of the heavy traffic that this highway carried, the completion of this section will afford the farmers and school van drivers approximately 36 miles of gravel roads. Heretofore the gap of four miles has been impassable. In the rainy season this section of the road has been in such a shape as to make traffic impossible.

FARM CLUB MEETS

TALLULAH, La., April 11.—(Special)—The subject for discussion at the April meeting of the Madison Parish Farmers' club at the community room of the Methodist church was "Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act," led by C. E. Hester, local agriculture agent. Community singing was under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Richie and readings by Melva Osborn and Marie Norsworthy and music by the "Irby boys" were features.

LIGHT RATES FOR EAST CARROLL HIKED

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., April 11.—(Special)—Light rates for East Carroll parish have been raised and instead of having two rates as formerly, one for lights and one for electric ice boxes, there will be the one rate. For the first 30 kilowats the rate will be 12 1-2 cents per kilowat, next 20 will be 10 cents and the remainder at the rate of 3 cents for residences. In the business districts the rates are 50 kilowats at 12 1-2 cents, next 50 at 10 cents and the balance at 3 cents. These rates are effective on current used from April 1. Previous rates were 15 cents per kilowat for lights and 3 cents for ice boxes.

At the same meeting of the town council the mayor's salary was raised from $700 a year to $1,000 a year and the salary of E. J. Chaney, manager of the municipal light and water plant was raised from $250 to $300 a month, and the day marshal, W. D. Hill's salary was raised from $125 to $150, a month.

AUTOMOBILE PILFERING IS RESUMED IN MONROE

The pilfering of parked automobiles in Monroe which was checked for a time by local police, has again broken out in the city with several cases of thefts from parked cars during the past week having been reported to the police.

Saturday, Fred L. Seamon, 110 Pine street, reported that an automobile pistol and a flashlight had been stolen from his car late Friday night. The theft occurred while the automobile was parked on DeSiard street.

Police yesterday urged the public to lock the doors of their automobiles while they are parked on downtown streets, and also issued a warning against leaving packages and other valuables in automobiles.

NEGRO IS BURNED

Sam Hayes, negro employe of the Monroe Auto Supply company, 302 Walnut street, suffered slight burns as the result of a small fire which broke out in the building Saturday afternoon. The negro was said to have been cleaning woodwork near an open stove and the gasoline which he was using ignited and caused the fire. Hayes was taken to St. Francis sanitarium for treatment.

Golgotha

Caesar of mighty Rome, whose legions tramp
The dusty roads from Gaul to Galilee,
From eastern cities to the farthest camp
Of lonely sentries by the northern sea;
What do you do, upon this barren slope,
With sullen, stupid hatred at your side?
For all your power, do you dare to hope
That what you have here can be—crucified?

You are betrayed. For all you have and prize—
Death which you rule by; fear, which is your aid—
Are from this moment helpless. In the skies
The hosts of all mankind march unafraid,
Singing, triumphant, freed eternally
From loneliness, defeat, and barren loss—
Because your blindness stood on Calvary
And raised eternal life upon a Cross!

The Miracle Of Rebirth

Widespread religious observance of Easter prevents in great measure the perversion of its significance so common in the celebration of some other red-letter days in the calendar which, originated in patriotic or other sentimental impulses, have become dedicated to harmless, but irrelevant outdoor activities. The churches exert an influence which manages to hold the Easter celebration largely to its true note—rejoicing at rebirth.

Spring infallibly repeats the miracle. The world is always the better for its recurrence. There are people who view mundane things through blue glasses and feel that a doomed civilization, torn by international dissensions, is nearing its end. They hold that human ingenuity is steadily perverting its powers to the accomplishment of coming destruction. These, and the less pessimistic, need the stimulus that Easter brings to all who search history and their own hearts for invigorating truth.

The world cannot go mad so long as it holds to the counsels of religion and of its divinely implanted instincts. Decadence is followed by fertilization and fructification. Nature teaches its lesson; Easter urges humans to reflect upon it. The inspiration of this season is indispensable to progress, growth, improvement. It is well that the rejoicing with which we celebrate rebirth has its undertones of solemnity appropriate to the significance of the occasion.

LAST OF A 'PIONEER'

On April 30 the navy department will open sealed bids for sale of the obsolete cruiser Alton, with the proviso that no matter who buys the ship it must be scrapped or sunk by the end of this year. The sale will mark the passing of one of the historic vessels of our navy.

Not that the Alton ever fought a great engagement, or carried the flag into any historic battle. Her importance lies in the fact that she was the first vessel in what used to be called our "new navy"—the first step on our progress toward naval greatness.

Under he name Chicago, this cruiser was launched in 1885. At that time our navy was obsolete, skimpy, and undermanned. The building of the Chicago marked the beginning of modern construction; within a few decades, we ranked as one of the two strongest naval powers in existence.

The uneventful life of this rusting cruiser records a revolution in America's attitude toward the use of sea power. When the Chicago was laid down, we were content to be weak; now we insist on being as strong as the strongest.

UNSUNG, UNSEEN

They were gay, inspired youngsters, those Fascist youths who departed from Italy for the Ethiopian conquest several months ago. They were proud of their uniforms, and of their shiny guns; and proud that they had been singled out to disseminate the culture of the "Roman Empire."

As they embarked, bands played, there were bombastic speeches, and shouts of praise for "Il Duce"—it was a hero's sendoff.

Now shift the scene to the present. Hospital ships are returning from torrid Africa. Thousands of these Fascist youths line the decks. There is scarcely one who does not bear visual evidence of wounds, sickness, or great hardship. They are a disappointed, weary, diseased and dejected lot.

Where are the bands now? The speakers, the glorious shouts of the nation? Nowhere in evidence. A fighting nation cannot waste its time on men whose usefulness has ended.

That is a spectacle no country can afford to forget.

It's rather difficult to restrain our admiration for the enterprise of thieves who have gotten away during the last few days with a 400-pound church bell, a cement mixer and a steam roller.

A couple of congressmen brand each other as a "fool" and a "jackass." Now that this problem is solved the lawmakers can turn to something constructive.

A PLEA IN DEFENSE

(On learning that the maple is an unpopular tree.)

They've had a long and restful sleep,
But now that March has fled,
They're here and there
And everywhere.
Bright little dots of red.
In yonder skies there seems to be
A lifting of the gloom
Where far and wide
On every side
The maples are in bloom.

The frost may linger on the hill,
The winds blow keen and cold,
The chilling rime
Of winter time
May lie on wood and wold.
But hope cannot be far away.—
Past any shade of doubt,
The voice of Spring
Is murmuring:
"The maple trees are out."

The maple trees—the pioneers
Of brighter, happier days—
On many a bough
Birds gather now
To sing their pleasant lays.
And bye and bye beneath the sky
We all may take our ease,
And drowse and dream
Beside the stream,
Beneath the maple trees.

Man Can Defeat Disaster

By BRUCE CATTON

Anybody who lives beside an American river might do well to reflect on two things—the case of Portsmouth, Ohio, and the fable of the three little pigs.

The pigs, as you may remember, set out to build houses. One pig saw trouble coming, built a solid house of brick, and got by nicely when the huffing and puffing began. The other little pigs, building less securely, had a great deal of trouble.

Now, Portsmouth is a solid industrial city nestled down on a point of land between the Ohio and Scioto rivers. Some years ago the citizens decided to take a leaf from the smart pig's book and get ready for trouble. So they laid out $750,000 to build a great steel and concrete flood wall along the waterfront.

There are a good many other cities along the Ohio, from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati, and of them all Portsmouth seems to have been the only one that went to the expense of putting up a big wall. There must have been years when the $750,000 put into that wall looked like a bad investment.

But Portsmouth sat tight and waited. This spring the snows melted, the rains descended, and the waters rose; and what happened?

Every other city in the vicinity was flooded. From Pittsburgh, where catfish made their nests among the lamp posts of the main stem, all the way down to the neighborhood of Cincinnati, the water went swishing through the streets, driving people from their homes, workers from their shops, and merchants from their stores. Many lives were lost; property damage rose to astronomical figures.

But Portsmouth snuggled down behind its flood wall and went about its business dry-shod. Its mills, railroad shops, and public utilities carried on without a let-up. Children played unconcerned in yards 20 feet below the level of the swollen river. Cash registers clicked and jangled in stores that might easily have been full of water.

City Manager Frank E. Sheehan estimates that Portsmouth would have suffered property damage of at least $1,000,000 if it had not been for the wall. Industrial payrolls of $350,000 a week would have been suspended. There would have been heaven knows how much suffering and hardship for individuals.

There is the neatest kind of moral in all this, both for those who live in river cities and for those who do not.

Those great "natural" catastrophes that visit us every so often—whether they be floods, industrial depressions, or wars—don't come out of a blue sky. We can see them, years in advance. And despite all that we say about their irresistible force, it is possible to get ready for them.

Portsmouth proved it. Isn't the tip worth taking?

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE VOYAGE OF THE BELLS—A strange belief connected with Holy Week, is that referring to the mysterious pilgrimage of church bells, for centuries the country people of France have been under the impression that all church bells travel to Rome and back between Thursday and Saturday of the Holy Week, to receive their blessing at the hands of St. Peter's. As a result of this belief, no church bell is rung on the last three days. Instead, the bell-ringers use gigantic alphorns which can be heard 12 miles around.

My cartoon was drawn after an original photo of this strange custom.

TUESDAY: FROM GANGSTER TO CHIEF JUSTICE

(Copyright, 1936, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

There is much wailing these days about the plight of young men. The lads are reputedly suffering for the omissions of unthinking elders. Compared to my boyhood and the average existence of that period I see no cause for blubbering. Things are not so easy these days but that may be just as well.

Youth was riding high, wide and handsome, I remember being in Palm Beach one boom winter when the son of a friend of mine, home from an eastern college, phoned his father excitedly about 2 a. m. to send money. He had run up an $80 check in a night club and was shy $11. The father sent it in a hurry. At breakfast I expected to see the son get a good dressing down.

It wasn't even mentioned. That, of course, was youthful profligacy on a whopping scale, but things of that sort were happening and heading a lot of first-rate boys and girls for the bow-wows. At the age of this boy I had been working five years and only making $5 a week—glad to get it too.

I rarely spent more than 50 cents an evening until in my 20's. Any number of sons of men I know have had allowances of $50 a week before reaching majority. I never sat down stairs in a theater until 22 years old—and things that bore young men today were a thrill for me until I reached 20.

Youth thinks things are tough because it has had things so easy. It complains there are no jobs. There were no jobs when I cut loose on my own, too, and furthermore employers were paying their help half real money and half script.

I was fired three times in as many months because staffs were being cut down and I was the last on the payroll—plus perhaps that I wasn't of any great value to begin with.

Any man who has attained 50 or more, unless a silk-stockinged lucky who never had to work, has had a tougher time getting a toehold and holding it than most youths floundering today.

It is only fair to youth to say it is not courting sympathy. It has stuck out its chin awaiting whatever comes. And it can take it too. Don't worry. And don't be so maudlin!

My favorite fashionist, Beaunash of the theater programs, reveals the raglan coat is still popular. It has survived a hundred and one styles since introduced in England 30 years ago.

An European correspondent writes that the Douglas Fairbanks-Lady Ashley marriage excitement gave Europe a grand chuckle at a time when the corners of its mouth were down. People forgot war and rumors and alarms to read of the middle-aged lover fluttering about and struggling to be romantic at 53, or is it 56? Anyway it gave England and the continent a chance to pull some fast ones, ha, ha, in the bars and where not and anything that can releve the tension over there is something of a blessing.

Perhaps the most vicious of the New Deal stage travesties is that at the Winter Garden in which Bob Hope spoofs preposterous spending. Those who have seen it think the Republican national committee should buy the rights, hire Hope and present it in every city, town and hamlet in the country.

A lady in Mexico, Missouri, sends me a clipping from her weekly paper of 1901. Part of it reads: "The cigaret so far is smoked only by town dudes. No man of stability would be seen with one. It was reported that when a cheap carnival show came through the county this summer one of the hussies in the Oriental side show smoked openly after her vulgar dance. The cigaret is a fad and, of course, will never acquire any permanent popularity."

And a theater reporter, in recounting the crowds at a recent auspicious first night, observed that in the foyer between acts he counted 74 fashionably gowned women as they stepped from the theater proper. Only four were not preparing a cigaret for a light.

No one has really tasted melancholy who hasn't heard one of those gargantuan pipe organs in a movie cathedral bleating, wheezing, trembling out the sobby strains of Music Goes Round and Round like an aged, weepy elephant trying to dance a jig. Incidentally, I know two learned word beaglers who recently spent a long evening trying to find out the origin of "Out upon thee, fie upon thee, hold faced jig." It seems no dictionary gives the definition of jig as trollop.

Most strangers to New York are impressed by the ancient automobiles, driven by equally ancient drivers and bearing ancient ladies and gentlemen. The truth is that such equipages usually denote what the negro calls "quality folk," people who shun display or the swank so often essayed by the nouveaux riches. The smartest conveyance in the metropolis, from the native viewpoint, are the horse drawn cabs, owned privately, that circle the park just before the home-going rush in the evening. Mostly the occupants are from Murray Hill, Washington Square and Gramercy Park. People, indeed, who have not seen Broadway for 25 years. They belong to the past and are proud of it.

Your Baby's Health

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of daily columns by Dr. Fishbein, covering every phase of the most important subject in every home, the care and feeding of children during the first two years of their lives. Mothers are urged to clip these columns and save them in scrapbook form to make an invaluable book on the subject of baby's health.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

In previous generations, the woman who was about to bear a child kept the matter a secret from even her husband until well along in the course of the event. As the time approached when the child was to be born, she would notify her doctor.

In many instances, however, the doctor was not notified until the moment of childbirth. Then, in the home, with the aid of a neighbor or a relative, the child would be brought into the community.

Advances of scientific medicine have greatly changed our points of view in relation to what is proper in childbirth. Nowadays, the intelligent woman will consult her doctor long before she is ready to have a child.

He finds out whether her health will permit her to have a child without seriously injuring herself and without danger to the prospective baby.

The intelligent woman also consults her doctor just as soon as she realizes that she is going to have a baby. He examines her to make certain of the diagnosis. He confirms his examination by various tests made in the laboratory as well as by physical examination of the patient herself.

The doctor will do many things to regulate the expectant mother's habits and hygiene, according to her condition. He will control her diet, her exercise, her rest, her work, and every other factor of her existence, in relation to the physical changes which she will undergo during this period. He will make certain that everyone of the organs is functioning satisfactorily.

Such care previous to childbirth, known as prenatal care, is of utmost importance in lowering the amount of sickness and death associated with this condition and also with bringing healthy children into the world. It serves to relieve the prospective mother of much anxiety and helps to keep the well woman well.

The doctor finds complicatinos the moment they develop, and prevents their becoming worse. He studies the condition of the coming child and regulates the life of the mother so as to make the child, at the time of its birth, as capable as possible of undergoing the vicissitudes of the first year of life. The first year of life, like the last, is a most dangerous one.

Regardless of the vast expenditures in educating women concerning the importance of prenatal care, there are still tremendous numbers who do not realize its necessity and fail to understand what proper prenatal care includes.

These people do not recognize the danger of persistent vomiting, bleeding, nausea, and even difficulty with their vision, although every one of these symptoms is a warning that great danger is near.

Approximately 20,000 women lose their lives in the United States every year as the direct or indirect re childbirth. Many of these dea preventable.

Much of the blame attaches women themselves. Because o ance and negligence, thousa them fail to take advantage o modern medicine can do to complications and insure the b a healthy child.

New Deal In Washington

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON.—Several developments on the labor front point to intensification of the long struggle between employers and employes in industry.

These include unprecedented political activity by labor groups, evidence of repressive tactics of a sensational nature, the rise of labor organizations to demand a voice in new fields, and likelihood of a senate investigation of industrial practices inimical to labor organization.

The old-fashioned conception of the employer as a benevolent personage with the welfare of his workers at heart, though it still must apply in many cases, has taken a severe jolt with the revelation reported to have been made in a senate probe that major industries were secretly buying stores of machine guns, tear gas, revolvers, and ammunition, in anticipation of labor strikes.

The evidence was found by the senate munitions committee in the files of Federal Laboratories, Inc., of Pittsburgh, dealers in tear and nauseating gas, who handle pistols and machine guns on the side.

Correspondence was reported to show that purchases had been made by employers with great secrecy. Among Federal's customers, the committee evidence is said to reveal, have been the Weirton Steel Co., Cudahy Packing Co., H. C. Frick Coke Co. Southern Natural Gas Co., and Bethlehem Steel.

Will Probe 'Labor Spies'

These revelations are being used as a talking point by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers head of the new industrial union movement, and will be followed up by the La Follette sub-committee in its preliminary hearings which will be used to base a request for full investigation of violations of civil rights.

The national labor relations board has a vast store of evidence as to industrial espionage which is being placed before the sub-committee and which has a direct bearing on enforcement of the Wagner labor disputes act—probably the most commonly flouted law in the country today.

It has been common practice, the evidence indicates, for large corporations to employ "stool pigeons" to join labor unions, make reports on the unions' affairs and membership and to obstruct or nullify their work from the inside. Activities of labor spies would be first on the investigation's agenda.

It is also proposed that the committee cover the whole field of civil liberties violations.

Move Will Aid F. D. R.

Obviously, the exposure and denunciation of these alleged tactics—with recommendation for legislation in some cases—would aid militant labor organizers. It would also accrue to the benefit of the Roosevelt administration, which will have the support of organized labor and pose as its champion while its opposition has the support of the American Liberty league, chiefly representative of anti-union employers.

Organization of Labor's Non-Partisan league by George Berry of pressmen, Lewis of the miners, and Sidney Hillman of the clothing workers is important because it will make difficult for the other A. F. of L leaders to avoid playing along with them.

With Berry at its head, the movement can't be branded by Bill Green and conservative leaders as a mere offshoot of the Lewis-Hillman Committee for Industrial Organization.

The league's support of Roosevelt means that 160,000 miners and 40 garment workers in Pennsylvania, 236,000 needle trades workers in New York, probably will be delivered to the national Democratic ticket in November.

Study Farm Workers' Plight

Another recent development was the unprecedented amount of official attention paid the meeting in Washington of representatives of union farm hands, sharecroppers, and tenant farmers under auspices of the National Committee on Rural Social Planning.

Atrocious violations of civil liberties—murders, beatings, evictions, and other types of repression—were reported. It was testified that local officials of federal agencies cooperated in repressions of agricultural workers unions.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace and Dr. Will Alexander, head of the resettlement administration's rural rehabilitation division, addressed the conference and deplored conditions among sharecroppers—but added that they shouldn't organize that would provoke violence.

Nevertheless, large numbers of several Washingtonians turned out for the meetings, and the organization of this type of worker—already endorsed by Lewis and other industrial leaders—received considerable impetus.

OIL FIELDS HELP STATE TREASURY

Rich Areas Add $27,500 Each Day To Coffers Of Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—(AP)—Oil bubbling up from the ground in the rich fields of Louisiana is adding $27,500 a day to the state's coffers through taxes, royalties and leases, a survey revealed today.

Severance taxes from the prolific Rodessa field alone accounts for $5,000 a day.

With 900 producing wells at present, and new gushers being brought in weekly in the north Louisiana pool, the state is anticipating a sharp upturn in revenues from the oil industry during 1936.

Attention is centering currently on drilling projects in the New Orleans area. A group of New Orleans capitalists plan to start drilling at the Menefee airport just below the city on a 6,500-acre tract.

Officials of the conservation department estimated today that more than 200,000 acres of land have been leased in recent months by major oil companies in parishes surrounding New Orleans. Drilling rigs are being moved in these areas weekly and drilling sites are being staked out.

The Rodessa field, considered by experts as the major oil discovery in the United States during the past 10 years, has proven to be something of a Utopia for oil men. Not a single dry hole has been reported out of the 130 wells sunk in the field.

The present daily allowable for the state of Louisiana is 202,000 barrels. Dr. J. A. Shaw, director of the state conservation department of minerals, asserted here today that the department proposes to raise this quota to 250,000 barrels a day by mid-summer.

Dr. Shaw predicted that funds received from mineral lands would ultimately enable the state to take over the entire school system of Louisiana.

MU SIGMA ORGANIZED AT MANGHAM SCHOOL

MANGHAM, La., April 11—(Special)—Members of the Mu Sigma fraternity from the Block high school installed a fraternity chapter at the Mangham high school recently. The Mu Sigma society, Iota chapter, was delegated by Mu Sigma scholastic society of L. S. U. to carry out this work.

The attainment of an average of 90 or above for four years of high school work is required for membership in the fraternity.

Those who were enrolled included John McCoy, A. B. Rateliff, Gladis Duchene, Edna Roberts, Elnora Barnett, Edward Boles, Allen Tillman, Lee Both, Mary Ellen Hicks, Lula Jones, J. D. Logan, Alma Mangham, Joseph Ballard, Louis Busbie and Kathleen McKay.

Mangham now has the first Mu Sigma chapter in this parish.

HULL DISCLOSES DEFENSE PLANS

U. S. Would Seek Concerted Action To Protect Neutral Nations

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—The United States' intention of seeking concerted international action to stretch a protective arm about the rights of neutral nations in war time has been disclosed by Secretary Hull.

Coupled with this revelation was a declaration by the secretary of state before a congressional committee last January, but made public only today, that the chances were "nine out of ten" against a "general war." To this Hull added an admonition that the world should not harbor any "false impression" that the United States "will not fight."

It was made known authoritatively today that Hull has not definitely approached other governments upon the matter of new international action to insure neutral rights. It was added that, at present, he has no specific plan for doing so.

Speculation immediately was stirred in unofficial circles, however, over whether he might suggest the summoning of a world conference on the subject, or possibly take his proposals directly to the pricipal powers individually.

It was noted particularly that the secretary's views, outlined to the senate foreign relations committee three months ago, were expressed only a short while before President Roosevelt invited all 21 nations of North and South America to join in a peace conference this year at Buenos Aires.

During the January hearings on the then pending neutrality legislation, Hull deplored that the neutrality question had been "virtually dormant" since the world war because "most nations are not seriously concerned about the matter." He told the committee changing world conditions necessitated new neutrality rules.

Because of this, he said, the United States intends to "urge other nations to join us at the earliest opportunity in re-examining, restating and revitalizing neutral rights under international law as they existed prior to the world war as nearly as we find it consistent and as other nations find it consistent to do so."

In declaring that this proposal for international action would contemplate any changes suggested by world war experience, he said "the whole rights of neutrals were largely ignored" during that period.

"We might as well recognize that most of our neutral rights in the future are not going to be maintained simply on paper," he continued.

"We might as well realize also that while we do not stand for extravagant navies we must have enough force to command respect of other nations when we hold up to them a threatened violation of our rights to trade as neutrals."

COMPLETE DENIAL MADE BY RITTER

Says He Did Not Benefit 'Corruptly' From Receivership Fees

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter of Florida personalfy delivered a complete denial in the senate today of house impeachment charges that he granted excessive receivership fees, "corruptly" benefited from those allowances, practiced law after becoming judge, and evaded income taxes.

Taking the stand with 52 senators-jurymen present and before galleries packed with Easter visitors, the 65-year-old jurist also denied having any knowledge of the exclusive Palm Beach Whitehall hotel receivership until the action was brought into his court.

The prosecution, in the second of seven impeachment articles, charges the judge connived with attorneys to bring the proceeding and later dissipated the property's assets.

WEATHER CLEARS OVER FLOOD AREA

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 11.—(AP)—Fair weather today brought renewed optimism to the Mississippi valley and to the lowland flood zones where approximately 5,000 persons are temporarily homeless as a result of the inundation of nearly 2,000,000 acres of bottomlands.

Yesterday's rains in the Ohio valley and below "were of no importance," United States engineers reported today, and added cheerfully:

"Fair weather is forecast." The engineers predicted a crest in the Ohio of 53.3 feet next Friday at Cairo. Other crests were indicated along the Mississippi as follows: New Madrid, Mo., 42.3 feet, next Saturday, Memphis, 39.5 feet, April 21, and Helena, Ark., 50 feet, April 23.

"No danger to any Mississippi river levee is anticipated," the engineers said, "and tributaries of the lower river remain below normal stages for this time of year.

"Patrolling will be continued, however, until crests have passed. Crests at Helena and stations below will be well under 1933 crests."

MILITIA ON GUARD IN OKLAHOMA OIL WAR

With the militiamen on guard, these oil drillers are busy within the shadow of Oklahoma's capitol in Oklahoma City, in the "war" between Gov. E. W. Marland and city authorities. Municipal officials, after a recent election, allowed drilling within the city limits, state ground not being included in the zone. Governor Marland declared this exploitation would drain oil from state ground, and he leased Oklahoma property to drillers so that the state would profit from its own oil, and called out the national guard to prevent city interference at Portsmouth, Ohio, was "arming," a statement that brought from corporation officials at Portsmouth an assertion that company police were armed to protect property against "thieves and firebugs, and they will continue to be armed."

At another point in today's hearing there was testimony that general "rumors" were being circulated that the Ford Motor company was "shot through" with spies, hired to report on the activities of labor.

The evidence presented by Blankenhorn was largely in the form of shipping orders for gas and guns from Federal Laboratories, Incorporated, of Pittsburgh, to centers of impending strike troubles in 1934 and 1935.

There was evidence also that some of the purchasers sought to keep their activities secret.

RED CROSS ASKS MORE AID HERE

chita parish will feel the obligation to respond to this new appeal," the chairman said in a statement issued Saturday night. "The sufferers in this latest disaster are our own, southern people. They are friends and relatives of many of our own people in Louisiana, and the least we can do is to make every effort possible to help them in their terrible distress. Those who have died in the terrific tornado are beyond our help, but we can, out of the means at our disposal, help the living, who are in dire distress from hunger, lack of clothing and shelter. Many of the survivors have lost everything they possessed. We must lend them aid as promptly as possible."

Announcement was made by Harry Rice, manager of the Paramount theater, that a benefit midnight show would be held next Saturday, midnight to help raise the additional funds asked from Ouachita parish for relief of the tornado sufferers. The midnight show will be made up of local vaudeville acts, with screen comedies and novelties as an extra added attraction.

Mr. Rice in his announcement stated:

"This will be a Twin City affair and all the clubs and societies will be asked to co-operate by each one sponsoring one vaudeville act for this mammoth benefit. All employes of the Paramount theater will donate their services and the local stage union has done the same, so there will be no expense attached and the midnight show should prove a great help in making up the Red Cross quota for the Twin Cities. The show will start at 11 p. m. and the admission will be forty cents."

upstairs to the fourth floor apartment. He rang several times without receiving any response, he said, and then left the building.

Thus, Mrs. Titterton may unwittingly have given her tailor the order that closed the door to a possible rescuer in the time of her greatest need.

While laboratory experts tried to develop fingerprints on the clothing that had been ripped from her body and fling about the bedroom, detectives searched for a handsome youth who alarmed other tenants of the building twice last week by ringing their door bells in the early morning hours.

Countess Alice Hoyos, who occupies the apartment below the Titterton's told police the mysterious visitor called at her door last Friday and asked for a girl, whose name was unfamiliar to the Countess. He mumbled something and went away, she said.

The same well-dressed youth had called at her apartment the previous night, police learned. On that occasion the door was opened by Miss Phyllis Stafford, who shares the apartment with the countess and her mother. Miss Stafford said the caller mumbled the name of a man and then left.

CLEAN-UP WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

I feel sure that a great deal will be accomplished."

The joint proclamation of the mayors of the Twin Cities follows:

"Whereas: Sanitation and cleanliness are the basic principles involved in the prevention of disease, and

"Whereas: The citizens of the Twin Cities are indeed proud of their beautiful and prosperous little cities and are desirous that their beauty and prosperity be preserved and increased from year to year, and

"Whereas: The health of the citizens of any community is essential to the prosperity and happiness of that community, and

"Whereas: It is impossible for health and filth and uncleanliness to reign simultaneously in a community, and in order that we may continue to have God's richest blessings of health and happiness bestowed upon our people, it has been decided by the Ouachita parish health department that one week should be set aside as Clean-up Week, whereby every citizen who has the welfare of his city at heart should use his utmost efforts in cleaning his own premises of disease and insect producing filth and rubbish of all kinds.

"Therefore, I, Arnold Bernstein, mayor of the city of Monroe, La., and C. C. Bell, mayor of the city of West Monroe, La., by virtue of the authority invested in us as such, do hereby proclaim the week beginning Monday, the 20th day of April 1936, as Clean-Up week and we do hereby urge each and every citizen residing in or near the Twin Cities to lend his aid and cooperation in ridding Monroe and West Monroe of all unsightly rubbish and insect and disease producing filth.

"Thus done and signed on this the eleventh day of April 1936.

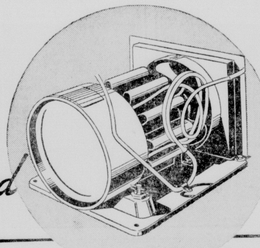
THE Westinghouse UNIT HAS always BEEN Hermetically sealed



● The first Westinghouse Refrigerator ever sold had a Hermetically-sealed Mechanism. Twelve years of research experiment, and testing went into its development. To these years of pre-testing have been added long years of actual operating proof. In thousands of homes daily experience shows that this forced-draft cooled, Hermetically-sealed, lifetime-oiled Mechanism is the key to unusually low-cost, trouble-free refrigeration. That is why owners, by thousands, say "If we were buying a new refrigerator today it would certainly be a Westinghouse." That's why Westinghouse can say, "With every sealed-in mechanism you get five years' protection against service expense at a cost of only $5—a dollar a year—included in the price." And the unusual value of the time-tested sealed-in mechanism is only one of many convincing values you will find in the Golden Jubilee models now on display here. Be sure to see a demonstration—soon.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF NECROMANCY

Alleged To Have Collected Small Fortune Through 'Evil Eye'

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—(AP)—A magistrate held Mrs. Bridget Caprara today for obtaining money under false pretenses, a technical charge for accusations that she collected a small fortune for giving neighbors immunity from her "evil eye."

The 48-year-old woman was beaten with a hatchet last February in a cemetery, and Mrs. Theresa De Luca, 55, is under $1,000 bail in connection with the attack.

Mrs. De Luca testified she paid Mrs. Caprara $2,000 in two years.

"She promised me good luck for my boarding house, and then she said if I didn't pay more money she would destroy my family," said Mrs. De Luca. "When my son died last June she said it was because I hadn't given her enough money."

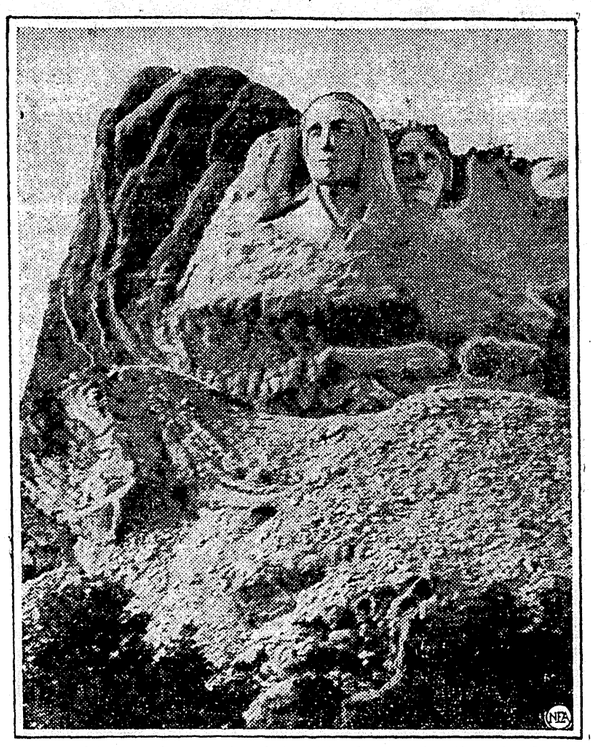
Other witnesses accused Mrs. Caprara of witchcraft. The magistrate fixed bail at $3,000.

FERRIDAY MASONS TO GO TO ALEXANDRIA MEETING

FERRIDAY, La., April 11.—(Special)—A number of Ferriday and Concordia parish Masons are planning to attend the meeting of Master Masons in Alexandria April 19.

The Mastr Masons will meet with Oliver lodge, No. 84 and the occasion is a visit from W. H. Booth lodge No. 380, of Shreveport, which will confer the degree of Master Mason on a large group of candidates.

WASHINGTON HIGH, ALOOF IN STONE



From the gray-white granite of Mount Rushmore, gigantic national memorial in South Dakota, the sculptured face of George Washington here looks out, aloof from all the world, across to the forested mountains to the southeast. The face of the first president is 60 feet in height and that of the entire monument 240 feet. At the right is the face of Thomas Jefferson, kindly and quizzical in expression. A few finishing touches this summer and Gutzon Borglum, world-famed sculptor, will complete the heads of these two great statesmen. The face of Abraham Lincoln, at the extreme right, then will be blocked out and work started on that of Theodore Roosevelt in 1937.

TWO ARE INJURED AS CARS DERAIL

Observation Car And Two Pullmans Of I. C. Flier Leave Tracks

JACKSON, Tenn., April 11.—(AP)—Two persons had minor injuries today as the result of a derailment of the Illinois Central north-bound flier, the Floridian, 10 miles north of here late last night.

The observation car, in which four persons had berths, and two Pullmans left the track beyond a switch. Conductor Bob Scott of Jackson said there were 43 passengers on the train running between Miami, Fla., and Chicago.

The injured:

John Moseley, attached to the U. S. S. Woodcock, chin lacerations and several teeth knocked out.

B. B. Early, Rockford, Ill., three fractured ribs.

Both of the injured men were thrown from their berths. They were given emergency treatment.

The observation car was the first to leave the track. It broke loose from the train and plunged down a 10-foot embankment, turning on its side.

About a quarter of a mile from the observation car, two of the train's seven Pullmans jumped the rails and rolled to a stop against an embankment which prevented any possibility of their overturn.

None of the 18 passengers in those cars was thrown out of his berth.

COURT WILL HEAR JUDGESHIP CHARGE

COUSHATTA, La., April 11.—(AP)—Whether an election contest suit alleging irregularities in the nomination of Paul Stephens of Coushatta for the tenth judicial district judgeship will be heard on its merits will be decided Monday by Judge F. E. Jones.

The suit was brought by Judge J. W. Jones Jr., of Natchitoches, against Stephens, his opponent in the March 3 primary election for the tenth district judgeship. Stephens was declared the nominee by the District Democratic Executive committee, which reported he had a majority of 167 votes.

Judge Jones in his suit alleged irregularities in the election, the purchase of votes and flase and erroneous returns.

JONESVILLE PLANNING ANNUAL FLOWER SHOW

JONESVILLE, La., April 11.—(Special)—The annual flower show, sponsored by the Jonesville Woman's club, will be held this year on April 25, in Block high school auditorium.

Invitations have been extended to every flower lover in Catahoula parish to attend and display home grown flowers. A special prize will be awarded to all winners of first places and a prize to the individual winning the largest number of first places. All flowers for display will be received by the judges until 12 o'clock.

Classifications are as follows: white roses, bush; pink roses, bush; red roses, bush; yellow roses, bush; climbing roes, any color; pansies; verbena; white lilies; colored lilies; best floral centerpiece for dinner table; best bouquet of mixed flowers; larkspurs.

Miscellaneous group: bouquets of any flowers (all one kind not listed above).

Husbands display: In this group of flowers the men will compete with each other only. They must select and arrange their bouquets without suggestion. All married men are eligible to compete. The prize for this will be a large cake.

LIGHT RATES FOR EAST CARROLL HIKED

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., April 11.—(Special)—Light rates for East Carroll parish have been raised and instead of having two rates as formerly, one for lights and one for electric ice boxes, there will be the one rate. For the first 30 kilowats the rate will be 12 1-2 cents per kilowat, next 20 will be 10 cents and the remainder at the rate of 3 cents for residences. In the business districts the rates are 50 kilowats at 12 1-2 cents, next 50 at 10 cents and the balance at 3 cents. These rates are effective on current used from April 1. Previous rates were 15 cents per kilowat for lights and 3 cents for ice boxes.

At the same meeting of the town council the mayor's salary was raised from $700 a year to $1,000 a year and the salary of E. J. Chaney, manager of the municipal light and water plant was raised from $250 to $300 a month, and the day marshal, W. D. Hill's salary was raised from $125 to $150, a month.

AUTOMOBILE PILFERING IS RESUMED IN MONROE

The pilfering of parked automobiles in Monroe which was checked for a time by local police, has again broken out in the city with several cases of thefts from parked cars during the past week having been reported to the police.

Saturday, Fred L. Seamon, 110 Pine street, reported that an automobile pistol and a flashlight had been stolen from his car late Friday night. The theft occurred while the automobile was parked on DeSiard street.

Police yesterday urged the public to lock the doors of their automobiles while they are parked on downtown streets, and also issued a warning against leaving packages and other valuables in automobiles.

NEGRO IS BURNED

Sam Hayes, negro employe of the Monroe Auto Supply company, 302 Walnut street, suffered slight burns as the result of a small fire which broke out in the building Saturday afternoon. The negro was said to have been cleaning woodwork near an open stove and the gasoline which he was using ignited and caused the fire. Hayes was taken to St. Francis sanitarium for treatment.

TORNADO DONT'S LISTED BY DEAN

CLEMSON COLLEGE, S. C., April 11.—(AP)—Don't, says Dean F. H. H. Calhoun of the Clemson college school of chemistry and geology, worry about tornadoes; the chances are about one in 625,000 that one may strike where you are.

Other facts about tornadoes, he says, are: An average of only 50 occur each year; the area of damage is seldom greater than a square mile, and only 20 of the 50 do much damage.

But in case you are near a tornado about to strike, he gives this advice:

"Run toward the northwest. The tornado comes from the southeast and the winds are not as strong on the northwest side as on the southeast.

"In other words, run at right angles from the storm. Never run straight from it, or it may catch you.

"You should never be in a building or under a tree. Lie in the open flat on the ground, or—better—in a low place or in a ditch.

"If you are in a building, the lower floor is the safest, except the cellar.

"And always move to the northwest—away from the approaching storm."

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR FILLING IN ROAD GAP

JONESVILLE, La., April 11.—(Special)—Information has been received here of plans of the Louisiana highway commission to complete gravel highway No. 820 to connect with the highway leading from Jonesville to Monterey. The plans call for a gap of four miles of grading and surfacing with washed gravel, to be furnished complete by the contractor.

At this time of the year, with all of the heavy traffic that this highway carried, the completion of this section will afford the farmers and school van drivers approximately 36 miles of gravel roads. Heretofore the gap of four miles has been impassable. In the rainy season this section of the road has been in such a shape as to make traffic impossible.

FARM CLUB MEETS

TALLULAH, La., April 11.—(Special)—The subject for discussion at the April meeting of the Madison Parish Farmers' club at the community room of the Methodist church was "Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act," led by C. E. Hester, local agriculture agent. Community singing was under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Richie and readings by Melva Osborn and Marie Norsworthy and music by the "Irby boys" were features.

2 SUSPECTS ARE ARRESTED AFTER EXTENSIVE HUNT

that the last official act of Sheriff Thigpen prior to his death was to notify the authorities in the surrounding territory to be on the lookout for the counterfeiters, who were described as touring the country in a Ford sedan. Sheriff Thigpen also notified Terrance V. Ryan, United States operative in charge of the secret service office in New Orleans.

Mr. Ryan detailed Operative Leo J. Williams and the latter went to Ruston, where he secured a complete description of the men and the automobile in which they were riding, and also a quantity of the fake currency which had been passed.

Traps were set in various centers in the southwest and Operative Forrest B. Sorrels of Dallas was then assigned to the case to work with Mr. Williams and Operative John J. McGrath.

Last Thursday the driver of the counterfeiter's automobile was arrested in a Texas city and confessed to federal authorities that a plant for the manufacture of spurious five-dollar bills was located in Monroe. A quantity of papers and some of the bogus money was also found in the car by the secret service men.

After obtaining the confession, Sorrels and McGrath flew to Monroe, where they were joined by Ryan and Williams. With the cooperation of city police authorities, the house was found in which the counterfeiting plant was located, and a search made.

Washburn is said to have shown the officers a secret panel in the hall of the house where a large quantity of spurious bills and all the paraphernalia for the manufacture of the money had been cached.

After their arrest, Washburn and Overton were taken before United States Commissioner Allen Guthrie Saturday afternoon, where Washburn pleaded guilty and Overton entered a plea of innocence to the charge of counterfeiting and the possession of counterfeiting paraphernalia. Washburn is quoted as having told the federal officers that he had studied the art of counterfeiting for two years, and had been prepared to flood the country with the five-dollar bills which were said by the authorities to be exceptionally good imitations.

Considerable credit was given to Superintendent Tarver and Detectives Bedsole and Parker for the part they played in the arrest of the counterfeiters.

Washburn and Overton were placed in the Ouachita parish jail. Their bonds were fixed at $5,000 each.

Overton is said to have been arrested several times for bootlegging by city and parish officials. Washburn, who lives in Shreveport, is said to operate a rooming house there, but had no criminal record.

BARBARA'S $45,000,000 BABY

All the fuss that's being made about him seems rather boring to the infant heir to many millions, getting his sleep quota in the upper left photo and yawning at the world, lower left. The son of the former Barbara Hutton, now Countess von Haugwitz-Reventlow, is seen as a healthy, attractive lad in his London nursery. At the right his mother, said in a recent congressional estimate to have a fortune of $45,000,000, is shown as she left her home for the first time since the baby was born on February 24.

Landon Holds G. O. P. Lead As Choice For Candidate

By Edward J. Duffy
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—Governor Landon of Kansas held a substantial lead in delegate strength for the Republican presidential nomination tonight, despite antagonism among some supporters of Senator Borah and among those Californians who resented entry of a Landon ticket in the primary there in opposition to wishes of former President Hoover.

While watching the progress of his cause, many politicians directed more immediate attention to the contest between Borah and Col. Frank Knox in the Illinois primary next Tuesday.

The strength of the senator in the pre-convention considerations from now on may largely be affected by his showing there and in the Nebraska presidential preference primary the same day. Neither, however, is binding on the delegates elected.

Borah's success this week in Wisconsin, where he won 21 of the 24 delegates, was called by his organization indicative that he alone could command support against President Roosevelt in the west.

Administration supporters took satisfaction from the Democratic primary total rolled up for the president, more than two to one higher than Borah's. It was widely commented that the backers of the Lafollette organization in the state might have split their vote to assure a Borah victory on the one hand and an impressive Roosevelt total on the other.

Impetus to the Landon movement during the week came principally from Missouri and Virginia. In the former state, by virtue of two district G. O. P. conventions which instructed four delegates for the Kansan only today, his votes were increased to 22 out of a total delegation of 30. Four were uninstructed. Four more will be selected at large in the state convention at St. Louis April 27.

Ten of Virginia's 17 delegates were counted for Landon, to make a total of 107 instructed and claimed. This figure makes no allowance for claims by some Landonites about strength in the New York uninstructed delegation of 90.

Knox leaders are listing the New Hampshire and Maine delegations for him, making 24 delegates altogether. They dispute with Landon followers concerning strength in the Minnesota delegation.

As the primaries proceed, it becomes increasingly evident that the leaders may have difficulty in telling exactly where they stand with some delegations. Over 200 delegates chosen to date are nominally uninstructed, but among those are delegates sent by conventions that went on record as "endorsing," or "favoring," this, or that, possible nominee.

In some states, the delegations are split among themselves as between being specifically pledged, or left free to vote as they wish at Cleveland if a certain "favored" candidate loses out.

No such difficulty appears on the Democratic side. Renomination of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket no longer seems open to question, and delegates are being pledged accordingly.

In the Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio and New Jersey preference primaries, however, Mr. Roosevelt is opposed by Col. Henry Breckenridge of New York.

No delegates would be put on for Breckenridge, however, his purpose being merely to offer anti-New Deal Democrats a chance to show where they stand.

The president will usher in a season of more active campaigning Monday night when he addresses a Democratic rally at Baltimore. From then on, hardly a day until the Republicans convene June 9, will pass without its contribution to the controversy the November election must settle.

GERMAN FOOTPRINTS TAKEN

Fitting shoes has became an exact science in Germany. Some of the large footwear stores in Berlin have customers stand with their full weight in a shallow box, the covering of which is of cloth or a composition. Under this a carbon paper or inked cloth rests on a sheet of paper which records a print of the foot. This paper also rests on a soft substance which also records a distinct imprint. From these records the shoe is fitted.

the public is also invited. A feature of the program will be vocal numbers by Mrs. Louis Hullum and Mrs. Frances Leavell. Fred Williamson, one of the class teachers, will talk on "Easter, Symbol of the World's Hope." Mrs. W. H. Wilkerson will give a program of Easter music. Dr. C. E. Kenney, one of the teachers, and Rev. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will also participate in the program.

An Easter cantata, "The Victorious Christ," will be presented at the Nazarene church at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

At the First Baptist church in West Monroe, an Easter cantata will be rendered entitled," Bright Easter Morn," at the night service Sunday. O. J. Thompson will direct the presentation. This is a production by E. K. Heyser and comprises solos, duets, quartets and chorus numbers portraying the suffering, crucifixion and resurrection of Christ.

The First Methodist church of West Monroe will hold two preaching services. Lay Evangelist Van Carter will close a successful series of revivals at the night service. His theme in the morning hour will be "Companionship With Christ."

All other churches of both cities will have specially attractive services both morning and night, and the public is urged to worship in their own church or the church they may prefer.

EASTER BOMBING PROBE IS PUSHED

Many Persons Questioned As Postoffice Experts Seek Terrorists

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 11.—(AP)—Fingerprint, handwriting and dynamite experts pursued a three-way investigation tonight in a search for terrorists who mailed death in Easter packages.

The death of one man and maiming of four by dynamite bombs brought orders for a general roundup of suspects in this anthracite valley, periodically ridden by labor strife. Postoffice inspectors said "many were questioned in a process of elimination." Two men were detained though not under arrest, city police said.

J. W. Johnston, chief postoffice inspector at Philadelphia, disclosed that fingerprints were found on the lethal packages. Four of the six boxes failed to explode.

A solution was sought, too, through a study of the explosives, but the prevalence of dynamite in the mining area, and the fact that every miner is familiar with its use, lessened the value of that angle of investigation.

The nature of the murderous mailing list supported a general belief that the bomb deaths were traceable to smouldering labor trouble. Tension had been eased in the region for a year with the virtual dissolution of the United Anthracite Miners, a union organized by Thomas Maloney in opposition to the United Mine Workers of America.

Maloney and his four-year-old son were critically hurt by one bomb. He may lose his sight. His 17-year-old daughter, Margaret, is recovering.

Another bomb killed Michael Gallagher, 70-year-old cemetery sexton, and maimed his son-in-law, Clinton Lehman, 37. Lehman lost one eye.

Luzerne county authorities said they were convinced Gallagher was marked for death and was not a victim of a bungled address, as at first supposed. It was pointed out that he and Maloney were close friends and he had testified against dynamiting suspects and reported thefts of explosives from the cemetery.

The Topeka, Kans., postoffice led the nation last year with a $39.41 per capita sale of savings bonds.

opening ceremonies will include A. P. Tugwell, chairman of the Louisiana highway commission; E. A. Conway, secretary of state; Harry D. Wilson, commissioner of agriculture and immigration, and other officials.

A joint committee, representing Ouachita parish, the cities of Monroe and West Monroe and the chamber of commerce is preparing plans for the celebration. The precise form which the festivities will take, aside from the speech-making and the ribbon-cutting ceremony, has not yet been determined. Highway Chairman Tugwell stated at Baton Rouge that any program arranged by the local committees would be entirely satisfactory to the state officials, who would cooperate 100 per cent with the arrangements.

All of the prominent state, parish and local officials will be guests of the chamber of commerce at a dinner to be given on the night of May 1 at Hotel Virginia, as one of the principal events of the occasion.

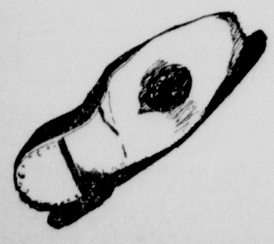
Ever Heard About King James' Old Shoes ?



He had worn them for a long time. He knew the quality of their soft leather and their durability. In a word, they were easiest on his feet. That's why he always called for them.

We all have our "old shoes"—things to which we are accustomed and which make life easier by their excellent service. A brand of coffee, special sunfast draperies, a favorite complexion cream, wholesome health foods, a fine make of felt hat—these we ask for again and again. They have a dependable quality that is as important to us as the comfort King James found in his old shoes.

Read the advertisements in this newspaper, and learn more about the things which are part of your daily life. Naturally, you take their quality for granted (advertised products are reliable). But with closer attention to the news in the advertisements, you will be able to effect surprising savings, and find new uses for old favorites.

Sports Chatter

BY GEO. V. LOFTON

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

Perhaps it's sheer folly to attempt to pick a September winner in April, but the idea has become so firmly embedded in the cranium of baseball fans and sports writers that, like an iron post set in concrete, it's hard to shake loose. The fan makes his selections in conversation, and thus is able to dodge the consequences when October 1 rolls around. The sports writer puts his in print, thereby crawling out on the well known limb, and lives to see his mistakes haunt him when the hot summer months fade into autumn and his favorites have folded up like one of those camp chairs that are forever dumping a fellow into the dirt.

As the Walrus remarked, the time has come, etc. Presidents, governors and mayors are polishing up the old stove-pipe lids preparatory to tossing out the first ball. Bands have been tuned to a fine pitch, and so have the hurlers. So we may as well get it over with.

We like the Tigers in the American league and the Cards in the National.

If the Tigers repeat, Mickey Cochrane will duplicate the feat of Hughey Jennings in 1907-1908-1909. The Yankees won three straight in 1921, '22 and '23, and again in 1926, '27 and '28, under the late Miller Huggins. Can Cochrane turn the trick?

The gold-plated Red Sox and their many supporters say no. The Boston crowd has Foxx, Cramer, McNair, Grove, Ferrell, et al, to back up their argument, and that's plenty of fodder for any baseball discussion. But we're picking the Sox for the second slot because we don't think Mr. Cronin will get the pitching, despite the presence of Messrs. Grove and Ferrell. We have a hunch neither will be as effective as he was last year. And there's that matter of teamwork. The Sox have never worked together before and they may not be able to pull together their first year out. There's no denying that Mr. Yawkey has gathered together some high powered talent.

Getting back to the Tigers, Cochrane has the same outfit that won two straight, plus Al Simmons, plus several outstanding rookies. Simmons may not reach the peak that made him a great slugger at Philadelphia, but it's a good bet that he'll top his .267 at Chicago last year. Al's a money ball player. The other Al, meaning Crowder, probably won't turn in 16 victories this year, but Cochrane has a fine staff without him, with Rowe, Bridges, Auker, Lawson, Hoggsett and Sorrell, plus Kimsey and the rookie Phillips. If the Tigers can escape the injury jinx again, they should find themselves resting on the top rung when the curtain drops.

Cleveland may be the team to beat, but two big "ifs" pop up there—if the Indians can learn how to win away from home and if they can rid the camp of the jinx that removed at least four key men at crucial times last season. The Indians apparently have what it takes, but we're picking 'em for third place largely because the team is built for the Cleveland park and never has been able to function nearly as well on the road.

Joe McCarthy has been trying to get the Yankees out of second place for several years, and we think he'll turn the trick this season. In all probably, he'll land 'em about fourth. The infield is wobbly, with Crosetti and Lazzeri ailing, and the pitching is doubtful, particularly if Gomez has another 1935. They say Joe DiMaggio does everything well, and is likely to prove a first-year sensation. McCarthy will need him.

The second division stacks up like this: the Browns, Senators, White Sox and Athletics. Seventh place may seem a little low for the Chicago entry, but the spring games indicate the pitching won't be as good as it was last year, and neither the infield nor the outfield will be ready to start. A sensation-start last year enabled the Sox to finish in fifth place last year, and there's nothing to make us foresee any repitition of that spurt for the current campaign. There's one certainty about this picking business—the A's will trail.

And why do we like the Cards? Because they have the pitching, the punch and the pep to turn the trick. They say the St. Louis club is in better shape than any other outfit in the National league. And those bear stories about the Deans aren't what they're cracked up to be. The same thing happened last year. In fact, one sports publication came out with a story that Dizzy Dean was all washed up and that he'd do well to last out the season. Dizzy lasted, to the tune of 28 victories. Parmelee has been added to the staff this season, and he should mean the difference between first and second place.

The Cubs needed a 21-game winning streak to win last year, but that's not likely to happen again. Charley Grimm says he's going to do most of the first basing for the Bruins this season, and that makes a weak spot there. Taken as a whole, the Cubs just don't stack up as a championship team to us. Rookies brought up by the Bruins haven't done anything to help the situation.

We'll take the Giants for third place and, don't laugh, the Cincinnati Reds to complete the first division. The Reds reputedly are in grand shape, their 1935 freshmen are sophomores now, their pitching appears first rate and they're getting their share of the hits. We've a hunch Mr. Dressen's entry is going to make plenty of trouble for the favored few.

The Pirates are no stronger, if as strong, than they were last year, and they will land in fifth place unless we're 'way off in our reckoning. The Dodgers, Phillies and Braves are picked in that order to complete the selection.

Taken as a whole, the National league appears weaker than it's been in several seasons.

So there's our slant on the situation. By mid-summer we'll probably wish we'd never mentioned the subject at all.

THINCLAD

Louisiana State university has sent another former star athlete to Monroe. He's John Sanders, ex-track luminary of several seasons back. He was a member of the L. S. U. teams which won national fame. Sanders, a distance star, holds the Southern 5,000-meter record. He's as spry as ever and would like nothing better than to pit his skill against the nation's best right now. He's assistant parish agricultural agent.

EVEN

The hitters and the pitchers had an even break in the Southern openers yesterday. Two games produced lots of hitting, two others featured hurling. The Travelers and Chicks made 28 hits between them at Memphis, while the Vols and Smokies combined for 25 safe blows at Knoxville. At New Orleans, Coombs and Thomas hooked up in a pitching duel, the Pels making four hits, the Barons three. Atlanta and Chattanooga got six hits apiece in the Atlanta opener.

SCOUTING

Lowell "Red" Dawson, head football coach at Tulane, and Charlie Rucker, assistant coach and alumni official, spent several hours here Friday. Said they were just "scouting around." Incidentally, Dawson has a yearning for some 200-pound backs. Who hasn't? Red is rather pessimistic, and so are some of the Tulane fans, but give him time. He's a likeable chap and may surprise some of the die-hards. But don't expect him to set the woods afire with that squad he has at Tulane this year.

VISITOR

Jack Holt, University of Arkansas backfield stalwart, is visiting here during the Easter holidays. Jack is Kenneth's brother. The big fellow played baseball with Sterlington last year but won't return, he says. The Razorbacks are expected to root hard in the Southwest conference football race next fall, and Holt will be one of the power-houses in the Porkers' backfield.

Frick Predicts Closer Pennant Race In National This Season

By Ford Frick
(President of The National League)
(Written Especially for The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—The National league has every reason to launch into the 1936 baseball season with enthusiasm. It's the league's 60th birthday year and in each city we plan a "birthday celebration" which will bring together the players and fans of all the decades that have passed into history since the National league was organized in 1876.

Two points in the April outlook stand out as reasons why this season should be keenly enjoyable from start to finish. One is the assurance of a closer race than last year from top to bottom, and the other is the rising tide of youth so strongly in evidence in the lineups of all eight clubs.

I am not rash enough to expect a more exciting September than last year, when the Cubs, Cardinals and Giants all were in the running and the title wasn't decided until Friday, September 27, two days before closing day.

It's asking entirely too much to demand another pennant dash like the one the Cubs made when they scored 21 straight victories. If we have just two clubs neck and neck in September this year, I'll be happy. Three or more would be wonderful. But I'm not basing my outlook for an interesting year on those September possibilities.

We'll have closer bunching of our eight clubs in May, June, July and August, no matter how many there will be in that select group shooting it out for the pennant when summer turns the corner into autumn. It looks like one of those years in which the pennant-winning club will make the grade on about 90 victories.

The Cubs and the Reds are "young men's clubs. Younger players predominate in all departments. The Cardinals also showed me a wonderful group of swift youngsters available as replacements. Bill Terry has the youth idea, too, and in the Pittsburgh ensemble important parts will be played by first-year and second-year players.

Brooklyn's pony infield is already the talk of the league. The Phillies will have a brand-new keystone combination and will be depending on young pitchers largely. Boston's rebuilding program likewise has put the accent on youth.

Four Clubs In Battle For American Loop Flag, Says Harridge

By William Harridge
President of the American League
(Written for the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 11.—I confidently believe the American league will enjoy an exciting and interesting race in 1936. I know the baseball public will agree with me when I say there are four clubs—Detroit, New York, Boston and Cleveland—that figure they have a chance to win the championship. I am willing to go even further than that by predicting that Chicago, St. Louis and Washington are going to make much more trouble for the above four named than they did in 1935. There is even a chance that one of the latter trio may finish in the first division.

That nothing is certain in baseball has been demonstrated year after year. We have seen clubs that were unanimously picked for second division berths win the pennant, we have seen clubs that were touted as almost sure flag-winners meet with unexpected accidents and finish close to the cellar.

That is why April predictions often are knocked into a cocked hat.

It is my honest opinion that the American league clubs have been strengthened, either by trades or by the acquisition of minor league stars.

The Detroit club has brought up several promising players and also added that star veteran, Al Simmons, to its lineup. New York is about ready to show the public its highly touted outfielder, Joe Dimaggio, whom experts declare, is the greatest player to come out of the Pacific Coast league in years.

Boston has retained its stars of 1935 and added Heinie Manush of Washington and Jimmy Foxx, Roger Cramer, Eric McNair and Jimmy Marcum of Philadelphia.

Cleveland has acquired Johnny Allen, fire-ball pitcher, from New York and counts upon Steve O'Neill, starting his first season as a major league manager, to work wonders with the team that finished third in 1935.

Chicago has strengthened its pitching staff and is better equipped with infield reserves in addition to uncovering a star center fielder in Mike Kreevich.

The Washington club showed me down in Florida that it possessed plenty of punch and speed and was imbued with a wonderful spirit. I also believe that the placing of Lewis, a rookie, upon third base and the switch of third baseman Travis to short is going to prove satisfactory.

Rogers Hornsby has had the St. Louis Browns clicking all spring and I see no reason why they should not prove to be one of the most dangerous in our league.

The Athletics? If Mr. Mack is able to develop a pitching staff, his team will win more games than it did in 1935.

In addition to expecting a most satisfactory season in the American league, I am also happy to learn that there is a continued renewed interest in the national game on the sand lots and also in the high schools and colleges.

QUARTER-FINALS ENDED AT MUNY

Two Matches Remain To Be Played Before Semi-Finals Start

Quarter-final round matches will be completed in the annual spring handicap golf tournament at the Municipal course today, and semi-finals will start Monday, Winnie Cole, Muny pro, announced last night.

Two matches already have been played in the quarter-finals. Vance Rhodes defeated Kenneth Holt, 4 and 3, and Ray Buce eliminated Jordan Barton, 3 and 2. Today's matches will bring together L. E. Ducote and Dr. T. A. Brulte, and Billy Downing and Shelby Cage.

Semi-final matches must be completed by next Sunday night.

Several qualifying scores in the annual club championship tournament already have been posted, Cole announced, with Dr. Brulte low scorer so far with a 76. Entrants have until next Saturday night to play their qualifying rounds, Cole said. First round play will start on Sunday, April 19.

Dr. Brulte's 76 established him as a favorite to cop medalist honors, as well as be a strong contender for the club championship. Others whose scores indicate they will be in the thick of the battle are Jim Davis, Ben Downing, Jr., Grady Nelson and Dr. R. T. Harberson.

A large field is expected to compete for the title.

LITTLE GLORY ON GRID

LINCOLN, April 11.—Johnny Howell, Nebraska quarterback, has played three years of high school football and one season of the college variety. His only score in all that time was a single point after touchdown. Howell is a blocking back.

DEBORAH VERRY WINS NORTH-SOUTH TOURNEY

PINEHURST, N. C., April 11.—(AP)—Deborah Verry, of Worcester, Mass., captured the north and south women's golf championship today with a 19-hole victory over Jean Bauer, of Providence, R. I., in a nip-and-tuck finish to the 34th annual tournament.

By winning Miss Verry made a sweep of the two major women's tournaments of the Sandhills resort season. She previously won the mid-south tournament at Southern Pines.

Miss Verry will sail for England next week to play in the British championship and to watch the Curtis cup international matches.

No more than one hole ever separated the finalists as they battled evenly over the 18-hole route. Three times Miss Verry was 1 up and twice Miss Bauer held that advantage.

From the tee of the extra hole Miss Bauer hit into a bunker and Miss Verry lashed one down the middle. Miss Bauer found her ball in a poor lie up against a slope with no chance for distance and after chopping it out with a niblick and playing five conceded to Miss Verry who had put her third four feet from the cup.

30,000 TURN OUT FOR FIRST GAMES IN DIXIE CIRCUIT

Pels Win Hurling Duel From Barons; Hits Plentiful Elsewhere

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 11.—(AP)—Cheering fans in four southern cities—30,220 of them—saw the Southern association baseball teams get off today in the opening of the 1936 pennant marathon.

Oepning for the first time in the league's history on Saturday, Sunday attendance figures were expected to swell the totals as thousands unable to leave their Saturday businesses have the opportunity for the afternoon off.

Atlanta topped all attendance figures with 14,701 fans in the stands, a running start toward another attendance record, with New Orleans and Memphis having 5,861 and 6,710, respectively. At Knoxville, a chill wind and overcast skies held attendance to only 2,948.

But it was a rousing get-away, with the first day's averages showing Atlanta, New Orleans, Little Rock and Nashville setting the pace.

All the thrills of baseball were packed into the opening contests from slugging matches in two games to pitchers' duels in the other two. Oddly enough, the pitchers' duels were decided with a walk and a wild pitch.

Atlantans saw their champion crackers, with Bobby Durham pitching, stage a ninth-inning rally to nose out Chattanooga, 4-3, scoring the winning run on a wild heave by Dick Lanahan.

Poco Taitt, 1935 batting champion, went on a hitting rampage against the Knoxville Smokies as the Nashville Vols piled up 14 hits for an 11 to 7 victory. Poco rapped out two home runs, and a teammate, Rookie Jimmie Outlaw blasted another.

Down in New Orleans Bill Thomas pitched the first shut-out game of the season as the Pels defeated the Birmingham Barons in a tight fight 1 to 0. It was a great duel as Thomas tied up with a newcomer in the Southern, Ray Coombs. But with the bases loaded, the winning run was walked in in the fourth inning.

Little Rock did a thorough job of raking Memphis pitchers for base hits, piling up 16, two of them surprising home runs by the usually mediocre hitter Leo Nonnenkamp. Willie Duke of Memphis laso hit a homer.

PELS WIN DUEL

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—(AP)—Behind the superb pitching of Bill Thomas, the New Orleans Pelicans opened the Southern association baseball season here today with a 1-0 victory over the Birmingham Barons before a crowd of approximately 7,000.

It was a great mound duel with Thomas shading Ray Coombs, right-hander, acquired by the Barons from Syracuse of the International league.

The Pels' lone tally came in the third. Kintana reached first on Trapp's error, but was forced by Weatherly. Morgan singled sharply through the box. Henrich was purposely passed, filling the bases and Weatherly scored when Connolly walked.

Thomas limited the Barons to three scattered singles and permitted only two visitors to reach second base. In addition he recorded five strikeouts. Perfect baseball weather prevailed

OLE MISS WINS TWO GAMES FROM MILLSAPS

UNIVERSITY, Miss., April 11.—(AP)—Timely hitting behind the initial pitching efforts of Clark Holmes, and Tom Savage gave the University of Mississippi a double win over Millsaps college here today, 8 to 5 and 7 to 2, the final going six innings.

After spotting Millsaps four runs in the first inning, Ole Miss came back in the second and third frames to count five times. Millsaps tied it up in the fourth when Bill Neeley errored on Red Bullock's long fly to center, allowing the Major hurler to go home.

Subsequent tallies in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings, made chiefly on militant miscues, gave the local team their margin. Bill Neeley's home run and Rab Rodgers' triple featured the final affair, Ole Miss scoring three runs in the initial frame and four more in the fourth.

DERBY DUDES

Stable Has Faith In Tintagel's Ability To Route At Downs

TINTAGEL

(By NEA Service)

Marshall Field and his trainer, George M. Odom, evidently have faith in the ability of Tintagel to go a mile and a quarter in the Kentucky Derby of May 2.

Evidence of this is their entering the Futurity winner in most of the early closing stakes at Belmont Park and Saratoga. The blinkered son of Sir Gallahad II and Heloise fooled many critics by doing the six and a half furlongs of the Futurity without the least difficulty. Many thought him too light behind for a router. Tintagel filled out well over the winter.

Tintagel was one of the most consistent 2-year-olds of last season. The leading money winner among American juveniles accounted for six of nine starts to earn $75,100, most of which accrued from the $66,450 winner's award in the Futurity. An additional $5,000 was contributed by his second to Grand Slam in the Arlington Futurity.

Tintagel was put out of the Florida Derby when kicked by Stand Pat while working out. There was nothing permanent about the injury, but it interfered with the colt's training.

CLINT BROWN BOUGHT BY WHITE SOX CLUB

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP)—Harry Grabiner, vice-president of the Chicago White Sox, announced tonight that the Sox had purchased Clint Brown, righthanded pitcher, from the Cleveland Indians in a straight cash transaction.

Grabiner said Brown would report here within a day or two. Last season Brown appeared in 23 games, winning four and losing three. His earned run average was 5.14. The purchase price was not announced.

USUAL FANFARE TO ACCOMPANY OPENING GAMES

Start Of Campaign Finds Teams In Both Loops Strengthened

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—Probable batteries for Tuesday's opening big league baseball games:

American league:

New York at Washington—Gomez and Dickey vs. Newsom and Bolton.

Philadelphia at Boston—Dietrich and Berry vs. W. Ferrell and R. Ferrell.

St. Louis at Chicago—Andrews and Hemsley vs. Whitehead and Sewell.

Detroit at Cleveland—Bridges and Cochrane vs. Harder and Pytlak.

National league:

Brooklyn at New York—Earnshaw and Berres vs. Schumacher and Mancuso.

Boston at Philadelphia—MacFayden and Lopez vs. Davis and Wilson.

Chicago at St. Louis—Warneke and Hartnett vs. Parmelee and Ogrodowski.

Pittsburgh at Cincinnati—Blanton and Todd vs. Derringer and Lombardi.

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—Major league baseball, like the circus, comes to town next Tuesday with the same old motif, the same foundation of appeal it has had for American sports followers for upwards of a half-century, from the kids on the back lots to the man in the white house.

The grand openings will feature brass bands instead of the calliope, acrobatics ball-snatchers instead of trapeze artists, flag-raising instead of animal acts, but the peanuts and popcorn, as well as the general idea, will be much the same.

The 16 clubs epitomizing the best in America's national sport, hopeful for good weather and a cloudless "Big top", will swing into action before upwards of 200,000 fans. President Roosevelt will toss the first ball at Washington. They will start the main show from scratch but no more than three or four clubs in either the National or American league seriously entertain pennant hopes.

The betting fraternity favors the world champion Detroit Tigers and the Chicago Cubs, National league titleholders, to repeat. Baseball writers pick the St. Louis Cardinals to displace the Cubs, with the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates as chief threats otherwise. The expensively rebuilt Boston Red Sox, Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees, in about that order, are the challengers for Detroit's two-time winners to worry about.

Anticipating the upward trend will continue, in sport as well as business, club owners have furnished bigger and better accomodations for the fans. Parks in New York, Boston, Detroit and Chicago have been improved or enlarged, or both. Major league baseball climbed well out of the red last year. There are still some anaemic spots, notably Philadelphia, but better balance on the whole seems to have been brought about by reorganization and wholesale shakeups in playing talent. The Boston Braves are now the Boston Bees, for better or for worse.

First division clubs in both leagues have figured in vital player changes, made since the close of the 1935 season, but Brooklyn Dodgers will present the most completely revamped lineup of all, when they invade the Polo grounds, home of the Giants, for the opener that is certain to draw the biggest gallery, close to 50,000 fans.

The only clubs making no conspicuous changes, in fact, are the Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Browns. Both outfits did their rebuilding last season, with such success that they are now willing to gamble on the results of their experiments. The sophomore class of the Reds should cause considerable trouble in the older circuit, meanwhile continuing their successful trial with night baseball. The Browns, forfeited by the shrewd work of manager "Trader" Hornsby, figure to make a little capital go a long way.

Notwithstanding Boston's acquisition of some of baseball's biggest names, notable fence-bustin Jimmie Foxx, Detroit is still the team to beat in the American league race. The Tigers checkmated the Red Sox, to a large extent, by buying Al Simmons from the White Sox for outfield duty and cleanup clouting. Otherwise Mickey Cochrane's world champions are substantially the same, with a brilliant young third base prospect in Don Ross, to step in if Marvin Owen fails, and one or two young pitching stars hopeful of shining if the ancient soupbone of "general" Al Crowder fails.

The Tigers have the defense, the power and the pitching, with Schoolboy Rowe, Elden Auker and Tommy Bridges the best trio possessed by any club in the league. With Cochrane ready to wear the mask at least two-thirds of the time, they have the strength where it counts in all departments. Barring accidents, which they have been singularly fortunate to escape for the past two years, you can't figure the Tigers anywhere else but on top.

The Red Sox are no mystery but it remains to be seen whether Wes Ferrell and Lefty Grove, who captured 45 games last year, will repeat and, at the same time, get sufficient support otherwise from a limited pitching corps to capitalize the power generated by the bats of Foxx, Manush, Cronin, McNair, Cramer, Rick Ferrell and others on the $300,000 Boston payroll. Romano Picks Cardinals To Dethrone Cubs In National League

By John J. Romano

The Cubs to do it again!

That is the opinion expressed in many sections of the country as the 1936 baseball season gets under way on Tuesday. If Charley Grimm gets the pitching he did last year and holds his own at first base—his sixteenth in the big leagues—the race will be a close affair instead of the wide open one between three clubs it appears as flag-raising day nears.

The Cubs sneaked through by the skin of thier teeth last year. Had the Giants split even on that last western trip, the New Yorkers would have won the pennant. Furthermore, to prove that Grimm depended mostly on pitching was shown in the world series when after Warneke went out, the Tigers won off by themselves.

Grimm took several young pitchers into Chicago with him. Fabian Kowalik and Clay Bryant may spell the difference between first and second place, provided Warneke is his old self, and Charley Root, Bill Lee, Larry French and Tex Carleton play up to snuff. If not, there is nothing to it but the St. Louis Cards!

Giants Best Rounded Club

Bill Terry has the best rounded club in the league. Giving up Tarzan Parmelee for Burgess Whitehead may give him plenty of headaches before the season is two months old. Unless Whitehead fills that gap in the infield and a strong replacement is handy should Stoney Jackson's trick knee go from under him, a good deal of luck will be needed to escape lodgement in fourth place.

Frankie Frisch's big eggs are in one basket—on the mound. The Deans are good for forty games, and may pick up five more between them against the weaker clubs. Diz and Daffy will be primed for the big clubs and only go in and chuck them on an off-day against the Bees, Phils, Reds and Dodgers. Parmelee is certain to turn in fifteen and not hurt himself doing so. Terry was patient enough with Tarzan but there is no denying the stuff he has on the ball when right, and should this be one of those years when he is that way New Yorkers will moan with anglish.

Cards Have Spirit

Jess Haines, Willie Walker and Bill Hallahan are still around. They are good for at least twenty games among them. Having accounted for eighty games of an expected 100 to win the pennant, rookies like Ed Heusseur, Mike Ryba, Bill McGee and Nelson Pottef are counted on to furnish the remainder. Heusser and Ryba may fool them all by keeping pace with the regulars.

Another point in favor of the Cards is their spirit. They look on the Cubs as "lucky stiffs" and point to the 14 drubbings they handed the gum-chewers' representatives against eight defeats. New York's failure to halt the Cubs—Grimm's men took 14 from the Giants—accounted for the difference at the close of the season. The only fault in the St. Louis set-up is lack of reserves, and Frankie Frisch, at 38, attempting to play through a full season. Fordham Frankie must be extremely confident of himself and his team or he would not have traded Whitehead for as good a pitcher as Parmelee undoubtedly is.

Pirates Are Dark Horses

Dismissing the race with a casual review of the highlights of the three contending teams is taking too much for granted. No matter what can be said about the general weaknesses of the other clubs, you cannot deny that good pitching here and there would change the entire outlook.

Pittsburgh offers Cy Blanton, Bill Swift, Guy Bush and Jim Weaver as starters. Brooklyn has Van Lingle Mungo, George Earnshaw, Fred Frankhouse, Ed Brandt and Bill Clark. The Reds have Paul Derringer, Al Hollingsworth, Gene Schott and Lee Stine. The Bees will shoot with Bob Smith, Ben Cantwell, Johnny Babich and Bobbie Reis, while Jimmy Wilson's Phils will trot out Curt Davis, Bucky Walter, Syl Johnson and Earl Moore. Not a bad group, taking them as a whole, and learning from past experience the leaders wisely take nothing for granted when opposing them.

There is no club in the second group resembling anything like the Boston Braves of miracle fame. In last place on July 4, in 1914, they swept on to win the National league pennant, and then went out to take the highly-touted Athletics into camp in four straight games in the world series. Pitching did the trick. This is brought out to show what may happen to the leaders if any second division club gets high grade pitching for a good stretch of the season. The damage would not be confined to any one club but spread around so that the club getting the breaks would finish in first place.

It looks like the Cards. But don't bet on it. The Cubs and Giants are not out of it, and look out for Pittsburgh if it gets the pitching. Pie Traynor's Buccaneers are the real dark horses. They were coming fast at the end last year, and they still look like the team which finished that way.

OUACHITA, NEVILLE EACH WIN 2 NET TITLES

LOCAL SCHOOLS CAPTURE 4 OF 5 TENNIS CROWNS

Minden Boy Wins Singles Title In Only Monroe Loss At Ruston

RUSTON, La., April 11.—(Special)—Championship trophies and medals awarded winners of first places in the finals of the north Louisiana high school tennis rally Saturday at Louisiana Tech were distributed among three schools, with Ouachita Parish of Monroe taking two events, Neville of Monroe, two, and Minden High school one.

O. P. H. S. won the boys' doubles and the mixed doubles; Neville the girls' doubles and the girls' singles, and Minden the boys' singles.

Jack Howie, of Minden, was crowned singles champion, defeating Isaac Patton, Ouachita, in a close match. Carrie Perce, of Neville, won the girls' singles championship, beating Mary Mahr in the finals. The boys' doubles champions were Isaac Patton and Leon Fergus, of Ouachita, and the girls' doubles title winners were Frances Smith and Carrie Perce, of Neville. The mixed doubles crown went to Isaac Patton and June Moffett, of Ouachita.

Results of the finals were as follows:

Boys' doubles—O. P. H. S. defeated Minden, 6-3, 6-0.

Girls' doubles—Neville defeated O. P. H. S., 6-4, 6-8, 6-3.

Mixed doubles—O. P. H. S. defeated Neville, 6-2, 6-3.

Boys' singles—Minden defeated O. P. H. S., 6-4, 4-6, 7-5.

Girls' singles—Neville defeated O. P. H. S., 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

First place winners of the three doubles events were awarded silver trophies. Winners of firsts in the singles were given gold medals, and the second-place winners in the singles received silver medals. The awards were presented Saturday by M. H. Folk, Jr., general secretary of the North Louisiana High School Rally association.

Contestants in the finals were winners of semi-finals which resulted as follows: Boys' doubles—O. P. H. S. defeated Winnsboro, 6-2, 6-4, and Minden defeated Rayville, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5; mixed doubles—O. P. H. S. defeated Arcadia, 6-4, 7-5, and Neville won on a forfeit from Rayville; girls' doubles—Neville defeated Minden, 6-4, 6-2, and O. P. H. S. defeated Winnsboro, 7-5, 6-4; boys' singles—Minden defeated Arcadia, 6-0, 8-6, and O. P. H. S. defeated Rayville, 6-0, 6-1; and girls' singles—O. P. H. S. defeated Winnsboro, 6-2, 6-1, and Neville defeated Minden, 6-2, 6-4.

Lions Score In Eleventh To Take Hard Fought Tilt At Ruston

Pushing over a run in the 11th inning, the Ouachita parish high school baseball team won a hard fought 8-7 victory over the Byrd high school nine, of Shreveport, at Ruston yesterday.

After Byrd had tied the score in the seventh inning, the teams went scoreless until the 11th. Crowe, Byrd hurler, hit Stewart, first up for the Lions in the 11th. Sherrard sacrificed the Ouachita third sacker to second and Jones, Lion first baseman, brought him home with a clean single that broke up the duel.

The Lions started strong, scoring four runs in the first inning and three in the fifth. Takewell started on the mound for Ouachita but was wild, and was removed in the eighth. Crowe relieved him, whiffed two and Crowe 11. Locey hit a home run for Byrd, while Stewart got two doubles for Ouachita and Pate hit a triple.

Harvey Gregg, regular Lion second baseman, injured a finger before the game and could not play. Giddeons, outfielder, suffered a knee injury during the game. Pate, Ouachita shortstop, played a fine fielding game, despite two errors chalked up against him.

The Lions will play the Louisiana Tech freshmen here Monday afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock, Coach Leo Hartman said last night that the game probably will be played at Plum street diamond.

EXHIBITION RESULTS

TIGERS, REDS TIE

DAYTON, O., April 11.—(AP)—No-hit relief pitching by Jim Brennan held the Detroit Tigers in check over the last five innings today and gave the Cincinnati Reds a 5-5 tie with the world champions in a game called at the end of the twelfth inning on account of rain.

Cincinnati took a 3-run lead in the third but Al Simmons put the Tigers in front with a home run in the fifth that brought in Rogell and Walker.

The Reds tied it up in the seventh when Lombardi hit a long fly that enabled Kampouris to score.

Score by innings:

Detroit	100	040	000	000	5	13	0
Cincinnati	103	000	100	000	5	9	0

Sullivan, Lawson and Hayworth; Derringer, Freitas and Lombardi. (Called end 12th, rain).

NATS TRIM ALBANY

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—In a 25-hit contest, marked by ten extra-base blows, the Washington Senators today defeated their Albany farmhands, 9 to 7.

Neither Earl Whitehill nor Buck Newsom was particularly effective, with the former giving up nine hits and five runs in the six innings he worked. Jesse Hill, fleet outfielder, led the Washington attack with a triple and home run, followed by Joe Kuhel with two tripples. Smead Jolley, who once was tops among American league batters, smacked out five hits in five trips to the plate for Albany, including a double and triple.

Score by innings:

Albany (IL)	111	101	011	—7	14	2
Washington (A)	010	302	03x	—9	11	2

YANKS BEAT DODGERS

BROOKLYN, April 11.—(AP)—The New York Yankees took advantage of Van Mungo's wildness in the early innings today and paved the way for their 6-3 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the second of their three-game series at Ebbets field. The Dodgers won yesterday.

The Yanks score twice on Mungo in the four innings he was on the mound but got only one hit.

Red Ruffing held the Dodgers to one hit for the five innings he was on the mound but Casey Stengel's men nicked Monte Pearson for a run without getting a hit in the seventh and then jumped on Johnny Murphy for two more on four hits in the eighth.

INDIANS BLANK GIANTS

CLEVELAND, April 11.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians put some fine pitching on display today as they defeated the New York Giants 4-0 in a preview before a scant 1,000 chilled fans.

Mel Harder, Willis Hudlin and Oral Hildebrand, each working a three-inning stretch, yielded only a total of five scattered hits. In contrast, Hal Schumacher, the Giants' opening hurler, had little to puzzle the Indians. He was touched for only four hits in the four innings he worked but handed out five passes and uncorked a wild pitch to give the Indians all of their runs. Fred Fitzsimmons checked the tribe with two hits the remainder of the game.

The victory gave Cleveland a 7-6 edge on the series, the final of which will be played here tomorrow.

Score by innings:

WHITE SOX DOWN CUBS

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP)—Ganging on Larry French for all their runs in the third and fifth innings, the White Sox defeated the Cubs, 5 to 1, before 4,500 at Wrigley field today as the teams resumed their annual spring city series that was started in Los Angeles last month.

The victory evened the series at two victories apiece.

PURPLE KNIGHT COPS MARYLAND HANDICAP

BOWIE, Md., April 11.—(AP)—Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Purple Knight and Good Harvest finished first and second today in the $5,000 added Southern Maryland Handicap, closing day feature of the spring meeting here.

Townsend X. Martin's Steel Cutter was third.

MONROE SQUAD TO BE TRIMMED SOON

Candidates Battle For Places On Local Entry In Ouachita Loop

The battle for places in the lineup of the Monroe Druggists' baseball team will be heightened this week as Manager E. C. Hunt begins picking his probable lineup and reserves, and cutting down on the squad's surplus candidates, it was reported yesterday.

The Druggists will open their schedule in the Ouachita Valley league here next Sunday against the Swartz Carbon Blackers at Casino park, and the squad will be worked at top speed this week in preparation for the game.

At the present Manager Hunt has a squad of about 30 players working with him, but the sessions during the remainder of the week will see about a third of these dropped from the roster. The workouts are expected to develop a more lively turn as the week passes as all team prospects will be battling to cinch a place on the squad as well as in the starting lineup.

At present Manager Hunt has a fairly good club with a fast infield, a capable pitching staff and good outfielders. The squad's catching is a little weak, but this is expected to be remedied before the week is over by the addition of a couple of catchers who, as yet, have been unable to make the training sessions, but are being counted on to bolster the club's chances of a winning combination.

This will be the Druggists' first venture into the Ouachita Valley league loop, having received the franchise of one of the two teams that dropped out of the circuit at the completion of last year's campaign. Manager Hunt has been active in trying to build up the club and has received the official backing of the American Legion in his activities. The Spatafora Drug company added its support to the squad by completely outfitting them in uniforms, thus the name Druggists which the Monroe club adopted as recognition to Spatafora for the equipment.

One of the features of the opening day's game will be a track and field day in which the public is invited to participate. Manager Hunt has secured the services of Coach Percy Brown, of Neville, and Coach "Lefty" Haynes, of Ouachita, who will conduct the various events, and prizes will be offered to the winners of the various contests.

LEAGUE TO MEET

The Ouachita Valley league will meet at Hotel Frances Monday night to adopt the 1936 playing schedule. The meeting will be held in a studio of radio station KMLB, starting at 8 o'clock.

A schedule for a six-club circuit was drawn up two weeks ago but since that time the Winnfield club was admitted to the league, thus increasing the entries to seven.

Umpires who have been selected to officiate this season are especially requested to attend Monday night's meeting, President T. O. Dent said.

INDIAN BROOM BREAKS RECORD IN MARCHBANK

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—(AP)—Indian Broom broke the world's record for a mile and a furlong today in winning the $10,000 Marchbank handicap Top Row was second and Azucar third.

Indian Broom left the field easily behind, finishing in front by seven lengths. A crowd of 25,000, largest of the season at Tanforan, saw the world's record performance.

The winner, favored next to Top Row in the betting, paid $7.40, $2.60 and $2.40 in the $2 pari-mutuels. Top Row, the favorite, paid $2.40 and $2.20 and Azucar $2.60.

GEORGIA EVENS SERIES WITH AUBURN NINE, 8-3

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 11.—(AP)—Georgia squared its two-game series with Auburn this afternoon at Cramton Bowl, winning handily 8 to 3 as the Plainsmen were charged with seven errors.

Georgia took the lead in the second with a two-run rally and was never headed, getting to Morris for nine hits. Davis, Bulldog hurler, rapped out 3 of the nine hits.

Score by innings:

Georgia	023	020	010	—8
Auburn	010	002	000	—3

EVANGELINE LEAGUE

(By Associated Press)

The Alexandria Aces hammered out their fourth consecutive victory over the New Iberia Cardinals Saturday to protect their position at the top of the Evangeline league. The Aces have yet to suffer defeat.

The Cardinals outhit the league-leaders 13 to 12 but were unable to make the count for runs with the same success as the aces and dropped a rather weird decision, 14 to 9.

The fast-stepping Opelousas Indians stayed on the heels of the leader by turning back Lafayette 9 to 5 for a record of three wins and a single loss. "Tiny" Osborne went the route on the mound for the winners, scattering nine White Sox hits.

In another wild hitting affair the Rayne Rice Birds swamped Abbeville 19 to 9. The Birds got off to a big lead in the first inning, when they tallied six times and were never headed by the Athletics.

Cedric Johnson, a rookie pitcher, hurled the Jeanerette Blues to a 10-0 victory over Lake Charles. The Skippers gathered only two hits off Johnson's offerings. While his mates collected a total of 15 off the slants of Whitman and Goss.

TAR HEELS STILL SEEKING MENTOR

Ingwerson Definitely Out Of Picture, Officials Turn Elsewhere

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., April 11.—(AP)—With Burt Ingwerson, Northwestern university mentor, definitely out of the picture, the University of North Carolina athletic council's coaching committee today considered other prospects for the job of head coach.

Ingwerson, baseball and assistant football coach at Northwestern, had been considered the No. 1 candidate to succeed Head Coach Carl Snavely, but he advised the committee last night he definitely would not consider offering for the job.

Raymond Wolf, Texas Christian athletic director and football line coach, is still being considered, although he informed the committee this week he wasn't interested in the salary it mentioned, understood to be $6,500.

It was intimated this figure might be increased if necessary to obtain "the right man." It was recalled here that Chuck Collins drew as much as $7,500 during at least two of the eight years he was University of North Carolina head coach.

It was reported on good authority that other prospects now under consideration include Walter Skidmore, backfield coach here under Snavely; John P. Gorman, head freshman football coach at Princeton university, and John Rowland of Syracuse.

Most of the football lettermen have signed a petition asking that Skidmore be given the job on the ground that the football squad "has complete confidence in him and he is well acquainted with the local situation."

Snavely resigned to become head coach at Cornell.

ALABAMA TRACK TEAM WHIPS GEORGIA TECH

ATLANTA, April 11.—(AP)—Alabama's great track team defeated Georgia Tech 81 to 50 in a clash at Grant field here today.

In spite of the defeat of the Tech team, one of its members, Perrin Walker, put on a startling individual performance to score 18 points.

He won the 100-yard dash with a 9.6 performance, was first in the 220 with a 21.3 second mark, tied with Ben Jones in the high jump at five feet ten, placed second in the shot put and third in the discus throw.

U. S. TEAM COPS DOUBLES MATCH IN THREE SETS

Martinez And Mestre No Match For Veteran American Pair

By Felix R. McKnight

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

HOUSTON, Texas, April 11.—(AP)—Captain Wilmer Allison took an hour off from his golf game today and teamed with John Van Ryn as the United States' Davis cup doubles team to clinch the North American zone series with Mexico.

Wilmer Allison

Admittedly playing the "best doubles tennis we have played in a year," Allison and Van Ryn made amazing power shots to defeat Flavio Martinez and Antonio Marco Mestre, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2.

The victory placed the United States in the zone finals against Australia at Philadelphia late in May.

Allison said it was still too early to announce a definite lineup for the Australian matches but "I imagine the lineup will be the same as it was here—except that I probably will play singles."

That would place Donald Budge, the California meteor, and Allison in the singles, with Van Ryn and Allison doing doubles duty. Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, the Atlanta atom, played in the singles here and recently defeated Allison in the finals of the Houston invitation tournament.

Only a short while after he had toured 18 holes in near par golf, Allison stepped on the courts, played the tennis that won him top ranking in the United States—and went back to the golf course for another nine holes.

Allison and Van Ryn charged the net to overwhelm the youthful Mexican team. Van Ryn, his usual steady self, had his smash shots finding the corners. Allison was near perfect with hard volleys and terrific overhead shots.

The Americans won the first ten games in quick time but Martinez, a husky youth, finally won his serve, a streaking drive that Allison lauded as one of the hardest he ever had tried to handle.

REDS BILL SEVEN GAMES AT NIGHT

Cincinnati Club Again Takes Lead In Major Loop Showmanship

CINCINNATI, April 11—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, first and only major league club to feature night baseball, also plan to set the pace in showmanship and comfort for the fans in 1936.

They will play seven games under floodlights this season, the same as last year, in their considerably renovated park.

In a $25,000 "spending orgy," the Reds made the box seats more restful, replaced wooden banked floors in front of the right and left wings with concrete and installed new chairs there and in four rows of the grandstand.

The park has been completely repainted in two-tone brown, with the posts in olive green. And the underparts of the grandstands are done in robin's nest blue!

Concessionaires spent another $25,000 for better lighting and display of food and drinks.

Cincinnati ushers will be turned out in new uniforms—red coats, blue trousers and red and blue caps. Even the gateman and ticket sellers have new regalia of a military pattern.

Capacity has been stretched from 30,000 to 33,000, part of the additional seating having been provided by rearrangement of the boxes and the rest to banking the outfield for installation of portable seats.

MORE THAN MERE MAIDS

Fishing FACTS and Fancies

Results of the visit of Jack Lamb, famous bass fisherman, to Monroe last week, can be seen in the increasing number of embryonic bait and fly casters here. In spite of rather windy weather, new disciples of Izaak Walton were busy the first part of the week practicing on lawns, back yards and some few on Bayou DeSiard. They are going at it in right hearty fashion and a few timely tips in the rudiments of this form of recreation are offered at this time.

A lead sinker of approximately 5-8 ounce is excellent for practicing bait casting. For windy weather it offers very little wind resistance and is easy to retrieve over a lawn or wherever one chooses to practice. Also this weight is about the same as that of standard casting lures so that the beginner soon gets accustomed to handling the correct amount of weight.

For those having trouble with line snarls and back lashes and who are using free spooling reels having no control over the speed of the spool, it is recommended that the reel be about half filled with a cheap soft cotton line before the regular casting line is rolled on. This is known as "backing the line," and has several advantages, the chief of which is that it allows the spool to revolve more slowly and develop little momentum at the start of the cast, thus preventing the spool from over-running the line as it goes out toward the target.

By all means use a target in practicing bait casting, as this will develop accuracy. Try short casts first as distance may be achieved later on. An old newspaper folded once makes an excellent target.

For those to whom fly casting is now a mystery the following suggestions may not be amiss:

In fly casting the line carries the fly to its target, which is just the reverse of bait casting in which the weighted lure pulls the line out. In view of this, the fisherman should use a fly rod of good and stiff action, and a line that will balance with the action of the rod. A line that is hard and wiry should be chosen. Rods vary a great deal, so it is a good idea to fit the line to the rod. A rod of 6 1-2 ounces with a good stiff action frequently carries a D line and makes a good balance. However, it all depends upon the action of the rod.

Personal preference will indicate the proper size, kind and strength of leader. Strength in a leader is indicated by pounds and for a D line a leader of 30-pound test will generally match well with the line. Length of leaders is of some importance and six feet is a good length to start with for beginners.

Very recently a father and his son were seen on Bayou DeSiard, with the father in the role of instructor of fly casting. After several attempts the youngster caught a small bass of about legal size. A snapshot was taken of the boy with his first fish and then the father told the son to handle the fish with wet hands and remove the hook with care, so that little damage be done to the fish, and return him to the water. The fish was barely above legal size, he said, and at some future date might give another sportsman the thrill of catching him, and also the supply of fish would be conserved, with a good chance for an increase.

Hats off to this man and his boy . . . they are true sportsmen.

Varying degrees of success are claimed by those fishing the Ouachita river at Riverton. Many have reported good luck with barfish but few bass have been taken there.

Some fishermen have had fair luck along the river. Most of these reported good results were obtained using red and white bucktails on shimmy wigglers, and where banks were steep and there was little brush under water, fly rod minnows were used. Skipping the minnows over the water close to shore line, often as close to the bank as a foot, brought many strikes from both barfish and bass.

Rain the past week may make the Ouachita murky, but other streams and bayous will afford some sport to anglers for Sunday, provided weather conditions do not change for the worse. The old saying, "Fish are where you find them," holds true in every case.

When temperature is 80 degrees or hotter, use a fly rod and keep flies on the surface. Oil flies before using. Press between blotters or old newspapers to remove surplus oil, and then make a few casts without letting the fly hit the water. This will aid in removing any surplus oil and cause the fly to bush out in a more nearly life-like manner. Allow the fly to rest on the water for a few seconds upon casting, then twitch the rod tip slightly, thus causing the fly to "wiggle" as though it were alive and had just fallen from the air.

Those using small flies tied on hooks of appropriate size frequently experience difficulty in getting a large leader through the eye of the hook. This can be handled efficiently by using a tapered leader which may be tied by the angler as follows: Use two feet of 30-pound test leader and next to it tie another strand of 20-pound test of two feet in length, then tie on two and one-half or three feet of 15-pound test leader and this last is the end that the fly will be tied onto. Experiments with knots will serve to show the best way of tying leaders together as individual tastes differ. A tapered leader made up as described will be found to handle remarkably well, almost as though it were the same test all over. Many fishermen use tapered leaders exclusively in the belief that a fly can be caused to hop in a more natural manner when using a rolling cast.

With the coming of warmer weather, flies in a variety of black and white patterns may be used, but for a little while yet the white and red combinations will be good in early morning and late in the afternoon.

Bait casters in early morning fishing will do well to remember that slower reeling, causing the lure to travel under the surface, a foot or more, will give Mr. Average Angler a better chance for strikes. The reason is temperature. For every 12 to 15 degrees below a temperature of 80, lures should go under water around 18 inches to two feet. At least so say experienced fishermen.

LUTZ TO COACH BEARS

BERKELEY, Calif., April 11.—Larry Lutz, University of California's great tackle of last year, has turned down an offer to play pro football with the Green Bay Packers and will serve as assistant coach at his alma mater.

L. S. U. TEAM TO TAKE TWO-WEEKS BASEBALL JAUNT

Tigers Play Auburn, Alabama Mississippi State And Tech

BATON ROUGE, La., April 11.—(Special)—Coaches Harry Rabenhorst and J. E. Whitworth today named a squad of 17 Louisiana State university baseball players to make a two weeks tour through Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana during which the Tiger nine will play eight games. Games will be played with Auburn, Alabama, Mississippi State and Louisiana Tech.

Those named by the Bengal coaches to make the trip are: Catchers, Helveston and Stewart; pitchers, Brown, Lockbaum, Fatherree, Dixon, Nolan and James or Romogosa; infielders, Tinsley, Callender, Blair, Humphries and Landry; outfielders, Warmbrod and Walker; manager, McDonald.

The team will leave here Easter morning and play their first games in Alabama against Auburn, April 13 and 14; University of Alabama will be met in Tuscaloosa April 17 and 18; Mississippi State will meet the Tigers on April 20 and 21 in Starkville, Miss.; and on the way home the Tigers will stop off at Ruston to play Louisiana Tech April 23 and 24.

Louisiana State's hopes for a conference title will be made or broken on this road trip. The most important games on the schedule are those with Alabama. The Bengals and the Crimson Tide broke even in a recent series here. A double win for either team would practically cinch the pennant.

Alabama is the defending champion and horsehide experts have picked the Bengals as having the only team strong enough to stop the Crimson Tide from annexing another pennant. The heavy hitting Bengals bombarded the Crimson Tide from all angles to take the first of a recent two game series. In the second encounter the Tide handed L. S. U. their first defeat of the year when the Bengal infield collapsed to let in a flock of runs on errors.

While Auburn and Mississippi State are expected to have good teams the Bengals look to be stronger. Aiding a veteran L. S. U. pitching staff is the heaviest hitting Tiger team in history. Seven of L. S. U.'s starting nine have been pounding the ball over the .300 mark. Tinsley, hard hitting first baseman and all-America football end, leads the murderers row with an average of .556, which is hitting in any league.

Other players in the .300 class are Brown, Helveston, Walker, Humphrey, Fatherree and Callender. When Brown and Fatherree are not pitching they double up in the outfield. Another Tiger star who will soon be above the .300 mark is "Buddy" Blair, shortstop. Major league scouts have been following the Tiger star around this year waving contracts in his face and while he has displayed his usual flashy fielding he has been in a batting slump. However, against Alabama, Blair started to pound the ball as he has in past seasons and appears to be on the way up.

Opposing pitchers will find that the Tigers hit hard as well as often. The Bengal batsmen have collected some 15 home runs in six games this season despite the fact they play on the largest field in the league.

VIDALIA SCHEDULES GAME WITH NATCHEZ

VIDALIA, La., April 11.—(Special)—The Vidalia Tigers have been named as first opponents of the re-organized Natchez Indians of Natchez, Miss., and the inaugural contest will be played Sunday, May 3 in Natchez at the new airport stadium now under construction. When completed the plant will be one of the most up-to-date ball parks in this section.

Manager Mike S. Ohlsen of the Vidalia club plans to have a first class aggregation of ball tossers on hand for the opening game with the Bluff City Redskins, ancient rivals of the Bengals. He will hire an entire combination and among the number who will perform for the Tigers will be Nathan Blair, well known L. S. U. all-around athlete. Blair is playing with L. S. U.'s Tigers and will be home for the day. He is a resident of Ferriday and played with Vidalia last year. He has received several offers to play in organized ball but as yet has not signed.

Ferriday's Black Cats will be the second game rivals of the Natchezians, according to advices from the Mississippi city.

MISSISSIPPI GOLFERS BEAT MILLSAPS TEAM

UNIVERSITY, Miss., April 11.—(AP)—Ole Miss handed the Millsaps college golf team a decisive defeat here today, taking all four of the matches held.

Walter Welty, Ole Miss, finished 3 up on David Brooks, Millsaps. By the same score, George Buchanan, Ole Miss, beat Lloyd Sutherland, Millsaps, and Colin Campbell, Ole Miss downed Joe May, Millsaps.

An Ole Miss pair, Welty and Buchanan, also won 3 up from Sutherland and Brooks.

CATCHER POWERS SOLD TO GREENVILLE TEAM

PALESTINE, Texas, April 11.—(AP)—Sale of Horace (Pudge) Powers, catcher, by the Palestine Pals of the East Texas league to Greenville, Miss., of the Cotton States league was announced today by A. M. Burris, Pals' president.

Powers caught for the Pals during the entire season last year.

Three Hundred Seek U. S. Ring Titles And Olympic Chance

By Harry Grayson

(NEA Service Sports Editor)

CLEVELAND, April 11.—The national amateur boxing championships are being held out of Boston, New York or St. Louis for the first time and sprinkling the show around appears to be beneficial.

Fully 300 slamateurs are in Cleveland for the big production on April 15, 16, 17. A record has been established for the number of Amateur Athletic Union associations competing—33. A nine-man team has come all the way from Honolulu. California, Oregon, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Nebraska, Nevada, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio and other states are represented.

The medal chasers have an added incentive this trip. The four outstanding lads in each of the eight classes qualify for the Olympic trials to be held in Chicago next month. This year the slogan is, "Be a simonpure socker and see the cockeyed world," particularly if you reside in Honolulu.

The national amateur championships annually compose one of the liveliest fistic attractions in the land. There are no sub-novices such as those that turn up in Golden Glove tournaments. Competitors in the A. A. U. whirl are the pick of their respective districts.

Pro Champions in Making

Spectators are likely to see a future world professional champion at any weight—from fly to heavy. James J. Corbett was an amateur. So were Joe Louis, Bob McAllister, Lou Salica, Jackie Fields, Tony Canzoneri, Fidel LaBarba and Barney Ross.

If all of the professionals broke in as amateurs, the beak busting business would be better off. Generally speaking, a beginner is properly coached and trained and is not overmatched under A. A. U. or intercollegiate supervision.

The large Cleveland field is ready—from Josh Mercado, the little Hawaiian flyweight, to Gerard DeClercq, a longshoring heavy of San Francisco who is reported more formidable than Louis Nova, from the same city and who took the title a year ago.

Little Mercado has a flyweight teammate in Gilbert Murakami, and other members of the squad from the mid-Pacific are David Young and Fred Yasui, bantams; Ray Maruko and Eddie Townsend, feathers; Anton Generalao, lightweight; Kenji Horie, welter, and Johnny Santiago, middleweight. Andy Biddle is the coach, and Jack Robello the trainer.

Other members of the San Francisco team are Hugh McPhillips, a middleweight sheet metal worker who lost to Dave Clark in the semi-final round last year; Mario Duchini, 17-year-old welter who copped the northern California Golden Gloves championship a year ago; Earl Booker, lightweight student at the University of San Francisco making his third attempt to bag a national gold medal; Danny La Verne, bantam; and Horace Samuelson, flyweight.

In His Father's Footsteps

Bob Breslin, welterweight son of Jack Britton, the old welter leader, will represent the Pensacola Y. M. C. A.

Troy Bellini of Cleveland defends the bantam bauble.

Max Reesch, Southern Methodist sophomore and Southern A. A. U. heavyweight champion, is one of the lads the professional managers will keep their eyes on. Another is Paul Hartneck, the former Creighton university guard who won the heavyweight crown in the Chicago Golden Gloves tournament.

Other cracks are Joe Drayer, Omaha Golden Gloves and mid-west A. A. U. 160-pound ruler; Harold Dettman, Cleveland middle-weight; Elmer (Sonny Boy) Kelly, veteran feather of Loyola university of New Orleans; and Jackie Wilson, the Cleveland negro youth who undoubtedly is the tallest flyweight in the United States.

Wilson, one of the most accomplished warriors of the lot, won both the Cleveland and Chicago Golden Gloves titles and beat the New York champion.

They come to these national championships in all shapes and sizes and all of them can fight a bit.

HUMBERTO MEETS RYAN IN TUESDAY SHOW

CLEVER EASTERN MATMAN BOOKED AGAINST MEXICAN

Whitey Hewitt, Boston Sensation, Tangles With Dick Lever

The fair fans will get a break Tuesday night. They'll be able to see a bang-up wrestling card without paying the usual admission fee, provided they're accompanied by one paid admission. It will be ladies night at Roosevelt stadium, and as the main attraction, Promoter Charlie Bruscato has booked Juan Humberto, who was disqualified last week in a rough match with Marvin Westenberg, and George "Red" Ryan, clever Massachusetts heavyweight.

For the semi-final match, the promoter has booked Whitey Hewitt, sensational newcomer from Boston, and Dick Lever, tough Nashville entry.

Humberto, the tough Mexican who is a leading contender for the heavyweight championship, will get a real test in Ryan. The Massachusetts Redhead performed here several weeks ago and gave the cleverest exhibition seen at the stadium in many moons. In fact, many fans requested that he be brought back again but Bruscato was unable to get him until yesterday.

Ryan is exceptionally fast and he includes numerous new wrestling wrinkles in his bag of tricks. One of his stunts on his previous visit was to achieve a leg split in the ropes Instead of hanging his opponent's head between the strands, as most wrestlers do, he entwined one foot in the ropes, and then stretched out his foe, and wrapped the hemp around the other leg. He made a big hit here and undoubtedly will prove a big drawing card at the stadium if he's booked often enough to build up a following.

Humberto, of course, is well known here. He is as rough as they come, and already has won the disapproval of most of the stadium fans. He uses all manner of fouls but occasionally mixes in some scientific wrestling to make it tough on his opponent.

Hewitt is a former football star who has been quite a sensation since he's been in the southwest, according to reports. He has been headlined on cards around Houston and other large mat centers in Texas, and comes highly recommended.

Lever is another villain who's well known here. He likes the rough going and would rather foul his opponent into submission than win by legitimate means. His roughness makes him a formidable grappler.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls, with the main event limited to two hours and the semi-final having a one-hour time limit.

30,000 TURN OUT FOR FIRST GAMES IN DIXIE CIRCUIT

but the opening day crowd fell short of expectations.

Governor James A. Noe opened the festivities by tossing the first ball, with Commissioner Joseph Skelly of New Orleans on the receiving end.

Eddie Rose, Bird left fielder, won a dollar throwing contest and Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, former Southern Women's golf champion, drove three balls over the center field fence as added attractions.

It was a tough beating for Coombs. He pitched well enough to win most games, but found Thomas at his best. Larry Gilbert's men garnered only four safeties off the diminutive Baron hurler, only one of which figured in the winning run.

Fielding honors went to young Tommie Irwin, the Pelicans' rookie shortstop. One error was registered against him, but he turned in a number of sparkling plays that shut off Baron raps that appeared certain hits.

CRACKERS BEAT LOOKOUTS

ATLANTA, April 11. — (AP) — The champion Atlanta Crackers opened the Southern association season here today by staging a ninth inning rally to defeat Chattanooga 4 and 3. Approximately 17,000 fans saw the game.

Score by innings:

Chattanooga	011	000	010	3
Atlanta	100	000	201	4

McColl, Lanahan and Holbrook; Durham, Messenger and Richards.

VOLS WHIP SMOKIES

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 11.—(AP)—Led by Poco Taitt, big outfielder, who hit two home runs, the Nashville Vols collected 14 hits off three Knoxville pitchers to easily win the Southern association opener, 11 to 7, before 2,948 fans here today.

Partly cloudy skies and a chilly wind limited attendance.

USUAL FANFARE TO ACCOMPANY OPENING GAMES

from the Athletics to round out the twirling line, has developed a sore arm.

Cleveland, victim of a long list of bad breaks for two years, has an excellent chance to come through this season. The Tribe, harmonizing under a new pilot, Steve O'Neill, has sufficient power and pitching to lead the league, if it holds together and shakes off the injury "jinx". The addition of Johnny Allen and George Blaeholder to the curving corps, plus the comebacks of Frank Pytlak and Bruce Campbell, two of the 1935 season's biggest casualties, figure to help close the gap and make the Indians contenders all the way. Now all they've got to do is keep the Tigers from pinning their ears back for the third straight year.

The New York Yankees have had their bad luck early which may be a good sign. John Di Maggio, the outfield recruit sensation from the coast, Pitcher Pat Malone and Shortstop Frankie Crosetti all have been on the hospital list this week but their cases are not serious. The team lacks power, however, and has a doubtful infield combination. It's chances rest on pitching come-backs by Lefty Gomez and Monte Pearson, obtained from Cleveland.

The second flight of the American league, except for the "mystery men" collected by Connie Mack for the Athletics, is stronger than last year. Washington has a first-class ball club, with a recruit sensation in Buddy Lewis at third, but the pitching is on the weak side. The White Sox have pitching but not enough batting punch, even with Mike Kreevich, a newcomer, threatening to do better than Al Simmons did last season at bat. The Browns, under Hornsby's leadership, will be no push-over for any opposition. The A's will be confusing to identify but not much else.

Support for the St. Louis Cardinals in the National league race is based mainly upon two factors (1) that the Cubs, who needed a 21-game winning streak to overhaul the Cards last season, can't repeat that miracle and (2) that the pitching of the celebrated Dean brothers, aided by Roy Parmelee, erstwhile wild man of the Giants, will give St. Louis the balance of power. Parmelee has looked so good this spring that he is slated to get the opening game assignment against the Cubs, a team he likes to beat.

With Pepper Martin shifted to the outfield and Charley Gelbert back on the job regularly, at third base, the Cardinals are well fortified everywhere except behind the bat. The shelving of Bill Delancey, favorite backstop of the Deans, has been followed by temporary illness of his main replacement, Virgil Davis.

The Cubs figure they will not need another late season rally to repeat. With Manager Charley Grimm back at first base young Phil Cavaretta in reserve and big Chuck Klein, his old clouting confidence restored, back at his regular right field post, the champions have no particular worries, unless something happens to their pitching staff. If Lonnie Warneke's arm doesn't "snap" the way it did in the World series and if Charley Root has another good season in his ancient arm, all will be well, but the Cubs do not have much margin of pitching safety.

The Giants, after collapsing twice in the stretch, base their hopes mainly upon field replacements, including Burgess Whitehead at second base and Sambo Leslie, a heavy sticker, as understudy to the veteran manager, Bill Terry, at first base. The club has the league's best outfield in Ott, Leiber and Moore. If Fred Fitzsimmons comes back and Carl Hubbell keeps sharing the main pitching job with Hal Schumacher and Clyde Castleman, New York may climb back to the top.

Pittsburgh, fortified behind the bat by Al Todd and with Manager Pie Traynor back at his old post, third base, is the "dark horse" contender. Heading the Buc pitching staff is the sensational sophomore, "Cy" Blanton, most effective in the league last year, but unless he and Bill Swift get more help than they did last year from Guy Bush among others, the Pirates can't expect to go places.

The Dodgers, with a completely revamped infield and outfield, besides the acquisition of such experienced moundsmen as Ed Brandt and Frank Frankhouse from Boston, figure to give the fans of Flatbush quite a show and their opposition considerable trouble. Due mainly to their pitching staff, including a come-back by Big George Earnshaw, they look to be the class of the second division.

Cincinnati furnished one of the big surprises of 1935 and may repeat. The Phillies, shifting Lou Chiozza to the outfield and installing Leo Norris at shortstop in search of more punch, have enough good pitching to be troublesome. The Boston Bees, fortified behind the bat with Al Lopez and featuring other ex-Brooklynites, can do a lot better than last year and still not get out of the cellar.

FAIR WEATHER PROMISED

NEW YORK, April 11—(AP)—Brimful of hope like the managers of the rival teams, the weatherman said today "generally fair weather with moderate temperatures" can be expected for the opening of the major leagues' baseball season next Tuesday.

"But don't hold me to it," he cautioned. "Anything can happen."

Showers are expected late Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday, he said.

Weeds and insects cause an annual loss of $6,500,000,000 in the United States.

ALABAMA TENNIS TEAM BLANKS FURMAN SQUAD

OLYMPIC GROUP TO OUST JAHNCKE

Former Navy Official In Bad Because He Opposed Participation

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—The Herald Tribune said today a movement has been started to oust Ernest Lee Jahncke, former assistant secretary of the navy and one of the three American members of the international Olympic committee, from the committee when it meets next summer during the Olympic games in Berlin.

The New Orleans sportsman, who has been a member of the international committee for nine years, expressed opposition to American participation in the games last fall before the hotly-disputed question was thrashed out at the annual meeting of the amateur athletic union.

He voiced his opposition in a prepared statement in connection with correspondence with Count Henri-Balliet-Latour, president of the I. O. C., who suggested that Jahncke ought to resign from the committee.

The paper said the international committee will resort to a rule which permits it to expel a member on the ground of failure to attend meetings. American Olympic officials here said Jahncke attended only one I. O. C. meeting, the congress held in Los Angeles four years ago.

The question of Jahncke's place on the I. O. C. was brought up last Sunday at a meeting of the American Olympic committee by President Avery Brundage of Chicago, who successfully led the fight against an American boycott of the games in Berlin last fall. The United States, however, does not appoint members of the I. O. C.

Jahncke was appointed in 1927 to succeed Dr. David Kinley of Chicago, who was discharged from the I. O. C. for non-attendance. The other American members are General Charles H. Sherrill of New York and William May Garland of Los Angeles.

FERRIDAY ALL-STARS PLAY MONROE TODAY

FERRIDAY, La., April 11.—(Special)—The Ferriday All-Stars open their season here Sunday against the strong Monroe Drillers in a game to be played at the Fair Grounds park, beginning at 3 p.m.

The All-Stars had one of the best negro semi-pro clubs in this section last year and have promise of another powerful combination this season. The Drillers have added a lot of young players to their roster and are boasting a faster nine than the one they had last summer.

On April 19 the locals will meet the Scotlandville Pelicans, and on the following Sunday they face the Eudora, Ark., Sluggers. Both games will be played here at the Fair Grounds.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Two hundred new stalls will be built at Tanforan racetrack, near San Francisco.

A. A. Baroni, owner of Top Row missed most of the Tanforan meeting owing to automobile accident injuries.

Peter T. Gerckhoff, former Santa Clara university football captain and star end, is candidate for the California legislature.

Athletic control at the University of California is vested in a student council instead of an athletic director, as at many schools.

Attempts are being made to organize a state association of caddie masters in California.

Sire and colt—Tarpaulin and Tarpwood—raced on the same day's card at Tanforan. The colt won his race.

The European sport of "bagwood" has been introduced at the University of San Francisco.

4 MORE SCHOOLS ENTER STUDENTS IN ANNUAL EVENT

Marble Editor Answers Questions Received During Past Week

The number of entries in the News-Star-World's second annual marble tournament will set a new record if the present trend continues, a survey of the entries revealed yesterday. With only 19 schools having officially accepted the invitation to compete, approximately fifteen hundred prospective entries have been registered with the marble entries.

Schools to register since the last report are Collinston, Clayton, Fort Necessity and Baskin. The 19 schools which have reported include only one from Monroe and none from West Monroe, which furnished last year's Southern champion, Jimmy Fletcher. All schools of the two cities will be represented this year, of course.

Today's marble news will be devoted largely to questions and answers concerning the tournament and the game of Ringer. Boys and girls and school officials are urged to write the marble editor if there's anything they want to know about the tourney.

Here are some of the questions received:

Q.: How much will it cost to enter the Marbles tournament? R. J.

A.: Not a cent. This paper bears all the expenses. Simply sign an entry blank and you are enrolled.

Q.: I am 11 years old. May I join this tournament? R. C.

A.: Certainly. The rules say that any boy or girl who will not be 15 years of age before July 1 is eligible.

Q.: Why don't you allow steel shooters in the contest? A. M. O.

A.: Because steel shooters are not conducive to good marble playing and also because it is difficult for other players using agate shooters to knock a steel one from the ring.

Q.: What is the difference between the lag line and the pitch line? Oscar R.

A.: You stand at the lag line and toss or roll your shooter to the pitch line (10 feet away) to see who shoots first.

Q.: Why is it necessary to know the rules? G. P. U.

A.: Because a violation of the rules may cause you to forfeit a marble. Knowing the rules permits you to take advantage of the breaks.

Q.: Who was the first national marble champion?

A.: Harlin McCoy of Columbus, O. He won in 1923 when he was 14 years old. Now he is 26 years old and has a 6-year-old son whom he is training to become a champion.

Q.: My shooter is six-eighths of an inch in diameter. It that O.K.? Jerry.

A. Yes. The rules say that a shooter shall not be less than one-half inch nor more than six-eighths inch in diameter.

Q.: How many players can play at one ring? Buster.

A.: Not more than six and not less than two.

Q.: How soon should we begin practicing for the tournament? Oliver.

A.: Start right now. Draw a ring on a smooth spot of ground in your backyard, or on a nearby playground and practice from now until the time of your district contest.

Q.: Sometimes I get nervous and my shooter slips out of my hand. Would this count against me in a tournament match? Freckles.

A.: Not if the shooter does not travel more than 10 inches from your hand in the ring. See the rules under the section, "Playing Regulations."

Q.: Why is the New-Star-World opposed to playing marbles for keeps? Skinny.

A.: Because it is a form of petty gambling, because it may lead to worse forms of gambling, because it is not the true sportsmanship that this paper want to encourage.

Q.: How many hours a day will I play marbles at the tournament if I win the trip? Buddy.

A.: The games last about two hours each morning but, of course, any one player is in action only about 30 minutes of that time. All the rest of the day you will play on the beach, swim, go to a movie party or take in other entertainments. And don't forget the champs will spend a lot of their time at the dining room table stowing away choice food.

Q.: Has there ever been a girl national champion? Alice B.

A.: No, but several girls have come very near winning the title.

Q.: My father is out of work and if I win the city championship he will not be able to give me any money for my trip to the tournament. What can I do about it? L. M. B.

A.: Don't worry about that. If you win the championship, this paper will pay all expenses to the national finals. You won't need one penny for pocket money. Now get busy and practice.

Q.: We had an argument the other day, some of the fellows saying the champion marble shooters are born, not made. If that's true, why practice? C. K. W.

A.: They're wrong. Champion marble shooters are made. All the former national champions will tell you how they practiced and practiced to perfect themselves. Some of them were so awkward that when they first started to play, they were laughted at. But practice makes perfect in marbles just as in anything else.

Q.: Who is the present national champion? David B.

A.: Henry Altyn, Throop, Pa.

Q.: Don't the larger boys have an advantage over the smaller ones in the marble contest? K. V.

A.: No. Marbles is one game where size doesn't count. Size has nothing to do with shooting ability.

Q.: I have shot at a marble and missed. My shooter stays in the ring. Is it true that my opponent can shoot at my shooter? If so, and he knocks it from the ring, am I out of the game? Tom L.

A.: When you have shot and missed, and your shooter stays in the ring, you are to pick up, and let your opponent shoot. Your opponent never shoots at your shooter.

Q.: Is Ringer the only official tournament game? B. R. M.

A.: Yes. It is the only marble game recognized by the tournament. It has been played, with very few changes in the rules, for 14 years, and practically is the only marble game played throughout the country today.

Q.: What is the best substitute for a good ring made of clay and sand? L. B.

A.: If you can't find a smooth surface on the ground, or if it is bad weather, a heavy, thick rug makes a fairly good substitute.

Q.: How many boys and girls play in the national tournament every year? Ben J.

A.: Millions. So many, in fact, that national tournament officials hesitate to give an accurate figure. Since the tournament opened in 1923 with less than a dozen city champions, it has grown to include more than 100 champions, with three sectional tournaments needed to care for them.

JIMMY THOMSON WINS RICHMOND OPEN MEET

RICHMOND, Va., April 11.—(AP)—Jimmy Thomas, Shawnee-on-the-Delaware pro, who learned to play golf here ten years ago, returned to win the $3,000 Richmond open today with a subpar 285. First place was worth $700 to Thomson.

Second in a field which included some of golfdom's best performers was Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles, who took a 289 in the 72-hole combat against par over James River course of the country clug of Virginia.

A three-way deadlock resulted for third position when the two veteran Chicago campaigners, Harry Cooper and Frank Walsh, and Richmond's Bobby Cruikshank finished with 290's.

Horton Smith, Springfield, Mo., who came here after a billiant finish at Augusta to capture the national invitation tournament, was placed with misfortune in the final round today to card a 291.

TECH NINE TROUNCES CENTENARY TEAM, 13-7

SHREVEPORT, La., April 11.—(AP)—Amassing 17 hits off three hurlers and capitalizing on six miscues by the Maroon and White, Coach Eddie McLane's Louisiana Tech Bulldogs from Ruston squared the series with the Centenary Gentlemen this afternoon. The score was 13-7.

The Gents invaded the camp of the Bulldogs Friday where they registered a win over the Tech team.

Taylor, Tech hurler, had the Gents well in check all afternoon and fanned 13 batters.

Score by innings:

La. Tech	130	230	022	13
Centenary	004	010	020	7

Taylor, Pittard and Hewitt; Stone, Burgess, Serra and Stokes.

New Wrestling War Flourishes As Shikat Jumps To Outlaw Promoters

Everett Marshall Gets Long Deferred Shot At Championship

By Harry Grayson
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 11—Dick Shikat has jumped to the outlaws and a bigger and better burping war is on.

The howls of the heads of the big bone-bending combine make it plain that Shikat wasn't supposed to do what he did to Danno O'Mahony at the Garden the other night.

But Shikat, who really can wrestle, evidently grew tired of being given the run-around, so clamped a hammerlock on O'Mahony, who can't wrestle.

The men hardly were in their dressing rooms before Jack Curley and Joe Mondt, the New York promoters, announced that the result didn't mean a thing inasmuch as the New York commission forces mat engagements to be advertised as exhibitions.

Paul Bowser of Boston said that the heavyweight championship was of little importance, anyhow. Tom Packs of St. Louis and Ray Fabiani of Philadelphia made light of Shikat's surprising victory.

Nevertheless, Curley, Mondt, Bowser, Packs, and Fabiani, directors of the main mat wheel, realize that Al Haft and Billy Sandow of Columbus now have the upper hand with Shikat on the throne.

Sandow virtually controlled the industry in America for more than a decade with Ed Lewis as his shooting star. The powers have treated him like a stepson since he broke with the Strangler in 1932. Meanwhile, Sandow has patiently bided his time on the kerosene circuit with Everett Marshall, a stocky California blond with more hammers, locks and scissors than a hardware merchant.

It is reported that Shikat is to collect $50,000 for pulling and tugging with Marshall in Denver, May 22. The crown is worth vastly more than that to Sandow, who with his man on top would be in position to invade once more the larger centers and make things tough for the opposition.

Those closest to the situation will be surprised if the leadership of the behemoths isn't passed along to Marshall.

Shikat, who has been around for quite a spell, never was overly blessed with bucks office magic, which is the principal requirement of the burly bloke bossing the wrestling works. The dashing Marshall, on the other hand, might succeed in making the turnstiles spin.

As Gus Sonnenberg, who put wrestlers into the more important money by bringing football tactics to the canvas, explains, the next big draw will have to show the public something new and exciting. With Sandow advising him, Marshall can be depended upon to give the customers a show.

Speaking of Sonnenberg, the old Dartmouth lineman is credited with having revolutionized the antiquated dodge with his flying tackle or butt, although the Greeks "lowered their heads and threw themselves forward, butting like rams" 4000 years ago.

Nor was there anything at all new in Jim Londos' airplane spin. "Wonders of Bodily Strength and Skill in All Ages and Countries," published in 1885, quotes items from some of the better known sporting journals of ancient Rome and Greece.

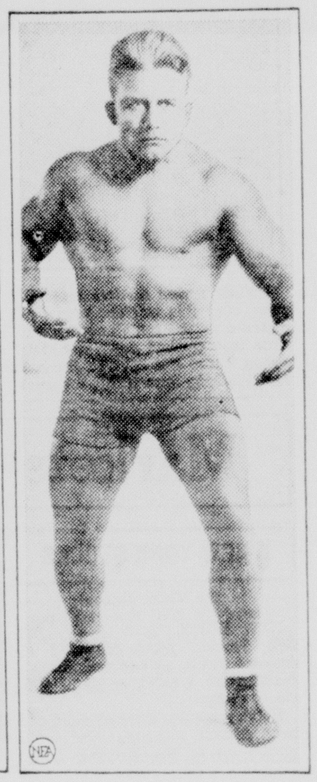
"Observe," reads one, "how one lifts his adversary by the legs, throws him to the earth, casts himself upon him, drives him into the earth, squeezes his stomach with his legs, sinks his thumbs into his gullet and soon chokes the poor wretch, who begs him with earnest entreaty not to strangle him."

So, you see, Sonnenberg, Londos, the Duseks, and other hoydenish fellows are only mimicking Ajax and Ulysses, who probably imitated primitive man.

The only thing really new about grunting, groaning and grimacing is perspiring pachyderms parked in the laps of ringside patrons and the breaking up of chairs. Only the fact that the preferred trade stood well back and that there were no chairs around the plots where they cracked ribs and cauliflowered ears kept the Greeks of 648 B. C. from excelling at that, too, no doubt.

There perhaps were wrestling wars of a sort in those days, too. The most ancient form of combative sport has survived wars since time immemorial. It is as hardy as those who watch it.

Dick Shikat . . . jumps to outlaw mat loop.



Everett Marshall . . . finally gets chance.

BASTROP GRID TEAM PLAYS GAME FRIDAY

BASTROP, April 11.—(Special)—A spring football game between the Bastrop high school Rams and a Bastrop all-star team will be played on the gridiron of the local high school next Friday afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. The game will end several weeks of spring football training which the local charges of Coach "Dutch" Binion have been undergoing.

The game next Friday is being sponsored by the recently organized Citizens Booster club. A small admission charge will be made. Much interest is being manifested in the game because it will give local sport fans their first opportunity to get a line-up on the material that Coach Binion has available for his team next fall.

On Thursday night, the Citizens Booster club will sponsor a smoker for its members at which time the members of the football team will be guests of honor.

SOX HOPES REST WITH OUTFIELD

Cramer And Manush Are Question Marks In Boston Outer Garden

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—When Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox sits in his box at Fenway park next Tuesday afternoon, his eyes probably will roam significantly to the outer fairways where a couple of new hands will be digging in their spikes.

For there are many, and Yawkey probably is one, who feels that whether the owner restores a baseball dynasty in Boston will be determined to a major extent by the shaggers who range the outer reaches.

Roger Cramer, taken in the deal that decimated the Athletics, is a good bet to take care of things in center field but there is some skepticism among the fans as to the men who flank him.

The ravages of time are about due to tell on the veteran Heinie Manush who probably will get first call on the left field post. He had a lean year with the stick last season but Heinie has been a pretty potent batsman in the past and perhaps being with a winning club will make him forget his lame back and the advance of years.

Melo Almada will be in right field and although he is in for a good harvest, the records show that he batted .290 last year. Dusty Cooke, who batted .306 last season, hasn't performed too well in spring training while Bing Miller, who insists that years mean nothing to a fellow who loves to play, is about ready to turn the game over to the rising generation.

The big "if" in the outfield situation is whether Manush can return to his former prowess or whether he, too, even as Miller, will find that love is no substitute for youth when you take your turn at the plate.

HODGE GOLF TOURNEY TO START ON TUESDAY

JONESBORO, La., April 11.—(Special)—Invitations have been sent out by the Southern Advance Bag and Paper company, to all executives of the various transportation companies that handle the finished product of the paper mill, requesting their presence at the first annual golf tournament and banquet, sponsored by the local Traffic club, which will take place next Tuesday and Wednesday.

The tournament was arranged to coincide with the Easter ball given by the golf club, which is one of the outstanding events of the season for Hodge people. The newly organized Traffic club is the second of its kind in the state. The other is in New Orleans.

Many people from all over the state are expected at the Easter ball, and including Gov. James A. Noe, and Mrs. Noe. Joe Cousins, of New Orleans, will act as toastmaster at the banquet.

SOUTH KENNER RACING MEET TO OPEN TODAY

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—(AP)—A 70 day summer racing meet will open tomorrow at South Kenner park, near New Orleans, Ed Bisso, general manager announced today.

Bisso said that many of the horses that raced at the fair grounds meet which closed recently would be seen in action, including Habanero, Whitharral, Hyklas, Shoteur and others.

The inaugural program includes two five-furlong sprints, two dashes over the six and one half furlong route and two distance events at one mile and a sixteenth.

OIL FIELDS HELP STATE TREASURY

Rich Areas Add $27,500 Each Day To Coffers Of Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—(AP)—Oil bubbling up from the ground in the rich fields of Louisiana is adding $27,500 a day to the state's coffers through taxes, royalties and leases, a survey revealed today.

Severance taxes from the prolific Rodessa field alone accounts for $5,000 a day.

With 900 producing wells at present, and new gushers being brought in weekly in the north Louisiana pool, the state is anticipating a sharp upturn in revenues from the oil industry during 1936.

Attention is centering currently on drilling projects in the New Orleans area. A group of New Orleans capitalists plan to start drilling at the Menefee airport just below the city on a 6,500-acre tract.

Officials of the conservation department estimated today that more than 200,000 acres of land have been leased in recent months by major oil companies in parishes surrounding New Orleans. Drilling rigs are being moved in these areas weekly and drilling sites are being staked out.

The Rodessa field, considered by experts as the major oil discovery in the United States during the past 10 years, has proven to be something of a Utopia for oil men. Not a single dry hole has been reported out of the 130 wells sunk in the field.

The present daily allowable for the state of Louisiana is 202,000 barrels. Dr. J. A. Shaw, director of the state conservation department of minerals, asserted here today that the department proposes to raise this quota to 250,000 barrels a day by mid-summer.

Dr. Shaw predicted that funds received from mineral lands would ultimately enable the state to take over the entire school system of Louisiana.

MU SIGMA ORGANIZED AT MANGHAM SCHOOL

MANGHAM, La., April 11—(Special)—Members of the Mu Sigma fraternity from the Block high school installed a fraternity chapter at the Mangham high school recently. The Mu Sigma society, Iota chapter, was delegated by Mu Sigma scholastic society of L. S. U. to carry out this work.

The attainment of an average of 90 or above for four years of high school work is required for membership in the fraternity.

Those who were enrolled included John McCoy, A. B. Ratcliff, Gladis Duchene, Edna Roberts, Elnora Barnett, Edward Boies, Allen Tillman, Lee Both, Mary Ellen Hicks, Lula Jones, J. D. Logan, Alma Mangham, Joseph Ballard, Louis Busbie and Kathleen McKay.

Mangham now has the first Mu Sigma chapter in this parish.

HULL DISCLOSES DEFENSE PLANS

U. S. Would Seek Concerted Action To Protect Neutral Nations

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—The United States' intention of seeking concerted international action to stretch a protective arm about the rights of neutral nations in war time has been disclosed by Secretary Hull.

Coupled with this revelation was a declaration by the secretary of state before a congressional committee last January, but made public only today, that the chances were "nine out of ten" against a "general war." To this Hull added an admonition that the world should not harbor any "false impression" that the United States "will not fight."

It was made known authoritatively today that Hull has not definitely approached other governments upon the matter of new international action to insure neutral rights. It was added that, at present, he has no specific plan for doing so.

Speculation immediately was stirred in unofficial circles, however, over whether he might suggest the summoning of a world conference on the subject, or possibly take his proposals directly to the pricipal powers individually.

It was noted particularly that the secretary's views, outlined to the senate foreign relations committee three months ago, were expressed only a short while before President Roosevelt invited all 21 nations of North and South America to join in a peace conference this year at Buenos Aires.

During the January hearings on the then pending neutrality legislation, Hull deplored that the neutrality question had been "virtually dormant" since the world war because "most nations are not seriously concerned about the matter." He told the committee changing world conditions necessitated new neutrality rules.

Because of this, he said, the United States intends to "urge other nations to join us at the earliest opportunity in re-examining, restating and revitalizing neutral rights under international law as they existed prior to the world war as nearly as we find it consistent and as other nations find it consistent to do so."

In declaring that this proposal for international action would contemplate any changes suggested by world war experience, he said "the whole rights of neutrals were largely ignored" during that period.

"We might as well recognize that most of our neutral rights in the future are not going to be maintained simply on paper," he continued.

"We might as well realize also that while we do not stand for extravagant navies we must have enough force to command respect of other nations when we hold up to them a threatened violation of our rights to trade as neutrals."

COMPLETE DENIAL MADE BY RITTER

Says He Did Not Benefit 'Corruptly' From Receivership Fees

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter of Florida personally delivered a complete denial in the senate today of house impeachment charges that he granted excessive receivership fees, "corruptly" benefited from those allowances, practiced law after becoming judge, and evaded income taxes.

Taking the stand with 52 senators-jurymen present and before galleries packed with Easter visitors, the 65-year-old jurist also denied having any knowledge of the exclusive Palm Beach Whitehall hotel receivership until the action was brought into his court.

The prosecution, in the second of seven impeachment articles, charges the judge connived with attorneys to bring the proceeding and later dissipated the property's assets.

WEATHER CLEARS OVER FLOOD AREA

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 11.—(AP)—Fair weather today brought renewed optimism to the Mississippi valley and to the lowland flood zones where approximately 5,000 persons are temporarily homeless as a result of the inundation of nearly 2,000,000 acres of bottomlands.

Yesterday's rains in the Ohio valley and below "were of no importance," United States engineers reported today, and added cheerfully:

"Fair weather is forecast." The engineers predicted a crest in the Ohio of 53.3 feet next Friday at Cairo. Other crests were indicated along the Mississippi as follows: New Madrid, Mo., 42.3 feet, next Saturday, Memphis, 39.5 feet, April 21, and Helena, Ark., 50 feet, April 23.

"No danger to any Mississippi river levee is anticipated," the engineers said, "and tributaries of the lower river remain below normal stages for this time of year.

"Patrolling will be continued, however, until crests have passed. Crests at Helena and stations below will be well under 1933 crests."

Santa Fe is a contraction of "La villa real de Santa Fe de San Francisco," for "the royal town of holy faith of Saint Francis."

Ostrich chicks are said to grow for the first six months of their existence at the amazing rate of a foot a month. These birds frequently live to the age of 70 years.

MILITIA ON GUARD IN OKLAHOMA OIL WAR

With the militiamen on guard, these oil drillers are busy within the shadow of Oklahoma's capitol in Oklahoma City, in the "war" between Gov. E. W. Marland and city authorities. Municipal officials, after a recent election, allowed drilling within the city limits, state ground not being included in the zone. Governor Marland declared this exploitation would drain oil from state ground, and he leased Oklahoma property to drillers so that the state would profit from its own oil, and called out the national guard to prevent city interference

THEN LOOK AT THE PRICE

CONSIDERING what you get, the Ford V-8 is the lowest priced car in America.

No other car with a V-8 engine can be had within a thousand dollars of its price.

These are just plain facts. Price is not the most important thing about a car. But in the Ford V-8 you get a big, roomy car with a V-8 engine, a 112-inch wheelbase, and a low price too. A car with fine quality in the unseen parts as well as where it shows. A car that is economical to run and stays out of the repair shop.

Check up on what you get and what it costs and you will find it pays to put your hard-earned money in a Ford V-8. No extra charge for Safety Glass all around or 6-inch air-balloon tires. This applies to all Ford cars.

BUS STATION JOB BIDS ARE OPENED

Lowest Figure For Construction Entered By Sailey And Ellis

Sailey and Ellis, Monroe contractors, were low bidders in Shreveport Friday when bids were opened for the new bus station proposed for erection on Grammont street here for the use of the Interurban Transportation company and the Tri-State Transit company. The bid submitted was for $16,654. The several other bids submitted were considerably higher. It was stated Saturday that in all probability the contract will be awarded Monday.

Plans for the proposed new bus station were drawn by Henry Schwarz, Shreveport architect. They call for a building on the Endom lot immediately east of the First Baptist church on Grammont street which, it is said, has already been leased to the Interurban Transportation company and the Tri-State Transit company for a period of 10 years. The structure planned is to have a frontage of 36 feet on Grammont street and will be 92 feet deep. There will be a 14-foot overhanging marquee for the protection of buses for which there will be provision for four at a single time.

Faced tile, of ornamental appearance will be installed, up to four feet from the floor both inside and outside of the building. The floor will be asphalt tile and ceilings and side walls will be extremely ornate.

It is said that there will be no building anywhere in this vicinity like it and that it will attract immediate attention.

Not only will there be a large waiting room, but there will be a cafe, rest rooms and other modern conveniences of a bus station.

PUBLIC FORUM

RURAL LIBRARY SERVICE

To the Editor:

Your editorial on a rural library and the letter from the people who inspired the editorial comments have struck a responsive chord among quite a number of your readers.

While at this time several more or less successful methods to keep the jobless and underprivileged population mentally and otherwise occupied, it seems that a library movement such as that suggested should be given a fair trial. While playgrounds and recreation halls undoubtedly are of great value, it is, however, hard for an undernourished, hungry and half-sick child to enter into the spirit of play, regardless of how well trained the professional director of such activities may be. Good warm clothes a stomach full of nourishing food and a good book to read would, we are sure, inspire a child to play in a normal, healthy way which should be childhood's irrevocable right. It seems that home hygiene and an opportunity for mental development would go farther in rehabilitating the unfortunate children of today who will be the citizens of tomorrow, than any of the elaborate braintrust devices we can think of.

The writer was reared in a country where very few families could afford a shelf of good books, and popular priced magazines were practically unknown. The libraries, however, were within reach of everyone and they were certainly patronized. The children, beginning with Black Beauty, gradually drifted into Dickens, Mark Twain, Anderson, Poe, Zola and so on. The honor system was used in withdrawing and returning books, thus the supervisory and overhead expense was reduced to a minimum. Perhaps the fact that the country above referred to has no illiterate adults can, to some extent, be traced to their long established system of Libraries for all, that reach every one.

Mr. Editor, we do hope that you continue to bring home to your readers the desirability of broader and more extensive library system for north Louisiana parishes.

HENRY FORD AND WIFE RETURN FROM VACATION

DETROIT, April 11.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford, who recently returned from their annual winter vacation in the south, observed their forty-eighth wedding anniversary quietly today.

At the offices of the Ford Motor company, it was said that no ceremony was planned and that Ford might spend the day in the engineering laboratory as he did a year ago today.

FIRE AT STERLINGTON

Companies 5 and 8 of the Monroe fire department Saturday made a run to Sterlington to extinguish a fire which occured in a dwelling there, owned by D. Y. Smith and occupied by Dorsey Sumners and others. Before the trucks arrived the fire had made considerable headway and had spread to a garage owned by Horace Eyes. Both buildings were badly damaged.

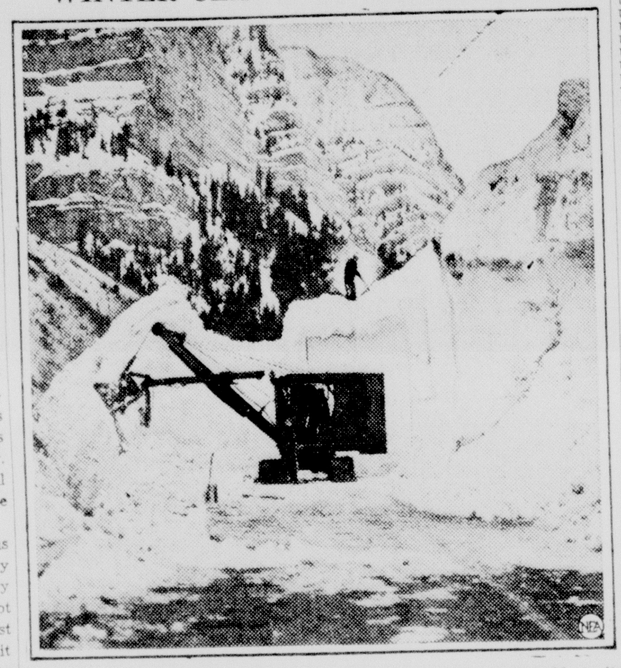
WINTER CLINGS TO HIS THRONE



While spring scatters its smiles across the land, winter still holds to its sway over this canyon, where a steam shovel bites away with mechanical patience at the huge snowbanks. The mammoth drifts are part of a great slide that crashed down the steep walls of picturesque Provo canyon, near Provo, Utah, and covered the highway for a half mile to depths of 25 to 50 feet, blocking auto traffic for weeks.

Markets--Financial

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—Selective demand lifted scattered rails, coppers, steels, motors and specialties fractions to a point or so in today's stock market.

Holiday apathy marked most of the brief session, although the activity picked up in the last few minutes. Transfers approximated 950,000 shares. The close was steady.

There was a brisk rally in wheat at Chicago. The major cereal responded to the government crop forecast which indicated a yield much under earlier professional guesses.

Santa Fe again came to the fore as a supporting leader, pushing up about 3 points to another new high. U. S. Steel also was given a late run for an advance of around a point. Chrysler, General Motors and White Motors joined in the recovery.

Improvement was displayed by Phelps Dodge, Kennecott, Calumet and Hecla, Delaware and Hudson, General Electric, Mother Lode, Westinghouse, Columbian Carbon, Air Reduction and American Car and Foundry.

Such issues as American Telephone Consoidated Edison, Allied Chemical and Western Union were backward.

Buying in the coppers from London was reported. The revival in the red metal shares was attributed to the anticipated advance in the price of the red metal next week.

Some of the commission houses noted more than the usual "switching" from a few stocks that have had wide swings into others that were thought to be a bit behind the market.

The financial sector seemed to see a better tone to European dispatches. Foreign stock markets were closed, however, for the Easter observances.

Items that attracted attention included: the figures made public by the F. W. Dodge Corp. showing home-building activities in March amounted to $55,270,000, the highest for any month since October, 1931; the Federal Reserve board stressed the expansion of department store sales last month which were up "considerably more than seasonal"; White Motors disclosed a 1935 loss almost double that of 1934, but the company's statement pointed out that the concern was currently operating at a profit for the first time in five years; steel operations in the Youngstown district were expected to start next week at 80 per cent of capacity, an advance of 4 points.

Whiskey and Gasoline Don't Mix!

SAFETY PICTURE NO. 21
FIND THE MISTAKES AND ENTER CONTEST

With the help of your parents, teacher, or some other grownup, find four safety mistakes in this picture and list them on the blank lines.

Listed below, and indicated by numbers which I have written on the pictures, are four mistakes dangerous to human safety that I find illustrated in the above drawing:

NO. 1 .....

NO. 2 .....

NO. 3 .....

NO. 4 .....

(Clip out and save until last picture in the series is published)

Without trying to take the stump for wets or drys, the purpose of this advertisement is to remind YOU that Whiskey and Gasoline don't mix! If you doubt this ask your automobile insurance agency how many of their clients had been drinking at the time of an accident . . . or an arresting officer how many of the cases he handles during the course of a month could be directly traced to intoxication. One city in Texas has a police chief who offers free taxi service to any destination to those who are intoxicated and realize they are not able to drive their own cars. If this unusual service is not available in YOUR city, the next best thing is to hire a taxi of your own. It might save a life . . . or YOUR OWN.

RULES

1—Find the mistakes in each picture, as they are published in The Sunday News-Star—World.

2—After all of the pictures have appeared and you have found four mistakes in each one of them, write a "Safety Slogan" of not more than 12 words.

3—Send the 26 drawings with the mistakes listed and your "Safety Slogan" to the Safety Contest Editor of The News-Star—World.

JUDGE DAVIDSON TO MARRY TODAY

Marshall, Texas, Resident Will Be Bride Of Federal Justice

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—(AP)—Judge Thomas Whitfield Davidson, of federal district court of the northern district of Texas and Mrs. Constance Key Wendel, of Marshall, Texas, are to be married in New Orleans Easter Sunday afternoon.

Judge Davidson, his bride-to-be and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Key, Sr., of Marshall, were in New Orleans today and arrangements were being made for a quiet wedding to be attended by relatives and a few friends of Judge Davidson and Mrs. Wendel.

Among those to attend the wedding as guests were Judge Davidson's secretary, William P. Fonville, of Montgomery, Ala., and the Rev. Charles Monroe and his wife, of St. Paul's church, New Orleans.

Judge Davidson's home is in Dallas, Texas. He was Lieutenant Governor of Texas for the two year term, 1922-24 and served ten times as governor during the absence from the state of the governor.

For the past two weeks he has been holding court at Shreveport for Judge Ben C. Dawkins, of the Western District of Louisiana who has been ill.

The bride-to-be and her family are prominent in Marshall.

LAFAYETTE CIVIC LEADER SUCCUMBS

LAFAYETTE, La., April 11.—(AP)—Paul Krauss, Sr., a business and civic leader of Lafayette, died early today at age of 64 years. He had been in ill health for some time, but his condition did not grow serious until a few days ago.

A native of Courrendlin, Switzerland, and a resident of France before becoming a citizen of the United States, Mr. Krauss came to Lafayette in 1897. A few years later he established a jewelry business here which bears his name.

Mr. Krauss was vice-president of the former Peoples bank of this city and has served for many years as vice-president and director of the Home Building and Loan association. He was also actively identified with the former Bank of Lafayette and later the Commercial Bank and Trust company.

Funeral services will be held at St. John's Cathedral at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, followed by interment in St. John's Catholic cemetery.

GILLIS EXPIRES AT WASHINGTON

RAYVILLE, April 11.—(Special)—Word of the death of E. J. Gillis, formerly a deputy sheriff of Richland parish, who succumbed to a long-continued illness at the war veterans' hospital in Washington, D. C., Friday, was received here today. The funeral will be held at Washington Monday afternoon, interment to be made in Arlington National cemetery.

Mr. Gillis was a resident of Rayville for several years before going to the veterans' hospital at Alexandria for treatment. He was transferred to the hospital at Washington about four months ago. He was a veteran of the World war and had been a member of the sheriff's staff for about eight years.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lottie May Gillis, and two children, Johnny Gillis and Elmer Joe Gillis. His father and mother, who live at Demopolis, Ala., also survive. His brother, Grant Gillis, was a famous football player at Alabama university.

INVENTORY OF ESTATE OF LUMBERMAN IS MADE

LAKE CHARLES, La., April 11.—(AP)—An inventory of the assets of the B. M. Talbot succession shows movable and immovable property valued at $61,722.90, all community property. Heirs are the widow and four children, Mrs. Altha Powell, Mrs. Thelma Potter, Mount W. Talbot and Maxwell Talbot.

Talbot, lumberman and capitalist, died last October 17.

Good Pine

Mrs. Bessie Nealy and son, Don, Misses Thelma and Elma Easley of Monroe were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Crit Easley during the week-end.

Bob Summers of Castor was the guest recently in the home of Mrs. M. Clay.

Miss Evelyn Ballard of Urania has returned home after an extended visit here.

Mrs. C. H. Roden and Mrs. Thomas Lee entertained at a house party in the latter's home.

Miss Catherine Ballard and Miss Orell Ballard of Urania have returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Wilson.

Little Bobbie Peppers celebrated his eighth birthday with a party.

"You helped us stay independent!"

"We always paid our own way", a young wife told us, "until sudden illness recently cut off our income. We'd used up our savings and were already to go home for help when a friend suggested you. You loaned us the cash but better still, you helped us stay independent!" . . . We'll lend you cash, too, and arrange the payments to suit you. So add up your money needs and see us TODAY.

Loans up to $300—20 months to repay.

at Portsmouth, Ohio, was "arming," a statement that brought from corporation officials at Portsmouth an assertion that company police were armed to protect property against "thieves and firebugs, and they will continue to be armed."

At another point in today's hearing there was testimony that general "rumors" were being circulated that the Ford Motor company was "shot through" with spies, hired to report on the activities of labor.

The evidence presented by Blankenhorn was largely in the form of shipping orders for gas and guns from Federal Laboratories, incorporated, of Pittsburgh, to centers of impending strike troubles in 1934 and 1935.

There was evidence also that some of the purchasers sought to keep their activities secret.

RED CROSS ASKS MORE AID HERE

chita parish will feel the obligation to respond to this new appeal," the chairman said in a statement issued Saturday night. "The sufferers in this latest disaster are our own southern people. They are friends and relatives of many of our own people in Louisiana, and the least we can do is to make every effort possible to help them in their terrible distress. Those who have died in the terrific tornado are beyond our help, but we can, out of the means at our disposal, help the living, who are in dire distress from hunger, lack of clothing and shelter. Many of the survivors have lost everything they possessed. We must lend them aid as promptly as possible."

Announcement was made by Harry Rice, manager of the Paramount theater, that a benefit show would be held next Saturday midnight to help raise the additional funds asked from Ouachita parish for relief of the tornado sufferers. The midnight show will be made up of local vaudeville acts, with screen comedies and novelties as an extra added attraction.

Mr. Rice in his announcement stated:

"This will be a Twin City affair and all the clubs and societies will be asked to co-operate by each one sponsoring one vaudeville act for this mammoth benefit. All employes of the Paramount theater will donate their services and the local stage union has done the same, so there will be no expense attached and the midnight show should prove a great help in making up the Red Cross quota for the Twin Cities. The show will start at 11 p. m. and the admission will be forty cents."

upstairs to the fourth floor apartment. He rang several times without receiving any response, he said, and then left the building.

Thus, Mrs. Titterton may unwittingly have given her tailor the order that closed the door to a possible rescuer in the time of her greatest need.

While laboratory experts tried to develop fingerprints on the clothing that had been ripped from her body and flung about the bedroom, detectives searched for a handsome youth who alarmed other tenants of the building twice last week by ringing their door bells in the early morning hours.

Countess Alive Hoyos, who occupies the apartment below the Titterton's told police the mysterious visitor called at her door last Friday and asked for a girl, whose name was unfamiliar to the Countess. He mumbled something and went away, she said.

The same well-dressed youth had called at her apartment the previous night, police learned. On that occasion the door was opened by Miss Phyllis Stafford, who shares the apartment with the countess and her mother. Miss Stafford said the caller mumbled the name of a man and then left.

CLEAN-UP WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

I feel sure that a great deal will be accomplished."

The joint proclamation of the mayors of the Twin Cities follows:

"Whereas: Sanitation and cleanliness are the basic principles involved in the prevention of disease, and

"Whereas: The citizens of the Twin Cities are indeed proud of their beautiful and prosperous little cities and are desirous that their beauty and prosperity be preserved and increased from year to year, and

"Whereas: The health of the citizens of any community is essential to the prosperity and happiness of that community, and

"Whereas: It is impossible for health and filth and uncleanliness to reign simultaneously in a community, and in order that we may continue to have God's richest blessings of health and happiness bestowed upon our people, it has been decided by the Ouachita parish health department that one week should be set aside as Clean-up Week, whereby every citizen who has the welfare of his city at heart should use his utmost efforts in cleaning his own premises of disease and insect producing filth and rubbish of all kinds.

"Therefore, I, Arnold Bernstein, mayor of the city of Monroe, La., and C. C. Bell, mayor of the city of West Monroe, La., by virtue of the authority invested in us as such, do hereby proclaim the week beginning Monday the 20th day of April 1936, as Clean-Up week and we do hereby urge each and every citizen residing in or near the Twin Cities to lend his aid and cooperation in ridding Monroe and West Monroe of all unsightly rubbish and insect and disease producing filth.

"Thus done and signed on this the eleventh day of April 1936.

WITNESSES TELL STORY OF INFANT

Relate How Servant Girl Recovered Son From Doctor's Wife

KAHOKA, Mo., April 11.—(AP)—Coming as an anti-climax to startling disclosures of an alleged $250,000 baby hoax, two witnesses told today how Anna Ware, unwed servant girl, recovered her son from Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench.

The testimony of Julius Klein, St. Louis newspaperman, was designed to pave the way for Miss Ware's courtroom appearance Monday. The case recessed over the week-end at noon.

Mrs. Muench, vitrolic, titian-haired sister of State Supreme Court Judge Ernest M. Tipton, was on trial with her husband, Dr. Ludwig O. Muench, a friend, Mrs. Helen Berroyer, and Wilfred Jones, an attorney, on a charge of conspiring to evade adoption laws in obtaining Miss Ware's child. The case was brought here from St. Louis on a change of venue.

Klein, over strenuous defense objections, told of investigations which led authorities to conclude the Muenches had possession of the Ware child and summarized testimony in Miss Ware's successful suit to recover her son.

He was followed on the stand by Mrs. J. R. Plummer of Minneapolis, who the state contended was the mysterious Mrs. J. R. Palmer of Memphis for whom Jones in the St. Louis trial had testified he procured the Ware baby.

Jones' testimony was made the basis for a perjury indictment pending against him.

Mrs. Plummer, repeating the testimony she gave in St. Louis, related she and her husband commissioned Jones to seek a child they could adopt but he never got one for them.

She said Jones' description of the Palmers fitted her and her husband and incidents he related regarding the Palmers actually occurred in her negotiations with him.

Because it loses its latent heat faster, hot water freezes quicker, so if you want ice cubes in a shorter time, fill your refrigerator trays with hot water instead of cold.

Greens Get Horse And No Longer Have To Pull Plow

JENA, La., April 11—(AP)—The Paul J. Green family got a horse through the resettlement administration this spring, and the whole family is glad, because it means they won't have to plow each other this year to make a crop, as they have done for the last three years.

In a desperate, determined effort to stay off relief when the depression made "job work" hard to find, Paul Green and his wife, Ida, and two daughters cleared a "new ground" in the woods owned by his father near Jena and set to work to extract a living from it.

They had no work animal, but that didn't stop them. They made two bales of cotton in 1933. Green obtained a plow point and fashioned a stock to fit it. Then the family took turns pulling it in the stumpy root-tangled new ground.

Sometimes man and wife formed the team, while their eldest daughter, Ruth, aged 17, held the plow handles and pushed as much as she could to ease the strain. Again, Artie, 20, the son of the family, bore the brunt of the pulling. Hesseltine, 14, helped whenever and wherever she could, and tried at the same time to keep up with her school work. Everybody worked, and each member of the family took turns "in harness" without complaint.

They managed to stir the soil sufficiently to plant the crop, and they did the rest of the cultivation with a hoe—their only other farming implement. And in the fall, they picked and ginned and sold two bales of cotton, and were justifiably proud of their achievement.

But two bales were too little. When they had paid for their simple necessities, the barest possible for human existence, there was nothing left. The beginning of the 1934 crop year again found them without a work animal, but still independent of relief aid.

They did it again. By the same back-breaking method, they again produced two bales of cotton in 1934. But it was a losing fight the Greens were waging. In 1935, the inadequately tilled new ground had become infested with weeds, and hand labor couldn't stop them.

They made only one bale of cotton last year, and they knew they were defeated and would have to have outside aid to carry on.

"I heard of this family from time to time in 1934 and 1935," said B. R. Cain of Jena, rehabilitation supervisor for the RA in LaSalle parish. "Several of his neighbors came to me and asked me why we didn't furnish that family with a horse. I told them he hadn't asked for help. In fact, I don't quite believe their stories. They weren't quite credible to me, for I know what plowing a new ground means, even with a good mule to do the heavy work.

"But when Green's case was referred to us by the welfare office, I investigated and found the stories were not exaggerated. Except last year, when they traded a day of hoeing now and then for a day's use of a neighbor's mule in a desperate attempt to save their crop from the weeds, they had farmed for three years without a work animal, doing all the plowing by hand.

"We accepted the Green family for rehabilitation, and advanced them a loan."

Out of the loan, the first expenditure for capital goods was $65 for a horse. They called him Salum and they treated him almost as a member of the family.

SEARCH NORTHWARD FOR FLYING PAIR

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, April 11.—(AP)—The search for two honeymooning fliers, pilot Albert Almoslino of Seattle and his bride, turned north of here today with the coast guard cutter Albert prowling the rugged, indented shoreline of Revillagigedo channel.

A report from the lighthouse keeper at Tree Points that he sighted Almoslino's pontoon-equipped plane "flying close in" Sunday afternoon swung the hunt away from northern British Columbia waters where it was first believed the plane might have been forced down.

The cutter Cyane, northbound from Seattle, was ordered to search Love Inlet on Granville channel in British Columbia.

The the Almoslinos seven days overdue on a flight here from Seattle, coastguardsmen became convinced they lost their way in a storm Sunday afternoon and either crashed or landed their plane, in one of the many lonely inlets along the coast.

Not until 1870 were milk cows known in Japan. An American cow was imported at that time and two men, selected for their strength, were assigned the task of wresting the milk from her.

According to an ord · in 1935, all officers in the Soviet army must take dancing lessons.

HUGE TELESCOPE 'EYE' DELIVERED

20-Ton Slab Of Glass Reaches Optical Shop On West Coast

PASADENA, Calif., April 11.—(AP)—The 20-ton slab of glass which will become the "eye" for the world's largest telescope, was within 50 feet of its destination today after a 3,300-mile rail journey across the continent.

It arrived here yesterday from Corning, N. Y., and was trucked to the giant doors of the California institute of technology optical shop. Although closely guarded on the trip, no watch was maintained over the slab during the night.

"No burglar is going to run away with it very fast," observed Dr. John Anderson, member of the Palomar council.

Today workmen were to grease the floors of the shop so the truck can be slipped into position for the unloading.

In the next three years, grinding and polishing machines will prepare it for installation at the observatory, now under construction in San Diego county.

Scientists, using the 600,000-eye-power of the reflector, expect to see twice as far into the heavens as man has ever done before.

Every year, a one-ton birthday cake is cut by a Los Angeles department store. The making of this mammoth cake requires 360 pounds of butter, 372 pounds of sugar, 382 pounds of flour, 3,600 eggs, 3 quarts of vanilla, and 400 pounds of icing.

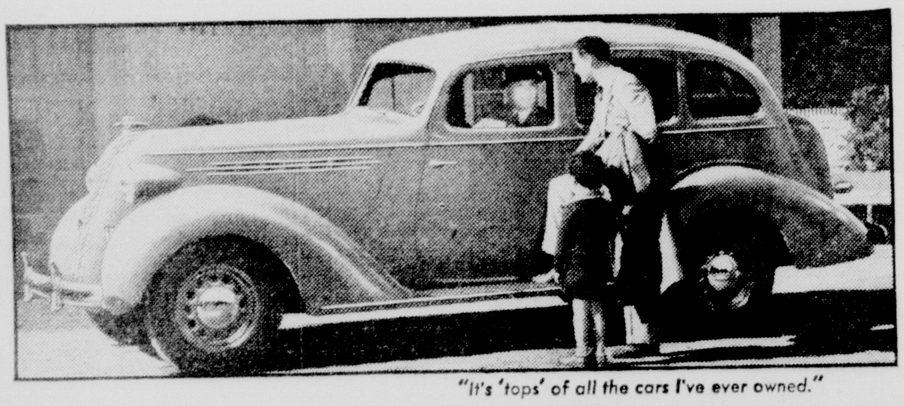
"My TERRAPLANE does more than most cars claim"


"It's 'tops' of all the cars I've ever owned."
IN our showroom, "owner talk" means more than "sales talk." We're content to let claims take a back seat while owners give you facts.
On performance, you needn't take the word of anyone but the man who knows how much easier his Terraplane handles in traffic . . . how much better it takes straight-aways or curves . . . how much faster it is on the get-away. His economy figures talk louder than any salesman's claims . . . even ours! He can tell you facts about Terraplane's long life that would sound boastful if we said them.
But even a Terraplane owner can't put into words just what it means to sit at the wheel of this car and drive! With the Electric Hand shifting the gears, your hands stay always on the wheel. Just a flick of the finger . . . and gears shift! And your front floor is all clear . . . Terraplane is the only low priced car with real comfort for three in the front seat . . . no gear or brake levers to stumble over!
Steering is truer. There's an amazing riding smoothness. At the brake pedal, safer stopping than you'll find in any other car, with two braking systems at your command . . . and still a third from the easiest handling parking brake you ever saw. You ride over the world's first safety engineered chassis . . . in a body really all of steel, with solid roof of seamless steel. On every side, something new to discover and enjoy. Stop in now and take this "Discovery Drive" . . . see for yourself what a change Terraplane has made in motoring.

THE Westinghouse UNIT HAS

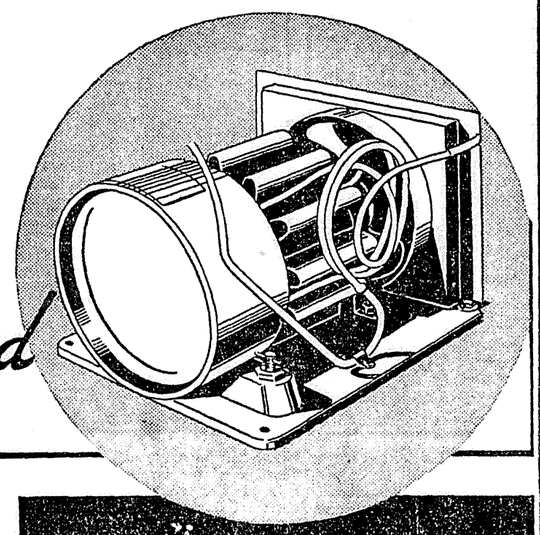
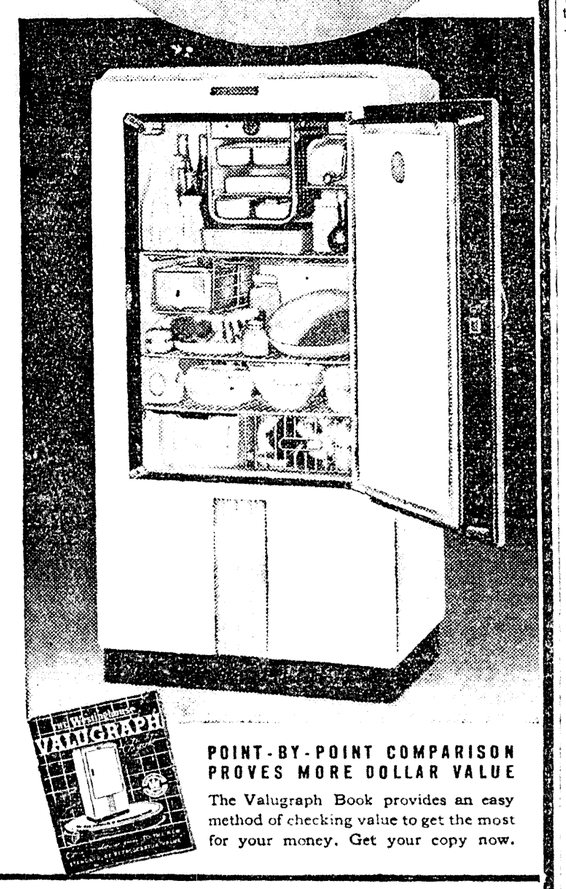
Hermetically sealed





● The first Westinghouse Refrigerator ever sold had a Hermetically-sealed Mechanism. Twelve years of research experiment, and testing went into its development. To these years of pre-testing have been added long years of actual operating proof. In thousands of homes daily experience shows that this forced-draft cooled, Hermetically-sealed, lifetime-oiled Mechanism is the key to unusually low-cost, trouble-free refrigeration. That is why owners, by thousands, say "If we were buying a new refrigerator today it would certainly be a Westinghouse." That's why Westinghouse can say, "With every sealed-in mechanism you get five years' protection against service expense at a cost of only $5 — a dollar a year — included in the price."

And the unusual value of the time-tested sealed-in mechanism is only one of many convincing values you will find in the Golden Jubilee models now on display here. Be sure to see a demonstration—soon.

TORNADO WAIFS! WHO ARE THEY?

Injured in the tornado at Gainesville, Ga., these little girls—too young to tell their names—lie unidentified in an Atlanta hospital. The battered little waif at the top tells nurses her first name is Lillian—but that's all she knows The 18-month-old baby (below) can't even tell that much They were picked up in debris and brought to Atlanta with scores of other casualties on relief train. 37 INDICTMENTS BY GRAND JURY the grand jury that body requested Sheriff Milton Coverdale to arrest Sheftall and Alexander. The two young men, traveling in an automobile, were arrested on a highway near Texarkana, Ark., later in the day for Sheriff Coverdale and were returned here.

Applin was wounded by Mickie when he attempted to rob the latter as he returned to his home, 401 Breard street, late at night some months ago. Arrested by police at the scene of the robbery attempt, Applin readily admitted that he had attempted to rob Mickie. The grand jury indicted him and the other two young men on the same charge.

Three cases of alleged arson involving two negro defendants were investigated by the grand jury, but each case was no-billed.

Four cases in which involuntary homicide was charged were either dismissed or the defendants indicted on lesser charges.

Two cases that are rare in the annals of the court involve F. L. Cox of West Monroe, indicted on two charges of maiming domestic animals. He had been accused of three such offenses by the district attorney's office. Cox is accused of shooting at cows with a shotgun at his residence.

Following are the cases indicted by the grand jury:

T. D. Mizell, alias Roy Dorsey, two cases of forgery; James Gospel, larceny of property valued at $33.50; C. B. Jones, larceny of $12; Walter Bell and Josephine McNeill, larceny of $63; Alberta Murphy, negro woman, alias Alberta Thomas, wounding less than mayhem; Allen May and Phil May, disturbing the peace; Allen May, assault and battery; Phil May, assault with a dangerous weapon.

Mrs. Mamie Varner, assault and battery; A. E. Heckford, assault and battery; E. J. Heckford, assault with a dangerous weapon; W. L. Applin, Solomon S. Sheftall and R. B. Alexander, assault with intent to rob Henry C. Mickie; Nottie Lee Jones, negro woman, manslaughter in the death of George Thomas, negro; Dave Thomas, negro, alias Dave Drayton, breaking and entering the residence of Shirley Watson, negro woman, in the night, with intent to kill, and committing assault upon person lawfully therein; Dave Thomas, breaking and entering in the night with intent to kill and cutting with a dangerous weapon.

Alonzo Claiborne, negro, larceny of truck valued at $200; George Williams, negro, larceny of property valued at $71.50; John Dillon and Irman Worley, larceny of automobile valued at $350; B. T. Walls, negro, wilfully shooting at; J. B. Tinsley and Gary Tinsley, assault and battery.

Hugh Berbigbe, obtaining money and services by means of confidence game; F. L. Cox, two cases of maiming domestic animals; Roy Peterson and Milton Worley, killing hogs, the property of another person, with intent to steal;

Newman Mize, reckless driving; Ben Martin, operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated· Ben Martin, operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated; Warren Parker, embezzlement of $37.18; Artie Van Buren, operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and causing damage to property; Annie Jones, Dixie Jones, Fannie Mae Roberson and Mildred White, negro woman, assault and battery.

True bills were found in four other cases, but names of the defendants were withheld from publication pending their arrest by the sheriff's department. The charges in none of the four cases were of a grave nature.

DEATHS

INFANT CANNON

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. De Witt Cannon died in a Monroe hospital shortly after birth Saturday. The funeral will be held in Mt. Vernon cemetery Sunday at 10:30 a.m.

Surviving are the parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Cannon, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Henderson, all of West Monroe.

Easter Sunday Brings Reminders Of Faithful Women Of Past

Springtime Lingers In City For Holiday

Nature Leads Fashion Parade In Unrivalled Loveliness; Flowers Still Beautiful Throughout Community

By Eve Bradford

Easter Sunday, "with that nameless pathos in the air," brings reminders today of those faithful women, Esther, the valiant; Rebecca, Rachael and Ruth; Bathsheba, beloved of Solomon; Martha of the busy hands and the younger sister, Mary of Magdala, her of the red gold hair, and the other Mary who stood on Calvary under the cross whose lengthened shadows fall across each Lenten season.

Springtime came to Monroe many weeks ago, but the beauty of the lilies, the columbine, the amaryllis, the dogwood, native iris, clambering Cherokees and the purple wisteria intermingled with eerie festoons of gray moss that waves fantastically from the ancient oaks still remain to keep faith with the Eastertide.

Nature herself is leading the Easter parade in the unrivalled loveliness she has adorned Monroe today. The salubrious April climate is as exhilarating as rare, old wine and many there are who will leave their own small preserve and motor out in the country, where they can feel the earth beneath their feet, the blue sky overhead, hear the winds in the trees and return home feeling that a primitive craving has been satisfied.

The whole world, it seems, craves beauty when Springtime comes. A news article tells of the theft of white gardenias from the grave of Prince Mdivani's grave in Newport. His widow ordered two hundred gardenias placed on the grave daily but later the order was discontinued, as people were coming from miles around to steal the blossoms.

When we heard that Anna Speed, Dorothy Sholars and Etta Sholars were leaving on Wednesday for the flower fiesta in San Antonio and the garden pilgrimage to Mexico City, we were reminded of the principals in Maeterlinck's "Blue Bird." Remember how the children in the play wandered for many leagues throughout the realm of fantasy in search of the mystic blue-bird and only to find it roosting right on the premises of their own home later? They are leaving their own lovely gardens for other far off trails.

We have always said that Monroe people were the world's greatest travelers, and who can contradict the statement now that Boyce Honnoll will soon sail from Los Angeles to Honolulu on the first lap of her trip around the globe. Her lovely niece, Boyce Sadler, who is graduating from Randolph Macon college in June, will be her companion on this supreme adventure in distant, mystic lands. It seems that this trip is a graduation gift from her aunt.

Eleanor Faulk, another world traveler, is off for an airplane trip to Washington on Saturday. She will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Clarence Faulk, who is making her first trip of any length via plane. Lois Bernstein is off for Washington also, but she will travel by rail.

Mrs. Harold Wood finds the time drawing near for her departure with her two handsome children for Colorado Springs. She will take a furnished house in the shadow of the beautiful Broadmoor hotel the first of June. She will not be homesick this summer, as Layton Lamkin and her two children, Vada Bancroft and interesting little brood and Enola Rogers and Crary Smith are planning to join her later in the summer.

Vera Brown found herself so steeped in the good old American traditions that the custom of hand kissing rather repelled her. The gallant Spanish officers on board the Juan Sebastian de Elcano, where she and a party of friends were entertained last week, while in New Orleans, expressed their delight in having them aboard by impassioned kissing of their hands. Perhaps it is the Jerez wine that makes these dark-eyed officers so tempestuous. Our Monroe visitors found its vintage much too ancient and potent for consumption. The trip was rendered unusually thrilling for Daisy Haas and Mary Black as they were included among the guests enjoying New Orlean's night club life as the guests of one of the Spanish officers.

The visiting bankers in the city for the state convention will be peeping at the world through half-closed eyes after the soiree at the Travis Oliver home tonight. Will and Ruth Gladney will also be hosts tonight and will assist in the serving of their favorite sparkling vino. Monday, we will live again, however, as the day is not only full but simply brimming over with interesting affairs, namely a barbecue at Lakeside Country club, boating parties on the Ouachita and a gala affair on the Cherokee terrace, where a superb orchestra will provide music for the dancers. The two-day convention promises to be rather splendorous, if one reckons by large, colorful events, concourses of people, dinners and luncheons.

At the L. S. U. cadet ball in Baton Rouge last week we saw Nellie Breard's flashing smile lighting up the dark corners. She danced past us on the arm of a good-looking cadet in immaculate white. By the way, Nellie has been given a solo part in Madame Butterfly, to be presented by the L. S. U. school of music next Saturday complimentary to Governor and Mrs. James A. Noe. A day spent with Anna Gray Noe at the executive mansion was nothing short of a revelation. We found ourselves wondering at the mechanism that was capable of keeping her moving at high tension every hour in the day. A few intimate hours in her boudoir, where she was dressing for a reception that night, was a delightful experience, as we were privileged to see the handsome afternoon, dinner and evening clothes selected by a New Orleans modiste for Ann Gray's distinctive type. On this occasion she was wearing an exquisite green Alencon lace evening model with short jacket. At a reception that afternoon she wore a pastel pink quilted coat with pink crepe skirt and bright blue blouse with a perky little blue hat and pink and blue sandals. It was the very essence of chic, by the way. The week-end with Anna Gray was a climax to a wonderful week, two days of which were spent in the old homes and gardens in Natchez, each so distinctive in its appeal. They have experienced wars and storms and fires and have distilled from sorrows, as well as from the gay life that they have known, a depth of charm, a haunting wistfulness, a gracious sweetness that, though elusive, is not impalpable. The spirit that broods over them is the spirit of the romantic and magnificent yesteryears.

En passant: When you see "Follow The Fleet" at the Paramount theater today, you will see lovely Harriet Hilliard, who was entertained socially in this city last summer when she appeared as an entertainer with a celebrated orchestra. Those who have already seen the picture say that she has stolen the show from Ginger Rogers. Her voice is gorgeous, low and throaty and very appealing.

Missionary Meeting

An inspirational program featured the meeting of the Louisiana Woman's Missionary union in Ruston. Five sessions were held. One was devoted exclusively to young people.

The mission study group banquet was held on Wednesday, and all members who had completed the first course in mission study were in attendance.

Mrs. W. E. Colvin, general chairman of the First Baptist church and the Temple Baptist church of Ruston, was responsible for the splendid program arranged for the 1936 meeting. All W. M. U. members attending the convention were entertained free of cost during their stay in Ruston.

One of the highlights of the convention was the message of the state president, Mrs. H. M. Bennett, on "Listening in On Louisiana."

The evening program was given over to the young people, the state stewardship declamation winners being Misses Bobbie Jean Matthews of Glenmora, Marjorie Wallace of Jennings, Evelyn McGhee of Bernice, and Mable Kees of Pineville, and Messrs. Angue Youngblood of Baton Rouge, and Herman Eugene Nelson of Bunkie.

Thursday, the closing day, departmental conferences were held, reports of district leaders and reports from the various committees were heard.

Mrs. Bennett, who for six years has served in the capacity of state president, resigned the office and Mrs. M. L. Jenkins of New Orleans, who has for a number of years been dean of women at the Baptist Bible institute there, was elected president. Mrs. R. A. Everett was elected vice-president. Mrs. Everett has been outstanding in religious work for a number of years. She resides at Forrest. Mrs. L. G. Wilkerson of Monroe was named stewardship chairman.

Mrs. Bennett, the retiring president, was the recipient of a beautiful silver service from the state association, which was presented by Mrs. H. L. Driskell. Miss Hannah Reynolds, state corresponding secretary, presented the gift from the district, which was a silver vase. Mrs. Flood Madison, of Bastrop, presented a set of spoons, coming from the First Baptist church of Bastrop, of which Mrs. Bennett is a member.

Birthday Celebrated

Douglas Russell reached the interesting age of nine on the eighth of April and in commemoration of the happy event invited his intimate friends and playmates to share with him the pleasures of the day.

The entire afternoon was devoted to the playing games, with the cutting of the beautifully embossed birthday cake a fitting climax.

Delicious confections were served by Mrs. Russell, assisted by Mrs. Hilda Bonds and Mrs. John Scarff, to: Gay Janet and Lee Allen Brown, Harold and Helen Williams, Dorothy Scott, Benjamen and Byron Broadnax, Tommy Milstead, Thomas Bonner, John Scarff, Jr., John Turner, Lillian Francis Russell, Betty Jean Russell, Kathleen Scott, Lovelle Russell, George Wallace Denton and Russell O'Neal Batson.

Camping Party

Lake Bruin, with its placid waters fringed with live oaks, will supply the attractive setting for Miss Doll Hudson's week-end party at Morgan's camp, with Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hudson and Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Milner chaperones.

Two blissful days of horseback riding, canoeing and fishing will be enjoyed by this interesting group, who comprise members of Monroe's younger beau monde: Misses Jean Terzia, Gloria Frances Major, Mary Lavigna Inabnet, Adelaide Parker, Gay Noe, Jean Graves, Dot White, Mary Eleanor Coverdale, Martha McHenry, Mabel Cole and Doll Hudson, and James Moore, C. H. Adams, Louis Milner, Thomas Wyatt, Billy Wright, Raleigh Whitehead, George LeBlanc, Dick Touchstone, Nelson Abell, Fred Hudson, Jr., and Ben Downing.

Book Club Meets

The Welcome Branch Book club enjoyed an interesting program on "American Music by American Composers" in the home of Mrs. J. Norman Coon Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. J. Norman Coon, program chairman, gave an interesting outline of the three periods of American music.

Violin selections rendered by Mrs. Dean Selig were "Adoration," by Felix Borowski, and "Flow Gently Sweet Afton" (variation), by Harris.

A duet, "Old Folks at Home," by Stephen Foster, was given by Mrs. W. C. Scott and Mrs. C. S. Gaushell.

"To a Wild Rose," by MacDowell, was rendered by Mrs. C. S. Gaushell.

Piano selections were "Narcissus," by Ethelbert Nevin, and "Punchinello," by Victor Herbert, by Mrs. Marvyn Johnson.

"Prentemps de Amour," by Gotchschak, by Mrs. Dean Selig

Vocal selections solos given were "His Lullaby," by Carrie Jacobs Bond, by Mrs. W. C. Scott; "Morning," by Oley Speaks, by Mrs. J. Noble White; "Mighty Lak a Rose," by Nevin, and "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life," by Victor Herbert, by Mrs. J. Norman Coon.

Each person on the program told something of the life and compositions of the composer she played from.

After the program Mrs. Coon invited the guests into the dining room, where delicious sandwiches, confections and tea were served.

Members present were Mrs. Frank Black, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. H. J. Fernandez, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. Marvin Johnson, Mrs. George Lofton, Mrs. C. S. Gaushell, Mrs. D. M. Moore, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. W. C. Scott, Mrs. Dean Selig, Mrs. J. F. Prendergast, Mrs. Lewis Oyster, Mrs. Charles Swain, Mrs. J. W. Treadwell, Mrs. J. Noble White, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. F. F. Smith and Mrs. D. C. Shattuck.

Two visitors were present, Mrs. Clyde Sanders and Mrs. Cornett.

Projects Completed

Junior Charity league members will soon fold their tents following a winter of unusual activity and journey toward a more leisurely season. All projects of the year have reached a rich maturity and the free baby clinic, profiting by the financial gain, will continue to thrive. Vacations are unknown, however, to league members, whose duty it is to preside over the clinic in St. Francis sanitarium, where their humanitarian efforts go on month after month, year after year.

Plans for the summer season were discussed over the coffee cups at the Lotus club last week, when Mrs. Milling Bernstein, president, presided during the luncheon hour.

Members present were Mrs. H. F. Madison, Mrs. Victor Davis, Miss Melba Liner, Miss Sara Beth Farmer, Miss Connie McReynolds, Mrs. Duncan Cook, Mrs. J. C. Theus, Jr., Mrs. Mike Winberry, Mrs. Walter Kellogg, Mrs. Thomas Frazer, Miss Lela Germany, Mrs. S. A. Collins, Miss Eleanor Faulk, Miss Jean Dryburgh, Mrs. Elliott Thompson, Mrs. Milling Bernstein, Mrs. Bernard Biedenharn, Mrs. Frances M. Leavell, Mrs. Frances G. Jones, Miss Robbie Lee Hanna, Mrs. R. C. Sparks, Jr., Mrs. J. Hunter Thatcher, Mrs. Theodore Allen, Mrs. Walter Black, Miss Sue Graves, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, Miss Gertrude Hart, Mrs. Merrill F. Bush, Mrs. Gordon Cummings and Mrs. J. H. Dorman.

Trip Planned

Mrs. H. H. Honnoll of Memphis, Tenn., a former resident of this city, where she is affectionately remembered as Boyce Sadler, has planned a trip around the world in company with her lovely niece, Miss Boyce Leigh Sadler, who will be graduated from Randolph-Macon college, Lynchburg, Virginia, in June. Mrs. Honnoll, a visitor in the city last week, outlined the itinerary.

Sailing from Los Angeles on the twenty-fourth of July, they will make Honolulu their first port of call. They will be joined by Mr. Honnoll in Honolulu and will journey with him to Japan and to Shanghai, China, from which point he will return to the United States. Mrs. Honnoll and Miss Sadler will continue their journey, visiting such interesting places as Hong Kong, Canton, Manila, Singapore, Colombo, Bombay. After a two weke's visit in the interior of China, they will visit the Suez Canal and then drive overland to Cairo and Alexandria, Egypt. They will also tour southern Europe, visiting Nice and Monte Carlo, with an undetermined length of time in Paris and in London. They will sail from Liverpool for New York City the first of the year.

Miss Noe Feted

Miss Gay Noe, lovely young daughter of Governor and Mrs. James A. Noe, is spending the Easter vacation period with friends in the city, and is being extensively entertained. Prominent among the courtesies of an informal nature was the al fresco affair arranged by Miss Martha McHenry and Miss Barbara McKenzie Friday night.

Following the barbecue supper in the gardens of the McKenzie home, dancing was enjoyed indoors.

Present in addition to the guest of honor, Miss Noe, were Misses Doll Hudson, Gloria Major, Jean Graves, Carolyn Royce, Sara Frances Hinkle, Mabel Cole, Jean Terzia, Virginia Copeland, Dot White, Adelaide Parker, Mary Lavinia Inabnet and Mary Eleanor Coverdale, and Thomas Wyatt, Billy Wright, James Tolson, James Moore, C. H. Adams, George LeBlanc, Dick Touchstone, Nelson Abell, Felix Terzia, Armand McHenry, Bobby O'Donnell, Ben Downing, Herbert Land, Louis Milner, Jake Benton, Fred Hudson, Jr., and Raleigh Whitehead.

Cantatas Scheduled

The victory mood of Easter will be reflected in the music presented in the churches of this city today. The glorious Easter cantatas will tell of Christ's momentary mastery and everlasting triumph over the grave and the splendid sermons will bring an inspirational message of newness of life.

"The Dawn of the Kingdom" will be presented tonight at the Methodist church by members of the choir under the direction of Mrs. Clyde Sanders and with Mrs. John Sholars as organist. This beautiful cantata, with its recitative lines and its lovely aria telling of the risen Christ, will feature a mighty chorus of voices.

An Easter cantata, "Bright Easter Morn," will also be presented at the West Monroe Baptist church tonight at 7:30, by a mixed chorus. This program of music will take the place of the regular Sunday night service, and the public is cordially invited.

Mrs. Louis Hullum, past state president of the Louisiana Federated Music clubs, always music-minded and alert where good music is concernd, draws attention to the General Motors Easter radio concert tonight, featuring a 75-piece symphony orchestra and a chorus of 1,200 voices.

The chorus, accompanied by the symphony orchestra, will introduce the hour's concert by singing Elvey's "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today," and the well known "The Bells of St. Mary's," by Adams. Continuing in the Easter spirit, Mr. Rapee has programmed for the orchestra's first number Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring."

For her first appearance before the Flint audience and the nation-wide radio audience, Miss Pons has selected two numbers—the "Queen of the Night's Aria" from Mozart's "The Magic Flute," and Benedict's "La Capinera" ("The Wren.") The chorus will then sing the "Soldiers' Chorus" from Gounod's "Faust," and Mr. Rapee with the orchestra will end the opening half hour with a rendition of the "Agnus Dei," by Bizet.

Following the brief address of Mr. Knudsen, addressed to the nation-wide audience but particularly to the two hundred thousand General Motors employes and their families, the chorus will introduce the last half of the concert with a playing of Grieg's delightful "Landsighting."

Miss Pons will follow with the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria," and the famous coloratura aria by Delibes—the "Bell Song" from "Lakme." To conclude the concert, Lily Pons will join with the orchestra and the chorus in a presentation of the magnificent and sonorous overture to Wagner's opera, "Tannhaeuser."

Pow Wow Banquet

Flaring yellow tapers in yellow crystal candlesticks encircled the low plaque of purple and yellow pansies centering the dinner table in the Cameo room of the Virginia hotel, where members of the Pow Wow staff of Northeast Center of L. S. U. were seated for their annual banquet.

The five delicious courses were punctuated with clever remarks and talks by the speakers of the evening, State Representative Paul Fink, Dean and Mrs. C. C. Colvert and several Northeast Center students, Charles Beadles, Billy Laffler, Dawson Kennedy, Walter Savage, Lloyd Price, Howard Griffi nand Mrs. Anna Lee West Stahl, sponsor.

Mr. John Berry, editor of the Pow Wow, acted as toastmaster and presented Mrs. Stahl with a handsome gift in behalf of the staff of the Pow Wow.

Following the dinner hour, a box party was enjoyed at the Paramount theater by Dean and Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Representative Paul Fink, Jason Berry, Charles Beadles, Billy Laffler, Tib Kornegay, Marjorie Chambers, Polly Cole, Robin Reddit, Layton Wilkes, Kathlen Cox, Maudie Gill, La Thompson, M. D. Swayze, Bryan Reynolds, Jimmy Cunningham, A. D. Langston, Dawson Kennedy, Louis Breard, Louis Guerriero, Brice Burroughs, Scherck Bogen, Lyle Garretson, Eugene McNabb, James Newburn, Lloyd Price, S. M. Sevier, Walter Savage.

To Attend Meet

An early spring vacation is in store for leading club women of Monroe, who will travel to Miami, Fla., the end of April to attend the council meeting of the General Federation of Women's clubs. Preparations for the meeting are being completed rapidly, with a full program of speakers and activities that will have for its theme "Education for Living."

Through the representatives in Miami clubwomen throughout the country will vote on a resolution approving the principle and general purpose of a bill introduced in congress by Representative Wesley E. Disney of Oklahoma. This bill provides for the establishment of a National Academy of Public Affairs. Such approval was voted by the board of directors of the general federation in January with a recommendation that the state federations study the purposes of the bill and take informed action at Miami.

One of the highlights of the program will be a coast to coast broadcast in which Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, general federation president, will be one of the principal speakers. After three days of business and program sessions, there will be a play day on which all the visitors to Florida will enjoy the sands and sunshine of Miami beach. After the council meeting some of the members plan to make a cruise to the West Indies.

Study Club Meets

Mrs. Lewis Slater entertained the Study club in the Cameo room at the Virginia Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Neil McHenry gave an outstanding review of "The World War and What Was Behind It."

After a short business session, a delicious luncheon was served at small tables centered with bowls of exquisite blue iris and pink roses.

Present were Miss Carrie Dee Drew, Mrs. James S. Drew, Mrs. D. X. Ellett, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. Fillmore Meadows, Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mrs. Neil McHenry, Mrs. Alymer Montgomery, Mrs. Henry Montgomery, Mrs. Alfred Reid, Mrs. Elmer Richards, Mrs. William Rodriguez, Mrs. H. H. Land and Mrs. Lewis Slater.

ENGAGED

FRANCES ELIZABETH MARTIN

The following announcement will be of interest to a host of friends in Monroe:

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Martin announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Frances Elizabeth, to Mr. Harry Bailey, Jr., at Rayville, April 19, 1936, Methodist church.

Miss Martin is a student at Centenary college in Shreveport, where she is a member of the Chi Omega sorority. Mr. Bailey is connected with the McAn Shoe company and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bailey, Sr., of this city.

Class Visits Noes

A charming interlude in the weekly routine of the Germany-Noe Sunday school class will be the house party at the executive mansion in Baton Rouge, the state capital, on the eighteenth and nineteenth of April. Mrs. James A. Noe, former teacher of this class, will be assisted by Governor Noe in extending courtesies. Transportation will be furnished all members of the class, who will arrive at the mansion in time for a buffet supper. At eight o'clock they will be guests of Governor and Mrs. Noe at the presentation of Madame Butterfly by the L. S. U. school of music.

Mr. R. W. Germany, teacher of the class, Mrs. Germany and the officers will be guests Saturday night at the mansion and all others will be guests at Highland hall on the state university campus. Regular Sunday morning services will be held in the east room at the mansion and later the entire assemblage will visit the state capital.

Monroe Public Library Is Nearly 20 Years Old

Present Board Of Directors Planning Public Reception In Commemoration Of Founding Of Valuable Institution

"There is no frigate like a book to take you miles away."

Books in the Monroe Public library have played a most important part in the lives of Monroe's reading public during the past twenty years, and especially so these past few years, when the great army of unemployed found books their very best friends and the public library a haven of refuge.

We are reminded, at this time when plans are being formulated for observance of the twentieth anniversary of the important part the public library has played and is playing daily, in the civic life of this community.

The present board of directors, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. R. B. Frizzell, Mrs. G. P. Stubbs, Mrs. Albert Horuff, Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mrs. Louis Masur, Mrs. C. P. Gray, Mrs. J. C. Theus, Mrs. Clarence Oakley and Mrs. Henry Bernstein, has planned a public reception for the third of May in recognition of twenty years of splendid service to the Monroe public.

Like the great oak that grew from a tiny acorn, the Monroe Public Library dates its origin back to a humble beginning in a one-room building on Wood street in 1915. This institution now occupies the comfortable building that was once the home of the late Mrs. Anna Meyer at the corner of Jackson and Calypso streets.

The Monroe Public Library owes its existence to and is an offspring of the Civic League of Monroe. In 1915 the late Mrs. Jessie Sadler was president of the league and appointed a library committee of ten ladies under Mrs. Walter L. Jones, who worked most determinedly for a free public library.

In the face of a most pessimistic public, the movement was launched; the committee canvassed the city and solicited members at $2.50 per member.

The late Judge A. A. Gunby was so interested in the movement that he searched the archives of the city and found the almost forgotten will of Mrs. Louise L. McGuire, which bequeathed to Monroe a little one-room building on Wood street, opposite the courthouse, with the "hope" that it would be used for a library.

For a long time this building had been used as a coal house and storage room, so it was in a most dilapidated condition. However, the library committee appeared before the city council and made an appeal for the use of the building for a library, and the appeal was granted.

Active work was then begun. Coal was shoveled out the building overhauled, shelves built and books and furniture installed.

The library opened on May 8, 1916, with 731 books on the shelves and an income of $50.00 per month. Miss Alice R. D. Gillam, a graduate of the Carnegie Library school of Pittsburgh, was the first librarian. In December, 1916, Miss Gillam resigned and Miss Edith Gunby was asked to fill her place. Miss Gunby resigned in April, 1917, and Mrs. Lillian Herron Williamson was appointed librarian, and served in that capacity until a few years ago. Mrs. James T. Townes is now librarian.

The library is governed by an executive board of ten ladies. An advisory board of ten men assist the executive board.

The collection of books soon outgrew the little building on Wood street, but was forced to remain there until the 28th day of January, 1921.

In 1920, Mrs. Anna Meyer died, bequeathing her home on the corner of Jackson and Calypso streets and $20,000 for a library. The trustees of the estate and the executive board of the Monroe Public library, working together, made it possible for the library to be moved into this building, which has a spacious reading and reference room; a non-fiction room; a club room, rebuilt and furnished by the Book club of Monroe; a circulation room which houses the fiction and children's books, and work rooms.

The library has furnished information and recreation for thousands of people. It is a good business investment for the community. It will live and grow, for it is full of silent servants who are at the community's command any time they want them. These servants will entertain or help, and they are always ready and loyal.

Birthday Observed

Commemorating the birthday anniversary of Miss Hazel Cummins, a dinner party was arranged in her honor by Miss Agnes Wrenn at her home in West Monroe.

The beautifully-appointed table had for central decore a luscious birthday cake embossed in lilies and surrounded by fluffy yellow chicks.

Following the serving of the five-course dinner, Miss Cummins was presented with an Easter basket overflowing with lovely gifts of a personal nature.

The guests, in addition to Miss Cummins were: Miss Elsie McDowell, Miss Hazel Joyner, Miss Barbara Porter Miss Marjie Regan and the hostess.

Barkdull Faulk P.-T. A.

"Art as Taught in the Schools" was the subject discussed by Miss Louise Moore and Lloyd Stewart at the April meeting of the Barkdull Faulk school Parent-Teacher association of the Louisiana branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Miss Moore said in part:

"Most of us know that art is valuable in the life of a child, first, for the enjoyment the child receives when he uses pencil or colored chalk in creating or copying things he sees; second, it teaches the co-relation in the growth of a child, in working with other subjects, when they make pictures of their other studies; third, it teaches appreciation, not only of art, but of all things around them. Such things as the clothes we wear, the furnishings of our homes and buildings around us are all the outcome of several artists' work.

"In order to appreciate anything one must have some understanding of one's subject. So we teach appreciation in order that the children may know the good points of things they come in contact with.

"Those who have the talent, need the foundation they receive in art in the grammar grades."

Miss Moore displayed some work done by her pupils at Neville High school in the making of note book covers and books, in color harmonies, in lettering and in posters.

Lloyd Stewart said in part:

"The intention of college art courses is to give the student a general acquaintance with past and present civilization, the ability to use this acquaintance for the enrichment of life, whatever special careers he may later adopt. It strives to guide the student along lines that native character and preference indicate, to teach a buying sense of things that are in good taste and good style. Art appreciation strives to make the student an intelligent consumer, conscious of good design and good lines, so that he may choose wisely in his purchases.

"College art is offered to home economic students and education students.

"The only worthwhile art is absolutely original. The underlying principal of college art is not so much to teach one to paint a beautiful landscape or a man on a horse, but to make him intelligent as to correctness in his personal appearance, his surroundings and his habits. He must know the difference between what is good taste and bad taste.

"Both Miss Moore and Mr. Stewart received their first art intruction in Monroe public schools. Mr. Stewart received his first art appreciation lessons in Barkdull Faulk school. Mrs. Irving, the art chairman, told of plans for an art exhibit at the school. The assemblage was favored with four numbers by the school band, led by Mr. Charles Gauchell, and two beautiful songs by Mrs. A. R. Doughty.

Mrs. Lloyd Surghnor's 2-A grade received the prize for having the most parents present.

Refreshments were served in the school cafeteria following the meeting.

Mounds P.-T. A.

TALLULAH, La., April 11.—(Special)—Dr. Walter E. Johnson of Vicksburg, Miss., was the guest speaker at the April meeting of the Mounds Parent-Teacher association at Mounds. He delivered an interesting address on "Alcohol and Narcotics." Mrs. H. W. Burleigh read an article on "Courtesy of Adults Toward Children."

Officers recently elected by the organization, who began their work at this meeting, were Mrs. Frank Hoxie, president; Mrs. Greer, vice-president; Mrs. Frank Thomas, secretary; Mrs. Sistrunk, treasurer.

Plans are being made for the "summer round-up," which will be held in May.

Exhibit Planned

Plans were formulated for an art exhibit at Barkdull Faulk school the afternoon and night of April 17 at a meeting of the executive committee of the school's P.-T. A.

The exhibit will consist of art work done by the various grades of the school. The room mother of the class selling the greatest number of tickets to the exhibit will give the members of the class a party.

Funds were set aside at the meeting to defray the expenses of the association's three delegates to the state P.-T. A. convention in Lafayette. The delegates are Mrs. B. S. Rust, Mrs. R. F. McCook and Mrs. Taylor Jones. Mrs. E. F. Jones is alternate.

The treasurer reported payments had been made on band instruments and books for the school.

Study Group

"Children as Future Homemakers," was the subject of the discussion by Mrs. Virginia Newsom at the April meeting of the Study club of Barkdull Faulk school Parent-Teacher association. She said in part:

"One of the hardest but one of most important lessons to learn is to give up immediately pleasures in order to attain lasting but remote satisfaction.

"It is easier to have our pleasures today than to forgo them in order to have more permanent and satisfying pleasures in the future.

"In the care and rearing of children, it is necessary to think not only of today but in terms of what effect today will have on the child's life at adolescence and later.

"Parents must remember that while there are things that people learn 'with their minds,' that they learn as much, if not more, with their emotions.

"It is imperative for parents to realize that what they teach through their emotions may stand in the way of or aid what children learn with their minds.

"The pattern set up by the parents determines what children learn about marriage and home life."

Members of the Fine Arts club are looking forward with pleasant anticipation to the regular monthly meeting Monday evening at 8 o'clock, when Mrs. Louis Hullum, past state president of Louisiana Federation of Music clubs, will entertain the club in her home, 1405 Fairview. "Louisiana Art" will feature the program. Several outstanding members of Monroe's musical world are named upon the roster of the Fine Arts club, one of the city's oldest of the cultural clubs and the only one embracing all of the arts. Monday night's program will feature the music and songs of Louisiana artists.

Miss Winifred Folse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Folse, Oak Ridge, was given recognition last week by the Southern States' Art league for two of her water colors. These will be shown in exhibition throughout the month of April.

This exhibit is held annually during the convention of the League of Southern Artists. For the past two years, the exhibition has been held in Tennessee.

Miss Folse is an instructor in the department of art in Mary Hardin-Baylor college.

Mrs. E. V. Hemperley and two daughters, Helen Louise and Betty Jane of Vivian, La., are guests in the home of Mrs. Hemperley's mother, Mrs. A. T. White in West Monroe.

Mrs. James A. Noe announces through this medium that two hundred complimentary tickets are available to friends who would like to attend the performance of Madam Butterfly at the Louisiana State university auditorium in Baton Rouge on the eighteenth of April. Dr. James Monroe Smith has arranged the presentation in honor of Governor and Mrs. Noe and has reserved two hundred seats for their Ouachita parish friend. Complimentary tickets are now available at the office of the editor of this page.

Misses Hilda Hair and Martha Files arrived home from the state normal at Natchitoches to spend the Easter holidays with their parents.

Mrs. A. R. Holloway, Mrs. C. A. McGimsey, Mrs. A. Johns, Mrs. Ralph Coates and Miss Leta Mae Benson will motor to Alexandria on Tuesday to attend the conference of the Methodist Missionary society.

Friends of Miss Margie Buce, who is a student at Southwestern college, will regret to learn that she is a patient in the St. Frances sanitarium, where she underwent an appendectomy the first of the week. She will be glad to have friends call. When fully recovered, Miss Buce will resume her studies.

Dr. and Mrs. G. M. G. Stafford of Alexandria and Baton Rouge are the guests over the week-end of Mrs. Stafford's father, Judge Charles Schulze.

Mrs. Fred Cantrell and daughter Miss Bunch Cantrell, left Wednesday for Chattanooga, Tenn., to join their son and brother, who is a student at Riverside Academy. They have been guests for the past week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hilton.

Among the L. S. U. students, home for the Easter vacation are Miss Rachel Haynes, Miss Elizabeth Cuud and Herbert Henry.

Miss Laura Grace Kendall, student at Userline Academy in New Orleans, is spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Calvert.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Butler and sons, James and Harry, who have been residing in Natchez, Miss., have returned to West Monroe to reside and will be at home to their friends on Travis street.

Martin Hebert, Jr., student at Tulane University in New Orleans, is spending the Easter holidays with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Martin Hebert.

Miss Hayes Littleton has returned to her home in Newport, Ark., after a delightful visit in the home of her sister, Mrs. H. A. Gentry.

Mrs. Joseph Dillard, accompanied by Mr. Dillard, left today for St. Louis, where she will be under the care of a specialist for a few days.

Friends will regret exceedingly to hear of the departure from this city of Mrs. Cody Watkins and her two sons and daughter, Miss Noalie Watkins, for their new home in El Paso, Texas, where they will join Mr. Watkins, whose health necessitates a western climate.

Mrs. Clarence Faulk, regent of Fort Miro chapter, D. A. R., accompanied by her daughter, Miss Eleanor Faulk, will leave next Sunday via airplane for Washington to attend the National D. A. R. convention. Miss Faulk will represent Louisiana in the capacity of page and Mrs. Faulk as a delegate. Mrs. Milling Bernstein, also a delegate, will leave at the same time, but will make the trip by railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. John Middleton were among those enjoying the Garden Pilgrimage at Natchez.

SPACIOUS AND BEAUTIFUL IS PALACE'S NEW READY-TO-WEAR DEPARTMENT

Formal opening of the remodeled and modernized ready-to-wear department of The Palace last week was an event of importance in the history of the store. Described as "the most beautiful ready-to-wear department in the state," the floor space has been utilized to give more spacious aisles and more effective display of merchandise. Luxurious refinement is the keynote of the innovations which are accentuated by a harmonious decoration scheme in oriental mahogany, ivory and ebony. Two views above give a suggestion of the artistic effect produced in the modern idea of store arrangement. Left: The millinery and underwear section. Right, A corner of the ready-to-wear section.

P.-T. A. LEADER

Mrs. C. W. Williams (above), Barkdull Faulk school P.-T. A. president, has done outstanding work as the head of her organization, holding it to the standard of superior among the many P.-T. A. units of the state.

Mrs. Williams' success has been due to her untiring efforts in fitting the work of the group she heads into the needs of the school as a cooperative body working with the educational forces for improved conditions in the training of children; to her earnestness of purpose, which has been a challenge to her co-workers for successful effort in all the undertakings of her committees; to her consideration for the opinions of others, which has been productive of a fine spirit of harmony in the group of which she is leader.

Mrs. Williams, as a former teacher, has realized that much of the equipment of schools for extra-curricular activities, cannot always be included in the school budget, and has made it possible for her organization to furnish this equipment, the largest item being musical instruments to supplement the school band.

As publicity chairman of the Twin City P.-T. A. council last year, Mrs. Williams made such a success that she was appointed fifth district chairman of publicity for this year, and in addition to her activities as president of Barkdull Faulk P.-T. A., is responsible for the P.-T. A. column in the Sunday editions of the combined World and News-Star.

that the last official act of Sheriff Thigpen prior to his death was to notify the authorities in the surrounding territory to be on the lookout for the counterfeiters, who were described as touring the country in a Ford sedan. Sheriff Thigpen also notified Terrance V. Ryan, United States operative in charge of the secret service office in New Orleans.

Mr. Ryan detailed Operative Leo J. Williams and the latter went to Ruston, where he secured a complete description of the men and the automobile in which they were riding, and also a quantity of the fake currency which had been passed.

Traps were set in various centers in the southwest and Operative Forrest B. Sorrels of Dallas was then assigned to the case to work with Mr. Williams and Operative John J. McGrath.

Last Thursday the driver of the counterfeiter's automobile was arrested in a Texas city and confessed to federal authorities that a plant for the manufacture of spurious five-dollar bills was located in Monroe. A quantity of papers and some of the bogus money was also found in the car by the secret service men.

After obtaining the confession, Sorrels and McGrath flew to Monroe, where they were joined by Ryan and Williams. With the cooperation of city police authorities, the house was found in which the counterfeiting plant was located, and a search made.

Washburn is said to have shown the officers a secret panel in the hall of the house where a large quantity of spurious bills and all the paraphernalia for the manufacture of the money had been cached.

After their arrest, Washburn and Overton were taken before United States Commissioner Allen Guthrie Saturday afternoon, where Washburn pleaded guilty and Overton entered a plea of innocence to the charge of counterfeiting and the possession of counterfeiting paraphernalia. Washburn is quoted as having told the federal officers that he had studied the art of counterfeiting for two years, and had been prepared to flood the country with the five-dollar bills which were said by the authorities to be exceptionally good imitations.

Considerable credit was given to Superintendent Tarver and Detectives Bedsole and Parker for the part they played in the arrest of the counterfeiters.

Washburn and Overton were placed in the Ouachita parish jail. Their bonds were fixed at $5,000 each.

Overton is said to have been arrested several times for bootlegging by city and parish officials. Washburn, who lives in Shreveport, is said to operate a rooming house there, but had no criminal record.

EASTER SERVICES TO BE CONDUCTED

the public is also invited. A feature of the program will be vocal numbers by Mrs. Louis Hullum and Mrs. Frances Leavell. Fred Williamson, one of the class teachers, will talk on "Easter, Symbol of the World's Hope." Mrs. W. H. Wilkerson will give a program of Easter music. Dr. C. E. Kenney, one of the teachers, and Rev. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will also participate in the program.

An Easter cantata, "The Victorious Christ," will be presented at the Nazarene church at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

At the First Baptist church in West Monroe, an Easter cantata will be rendered entitled," Bright Easter Morn," at the night service Sunday. O. J. Thompson will direct the presentation. This is a production by E. K. Heyser and comprises solos, duets, quartets and chorus numbers portraying the suffering, crucifixion and resurrection of Christ.

The First Methodist church of West Monroe will hold two preaching services. Lay Evangelist Van Carter will close a successful series of revivals at the night service. His theme in the morning hour will be "Companionship With Christ."

All other churches of both cities will have specially attractive services both morning and night, and the public is urged to worship in their own church or the church they may prefer.

BARBARA'S $45,000,000 BABY

All the fuss that's being made about him seems rather boring to the infant heir to many millions, getting his sleep quota in the upper left photo and yawning at the world, lower left. The son of the former Barbara Hutton, now Countess von Haugwitz-Reventlow, is seen as a healthy, attractive lad in his London nursery. At the right his mother, said in a recent congressional estimate to have a fortune of $45,000,000, is shown as she left her home for the first time since the baby was born on February 24.

Landon Holds G. O. P. Lead As Choice For Candidate

By Edward J. Duffy
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—Governor Landon of Kansas held a substantial lead in delegate strength for the Republican presidential nomination tonight, despite antagonism among some supporters of Senator Borah and among those Californians who resented entry of a Landon ticket in the primary there in opposition to wishes of former President Hoover.

While watching the progress of his cause, many politicians directed more immediate attention to the contest between Borah and Col. Frank Knox in the Illinois primary next Tuesday.

The strength of the senator in the pre-convention considerations from now on may largely be affected by his showing there and in the Nebraska presidential preference primary the same day. Neither, however, is binding on the delegates elected.

Borah's success this week in Wisconsin, where he won 21 of the 24 delegates, was called by his organization indicative that he alone could command support against President Roosevelt in the west.

Administration supporters took satisfaction from the Democratic primary total rolled up for the president, more than two to one higher than Borah's. It was widely commented that the backers of the Lafollette organization in the state might have split their vote to assure a Borah victory on the one hand and an impressive Roosevelt total on the other.

Impetus to the Landon movement during the week came principally from Missouri and Virginia. In the former state, by virtue of two district G. O. P. conventions which instructed four delegates for the Kansan only today, his votes were increased to 22 out of a total delegation of 30. Four were uninstructed. Four more will be selected at large in the state convention at St. Louis April 27.

Ten of Virginia's 17 delegates were counted for Landon, to make a total of 107 instructed and claimed. This figure makes no allowance for claims by some Landonites about strength in the New York uninstructed delegation of 90.

Knox leaders are listing the New Hampshire and Maine delegations for him, making 24 delegates altogether. They dispute with Landon followers concerning strength in the Minnesota delegation.

As the primaries proceed, it becomes increasingly evident that the leaders may have difficulty in telling exactly where they stand with some delegations. Over 200 delegates chosen to date are nominally uninstructed, but among those are delegates sent by conventions that went on record as "endorsing," or "favoring," this, or that, possible nominee.

In some states, the delegations are split among themselves as between being specifically pledged, or left free to vote as they wish at Cleveland if a certain "favored" candidate loses out.

No such difficulty appears on the Democratic side. Renomination of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket no longer seems open to question, and delegates are being pledged accordingly.

In the Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio and New Jersey preference primaries, however, Mr. Roosevelt is opposed by Col. Henry Breckenridge of New York.

No delegates would be put on for Breckenridge, however, his purpose being merely to offer anti-New Deal Democrats a chance to show where they stand.

The president will usher in a season of more active campaigning Monday night when he addresses a Democratic rally at Baltimore. From then on, hardly a day until the Republicans convene June 9, will pass without its contribution to the controversy the November election must settle.

GERMAN FOOTPRINTS TAKEN

Fitting shoes has became an exact science in Germany. Some of the large footwear stores in Berlin have customers stand with their full weight in a shallow box, the covering of which is of cloth or a composition. Under this a carbon paper or inked cloth rests on a sheet of paper which records a print of the foot. This paper also rests on a soft substance which also records a distinct imprint. From these records the shoe is fitted.

EASTER BOMBING PROBE IS PUSHED

Many Persons Questioned As Postoffice Experts Seek Terrorists

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 11.—(AP)—Fingerprint, handwriting and dynamite experts pursued a three-way investigation tonight in a search for terrorists who mailed death in Easter packages.

The death of one man and maiming of four by dynamite bombs brought orders for a general roundup of suspects in this anthracite valley, periodically ridden by labor strife. Postoffice inspectors said "many were questioned in a process of elimination." Two men were detained though not under arrest, city police said.

J. W. Johnston, chief postoffice inspector at Philadelphia, disclosed that fingerprints were found on the lethal packages. Four of the six boxes failed to explode.

A solution was sought, too, through a study of the explosives, but the prevalence of dynamite in the mining area, and the fact that every miner is familiar with its use, lessened the value of that angle of investigation.

The nature of the murderous mailing list supported a general belief that the bomb deaths were traceable to smouldering labor trouble. Tension had been eased in the region for a year with the virtual dissolution of the United Anthracite Miners, a union organized by Thomas Maloney in opposition to the United Mine Workers of America.

Maloney and his four-year-old son were critically hurt by one bomb. He may lose his sight. His 17-year-old daughter, Margaret, is recovering.

Another bomb killed Michael Gallagher, 70-year-old cemetery sexton, and maimed his son-in-law, Clinton Lehman, 37. Lehman lost one eye.

Luzerne county authorities said they were convinced Gallagher was marked for death and was not a victim of a bungled address, as at first supposed. It was pointed out that he and Maloney were close friends and he had testified against dynamiting suspects and reported thefts of explosives from the cemetery.

The Topeka, Kans., postoffice led the nation last year with a $39.41 per capita sale of savings bonds.

opening ceremonies will include A. P. Tugwell, chairman of the Louisiana highway commission; E. A. Conway, secretary of state; Harry D. Wilson, commissioner of agriculture and immigration, and other officials.

A joint committee, representing Ouachita parish, the cities of Monroe and West Monroe and the chamber of commerce is preparing plans for the celebration. The precise form which the festivities will take, aside from the speech-making and the ribbon-cutting ceremony, has not yet been determined. Highway Chairman Tugwell stated at Baton Rouge that any program arranged by the local committees would be entirely satisfactory to the state officials, who would cooperate 100 per cent with the arrangements.

All of the prominent state, parish and local officials will be guests of the chamber of commerce at a dinner to be given on the night of May 1 at Hotel Virginia, as one of the principal events of the occasion.

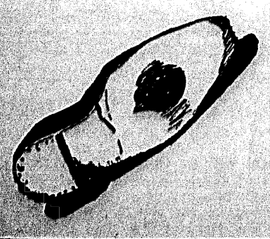
Ever Heard About King James' Old Shoes?



He had worn them for a long time. He knew the quality of their soft leather and their durability. In a word, they were easiest on his feet. That's why he always called for them.

We all have our "old shoes"—things to which we are accustomed and which make life easier by their excellent service. A brand of coffee, special sunfast draperies, a favorite complexion cream, wholesome health foods, a fine make of felt hat—these we ask for again and again. They have a dependable quality that is as important to us as the comfort King James found in his old shoes.

Read the advertisements in this newspaper, and learn more about the things which are part of your daily life. Naturally, you take their quality for granted (advertised products are reliable). But with closer attention to the news in the advertisements, you will be able to effect surprising savings, and find new uses for old favorites.

Several Spring Weddings Scheduled To Take Place In City

Betrothal Is Announced

Kathleen Marie Jones Will Marry C. C. Bell, Jr., In June

The time has come, as everybody knows the famous walrus said, to talk about the late spring brides who have claimed the attention of society ever since their engagements were announced.

Of prominence will be Miss Jean Dryburgh's betrothal to Mr. Baskin Wright late in May. Whether or not the ceremony will have a garden background and a sylvan setting still remains on the lap of the gods. May is whimsical and capricious, so in case the clouds scurry across the evening sunset and stir up an unwelcome rain, the ceremony will be performed indoors. We do hope that it will take place in the garden, as Jean will fit beautifully into the picture. She is the fresh, wholesome type that awakens thoughts of green meadows, fragrant flowers and the warm brown earth. In either case the wedding will be beautiful, as Jean has selected several lovely girls to walk altarward with her. They will wear exquisite garden frocks of flower shades.

The wedding plans of Miss Katherine Morrison and Mr. Travis Oliver, Jr., are also in the embryonic stage, as a garden wedding at Pargoud plantation is very much to their liking. In case Katherine uses the feminine prerogative and changes her mind, the vows will be spoken at Grace church.

Still another June wedding claiming interest will be that of Miss Kathleen Marie Jones and Mr. C. C. Bell, Jr.

The engagement is being formally announced today as follows: Mrs. Mary Jones announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Kathleen Marie to Mr. C. C. Bell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bell, Sr., of West Monroe.

Miss Jones, a popular and lovely young woman, is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school and attended Northeast Center of L. S. U. Mr. Bell was graduated from Riverside Military academy, Gainesville, Georgia, and attended the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa and Northeast Center of L. S. U. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sigma Phi Omega fraternities. Mr. Bell is secretary of the C. C. Bell Manufacturing company. His father is mayor of West Monroe and is closely identified with the civic life of the community.

It is not too early now, for girls preparing for June weddings to begin formulating their plans for the big event. A budget of the bride's time is quite important. And two months, if carefully planned, will allow quite enough time to arrange all the necessary details without placing any undue pressure on the bride and her family, and without causing them any unnecessary worries.

By following a systematic order, one may accomplish everything with ease. The bride then can walk down the aisle of the church with a feeling of calm and assurance, knowing that the smallest detail hasn't been forgotten, everything is going smoothly, and just as it was planned.

The various lists for invitations to the ceremony and the reception, and the announcements, lists of both the bride's and bridegroom's, should have been completed by this time (four or five weeks before). And the order for the engraving should be placed with the stationer, because it does take quite a long time before it can be completed and delivered. The "at home" cards should be ordered at the same time, the visiting cards with the new name, and monogrammed stationery for the "thank you" notes. If any alterations on the house, cleaning, or decorating are to be done before the wedding, they should be completed two or three weeks in advance of the date of the occasion. Begin addressing the invitations and announcements.

Fifteen days before the wedding, at least, the invitations should be mailed. Soon after they are received, wedding presents will begin to arrive.

At least ten weeks or, perhaps, twelve before the wedding, the exact date, time, whether it is to take place at church or home, and whether it is to be a large or small affair should be decided. Until these matters are arranged nothing else can be accomplished. And when they are settled such duties as arranging for the church, engaging the clergyman, completing the plans for the reception, may be performed. Then may begin the enjoyment of the selection of the trousseau, including the bride's own personal wardrobe and the household linens, the wedding gown, and the going-away costume.

Ramsey-Sherrell

The interest of friends is centered in the marriage of Miss Delphia Sherrell and Mr. Frank Ramsey on Monday evening, April the sixth, at the Assembly of God tabernacle, with Reverend E. L. Tanner, pastor, officiating in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

The bride wore a lovely model of aquamarine blue crepe with accessories of the same shade and a corsage of bride's roses and valley lilies.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey motored to Vicksburg and other points in Mississippi for a brief honeymoon.

Mrs. Ramsey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sherrell, formerly of Biloxi, Miss.

Reynolds-Hooks

Interest is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Laverne Hooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Hooks of this city, to Mr. Ray Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Z. Reynolds of Texarkana, Ark.

The ceremony was solemnized Thursday afternoon, April 2, at the First Methodist church in Texarkana with the Reverend George W. Myers officiating.

The bride wore a lovely navy blue crepe model with white accessories and a corsage of valley lilies.

Miss Hooks was graduated from Ouachita Parish High school and attended Northeast Center of L. S. U. For the past year she has been connected with the Palace.

Mr. Reynolds is a member of a prominent Texarkana family. He is associated with the Deryer Motor company of that city.

After May 1, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds will be at home to their friends in Texarkana.

Flower Pilgrimage

Beauty sufficient to last a life time is in store for Mrs. Hillyer Speed, Mrs. Thomas Sholars, Mrs. Allan Sholars and Mrs. J. Q. Graves, who will motor on the fifteenth of April to San Antonio, Texas, for the flower fiesta and then join the flower pilgrimage tour to Mexico City.

A special train composed entirely of flower lovers from every section of the country will leave San Antonio for the world's garden spot, Mexico City.

As this is the season when this quaint city is overflowing with beauty and the climate is ideal, tourists take advantage of the opportunity to see the city under the most delightful circumstances.

Rural Conference

Washington will be the Mecca for rural women from all over the world the week of May 31, when the third triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World will be held. Names of delegates from England, Union of South Africa, Kenya, New Zealand, Australia, Germany, Sweeden, Canada, and the United States are already in. Representatives from rural women's organizations in Finland, Czechoslovakia, Holland, Bulgaria, India, Estonia, Nairobi, and Palestine, are expected also. In addition to the discussion of subjects of common interest to rural women all over the world, there will be an exhibit of hand crafts made from farm-grown products—leather work from France; spinning and weaving from Scotland, Norway, and Sweden; embroideries, lace and handwoven linens from Switzerland. The international organization has asked especially that an opportunity to see at first hand the home demonstration work of the United States be included in the program.

HOME COURSE IN PIANO PLAYING—LESSON NO. 4

Copyright, 1927, by W. Scott Grove, Scranton, Pa.

The fourth lesson in this series of twenty-four lessons of the modern method of instructions for the piano or organ according to system originated by Mr. Grove, takes up the key of E Minor. It is proposed to give in this complete series all of the fundamental chords used in musical composition. There will be twenty more lessons before this twenty-four lesson course in music is completed. The pupils are expected to learn these chords so that they can be played almost intuitively. This means diligent practice. When this lesson has been mastered the students will be fully qualified to take up the study of the fifth lesson which will be next presented.

INSTRUCTION—Place chart upon the keyboard of piano or organ so that the small letter D with a dash above it, at the bottom of the chart, is directly over the key D on the keyboard. The white and black spaces will then correspond to the white and black keys. Each of the three horizontal series of letters represents a chord. Beginning with the upper row, play the white letter with the left hand and play the three black letters in unison with the right hand, making the first chord. Then, in the same way, play the notes indicated in the second horizontal series, then those in the third and back to the first, forming a complement of chords in E Minor.

The first things necessary to become a good player are patience and practice. During the time before the next lesson the chord shown should be played over and over again until you memorize it and can play it without the chart. Memorize the letters also. You will find that before long you will be able to play simple accompaniments in this key to any melodies you or your friends may sing.

Every triad in black letter is marked 1, 3, 5. Always read it so, no matter in what vertical order the notes may be written. Note that the small letter D with a dash above it must not be played.

Never play small white letter D with a dash above it.

NEXT LESSON—Key of C—The natural key.

Soft Shades And Airy Fabrics Featured In Simple Post-Lenten Evening Gowns

POST Lenten parties will call for new gowns and wraps. Fashion decrees that they reflect simple elegance. The new frock on the left, fitting nicely into both the dinner and dance picture, is created of black net over a plain black slip and is lightened by a short sleeved bodice and wide hem band of natural colored linen lace. A little standing collar and short sleeves give a distinctive air to the summer wrap on the right. Elizabeth Hawes designs it of white silk bengaline with a molded bodice and a skirt which falls in deep folds. Although net is used in the gown illustrated, other airy fabrics also are in favor.

Choudrant

The missionary societies of the Baptist and Methodist churches held a joint meeting at the Presbyterian church, with the ladies of that church acting as hostesses. The theme of the program was "Life Service." A reading was given by Mrs. M. E. Kidd, followed by the devotional by Mrs. W. M. Bagwell and a prayer by Mrs. J. N. Gipson. A violin duet by Sara O'Neal and Gloria Bell Kirk was followed by a reading by Mrs. D. E. Ford. The choir sang "Seal Us, Oh Holy Spirit." The benediction was led by Mrs. O. H. Futrel. At the conclusion of the program a contest was held and games enjoyed, and refreshments served to the following: Mesdames J. L. Spencer, J. L. O'Neal, L. Hardage, Tyron McFarland, Stedman Pennwell, Arline Pennwell, G. A. Land, Dewitt Calhoun, J. A. O'Neal, George Rinehart, C. H. Littleton, Warren Ambrose, W. A. O'Neal, Robert O'Neal, Joe O'Neal, Daniel O'Neal, Jim West Land, Archie Land, John Calhoun, O. A. Futrel, Alma Davis, Hershey Story, W. M. Bagwell, Rebecca Parnell, C. L. Mondart, C. L. Madden, D. E. Ford, O. H. Futrell, H. M. Bagley, M. E. Kidd, J. N. Gipson, S. A. W. Jones, Minnie Hammons, Royce Ford, Joe Norris, Sam Pace, Perry Tomlinson, T. J. McCloud, Vera McCloud, John Will Pennwell, Barrett Wright, John Hester, L. T. Kirkland, Alphin Grant, W. H. Robinson, Allen O'Neal, Levi Calhoun and W. H. Robinson.

Mrs. O. H. Futrel presided at the opening exercises of the zone meeting at the Methodist church. Those who appeared on the program were Mrs. D. E. Ford, Mrs. W. R. Whitaker, of Farmerville, Mrs. A. E. Woodard of Ringgold, Mrs. Sam Jones of Downsville, Mrs. G. R. Weaver and Miss Sheila Nuttall of Shreveport. At the conclusion, refreshments were served. Representatives attended the meeting from Choudrant, Ruston, Calhoun, Downsville, Farmerville, Drew, Chatham, Indian Village, Beulah, Douglas and other auxiliaries.

Mrs. M. E. Kidd entertained the Needlecraft club at her home. Mrs. C. L. Madden presided. After the meeting the women of the Choudrant faculty joined the meeting. A peanut contest was won by Mrs. W. M. Bagwell and Miss Grace Pipes. Mrs. Harold Willis and Mrs. H. M. Bagley were also winners in other contests. High score in rook was won by Mrs. Willis. At the conclusion of the play ice cream was served to Mrs. C. L. Madden, Mrs. C. L. Mondart, Mrs. H. M. Bagly, Mrs. C. T. Faulkner, Mrs. W. M. Bagwell, Mrs. Hattie Geiger, Mrs. M. B. Holstead, Misses Palma and Hester Kinmon, Grace Pipes, Louise Hogan, Yvonne Sanderson, Vivian Farmer, Elizabeth Nobles, Mrs. D. F. O'Neal and Mrs. Harold Willis.

Mrs. F. C. Futrel is suffering an attack of influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Burnside of Wyatt visited here during the week-end.

C. L. Madden, accompanied by the boxing team, left for Baton Rouge where the team entered the state boxing tournament.

Mrs. Bertha Ferguson of Ruston was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Ford.

Mrs. C. B. Colvin attended the state W. M. U. convention at Ruston.

Mrs. M. B. Holstead and Mrs. H. M. Bagly attended the P.-T. A. meeting at Tallulah.

Mrs. George Easterling, who has been seriously ill, is reported much improved.

Mrs. J. H. Edmondson had as her guest Miss Florence Edmonson.

Miss Alma Gipson of Greenville, Miss., is the guest of Mrs. J. N. Gipson.

Mrs. L. K. Brooks, who has resided in West Monroe for the last six months, has returned to her home here. She was accompanied by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Brooks, who will reside here.

The Methodist Missionary society held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. S. M. Pace. The devotional was led by Mrs. C. A. Moore and the closing prayer was given by Mrs. W. G. Kelly. Among the business matters discussed were preparations for a study course to be held on April 2.

Mrs. Arch O'Neal was hostess at a card party held at her home recently. The Easter motif was expressed in floral decorations, by the tallies and little yellow chicks which were favors. The players were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mondart, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Kidd, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Colvin, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Pipes, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bagwell, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Parnell, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Faulkner, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. O'Neal.

Recently elected officers of the Presbyterian auxiliary assumed their duties at a regular meeting. Mrs. Archie Land presided and the meeting opened with a devotional given by Mrs. Harvey Aulds.

The resignation of Mrs. T. B. Alderson from the office of president of the Baptist Women's Missionary society was accepted at a regular meeting of the society. Mrs. Alderson resigned because of illness. Her successor will be elected at the next meeting of the society.

Miss Hester Kinman is convalescing satisfactorily following a recent illness.

Mrs. A. C. Frost had as her guest this week her daughter, Ruth Sanderson, and Bob Forrest, Bob Davis and Miss V. Matthews, all of Shreveport.

Sports Chatter

BY GEO. V. LOFTON

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

Perhaps it's sheer folly to attempt to pick a September winner in April, but the idea has become so firmly embedded in the cranium of baseball fans and sports writers that, like an iron post set in concrete, it's hard to shake loose. The fan makes his selections in conversation, and thus is able to dodge the consequences when October 1 rolls around. The sports writer puts his in print, thereby crawling out on the well known limb, and lives to see his mistakes haunt him when the hot summer months fade into autumn and his favorites have folded up like one of those camp chairs that are forever dumping a fellow into the dirt.

As the Walrus remarked, the time has come, etc. Presidents, governors and mayors are polishing up the old stove-pipe lids preparatory to tossing out the first ball. Bands have been tuned to a fine pitch, and so have the hurlers. So we may as well get it over with.

We like the Tigers in the American league and the Cards in the National.

If the Tigers repeat, Mickey Cochrane will duplicate the feat of Hughey Jennings in 1907-1908-1909. The Yankees won three straight in 1921, '22 and '23, and again in 1926, '27 and '28, under the late Miller Huggins. Can Cochrane turn the trick?

The gold-plated Red Sox and their many supporters say no. The Boston crowd has Foxx, Cramer, McNair, Grove, Ferrell, et al, to back up their argument, and that's plenty of fodder for any baseball discussion. But we're picking the Sox for the second slot because we don't think Mr. Cronin will get the pitching, despite the presence of Messrs. Grove and Ferrell. We have a hunch neither will be as effective as he was last year. And there's that matter of teamwork. The Sox have never worked together before and they may not be able to pull together their first year out. There's no denying that Mr. Yawkey has gathered together some high powered talent.

Getting back to the Tigers, Cochrane has the same outfit that won two straight, plus Al Simmons, plus several outstanding rookies. Simmons may not reach the peak that made him a great slugger at Philadelphia, but it's a good bet that he'll top his .267 at Chicago last year. Al's a money ball player. The other Al, meaning Crowder, probably won't turn in 16 victories this year, but Cochrane has a fine staff without him, with Rowe, Bridges, Auker, Lawson, Hoggsett and Sorrell, plus Kimsey and the rookie Phillips. If the Tigers can escape the injury jinx again, they should find themselves resting on the top rung when the curtain drops.

Cleveland may be the team to beat, but two big "ifs" pop up there—if the Indians can learn how to win away from home and if they can rid the camp of the jinx that removed at least four key men at crucial times last season. The Indians apparently have what it takes, but we're picking 'em for third place largely because the team is built for the Cleveland park and never has been able to function nearly as well on the road.

Joe McCarthy has been trying to get the Yankees out of second place for several years, and we think he'll turn the trick this season. In all probably, he'll land 'em about fourth. The infield is wobbly, with Crosetti and Lazzeri ailing, and the pitching is doubtful, particularly if Gomez has another 1935. They say Joe DiMaggio does everything well, and is likely to prove a first-year sensation. McCarthy will need him.

The second division stacks up like this: the Browns, Senators, White Sox and Athletics. Seventh place may seem a little low for the Chicago entry, but the spring games indicate the pitching won't be as good as it was last year, and neither the infield nor the outfield will be ready to start. A sensation-start last year enabled the Sox to finish in fifth place last year, and there's nothing to make us foresee any repitition of that spurt for the current campaign. There's one certainty about this picking business—the A's will trail.

And why do we like the Cards? Because they have the pitching, the punch and the pep to turn the trick. They say the St. Louis club is in better shape than any other outfit in the National league. And those bear stories about the Deans aren't what they're cracked up to be. The same thing happened last year. In fact, one sports publication came out with a story that Dizzy Dean was all washed up and that he'd do well to last out the season. Dizzy lasted, to the tune of 28 victories. Parmelee has been added to the staff this season, and he should mean the difference between first and second place.

The Cubs needed a 21-game winning streak to win last year, but that's not likely to happen again. Charley Grimm says he's going to do most of the first basing for the Bruins this season, and that makes a weak spot there. Taken as a whole, the Cubs just don't stack up as a championship team to us. Rookies brought up by the Bruins haven't done anything to help the situation.

We'll take the Giants for third place and, don't laugh, the Cincinnati Reds to complete the first division. The Reds reputedly are in grand shape, their 1935 freshmen are sophomores now, their pitching appears first rate and they're getting their share of the hits. We've a hunch Mr. Dressen's entry is going to make plenty of trouble for the favored few.

The Pirates are no stronger, if as strong, than they were last year, and they will land in fifth place unless we're way off in our reckoning. The Dodgers, Phillies and Braves are picked in that order to complete the selection.

Taken as a whole, the National league appears weaker than it's been in several seasons.

So there's our slant on the situation. By mid-summer we'll probably wish we'd never mentioned the subject at all.

THINCLAD

Louisiana State university has sent another former star athlete to Monroe. He's John Sanders, ex-track luminary of several seasons back. He was a member of the L. S. U. teams which won national fame. Sanders, a distance star, holds the Southern 5,000-meter record. He's as spry as ever and would like nothing better than to pit his skill against the nation's best right now. He's assistant parish agricultural agent.

EVEN

The hitters and the pitchers had an even break in the Southern openers yesterday. Two games produced lots of hitting, two others featured hurling. The Travelers and Chicks made 28 hits between them at Memphis, while the Vols and Smokies combined for 25 safe blows at Knoxville. At New Orleans, Coombs and Thomas hooked up in a pitching duel, the Pels making four hits, the Barons three. Atlanta and Chattanooga got six hits apiece in the Atlanta opener.

PROGRESS

Billy Bendel made something of a record on Neville's tennis team this year. When the season started, he was No. 5 player on the squad. When it closed he was No. 1 man. That's improvement de luxe.

SCOUTING

Lowell "Red" Dawson, head football coach at Tulane, and Charlie Rucker, assistant coach and alumni official, spent several hours here Friday. Said they were just "scouting around." Incidentally, Dawson has a yearning for some 200-pound backs. Who hasn't? Red is rather pessimistic, and so are some of the Tulane fans, but give him time. He's a likeable chap and may surprise some of the die-hards. But don't expect him to set the woods afire with that squad he has at Tulane this year.

VISITOR

Jack Holt, University of Arkansas backfield stalwart, is visiting here during the Easter holidays. Jack is Kenneth's brother. The big fellow played baseball with Sterlington last year but won't return, he says. The Razorbacks are expected to root hard in the Southwest conference football race next fall, and Holt will be one of the power-houses in the Porkers' backfield.

CLEVER

George Ryan, Massachusetts sorrel-top, will return to Roosevelt stadium Tuesday night. If you want to see the cleverest grappler to appear here in some time, go out and watch Red work. He showed here once, and uncovered more new tricks than have been seen at the local arena all winter.

Frick Predicts Closer Pennant Race In National This Season

By Ford Frick
(President of The National League)
(Written Especially for The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—The National league has every reason to launch into the 1936 baseball season with enthusiasm. It's the league's 60th birthday year and in each city we plan a "birthday celebration" which will bring together the players and fans of all the decades that have passed into history since the National league was organized in 1876.

Two points in the April outlook stand out as reasons why this season should be keenly enjoyable from start to finish. One is the assurance of a closer race than last year from top to bottom, and the other is the rising tide of youth so strongly in evidence in the lineups of all eight clubs.

I am not rash enough to expect a more exciting September than last year, when the Cubs, Cardinals and Giants all were in the running and the title wasn't decided until Friday, September 27, two days before closing day.

It's asking entirely too much to demand another pennant dash like the one the Cubs made when they scored 21 straight victories. If we have just two clubs neck and neck in September this year, I'll be happy. Three or more would be wonderful. But I'm not basing my outlook for an interesting year on those September possibilities.

We'll have closer bunching of our eight clubs in May, June, July and August, no matter how many there will be in that select group shooting it out for the pennant when summer turns the corner into autumn. It looks like one of those years in which the pennant-winning club will make the grade on about 90 victories.

The Cubs and the Reds are "young men's clubs. Younger players predominate in all departments. The Cardinals also showed me a wonderful group of swift youngsters available as replacements. Bill Terry has the youth idea, too, and in the Pittsburgh ensemble important parts will be played by first-year and second-year players.

Brooklyn's pony infield is already the talk of the league. The Phillies will have a brand-new keystone combination and will be depending on young pitchers largely. Boston's rebuilding program likewise has put the accent on youth.

Four Clubs In Battle For American Loop Flag, Says Harridge

By William Harridge
President of the American League
(Written for the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 11.—I confidently believe the American league will enjoy an exciting and interesting race in 1936. I know the baseball public will agree with me when I say there are four clubs—Detroit, New York, Boston and Cleveland—that figure they have a chance to win the championship. I am willing to go even further than that by predicting that Chicago, St. Louis and Washington are going to make much more trouble for the above four named than they did in 1935. There is even a chance that one of the latter trio may finish in the first division.

That nothing is certain in baseball has been demonstrated year after year. We have seen clubs that were unanimously picked for second division berths win the pennant, we have seen clubs that were touted as almost sure flag-winners meet with unexpected accidents and finish close to the cellar.

That is why April predictions often are knocked into a cocked hat.

It is my honest opinion that the American league clubs have been strengthened, either by trades or by the acquisition of minor league stars.

The Detroit club has brought up several promising players and also added that star veteran, Al Simmons, to its lineup. New York is about ready to show the public its highly touted outfielder, Joe Dimaggio, whom experts declare, is the greatest player to come out of the Pacific Coast league in years.

Boston has retained its stars of 1935 and added Heinie Manush of Washington and Jimmy Foxx, Roger Cramer, Eric McNair and Jimmy Marcum of Philadelphia.

Cleveland has acquired Johnny Allen, fire-ball pitcher, from New York and counts upon Steve O'Neill, starting his first season as a major league manager, to work wonders with the team that finished third in 1935.

Chicago has strengthened its pitching staff and is better equipped with infield reserves in addition to uncovering a star center fielder in Mike Kreevich.

The Washington club showed me down in Florida that it possessed plenty of punch and speed and was imbued with a wonderful spirit. I also believe that the placing of Lewis, a rookie, upon third base and the switch of third baseman Travis to short is going to prove satisfactory.

Rogers Hornsby has had the St. Louis Browns clicking all spring and I see no reason why they should not prove to be one of the most dangerous in our league.

The Athletics? If Mr. Mack is able to develop a pitching staff, his team will win more games than it did in 1935.

In addition to expecting a most satisfactory season in the American league, I am also happy to learn that there is a continued renewed interest in the national game on the sand lots and also in the high schools and colleges.

QUARTER-FINALS ENDED AT MUNY

Two Matches Remain To Be Played Before Semi-Finals Start

Quarter-final round matches will be completed in the annual spring handicap golf tournament at the Municipal course today, and semi-finals will start Monday, Winnie Cole, Muny pro, announced last night.

Two matches already have been played in the quarter-finals. Vance Rhodes defeated Kenneth Holt, 4 and 3, and Ray Buce eliminated Jordan Barton, 3 and 2. Today's matches will bring together L. E. Ducote and Dr. T. A. Brulte, and Billy Downing and Shelby Cage.

Semi-final matches must be completed by next Sunday night.

Several qualifying scores in the annual club championship tournament already have been posted, Cole announced, with Dr. Brulte low scorer so far with a 76. Entrants have until next Saturday night to play their qualifying rounds, Cole said. First round play will start on Sunday, April 19.

Dr. Brulte's 76 established him as a favorite to cop medalist honors, as well as be a strong contender for the club championship. Others whose scores indicate they will be in the thick of the battle are Jim Davis, Ben Downing, Jr., Grady Nelson and Dr. R. T. Harberson.

A large field is expected to compete for the title.

LITTLE GLORY ON GRID

LINCOLN, April 11.—Johnny Howell, Nebraska quarterback, has played three years of high school football and one season of the college variety. His only score in all that time was a single point after touchdown. Howell is a blocking back.

30,000 TURN OUT FOR FIRST GAMES IN DIXIE CIRCUIT

Pels Win Hurling Duel From Barons; Hits Plentiful Elsewhere

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 11.—(AP)—Cheering fans in four southern cities—30,220 of them—saw the Southern association baseball teams get off today in the opening of the 1936 pennant marathon.

Oepning for the first time in the league's history on Saturday, Sunday attendance figures were expected to swell the totals as thousands unable to leave their Saturday businesses have the opportunity for the afternoon off.

Atlanta topped all attendance figures with 14,701 fans in the stands, a running start toward another attendance record, with New Orleans and Memphis having 5,861 and 6,710, respectively. At Knoxville, a chill wind and overcast skies held attendance to only 2,948.

But it was a rousing get-away, with the first day's averages showing Atlanta, New Orleans, Little Rock and Nashville setting the pace.

All the thrills of baseball were packed into the opening contests from slugging matches in two games to pitchers' duels in the other two. Oddly enough, the pitchers' duels were decided with a walk and a wild pitch.

Atlantans saw their champion crackers, with Bobby Durham pitching, stage a ninth-inning rally to nose out Chattanooga, 4-3, scoring the winning run on a wild heave by Dick Lanahan.

Poco Taitt, 1935 batting champion, went on a hitting rampage against the Knoxville Smokies as the Nashville Vols piled up 14 hits for an 11 to 7 victory. Poco rapped out two home runs, and a teammate, Rookie Jimmie Outlaw blasted another.

Down in New Orleans Bill Thomas pitched the first shut-out game of the season as the Pels defeated the Birmingham Barons in a tight fight 1 to 0. It was a great duel as Thomas tied up with a newcomer in the Southern, Ray Coombs. But with the bases loaded, the winning run was walked in in the fourth inning.

Little Rock did a thorough job of raking Memphis pitchers for base hits, piling up 16, two of them surprising home runs by the usually mediocre hitter Leo Nonnenkamp. Willie Duke of Memphis laso hit a homer.

PELS WIN DUEL

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—(AP)—Behind the superb pitching of Bill Thomas, the New Orleans Pelicans opened the Southern association baseball season here today with a 1-0 victory over the Birmingham Barons before a crowd of approximately 7,000.

It was a great mound duel with Thomas shading Ray Coombs, right-hander, acquired by the Barons from Syracuse of the International league.

The Pels' lone tally came in the third. Kintana reached first on Trapp's error, but was forced by Weatherly. Morgan singled sharply through the box. Henrich was purposely passed, filling the bases and Weatherly scored when Connolly walked.

Thomas limited the Barons to three scattered singles and permitted only two visitors to reach second base. In addition he recorded five strikeouts.

OLE MISS WINS TWO GAMES FROM MILLSAPS

UNIVERSITY, Miss., April 11.—(AP)—Timely hitting behind the initial pitching efforts of Clark Holmes, and Tom Savage gave the University of Mississippi a double win over Millsaps college here today, 8 to 5 and 7 to 2, the final going six innings.

After spotting Millsaps four runs in the first inning, Ole Miss came back in the second and third frames to count five times. Millsaps tied it up in the fourth when Bill Neeley errored on Red Bullock's long fly to center, allowing the Major hurler to go home.

Subsequent tallies in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings, made chiefly on militant miscues, gave the local team their margin. Bill Neeley's home run and Rab Rodgers' triple featured the final affair, Ole Miss scoring three runs in the initial frame and four more in the fourth.

DEBORAH VERRY WINS NORTH-SOUTH TOURNEY

PINEHURST, N. C., April 11.—(AP)—Deborah Verry, of Worcester, Mass., captured the north and south women's golf championship today with a 19-hole victory over Jean Bauer, of Providence, R. I., in a nip-and-tuck finish to the 34th annual tournament.

By winning Miss Verry made a sweep of the two major women's tournaments of the Sandhills resort season. She previously won the mid-south tournament at Southern Pines.

Miss Verry will sail for England next week to play in the British championship and to watch the Curtis cup international matches.

No more than one hole ever separated the finalists as they battled evenly over the 18-hole route. Three times Miss Verry was 1 up and twice Miss Bauer held that advantage.

From the tee of the extra hole Miss Bauer hit into a bunker and Miss Verry lashed one down the middle. Miss Bauer found her ball in a poor lie up against a slope with no chance for distance and after chopping it out with a niblick and playing five conceded to Miss Verry who had put her third four feet from the cup.

BOSTON, April 11.—A few more than 100 Boston college grid candidates were on hand when Gloomy Gil Dobie, new coach and former Cornell mentor, called spring practice. Seventeen lettermen are back for the squad.

DERBY DUDES

Stable Has Faith In Tintagel's Ability To Route At Downs

TINTAGEL

(By NEA Service)

Marshall Field and his trainer, George M. Odom, evidently have faith in the ability of Tintagel to go a mile and a quarter in the Kentucky Derby of May 2.

Evidence of this is their entering the Futurity winner in most of the early closing stakes at Belmont Park and Saratoga. The blinkered son of Sir Gallahad II and Heloise fooled many critics by doing the six and a half furlongs of the Futurity without the least difficulty. Many thought him too light behind for a router. Tintagel filled out well over the winter.

Tintagel was one of the most consistent 2-year-olds of last season. The leading money winner among American juveniles accounted for six of nine starts to earn $75,100, most of which accrued from the $66,450 winner's award in the Futurity. An additional $5,000 was contributed by his second to Grand Slam in the Arlington Futurity.

Tintagel was put out of the Florida Derby when kicked by Stand Pat while working out. There was nothing permanent about the injury, but it interfered with the colt's training.

CLINT BROWN BOUGHT BY WHITE SOX CLUB

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP)—Harry Grabiner, vice-president of the Chicago White Sox, announced tonight that the Sox had purchased Clint Brown, righthanded pitcher, from the Cleveland Indians in a straight cash transaction.

Grabiner said Brown would report here within a day or two. Last season Brown appeared in 23 games, winning four and losing three. His earned run average was 5.14. The purchase price was not announced.

USUAL FANFARE TO ACCOMPANY OPENING GAMES

Start Of Campaign Finds Teams In Both Loops Strengthened

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—Probable batteries for Tuesday's opening big league baseball games:

American league:

New York at Washington—Gomez and Dickey vs. Newsom and Bolton.

Philadelphia at Boston—Dietrich and Berry vs. W. Ferrell and R. Ferrell.

St. Louis at Chicago—Andrews and Hemsley vs. Whitehead and Sewell.

Detroit at Cleveland—Bridges and Cochrane vs. Harder and Pytlak.

National league:

Brooklyn at New York—Earnshaw and Berres vs. Schumacher and Mancuso.

Boston at Philadelphia—MacFayden and Lopez vs. Davis and Wilson.

Chicago at St. Louis—Warneke and Hartnett vs. Parmelee and Ogrodowski.

Pittsburgh at Cincinnati—Blanton and Todd vs. Derringer and Lombardi.

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—Major league baseball, like the circus, comes to town next Tuesday with the same old motif, the same foundation of appeal it has had for American sports followers for upwards of a half-century, from the kids on the back lots to the man in the white house.

The grand openings will feature brass bands instead of the calliope, acrobatics ball-snatchers instead of trapeze artists, flag-raising instead of animal acts, but the peanuts and popcorn, as well as the general idea, will be much the same.

The 16 clubs epitomizing the best in America's national sport, hopeful for good weather and a cloudless "Big top", will swing into action before upwards of 200,000 fans. President Roosevelt will toss the first ball at Washington. They will start the main show from scratch but no more than three or four clubs in either the National or American league seriously entertain pennant hopes.

The betting fraternity favors the world champion Detroit Tigers and the Chicago Cubs, National league titleholders, to repeat. Baseball writers pick the St. Louis Cardinals to displace the Cubs, with the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates as chief threats otherwise. The expensively rebuilt Boston Red Sox, Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees, all about that order, are the challengers for Detroit's two-time winners to worry about.

Anticipating the upward trend will continue, in sport as well as business club owners have furnished bigger and better accomodations for the fans. Parks in New York, Boston, Detroit and Chicago have been improved, enlarged or both. Major league baseball climbed well out of the red last year. There are still some anaemic spots, notably Philadelphia, but better balance on the whole seems to have been brought about by reorganization and wholesale shakeups in playing talent. The Boston Braves are now the Boston Bees, for better or for worse.

First division clubs in both leagues have figured in vital player changes made since the close of the 1935 season, but Brooklyn Dodgers will present the most completely revamped lineup of all, when they invade the Polo grounds, home of the Giants for the opener that is certain to draw the biggest gallery, close to 50,000 fans.

The only clubs making no conspicuous changes, in fact, are the Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Browns. Both outfits did their building last season, with such success that they are now willing to gamble on the results of their experiments. The sophomore class of the Reds should cause considerable trouble in the older circuit, meanwhile continuing their successful trial with night baseball. The Browns, forfeited by the shrewd work of manager "Trader" Hornsby, figure to make little capital go a long way.

Notwithstanding Boston's acquisition of some of baseball's biggest names, notable fence-bustin Jimmie Foxx, Detroit is still the team to beat in the American league race. The Tigers checkmated the Red Sox, to a large extent, by buying Al Simmons from the White Sox for outfield duty and cleanup clouting. Others of Mickey Cochrane's world champions are substantially the same, with the brilliant young third base prospect Don Ross, to step in if Marvin Owen fails, and one or two young pitching stars hopeful of shining if the anchor soupbone of "general" Al Crowder fails.

The Tigers have the defense, power and the pitching, with Schoolboy Rowe, Elden Auker and Tommy Bridges the best trio possessed by any club in the league. With Cochrane ready to wear the mask at least two-thirds of the time, they have added strength where it counts in all departments. Barring accidents, which they have been singularly fortunate to escape for the past two years, you can't figure the Tigers anywhere but on top.

The Red Sox are no mystery team, it remains to be seen whether Joe Ferrell and Lefty Grove, who last featured 45 games last year, will regain form and, at the same time, get sufficient support otherwise from a light hitting pitching corps to capitalize the power generated by the bats of Foxx, Cramer, Rush, Cronin, McNair, Cramer, the Ferrell and others on the $300,000 Boston payroll. Romano Picks Cardinals To Dethrone Cubs In National League

The Cubs to do it again!

That is the opinion expressed in many sections of the country as the 1936 baseball season gets under way on Tuesday. If Charley Grimm gets the pitching he did last year and holds his own at first base—his sixteenth in the big leagues—the race will be a close affair instead of the wide open one between three clubs it appears as flag-raising day nears.

The Cubs sneaked through by the skin of thier teeth last year. Had the Giants split even on that last western trip, the New Yorkers would have won the pennant. Furthermore, to prove that Grimm depended mostly on pitching was shown in the world series when after Warneke went out, the Tigers won off by themselves.

Grimm took several young pitchers into Chicago with him. Fabian Kowalik and Clay Bryant may spell the difference between first and second place, provided Warneke is his old self, and Charley Root, Bill Lee, Larry French and Tex Carleton play up to snuff. If not, there is nothing to it but the St. Louis Cards!

Giants Best Rounded Club

Bill Terry has the best rounded club in the league. Giving up Tarzan Parmelee for Burgess Whitehead may give him plenty of headaches before the season is two months old. Unless Whitehead fills that gap in the infield and a strong replacement is handy should Stoney Jackson's trick knee go from under him, a good deal of luck will be needed to escape lodgement in fourth place.

Frankie Frisch's big eggs are in one basket—on the mound. The Deans are good for forty games, and may pick up five more between them against the weaker clubs. Diz and Daffy will be primed for the big clubs and only go in and chuck them on an off-day against the Bees, Phils, Reds and Dodgers. Parmelee is certain to turn in fifteen and not hurt himself doing so. Terry was patient enough with Tarzan but there is no denying the stuff he has on the ball when right, and should this be one of those years when he is that way New Yorkers will moan with anglish.

Cards Have Spirit

Jess Haines, Willie Walker and Bill Hallahan are still around. They are good for at least twenty games among them. Having accounted for eighty games of an expected 100 to win the pennant, rookies like Ed Heusseur, Mike Ryba, Bill McGee and Nelson Potter are counted on to furnish the remainder. Heusser and Ryba may fool them all by keeping pace with the regulars.

Another point in favor of the Cards is their spirit. They look on the Cubs as "lucky stiffs" and point to the 14 drubbings they handed the gum-chewers' representatives against eight defeats. New York's failure to halt the Cubs—Grimm's men took 14 from the Giants—accounted for the difference at the close of the season. The only fault in the St. Louis set-up is lack of reserves, and Frankie Frisch, at 38, attempting to play through a full season. Fordham Frankie must be extremely confident of himself and his team or he would not have traded Whitehead for as good a pitcher as Parmelee undoubtedly is.

Pirates Are Dark Horses

Dismissing the race with a casual review of the highlights of the three contending teams is taking too much for granted. No matter what can be said about the general weaknesses of the other clubs, you cannot deny that good pitching here and there would change the entire outlook.

Pittsburgh offers Cy Blanton, Bill Swift, Guy Bush and Jim Weaver as starters. Brooklyn has Van Lingle Mungo, George Earnshaw, Fred Frankhouse, Ed Brandt and Bill Clark. The Reds have Paul Derringer, Al Hollingsworth, Gene Schott and Lee Stine. The Bees will shoot with Bob Smith, Ben Cantwell, Johnny Babich, and Bobbie Reis, while Jimmy Wilson's Phils will trot out Curt Davis, Bucky Walter, Syl Johnson and Earl Moore. Not a bad group, taking them as a whole, and learning from past experience the leaders wisely take nothing for granted when opposing them.

There is no club in the second group resembling anything like the Boston Braves of miracle fame. In last place on July 4, in 1914, they swept on to win the National league pennant, and then went out to take the highly-touted Athletics into camp in four straight games in the world series. Pitching did the trick. This is brought out to show what may happen to the leaders if any second division club gets high grade pitching for a good stretch of the season. The damage would not be confined to any one club but spread around so that the club getting the breaks would finish in first place.

It looks like the Cards. But don't bet on it. The Cubs and Giants are not out of it, and look out for Pittsburgh if it gets the pitching. Pie Traynor's Buccaneers are the real dark horses. They were coming fast at the end last year, and they still look like the team which finished that way.

Easter

The bells ring out—the birds sing—joyously in time; in learning; in achievement; in experience—and in the hope and faith that we can turn all these factors to ushering in another Spring—another Easter with its miraculous message of eternal Hope. Man has traveled far since the first Easter—both spiritual and material benefit. Such hope and faith carry us through emotional strife and economic privations to the life of greater spiritual and material abundance which beckons for us. For in Faith there is Hope—in Hope there is action—and Action makes this a better world in which to live.

The star rank was presented by Walter Rohr, Boy Scout commissioner, to Tim Heninger, of troop No. 31, Monroe.

The life rank was presented to two scouts by P. S. Mulhearn of the executive board. They were James Whitten, troop No. 34, Monroe, and Dalton Veach, troop No. 67, Sterlington.

Eagle rank was presented by Fred Williamson, chairman of the public relations committee, to Fred Thatcher, troop No. 13, West Monroe, and to Calvin L. Buffington, troop No. 67, Sterlington.

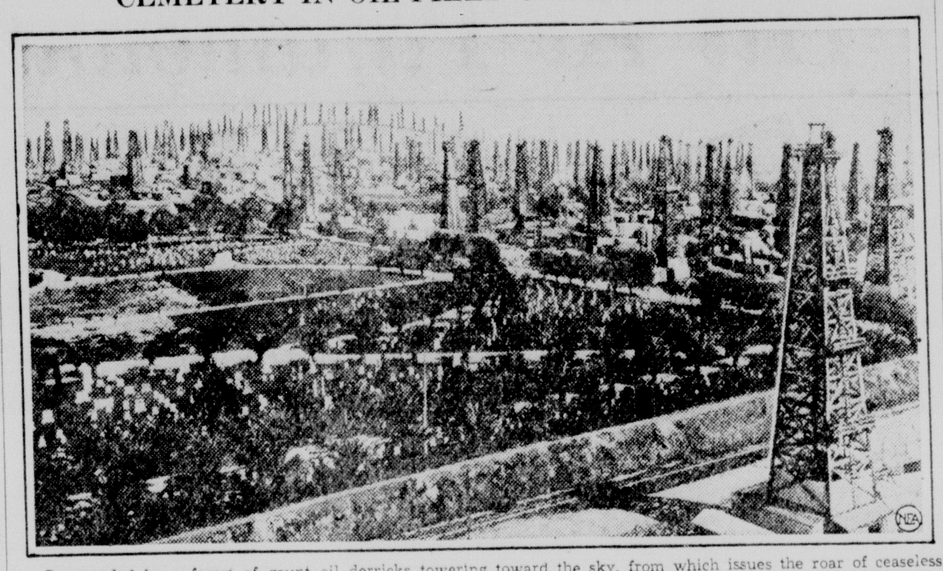
First aid certificates were given by Parker McComb to those who had passed successfully the Red Cross standard course.

Announcement was made by scout executive that Camp Ki-Ro-Li will open on June 7. The meeting closed with the scout benediction by Hessel Cahn, assistant district commissioner.

BAND MOTHERS MEET

OAK GROVE, La., April 11.—(Special)—The Mothers of the Band club met in the home economics department in Oak Grove high school with 20 mothers present, for the purpose of making suits for the boys and girls who belong to the band. The uniforms, which are to be worn when the band has its next performance, are capes of the school colors, black and gold, and the pants and skirts, which will be white.

CEMETERY IN OIL FIELD CENTER OF BIG SUIT



Surrounded by a forest of gaunt oil derricks towering toward the sky, from which issues the roar of ceaseless activity, Sunnyside cemetery, shown in this airview, is the center of an $85,000,000 suit, one of the strangest in American legal annals. Descendants of the dead who rest there and owners of lots in the burial ground, in the great Signal Hill oil district at Long Beach, Calif., are suing oil corporations and the Long Beach Cemetery association for the enormous sum. They charge that the graves are being desecrated as oil is removed from beneath them by "whipstocking" (drilling on an angle), and that cemetery lot owners are entitled to a share in the huge profits that the oil men have reaped.

15 CONCORDIA PARISH SCHOOLS ENTER CONTEST

JONESVILLE, La., April 11.—(Special)—Fifteen schools in Concordia parish will enter the Rosenwald contest in a program to improve and beautify school grounds and buildings. The white and colored schools are divided into two distinct classes and will compete for the prizes, two elementary school libraries, one of which will be presented to a white school, and one to a colored school, judged to have shown the greatest improvement during the school session of 1935 and 1936.

The white schools that are entered are Shaw, Vidalia, Ferriday, Clayton, Monterey, Silver Lake and New Era.

The colored schools are Saughy, Concordia Parish Training school, Sevior-Rosenwald school, Clayton colored school and Lake St. John school, Frogmore, Hornsby, and Wildsville.

On April the fifteenth, Superintendent J. S. Burris and a committee composed of C. P. Seab, parish agent, Effie Walsworth, home demonstration agent, and Mrs. A. Laurant will meet and check the results and forward their opinion to State Superintendent T. H. Harris at Baton Rouge. The superintendent will then appoint a committee to judge the parish winners and name the two schools to receive the Rosenwald libraries.

OUR MODERN AGE

FEARLESS COURAGE

"Great courage indeed has been displayed by those on whom the burden of flood was laid. These noble men, and women too, have set back to work without much ado. The once turbulent waters, now quiet and still, continue to yield to their own will. From many places they are gone, but in many more they still remain and resist man's efforts with might and main."

"The duty of all is made quite clear. To these unfortunate souls we must bring good cheer."

Minden Boy Wins Singles Title In Only Monroe Loss At Ruston

RUSTON, La., April 11.—(Special)—Championship trophies and medals awarded winners of first places in the finals of the north Louisiana high school tennis rally Saturday at Louisiana Tech were distributed among three schools, with Ouachita Parish of Monroe taking two events, Neville of Monroe, two, and Minden High school one.

O. P. H. S. won the boys' doubles and the mixed doubles; Neville the girls' doubles and the girls' singles, and Minden the boys' singles.

Jack Howie, of Minden, was crowned singles champion, defeating Isaac Patton, Ouachita, in a close match. Carrie Perce, of Neville, won the girls' singles championship, beating Mary Mahr in the finals. The boys' doubles champions were Isaac Patton and Leon Fergus, of Ouachita, and the girls' doubles title winners were Frances Smith and Carrie Perce, of Neville. The mixed doubles crown went to Isaac Patton and June Moffett, of Ouachita.

Results of the finals were as follows:

Boys' doubles—O. P. H. S. defeated Minden, 6-3, 6-0.

Girls' doubles—Neville defeated O. P. H. S., 6-4, 6-8, 6-3.

OUACHITA BEATS BYRD TEAM, 8-7

Lions Score In Eleventh To Take Hard Fought Tilt At Ruston

Pushing over a run in the 11th inning, the Ouachita parish high school baseball team won a hard fought 8-7 victory over the Byrd high school nine, of Shreveport, at Ruston yesterday.

After Byrd had tied the score in the seventh inning, the teams went scoreless until the 11th. Crowe, Byrd hurler, hit Stewart, first up for the Lions in the 11th. Sherrard sacrificed the Ouachita third sacker to second and Jones, Lion first baseman, brought him home with a clean single that broke up the duel.

The Lions started strong, scoring four runs in the first inning and three in the fifth. Takewell started on the mound for Ouachita but was wild, and was removed in the eighth. Crowe relieved him, whiffed two and Crowe 11. Locey hit a home run for Byrd, while Stewart got two doubles for Ouachita and Pate hit a triple.

Harvey Gregg, regular Lion second baseman, injured a finger before the game and could not play. Giddeons, outfielder, suffered a knee injury during the game. Pate, Ouachita shortstop, played a fine fielding game, despite two errors chalked up against him.

The Lions will play the Louisiana Tech freshmen here Monday afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock, Coach Leo Hartman said last night that the game probably will be played at Plum street diamond.

TIGERS, REDS TIE

DAYTON, O., April 11.—(AP)—No-hit relief pitching by Jim Brennan held the Detroit Tigers in check over the last five innings today and gave the Cincinnati Reds a 5-5 tie with the world champions in a game called at the end of the twelfth inning on account of rain.

Cincinnati took a 3-run lead in the third but Al Simmons put the Tigers in front with a home run in the fifth that brought in Rogell and Walker.

The Reds tied it up in the seventh when Lombardi hit a long fly that enabled Kampouris to score.

NATS TRIM ALBANY

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—In a 25-hit contest, marked by ten extra-base blows, the Washington Senators today defeated their Albany farmhands, 9 to 7.

Neither Earl Whitehill nor Buck Newsom was particularly effective, with the former giving up nine hits and five runs in the six innings he worked. Jesse Hill, fleet outfielder, led the Washington attack with a triple and home run, followed by Joe Kuhel with two tripples. Smead Jolley, who once was tops among American league batters, smacked out five hits in five trips to the plate for Albany, including a double and triple.

Score by innings:

YANKS BEAT DODGERS

BROOKLYN, April 11.—(AP)—The New York Yankees took advantage of Van Mungo's wildness in the early innings today and paved the way for their 6-3 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the second of their three-game series at Ebbets field. The Dodgers won yesterday.

The Yanks score twice on Mungo in the four innings he was on the mound but got only one hit.

Red Ruffing held the Dodgers to one hit for the five innings he was on the mound but Casey Stengel's men nicked Monte Pearson for a run without getting a hit in the seventh and then jumped on Johnny Murphy for two more on four hits in the eighth.

INDIANS BLANK GIANTS

CLEVELAND, April 11.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians put some fine pitching on display today as they defeated the New York Giants 4-0 in a preview before a scant 1,000 chilled fans.

Mel Harder, Willis Hudlin and Oral Hildebrand, each working a three-inning stretch, yielded only a total of five scattered hits. In contrast, Hal Schumacher, the Giants' opening hurler, had little to puzzle the Indians. He was touched for only four hits in the four innings he worked but handed out five passes and uncorked a wild pitch to give the Indians all of their runs. Fred Fitzsimmons checked the tribe with two hits the remainder of the game.

The victory gave Cleveland a 7-6 edge on the series, the final of which will be played here tomorrow.

WHITE SOX DOWN CUBS

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP)—Ganging on Larry French for all their runs in the third and fifth innings, the White Sox defeated the Cubs, 5 to 1, before 4,500 at Wrigley field today as the teams resumed their annual spring city series that was started in Los Angeles last month.

The victory evened the series at two victories apiece.

PURPLE KNIGHT COPS MARYLAND HANDICAP

BOWIE, Md., April 11.—(AP)—Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Purple Knight and Good Harvest finished first and second today in the $5,000 added Southern Maryland Handicap, closing day feature of the spring meeting here.

Townsend X. Martin's Steel Cutter was third.

MONROE SQUAD TO BE TRIMMED SOON

Candidates Battle For Places On Local Entry In Ouachita Loop

The battle for places in the lineup of the Monroe Druggists' baseball team will be heightened this week as Manager E. C. Hunt begins picking his probable lineup and reserves, and cutting down on the squad's surplus candidates, it was reported yesterday.

The Druggists will open their schedule in the Ouachita Valley league here next Sunday against the Swartz Carbon Blackers at Casino park, and the squad will be worked at top speed this week in preparation for the game.

At the present Manager Hunt has a squad of about 30 players working with him, but the sessions during the remainder of the week will see about a third of these dropped from the roster. The workouts are expected to develop a more lively turn as the week passes as all team prospects will be battling to cinch a place on the squad as well as in the starting lineup.

At present Manager Hunt has a fairly good club with a fast infield, a capable pitching staff and good outfielders. The squad's catching is a little weak, but this is expected to be remedied before the week is over by the addition of a couple of catchers who, as yet, have been unable to make the training sessions, but are being counted on to bolster the club's chances of a winning combination.

This will be the Druggists' first venture into the Ouachita Valley league loop, having received the franchise of one of the two teams that dropped out of the circuit at the completion of last year's campaign. Manager Hunt has been active in trying to build up the club and has received the official backing of the American Legion in his activities. The Spatafora Drug company added its support to the squad by completely outfitting them in uniforms, thus the name Druggists which the Monroe club adopted as recognition to Spatafora for the equipment.

One of the features of the opening day's game will be a track and field day in which the public is invited to participate. Manager Hunt has secured the services of Coach Percy Brown, of Neville, and Coach "Lefty" Haynes, of Ouachita, who will conduct the various events, and prizes will be offered to the winners of the various contests.

LEAGUE TO MEET

The Ouachita Valley league will meet at Hotel Frances Monday night to adopt the 1936 playing schedule. The meeting will be held in a studio of radio station KMLB, starting at 8 o'clock.

A schedule for a six-club circuit was drawn up two weeks ago but since that time the Winnfield club was admitted to the league, thus increasing the entries to seven.

Umpires who have been selected to officiate this season are especially requested to attend Monday night's meeting, President T. O. Dent said.

INDIAN BROOM BREAKS RECORD IN MARCHBANK

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—(AP)—Indian Broom broke the world's record for a mile and a furlong today in winning the $10,000 Marchbank handicap Top Row was second and Azucar third.

Indian Broom left the field easily behind, finishing in front by seven lengths. A crowd of 25,000, largest of the season at Tanforan, saw the world's record performance.

The winner, favored next to Top Row in the betting, paid $7.40, $2.60 and $2.40 in the $2 pari-mutuels. Top Row, the favorite, paid $2.40 and $2.20 and Azucar $2.60.

GEORGIA EVENS SERIES WITH AUBURN NINE, 8-3

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 11.—(AP)—Georgia squared its two-game series with Auburn this afternoon at Cramton Bowl, winning handily 8 to 3 as the Plainsmen were charged with seven errors.

Georgia took the lead in the second with a two-run rally and was never headed, getting to Morris for nine hits. Davis, Bulldog hurler, rapped out 3 of the nine hits.

EVANGELINE LEAGUE

(By Associated Press)

The Alexandria Aces hammered out their fourth consecutive victory over the New Iberia Cardinals Saturday to protect their position at the top of the Evangeline league. The Aces have yet to suffer defeat.

The Cardinals outhit the league-leaders 13 to 12 but were unable to make the count for runs with the same success as the aces and dropped a rather weird decision, 14 to 9.

The fast-stepping Opelousas Indians stayed on the heels of the leader by turning back Lafayette 9 to 5 for a record of three wins and a single loss. "Tiny" Osborne went the route on the mound for the winners, scattering nine White Sox hits.

In another wild hitting affair the Rayne Rice Birds swamped Abbeville 19 to 9. The Birds got off to a big lead in the first inning, when they tallied six times and were never headed by the Athletics.

Cedric Johnson, a rookie pitcher, hurled the Jeanerette Blues to a 10-0 victory over Lake Charles. The Skippers gathered only two hits off Johnson's offerings. While his mates collected a total of 15 off the slants of Whitman and Goss.

TAR HEELS STILL SEEKING MENTOR

Ingwerson Definitely Out Of Picture, Officials Turn Elsewhere

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., April 11.—(AP)—With Burt Ingwerson, Northwestern university mentor, definitely out of the picture, the University of North Carolina athletic council's coaching committee today considered other prospects for the job of head coach.

Ingwerson, baseball and assistant football coach at Northwestern, had been considered the No. 1 candidate to succeed Head Coach Carl Snavely, but he advised the committee last night he definitely would not consider offering for the job.

Raymond Wolf, Texas Christian athletic director and football line coach, is still being considered, although he informed the committee this week he wasn't interested in the salary it mentioned, understood to be $6,500.

It was intimated this figure might be increased if necessary to obtain "the right man." It was recalled here that Chuck Collins drew as much as $7,500 during at least two of the eight years he was University of North Carolina head coach.

It was reported on good authority that other prospects now under consideration include Walter Skidmore, backfield coach here under Snavely; John P. Gorman, head freshman football coach at Princeton university, and John Rowland of Syracuse.

Most of the football lettermen have signed a petition asking that Skidmore be given the job on the ground that the football squad "has complete confidence in him and he is well acquainted with the local situation."

Snavely resigned to become head coach at Cornell.

ALABAMA TRACK TEAM WHIPS GEORGIA TECH

ATLANTA, April 11.—(AP)—Alabama's great track team defeated Georgia Tech 81 to 50 in a clash at Grant field here today.

In spite of the defeat of the Tech team, one of its members, Perrin Walker, put on a startling individual performance to score 18 points.

He won the 100-yard dash with a 9.6 performance, was first in the 220 with a 21.3 second mark, tied with Ben Jones in the high jump at five feet ten, placed second in the shot put and third in the discus throw.

U. S. TEAM COPS DOUBLES MATCH IN THREE SETS

Martinez And Mestre No Match For Veteran American Pair

By Felix R. McKnight
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

HOUSTON, Texas, April 11.—(AP)—Captain Wilmer Allison took an hour off from his golf game today and teamed with John Van Ryn as the United States' Davis cup doubles team to clinch the North American zone series with Mexico.

Wilmer Allison

Admittedly playing the "best doubles tennis we have played in a year," Allison and Van Ryn made amazing power shots to defeat Flavio Martinez and Antonio Marco Mestre, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2.

The victory placed the United States in the zone finals against Australia at Philadelphia late in May.

Allison said it was still too early to announce a definite lineup for the Australian matches but "I imagine the lineup will be the same as it was here—except that I probably will play singles."

That would place Donald Budge, the California meteor, and Allison in the singles, with Van Ryn and Allison doing doubles duty. Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, the Atlanta atom, played in the singles here and recently defeated Allison in the finals of the Houston invitation tournament.

Only a short while after he had toured 18 holes in near par golf, Allison stepped on the courts, played the tennis that won him top ranking in the United States—and went back to the golf course for another nine holes.

Allison and Van Ryn charged the net to overwhelm the youthful Mexican team. Van Ryn, his usual steady self, had his smash shots finding the corners. Allison was near perfect with hard volleys and terrific overhead shots.

The Americans won the first ten games in quick time but Martinez, a husky youth, finally won his serve, a streaking drive that Allison lauded as one of the hardest he ever had tried to handle.

REDS BILL SEVEN GAMES AT NIGHT

Cincinnati Club Again Takes Lead In Major Loop Showmanship

CINCINNATI, April 11—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, first and only major league club to feature night baseball, also plan to set the pace in showmanship and comfort for the fans in 1936.

They will play seven games under floodlights this season, the same as last year, in their considerably renovated park.

In a $25,000 "spending orgy," the Reds made the box seats more restful, replaced wooden banked floors in front of the right and left wings with concrete and installed new chairs there and in four rows of the grandstand.

The park has been completely repainted in two-tone brown, with the posts in olive green. And the underparts of the grandstands are done in robin's nest blue!

Concessionaires spent another $25,000 for better lighting and display of food and drinks.

Cincinnati ushers will be turned out in new uniforms—red coats, blue trousers and red and blue caps. Even the gateman and ticket sellers have new regalia of a military pattern.

Capacity has been stretched from 30,000 to 33,000, part of the additional seating having been provided by rearrangement of the boxes and the rest to banking the outfield for installation of portable seats.

MORE THAN MERE MAIDS

fishing FACTS and Fancies

Results of the visit of Jack Lamb, famous bass fisherman, to Monroe last week, can be seen in the increasing number of embryonic bait and fly casters here. In spite of rather windy weather, new disciples of Izaak Walton were busy the first part of the week practicing on lawns, back yards and some few on Bayou DeSiard. They are going at it in right hearty fashion and a few timely tips in the rudiments of this form of recreation are offered at this time.

A lead sinker of approximately 5-8 ounce is excellent for practicing bait casting. For windy weather it offers very little wind resistance and is easy to retrieve over a lawn or wherever one chooses to practice. Also this weight is about the same as that of standard casting lures so that the beginner soon gets accustomed to handling the correct amount of weight.

For those having trouble with line snarls and back lashes and who are using free spooling reels having no control over the speed of the spool, it is recommended that the reel be about half filled with a cheap soft cotton line before the regular casting line is rolled on. This is known as "backing the line," and has several advantages, the chief of which is that it allows the spool to revolve more slowly and develop little momentum at the start of the cast, thus preventing the spool from over-running the line as it goes out toward the target.

By all means use a target in practicing bait casting, as this will develop accuracy. Try short casts first as distance may be achieved later on. An old newspaper folded once makes an excellent target.

For those to whom fly casting is now a mystery the following suggestions may not be amiss:

In fly casting the line carries the fly to its target, which is just the reverse of bait casting in which the weighted lure pulls the line out. In view of this, the fisherman should use a fly rod of good and stiff action, and a line that will balance with the action of the rod. A line that is hard and wiry should be chosen. Rods vary a great deal, so it is a good idea to fit the line to the rod. A rod of 6 1-2 ounces with a good stiff action frequently carries a D line and makes a good balance. However, it all depends upon the action of the rod.

Personal preference will indicate the proper size, kind and strength of leader. Strength in a leader is indicated by pounds and for a D line a leader of 30-pound test will generally match well with the line. Length of leaders is of some importance and six feet is a good length to start with for beginners.

Very recently a father and his son were seen on Bayou DeSiard, with the father in the role of instructor of fly casting. After several attempts the youngster caught a small bass of about legal size. A snapshot was taken of the boy with his first fish and then the father told the son to handle the fish with wet hands and remove the hook with care, so that little damage be done to the fish, and return him to the water. The fish was barely above legal size, he said, and at some future date might give another sportsman the thrill of catching him, and also the supply of fish would be conserved, with a good chance for an increase.

Hats off to this man and his boy . . . they are true sportsmen.

Varying degrees of success are claimed by those fishing the Ouachita river at Riverton. Many have reported good luck with barfish but few bass have been taken there.

Some fishermen have had fair luck along the river. Most of these reported good results were obtained using red and white bucktails on shimmy wigglers, and where banks were steep and there was little brush under water, fly rod minnows were used. Skipping the minnows over the water close to shore line, often as close to the bank as a foot, brought many strikes from both barfish and bass.

Rain the past week may make the Ouachita murky, but other streams and bayous will afford some sport to anglers for Sunday, provided weather conditions do not change for the worse. The old saying, "Fish are where you find them," holds true in every case.

When temperature is 80 degrees or hotter, use a fly rod and keep flies on the surface. Oil flies before using. Press between blotters or old newspapers to remove surplus oil, and then make a few casts without letting the fly hit the water. This will aid in removing any surplus oil and cause the fly to bush out in a more nearly life-like manner. Allow the fly to rest on the water for a few seconds upon casting, then twitch the rod tip slightly, thus causing the fly to "wiggle" as though it were alive and had just fallen from the air.

Those using small flies tied on hooks of appropriate size frequently experience difficulty in getting a large leader through the eye of the hook. This can be handled efficiently by using a tapered leader which may be tied by the angler as follows: Use two feet of 30-pound test leader and next to it tie another strand of 20-pound test of two feet in length, then tie on two and one-half or three feet of 15-pound test leader and this last is the end that the fly will be tied onto. Experiments with knots will serve to show the best way of tying leaders together as individual tastes differ. A tapered leader made up as described will be found to handle remarkably well, almost as though it were the same test all over. Many fishermen use tapered leaders exclusively in the belief that a fly can be caused to hop in a more natural manner when using a rolling cast.

With the coming of warmer weather, flies in a variety of black and white patterns may be used, but for a little while yet the white and red combinations will be good in early morning and late in the afternoon.

Bait casters in early morning fishing will do well to remember that slower reeling, causing the lure to travel under the surface, a foot or more, will give Mr. Average Angler a better chance for strikes. The reason is temperature. For every 12 to 15 degrees below a temperature of 80, lures should go under water around 18 inches to two feet. At least so say experienced fishermen.

LUTZ TO COACH BEARS

BERKELEY, Calif., April 11.—Larry Lutz, University of California's great tackle of last year, has turned down an offer to play pro football with the Green Bay Packers and will serve as assistant coach at his alma mater.

L. S. U. TEAM TO TAKE TWO-WEEKS BASEBALL JAUNT

Tigers Play Auburn, Alabama Mississippi State And Tech

BATON ROUGE, La., April 11.—(Special)—Coaches Harry Rabenhorst and J. E. Whitworth today named a squad of 17 Louisiana State university baseball players to make a two weeks tour through Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana during which the Tiger nine will play eight games. Games will be played with Auburn, Alabama, Mississippi State and Louisiana Tech.

Those named by the Bengal coaches to make the trip are: Catchers, Helveston and Stewart; pitchers, Brown, Lockbaum, Fatherree, Dixon, Nolan and James or Romogosa; infielders, Tinsley, Callender, Blair, Humphries and Landry; outfielders, Warmbrod and Walker; manager, McDonald.

The team will leave here Easter morning and play their first games in Alabama against Auburn, April 13 and 14; University of Alabama will be met in Tuscaloosa April 17 and 18; Mississippi State will meet the Tigers on April 20 and 21 in Starkville, Miss.; and on the way home the Tigers will stop off at Ruston to play Louisiana Tech April 23 and 24.

Louisiana State's hopes for a conference title will be made or broken on this road trip. The most important games on the schedule are those with Alabama. The Bengals and the Crimson Tide broke even in a recent series here. A double win for either team would practically cinch the pennant.

Alabama is the defending champion and horsehide experts have picked the Bengals as having the only team strong enough to stop the Crimson Tide from annexing another pennant. The heavy hitting Bengals bombarded the Crimson Tide from all angles to take the first of a recent two game series. In the second encounter the Tide handed L. S. U. their first defeat of the year when the Bengal infield collapsed to let in a flock of runs on errors.

While Auburn and Mississippi State are expected to have good teams the Bengals look to be stronger. Aiding a veteran L. S. U. pitching staff is the heaviest hitting Tiger team in history. Seven of L. S. U.'s starting nine have been pounding the ball over the .300 mark. Tinsley, hard hitting first baseman and all-America football end, leads the murderers row with an average of .556, which is hitting in any league.

Other players in the .300 class are Brown, Helveston, Walker, Humphrey, Fatherree and Callender. When Brown and Fatherree are not pitching they double up in the outfield. Another Tiger star who will soon be above the .300 mark is "Buddy" Blair, shortstop. Major league scouts have been following the Tiger star around this year waving contracts in his face and while he has displayed his usual flashy fielding he has been in a batting slump. However, against Alabama, Blair started to pound the ball as he has in past seasons and appears to be on the way up.

Opposing pitchers will find that the Tigers hit hard as well as often. The Bengal batsmen have collected some 15 home runs in six games this season despite the fact they play on the largest field in the league.

VIDALIA SCHEDULES GAME WITH NATCHEZ

VIDALIA, La., April 11.—(Special)—The Vidalia Tigers have been named as first opponents of the re-organized Natchez Indians of Natchez, Miss., and the inaugural contest will be played Sunday, May 3 in Natchez at the new airport stadium now under construction. When completed the plant will be one of the most up-to-date ball parks in this section.

Manager Mike S. Ohlsen of the Vidalia club plans to have a first class aggregation of ball tossers on hand for the opening game with the Bluff City Redskins, ancient rivals of the Bengals. He will hire an entire combination and among the number who will perform for the Tigers will be Nathan Blair, well known L. S. U all-around athlete. Blair is playing with L. S. U.'s Tigers and will be home for the day. He is a resident of Ferriday and played with Vidalia last year. He has received several offers to play in organized ball but a yet has not signed.

Ferriday's Black Cats will be the second game rivals of the Natchezians according to advices from the Mississippi city.

MISSISSIPPI GOLFERS BEAT MILLSAPS TEAM

UNIVERSITY, Miss., April 11.—(AP)—Ole Miss handed the Millsaps college golf team a decisive defeat here today, taking all four of the matches held.

Walter Welty, Ole Miss, finished up on David Brooks, Millsaps, F the same score, George Buchana Ole Miss, beat Lloyd Sutherland, Millsaps, and Colin Campbell, Ole Miss downed Joe May, Millsaps.

An Ole Miss pair, Welty and Buchanan, also won 3 up from Sutherland and Brooks.

CATCHER POWERS SOLD TO GREENVILLE TEAM

PALESTINE, Texas, April 11.—(AP)—Sale of Horace (Pudge) Powers, catcher, by the Palestine Pals of the East Texas league to Greenville, Miss., of the Cotton States league was announced today by A. M. Burris, Pals president.

Powers caught for the Pals during the entire season last year.

Three Hundred Seek U. S. Ring Titles And Olympic Chance

By Harry Grayson
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

CLEVELAND, April 11.—The national amateur boxing championships are being held out of Boston, New York or St. Louis for the first time and sprinkling the show around appears to be beneficial.

Fully 300 slamateurs are in Cleveland for the big production on April 15, 16, 17. A record has been established for the number of Amateur Athletic Union associations competing —33. A nine-man team has come all the way from Honolulu. California, Oregon, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Nebraska, Nevada, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio and other states are represented.

The medal chasers have an added incentive this trip. The four outstanding lads in each of the eight classes qualify for the Olympic trials to be held in Chicago next month. This year the slogan is, "Be a simonpure socker and see the cockeyed world," particularly if you reside in Honolulu.

The national amateur championships annually compose one of the liveliest fistic attractions in the land. There are no sub-novices such as those that turn up in Golden Glove tournaments. Competitors in the A. A. U. whirl are the pick of their respective districts.

Pro Champions In Making

Spectators are likely to see a future world professional champion at any weight—from fly to heavy. James J. Corbett was an amateur. So were Joe Louis, Bob McAllister, Lou Salica, Jackie Fields, Tony Canzoneri, Fidel LaBarba and Barney Ross.

If all of the professionals broke in as amateurs, the beak busting business would be better off. Generally speaking, a beginner is properly coached and trained and is not overmatched under A. A. U. or intercollegiate supervision.

The large Cleveland field is ready —from Josh Mercado, the little Hawaiian flyweight, to Gerard DeClercq, a longshoring heavy of San Francisco who is reported more formidable than Louis Nova, from the same city and who took the title a year ago.

Little Mercado has a flyweight teammate in Gilbert Murakami, and other members of the squad from the mid-Pacific are David Young and Fred Yasui, bantams; Ray Maruko and Eddie Townsend, feathers; Anton Generalao, lightweight; Kenji Horie, welter, and Johnny Santiago, middleweight. Andy Biddle is the coach, and Jack Robello the trainer.

Other members of the San Francisco team are Hugh McPhillips, a middleweight sheet metal worker who lost to Dave Clark in the semi-final round last year; Mario Duchini, 17-year-old welter who copped the northern California Golden Gloves championship a year ago; Earl Booker, lightweight student at the University of San Francisco making his third attempt to bag a national gold medal; Danny La Verne, bantam; and Horace Samuelson, flyweight.

In His Father's Footsteps

Bob Breslin, welterweight son of Jack Britton, the old welter leader, will represent the Pensacola Y. M. C. A.

Troy Bellini of Cleveland defends the bantam bauble.

Max Roesch, Southern Methodist sophomore and Southern A. A. U. heavyweight champion, is one of the lads the professional managers will keep their eyes on. Another is Paul Hartneck, the former Creighton university guard who won the heavyweight crown in the Chicago Golden Gloves tournament.

Other cracks are Joe Drayer, Omaha Golden Gloves and mid-west A. A. U. 160-pound ruler; Harold Dettman, Cleveland middle-weight; Elmer (Sonny Boy) Kelly, veteran feather of Loyola university of New Orleans; and Jackie Wilson, the Cleveland negro youth who undoubtedly is the tallest flyweight in the United States.

Wilson, one of the most accomplished warriors of the lot, won both the Cleveland and Chicago Golden Gloves titles and beat the New York champion.

They come to these national championships in all shapes and sizes and all of them can fight a bit.

New Astaire-Rogers Musical Hit At Paramount Today

Two of the world's loveliest voices are to be heard at the Capitol theater Wednesday and Thursday. They belong respectively to Jan Kiepura and Gladys Swarthout and they are on display in the new movie, "Give Us This Night," which ranks distinctly as "tops" in screen entertainment. The film is filled with music, laughter and love.

To the left is Jean Parker who is co-featured with Fred Stone in the human interest comedy drama, "The Farmer in the Dell," which is the screen attraction at the Paramount for Monday only. To the right is introduced "The Gales," dance sophisticates who introduce a smart routine of Rhythm Buck, Flirtation Walk, and St. Louis Rhapsody in Ed Gardiner's musical revue, "Passing Parade," two performances matinees and two performances at night on the same program Monday at the Paramount. The stage attraction is a musical revue with twenty people, including a stage band.

In the most bewitching role of a dance girl who captivates the entire Pacific navy personnel, Ginger Rogers sings, dances and romances with Fred Astaire through the gay musical, "Follow the Fleet," the attraction playing at the Paramount theater for the last times today. The complete musical score is by Irving Berlin, and Randolph Scott, Harriet Hillard and Astrid Allwyn head the big supporting cast.

'Follow The Fleet' Closes Engagement

Irving Berlin Wrote Music For Film; Harriet Hilliard In Cast

IN the parlance of the men who write motion picture ad copy, "Follow the Fleet," the new Astaire-Rogers picture booked for showing at the Paramount theater, is a terrific musical bombshell, with a complete score by Irving Berlin. The music master doesn't come to the screen himself, but his genius floods it from front to back to provide rhythm for the miraculous feet of Astaire and Rogers and infectious lyrics for their voices.

The nimble Astaire and his lithe titian-haired partner, have scored three record smashing hits within the short period of a year. They come to the public with quite a new and bewildering display in "Follow the Fleet."

Astaire sings and dances to "We Saw the Sea," and "I'd Rather Lead a Band." With Miss Rogers he sings and dances to "All My Eggs in One Basket" and "Let's Face the Music and Dance." Miss Rogers has a solo song and dance, "Let Yourself Go," which is reprised with Fred as a dance contest.

Randolph Scott, who first crashed the big time with the dancing stars in that musical fantasy of Paris, "Roberta," reaches for new laurels in this show. He neither sings nor dances but delivers red-blooded romantic appeal.

All Astaire-Rogers pictures have one or more personality surprises to pop. "Gay Divorcee" was loaded with them. . . . Astaire, Erik Rhodes, Eric Blore. "Roberta" had Scott. "Top Hat" gave Helen Broderick to the screen, and now comes "Follow the Fleet' with Harriet Hilliard, considered by Hollywood the most important find of the year. "Beauty, a lovely figure, a gloriously voice, acting talent and a personality that will reach out from the screen to capture any audience," are her assets. She came from the radio and the New York dance bands to play opposite Randolph Scott and help weave the second of the two romantic threads of the story. She sings two of Irving Berlin's numbers, "Get Thee Behind Me, Satan" and "Here Am I, But Where Are You?"

"Follow the Fleet" is an adaptation of two famous plays, "Hit the Deck" and "Shore Leave," New York stage sensations. It is a story of gobs and girls when the fleet's in. It catches the invigorating spirit of the navy afloat and ashore, dramatizing its high-pitched excitement and gaiety, couching its robust humor, plumbing its romantic depths and setting the whole dizzy whirl to effervescent music. There is a spectacular climax in which an elaborate style show is staged as an incidental to the plot.

Behind the melody of the picture, behind the singing and dancing of Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, behind the beautiful sets, the gay costumes, have been woven two romantic stories. One is of a girl who possesses a world of charm and beauty but doesn't know how to sell them. When she learns, she makes the mistake of believing what a sailor tells her. The other is of a sailor, with music in his soul and wings on his feet, whose only ambitions are to lead a band and marry the girl he loves.

"Follow the Fleet" was directed by Mark Sandrich who is responsible for the direction of "Gay Divorcee" and "Top Hat." Pandro S. Berman, the producer of all Astaire-Rogers and Hepburn pictures, brought this one to the screen for RKO Radio. Dwight Taylor and Allan Scott wrote the screen play.

San Francisco, one of the most colorful ports of call in the world, provides the setting and a typical sailor rendezvous is the arena for most of the shore action. The action afloat was photographed on a gigantic reproduction of a battleship.

The year's biggest song hit has been made into a screen musical smash. Here is Rochelle Hudson and Harry Richman who, with Walter Connolly, Douglas Dumbrille, Farley and Roley and a big cast and chorus, are featured in "The Music Goes 'Round," which comes to the Paramount theater for Thursday and Friday. One of the junior features is the most perfect short subject ever made, Chic Sale in "The Perfect Tribute."

While Popeye the Sailor watches with a gleam in his eye, Max Fleischer, the producer of the cartoon, starts the Sailor Man on another of his animated adventures. Popeye is the hero of the new Popeye club, coming to the Capitol theater this coming Saturday, starting at 9:30 o'clock. A huge program has been arranged for the kiddies. On the stage Jack Tracy and his Hotel Frances orchestra will appear in person.

Robert Montgomery and Myrna Loy, the gay stars of "When Ladies Meet," are together again in another merry mix-up, "Petticoat Fever," which comes to the Paramount theater for Tuesday and Wednesday. She wouldn't say "yes," and she wouldn't say "no," but it was Myrna's "maybe" that gave Bob petticoat fever and your gayest screen fun. It was adapted from a Broadway stage success.

POLICE JURY MEET DELEGATES NAMED

JENA, La., April 11.—(Special)—All members of the LaSalle parish police jury have been elected as delegates to the annual meeting of the Louisiana Police Jury association to be held at New Orleans April 28-29. Thirty dollars for the convention expenses of each delegate from the parish was appropriated from the general fund.

Delegates from the parish will be J. M. Thompson, president, and P. S. Gaharan, Jr., secretary-treasurer of the police jury, W. A. Poole, W. E. Harris, W. C. Holloway, Frank Benton, H. N. Tannehill, J. L. Paul and L. U. Manchester.

Wheat, wine, olive oil, and hemp are the four leading crops of Italy.

Hark to the Indian warhoop. List to the coyote yelping in the far sagebrush. Lend an ear to the crunch of wagon wheels on the sunset trail. Cringe to the sound of forceps uprooting a renegade's molar. Yea. Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey light out in the virgin West of the gold rush days for their latest and greatest comedy of errors and exultations, "Silly Billies," playing today and Monday at the Capitol theater.

In his latest film, "Charlie Chan in Shanghai," Warner Oland is called upon to solve a mystery that baffles the secret service of two nations. Here he is seen with Irene Hervey and Charles Locher who play the romantic leads. Charlie Chan has never been so perilously close to death, nor so shrewd or amiable a Chinese detective as Warner Oland makes him seem in this latest spine chiller. The picture plays Tuesday at the Capitol theater.

New Comedy Hit Showing At Capitol

Wheeler And Woolsey Star In 'Silly Billies' Today And Monday

STRIKING a brand-new note in feature comedy settings, the noted clown team of Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey abandoned the present era in favor of the hectic days of '49 in their current RKO Radio vehicle, "Silly Billies," showing today at the Capitol theater.

With its scenes laid in the old Indian Territory just as the gold rush to California is starting, with the two famous comics cast as a pair of quack dentists, and with all the picturesque features of the period—stage coaches, wagon-trains, Indian tribes, cavalry troops and the rest of it—highlighting the story, "Silly Billies" represents a genuine novelty in motion picture entertainment.

For some reason, the humorous possibilities of the covered wagon days have been overlooked by screen producers. Not since the late Will Rogers made "Two Wagons—Both Covered" as a two reel comedy many years ago, have the trials and tribulations of the pioneers been employed as the basis for film humor.

The colorful West has been used to great advantage in writing the story and screen play of the new offering. The original by Thomas Lennon and Fred Guiol, the screen play by Jack Townley and Al Boasberg, and Guiol's direction under the supervision of Lee Marcus, have all been coordinated to get the best results in the way of comedy situations, novel treatment and surprise elements, as well as to maintain the flavor and spirit of the old Western days.

A stage-coach hold-up, an Indian attack on a wagon-train, a cavalry rescue, the abandonment of whole communities as the inhabitants set out for the California Golconda, all are faithfully recorded as part of the dramatic background against which the two celluloid clowns perform some of the funniest antics of their careers. They extract teeth under the menace of bandit guns, fight off an Indian assault, are captured and made members of a redskin tribe, narrowly escape death by drowning and lynching, and otherwise cavort through the film in a manner that will delight their admirers everywhere. Thrills and humor alternate throughout the picture in unique fashion.

The dainty Dorothy Lee again has the feminine lead for the comics, with Harry Woods, Ethan Laidlaw, Delmar Watson, Jim Thorpe, Chief Thunderbird and other well-known players in the cast, as well as a band of some 50 redskins who wear their own tribal costumes, and hundreds of extras.

Local filmgoers are promised laughs galore in the hilarious hit "Three Live Ghosts," coming to the Capitol theater Friday. Richard Arlen and Cecilia Parker form the romantic interest with the laughs coming from Claude Allister, Charles McNaughton and Beryl Mercer.

Screen Life In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—The indorsement business amounts to quite a nice little sideline for movie stars, and may keep them in cigarets, shoes, automobiles, toothpaste or whatever products they choose to approve.

Several get good cash money in addition to free samples and the publicity afforded by publication of their pictures. More of them than skeptics would guess actually use the products they indorse. Popularity is a fragile thing, and they have to be pretty careful.

Western stars, for example, do not indorse cigarets. One horse-opera hero appeared in a tobacco advertisement and received a great many disapproving letters from parent-teacher associations. For several months his pictures actually were dropped from some of the preferred lists compiled by local censors.

Innumerable propositions are rejected by the stars. One company wanted Jean Harlow to stand next to a ventilating fan and allow her skirt to be blown this way and that—mostly up. It would have made quite an interesting picture. Miss Harlow said, "No thanks."

Makers of women's nether finery and foundations are forever after Mae West's indorsement. She always declines, figuring that this would be the most illusion-shattering publicity possible.

One manufacturer wants to sell corsets bearing her autograph. Can you imagine Klondike Annie posing in a corset? Oh, well—don't try.

They say that Greta Garbo was asked to indorse a garbage can, to have been called the "Greater Garbo Garbage-ola," or something like that. That was probably the first time the wan Swede decided that she wanted to go home.

HOUSING STUDY IN GOTHAM SCHOOLS

Educators Endorse Plan To Teach Fundamentals As Economic Need

BUFFALO, N. Y.—A plan whereby students in schools of this section will be taught economic fundamentals of home ownership has been adopted by school superintendents in many sections of the state.

The purpose back of teaching home ownership is to provide school students with advance experience or familiarity with financial obligations involved in home ownership other than that acquired by the trial and error method at the time of purchase.

The plan has been submitted to educators under the title, "Arithmetic Home Ownership Project," which was prepared by the local Federal Housing Administration office. The plan has been accepted by Dr. Ernest G. Hartwell, superintendent of Buffalo Public schools, Dr. James C. Spinning, superintendent of schools in Rochester and Mr. H. O. Hutchinson, superintendent of the board of education, at Elmira.

The idea of teaching home ownership in the schools has been heartily endorsed by leading architects, realtors, building supply dealers, and financial institutions in these three cities.

FIRST FLOOR

The attractive Colonial home shown here was built at Greenway Downs, Va., under terms of the Federal Housing Administration's Single Mortgage System. This charming, bungalow type house derives its beauty from simplicity of line and symmetry of window arrangement. The plan is good, with distinct separation of living and sleeping quarters. The living room is well proportioned and lends itself to attractive furnishing. The dining room is small but ample and is in keeping with the balance of the house. The bedrooms have adequate furniture spaces and, while comparatively small in actual dimensions, have ample open-floor space, which is the most important factor. The covered back porch connecting the garage and kitchen is both serviceable and ornamental. The garage, although connected with the house, is set well back where it is inconspicuous. Homes similar to the one illustrated above readily fall within the terms and provisions of the Federal Housing Administration's Single Mortgage System.

ANNUAL EASTER HUNT PREPARED

Boys And Girls Will Compete For Prizes At Forsythe Park

Early this morning a total of 4,000 gaily dyed Easter eggs will be hidden in Forsythe park under the direction of the members of the Eastern Star. No one will be permitted to interrupt the hiding of the eggs and the public will be barred from the park while the eggs are being placed. Promptly at 2:30 p.m., the annual Easter egg hunt will be started.

The hunt will be open to all children in the parish whose ages range from two to 12 years. Parents are asked to see that no older children are allowed to participate. They are asked to assemble immediately south of the municipal golf course clubhouse. A space will be roped off for boys and girls and an officer in charge will give instructions.

Girls will hunt eggs south of where the old street car tracks were formerly placed. Boys will hunt eggs north of this point. Then a special place will be provided in which little tots will hunt unmolested by their elders.

Eggs that have numbers will be brought at once to a truck stationed nearby, where prizes will be awarded in conformity with the numbers on the eggs.

The sound truck of Lloyd Walters will be used for the conveying of instructions. During the afternoon a 30-piece band of the Teflis Grotto, which is the sponsor of the program, will play.

This hunt will be given through the efforts of the Teflis Grotto, with which members of the fire department and city police as well as state highway officers are cooperating. The prizes, many of which are valuable, are being donated by merchants of Monroe and West Monroe.

The first prize for girls will comprise a diamond ring; the first prize for boys, $5 cash; the first prize for little tots, a "bunny rabbit." The second prize for girls will be $2.50 cash and the second prize for boys also $2.50 cash. In addition to these prizes there will be fully 100 or more prizes donated by merchants.

BASE PLUG

Why is it that the base plug never seems to be in the right place? Well, in many cases it is because it is in the wrong place. To be sure to have a base plug always at a convenient spot, there should be one at every point between door and window openings. Another refinement that is now widely practiced is taking the plug out of the baseboard and placing it in the wall above. If you have a table on which you want to place a lamp, the plug can be placed 20 inches or so above the floor. This keeps the cords off the floor where they gather dust fuzz and look untidy. The wall plates that cover the plugs may be painted like the walls so they are scarcely noticeable.

Concealed Plumbing

It has taken a long time to overcome the old selling point of "open plumbing," but at last the public has become less suspicious of anything that closes in the piping beneath a lavatory or kitchen sink, and the manufacturers, taking advantage of this wearing down of prejudice have come out with lavatories that look like cabinets with doors below the basin that open up and disclose a nice big medicine cabinet or place for linen or soiled clothes hamper. In these days when architects search out every available inch of space as diligently as Diogenes sought for his honest man, this gain is a real one.

HOME CLUB MEETS

The Claiborne Home Demonstration club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Allen Cloud. Reports were submitted by various leaders. Plans were formulated for a picnic for club members to be held late in May. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. L. De Freese.

Modernized Food Shop

Commercial modernization frequently produces remarkable changes, both in the appearance of a shop as well as the income of the tenant or owner. Above is shown how an outmoded cafe in a small Iowa town was remodeled into an up-to-date restaurant. According to information furnished the Federal Housing Administration, the modernization cost less than $1,000. Funds with which to carry out such projects are available at private financial institutions operating under provisions of the National Housing Act. For full particulars, consult any Housing Administration insuring office.

Housing Question Box

Q. Are lightning rods a protection or a danger? Some tell me one thing and some another.

A. Lightning rods of adequate size properly installed are a distinct protection. Inadequate ones might be dangerous. If you wish to have them installed, go to some reliable concern and let them figure out your needs.

Q. The floor in our living room has settled. What do you presume causes that?

A. If the settlement is in one place only, there probably has been settlement of some portion of the foundation or of a pier or column. Have a competent builder check your foundations and piers. It may be necessary to jack up the house and strengthen the weak spot. If the settlement is even over the whole floor, it is probably due to the shrinkage of the floor joists. In that case, have the molding at the junction of the floor and baseboard reset and be sure it is nailed to the floor and not to the baseboard.

Q. Can you tell me the best way to keep a room dark in the morning without shutting out the air?

A. There are two possibilities, outside blinds or Venetian blinds on the interior. If your house has double hung windows or in-opening casements, outside blinds would do. Be sure the slats are stationary and that they are so hung that when closed they slope down and out, so the rain will not come in. If you have out-opening casements, Venetian blinds should be used. If you prefer them Venetian blinds can also be used with double hung windows.

Q. Sometimes the hot water in our house practically turns to steam. Is this dangerous?

A. Yes, unless there is a safety release valve on the tank. If there is one already on the tank, have it examined to see that it is in working order. If there is none, have one installed.

Q. The floor of the living room of our new house has an awful lot of spring in it; do you think that is all right?

A. Wood floors all have a certain amount of spring, but excessive spring is due either to the floor joists being too small or too widely spaced or not sufficiently braced with bridging. Have them examined by some competent carpenter.

Q. Is there a good imitation tile I can put on my bathroom walls?

A. Yes; there are several that will serve the purpose well. Ask some building-supply dealer to show you samples. Select one with a backing that will withstand moisture and with a high-gloss finish.

Q. Should I have to run my furnace wide open all day in extreme weather to get enough heat in the house?

A. Is your house insulated? Are there weatherstrips on all doors and windows? Have you storm windows? If not, one or all of these will help considerably and will save an appreciable amount of fuel. If your house has all of these features, the furnace must be too small and a new one must be installed.

Q. What can I do with rusting brass hinges? They run streaks all over the paint.

A. If they rust, the hinges are not brass but brass-plated steel. The plating is evidently wearing off, and the only remedy is to replace them.

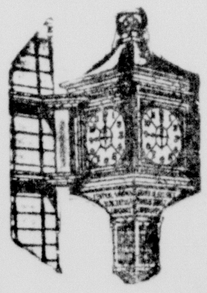
208 OUACHITA BANK BUILDING PHONE 268



Monroe-U. S. A.

On tomorrow, and Tuesday, the Banks of Monroe and West Monroe will be hosts to the annual convention of Louisiana Bankers Association.

Practically every Bank, and many of the Bond Houses, will have representatives here both on business and pleasure bent.

Incidentally Monroe and West Monroe will gain some wide spread publicity from our convention. Besides our Louisiana Bankers, we will have representatives from five big banks in New York and from several in Chicago, St. Louis, Atlanta, Kansas City, Memphis, Houston, etc. We likewise expect representatives from R. F. C., Federal Reserve Bank, F. D. I. C. and the Commissioners of Banks from Arkansas, Mississippi and Texas.

Likewise the "Mid-Continent Banker," published in St. Louis, and "Louisiana Banker" of New Orleans, both use an aerial view of Monroe on their front covers, the "Southern Banker" of Atlanta published our program and gave a write up of Monroe and the "Southwest Banker" of Dallas gives Monroe the spotlight.

The Bankers Convention is pushing Monroe to the front, and we feel sure our good people of Monroe and West Monroe will assist wherein occasion may present.

HUMBERTO MEETS RYAN IN TUESDAY SHOW

CLEVER EASTERN MATMAN BOOKED AGAINST MEXICAN

Whitey Hewitt, Boston Sensation, Tangles With Dick Lever

The fair fans will get a break Tuesday night. They'll be able to see a bang-up wrestling card without paying the usual admission fee, provided they're accompanied by one paid admission. It will be ladies night at Roosevelt stadium, and as the main attraction, Promoter Charlie Bruscato has booked Juan Humberto, who was disqualified last week in a rough match with Marvin Westenberg, and George "Red" Ryan, clever Massachusetts heavyweight.

For the semi-final match, the promoter has booked Whitey Hewitt, sensational newcomer from Boston, and Dick Lever, tough Nashville entry.

Humberto, the tough Mexican who is a leading contender for the heavyweight championship, will get a real test in Ryan. The Massachusetts Redhead performed here several weeks ago and gave the cleverest exhibition seen at the stadium in many moons. In fact, many fans requested that he be brought back again but Bruscato was unable to get him until yesterday.

Ryan is exceptionally fast and he includes numerous new wrestling wrinkles in his bag of tricks. One of his stunts on his previous visit was to achieve a leg split in the ropes Instead of hanging his opponent's head between the strands, as most wrestlers do, he entwined one foot in the ropes, and then stretched out his foe, and wrapped the hemp around the other leg. He made a big hit here and undoubtedly will prove a big drawing card at the stadium if he's booked often enough to build up a following.

Humberto, of course, is well known here. He is as rough as they come, and already has won the disapproval of most of the stadium fans. He uses all manner of fouls but occasionally mixes in some scientific wrestling to make it tough on his opponent.

Hewitt is a former football star who has been quite a sensation since he's been in the southwest, according to reports. He has been headlined on cards around Houston and other large mat centers in Texas, and comes highly recommended.

Lever is another villain who's well known here. He likes the rough going and would rather foul his opponent into submission than win by legitimate means. His roughness makes him a formidable grappler.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls, with the main event limited to two hours and the semi-final having a one-hour time limit.

but the opening day crowd fell short of expectations.

Governor James A. Noe opened the festivities by tossing the first ball, with Commissioner Joseph Skelly of New Orleans on the receiving end.

Eddie Rose, Bird left fielder, won a dollar throwing contest and Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, former Southern Women's golf champion, drove three balls over the center field fence as added attractions.

It was a tough beating for Coombs. He pitched well enough to win most games, but found Thomas at his best. Larry Gilbert's men garnered only four safeties off the diminutive Baron hurler, only one of which figured in the winning run.

Fielding honors went to young Tommie Irwin, the Pelicans' rookie shortstop. One error was registered against him, but he turned in a number of sparkling plays that shut off Baron raps that appeared certain hits.

USUAL FANFARE TO ACCOMPANY OPENING GAMES

from the Athletics to round out the twirling line, has developed a sore arm.

Cleveland, victm of a long list of bad breaks for two years, has an excellent chance to come through this season. The Tribe, harmonizing under a new pilot, Steve O'Neill, has sufficient power and pitching to lead the league, if it holds together and shakes off the injury "jinx". The addition of Johnny Allen and George Blaeholder to the curving corps, plus the comebacks of Frank Pytlak and Bruce Campbell, two of the 1935 season's biggest casualties, figure to help close the gap and make the Indians contenders all the way. Now all they've got to do is keep the Tigers from pinning their ears back for the third straight year.

The New York Yankees have had their bad luck early which may be a good sign. John Di Maggio, the outfield recruit sensation from the coast, Pitcher Pat Malone and Shortstop Frankie Crosetti all have been on the hospital list this week but their cases are not serious. The team lacks power, however, and has a doubtful infield combination. It's chances rest on pitching come-backs by Lefty Gomez and Monte Pearson, obtained from Cleveland.

The second flight of the American league, except for the "mystery men" collected by Connie Mack for the Athletics, is stronger than last year. Washington has a first-class ball club, with a recruit sensation in Buddy Lewis at third, but the pitching is on the weak side. The White Sox have pitching but not enough batting punch, even with Mike Kreevich, a newcomer, threatening to do better than Al Simmons did last season at bat. The Browns, under Hornsby's leadership, will be no push-over for any opposition. The A's will be confusing to identify but not much else.

Support for the St. Louis Cardinals in the National league race is based mainly upon two factors (1) that the Cubs, who needed a 21-game winning streak to overhaul the Cards last season, can't repeat that miracle and (2) that the pitching of the celebrated Dean brothers, aided by Roy Parmelee, erstwhile wild man of the Giants, will give St. Louis the balance of power. Parmelee has looked so good this spring that he is slated to get the opening game assignment against the Cubs, a team he likes to beat.

With Pepper Martin shifted to the outfield and Charley Gelbert back on the job regularly, at third base, the Cardinals are well fortified everywhere except behind the bat. The shelving of Bill Delancey, favorite backstop of the Deans, has been followed by temporary illness of his main replacement, Virgil Davis.

The Cubs figure they will not need another late season rally to repeat. With Manager Charley Grimm back at first base young Phil Cavaretta in reserve and big Chuck Klein, his old clouting confidence restored, back at his regular right field post, the champions have no particular worries, unless something happens to their pitching staff. If Lonnie Warneke's arm doesn't "snap" the way it did in the World series and if Charley Root has another good season in his ancient arm, all will be well, but the Cubs do not have much margin of pitching safety.

The Cants, after collapsing twice in the stretch, base their hopes mainly upon field replacements, including Burgess Whitehead at second base and Sambo Leslie, a heavy sticker, as understudy to the veteran manager, Bill Terry, at first base. The club has the league's best outfield in Ott, Leiber and Moore. If Fred Fitzsimmons comes back and Carl Hubbell keeps sharing the main pitching job with Hal Schumacher and Clyde Castleman, New York may climb back to the top.

Pittsburgh, fortified behind the bat by Al Todd and with Manager Pie Traynor back at his old post, third base, is the "dark horse" contender. Heading the Buc pitching staff is the sensational sophomore, "Cy" Blanton, most effective in the league last year, but unless he and Bill Swift get more help than they did last year from Guy Bush among others, the Pirates can't expect to go places.

The Dodgers, with a completely revamped infield and outfield, besides the acquisition of such experienced moundsmen as Ed Brandt and Frank Frankhouse from Boston, figure to give the fans of Flatbush quite a show and their opposition considerable trouble. Due mainly to their pitching staff, including a come-back by Big George Earnshaw, they look to be the class of the second division.

Cincinnati furnished one of the big surprises of 1935 and may repeat. The Phillies, shifting Lou Chiozza to the outfield and installing Leo Norris at shortstop in search of more punch, have enough good pitching to be troublesome. The Boston Bees, fortified behind the bat with Al Lopez and featuring other ex-Brooklynites, can do a lot better than last year and still not get out of the cellar.

FAIR WEATHER PROMISED

NEW YORK, April 11—(AP)—Brimful of hope like the managers of the rival teams, the weatherman said today "generally fair weather with moderate temperatures" can be expected for the opening of the major leagues' baseball season next Tuesday.

"But don't hold me to it," he cautioned. "Anything can happen."

Showers are expected late Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday, he said.

OLYMPIC GROUP TO OUST JAHNCKE

Former Navy Official In Bad Because He Opposed Participation

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—The Herald Tribune said today a movement has been started to oust Ernest Lee Jahncke, former assistant secretary of the navy and one of the three American members of the international Olympic committee, from the committee when it meets next summer during the Olympic games in Berlin.

The New Orleans sportsman, who has been a member of the international committee for nine years, expressed opposition to American participation in the games last fall before the hotly-disputed question was thrashed out at the annual meeting of the amateur athletic union.

He voiced his opposition in a prepared statement in connection with correspondence with Count Henri-Balliet-Latour, president of the I. O. C., who suggested that Jahncke ought to resign from the committee.

The paper said the international committee will resort to a rule which permits it to expel a member on the ground of failure to attend meetings. American Olympic officials here said Jahncke attended only one I. O. C. meeting, the congress held in Los Angeles four years ago.

The question of Jahncke's place on the I. O. C. was brought up last Sunday at a meeting of the American Olympic committee by President Avery Brundage of Chicago, who successfully led the fight against an American boycott of the games in Berlin last fall. The United States, however, does not appoint members of the I. O. C.

Jahncke was appointed in 1927 to succeed Dr. David Kinley of Chicago; who was discharged from the I. O. C. for non-attendance. The other American members are General Charles H. Sherrill of New York and William May Garland of Los Angeles.

FERRIDAY ALL-STARS PLAY MONROE TODAY

FERRIDAY, La., April 11.—(Special)—The Ferriday All-Stars open their season here Sunday against the strong Monroe Drillers in a game to be played at the Fair Grounds park, beginning at 3 p.m.

The All-Stars had one of the best negro semi-pro clubs in this section last year and have promise of another powerful combination this season. The Drillers have added a lot of young players to their roster and are boasting a faster nine than the one they had last summer.

On April 19 the locals will meet the Scotlandville Pelicans, and on the following Sunday they face the Eudora, Ark., Sluggers. Both games will be played here at the Fair Grounds.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Two hundred new stalls will be built at Tanforan racetrack, near San Francisco.

4 MORE SCHOOLS ENTER STUDENTS IN ANNUAL EVENT

Marble Editor Answers Questions Received During Past Week

The number of entries in the News-Star-World's second annual marble tournament will set a new record if the present trend continues, a survey of the entries revealed yesterday. With only 19 schools having officially accepted the invitation to compete, approximately fifteen hundred prospective entries have been registered with the marble entries.

Schools to register since the last report are Collinston, Clayton, Fort Necessity and Baskin. The 19 schools which have reported include only one from Monroe and none from West Monroe, which furnished last year's Southern champion, Jimmy Fletcher. All schools of the two cities will be represented this year, of course.

Today's marble news will be devoted largely to questions and answers concerning the tournament and the game of Ringer. Boys and girls and school officials are urged to write the marble editor if there's anything they want to know about the tourney.

Here are some of the questions received:

Q.: How much will it cost to enter the Marbles tournament? R. J.

A.: Not a cent. This paper bears all the expenses. Simply sign an entry blank and you are enrolled.

Q.: I am 11 years old. May I join this tournament? R. C.

A.: Certainly. The rules say that any boy or girl who will not be 15 years of age before July 1 is eligible.

Q.: Why don't you allow steel shooters in the contest? A. M. O.

A.: Because steel shooters are not conducive to good marble playing and also because it is difficult for other players using agate shooters to knock a steel one from the ring.

Q What is the difference between the lag line and the pitch line? Oscar R.

A.: You stand at the lag line and toss or roll your shooter to the pitch line (10 feet away) to see who shoots first.

Q.: Why is it necessary to know the rules? G. P. U.

A.: Because a violation of the rules may cause you to forfeit a marble. Knowing the rules permits you to take advantage of the breaks.

Q.: Who was the first national marble champion?

A.: Harlin McCoy of Columbus, O. He won in 1923 when he was 14 years old. Now he is 26 years old and has a 6-year-old son whom he is training to become a champion.

Q.: My shooter is six-eighths of an inch in diameter. It that O.K.? Jerry.

A. Yes. The rules say that a shooter shall not be less than one-half inch nor more than six-eighths inch in diameter.

Q.: How many players can play at one ring? Buster.

A.: Not more than six and not less than two.

Q: How soon should we begin practicing for the tournament? Oliver.

A.: Start right now. Draw a ring on a smooth spot of ground in your backyard, or on a nearby playground and practice from now until the time of your district contest.

Q.: Sometimes I get nervous and my shooter slips out of my hand. Would this count against me in a tournament match? Freckles.

A.: Not if the shooter does not travel more than 10 inches from your hand in the ring. See the rules under the section, "Playing Regulations."

Q: Why is the New-Star-World opposed to playing marbles for keeps? Skinny.

A.: Because it is a form of petty gambling, because it may lead to worse forms of gambling, because it is not the true sportsmanship that this paper want to encourage.

Q.: How many hours a day will I play marbles at the tournament if I win the trip? Buddy.

A.: The games last about two hours each morning but, of course, any one player is in action only about 30 minutes of that time. All the rest of the day you will play on the beach, swim, go to a movie party or take in other entertainments. And don't forget the champs will spend a lot of their time at the dining room table stowing away choice food.

Q.: Has there ever been a girl national champion? Alice B.

A.: No, but several girls have come very near winning the title.

Q.: My father is out of work and if I win the city championship he will not be able to give me any money for my trip to the tournament. What can I do about it? L. M. B.

A.: Don't worry about that. If you win the championship, this paper will pay all expenses to the national finals. You won't need one penny for pocket money. Now get busy and practice.

Q.: We had an argument the other day, some of the fellows saying the champion marble shooters are born, not made. If that's true, why practice? C. K. W.

A.: They're wrong. Champion marble shooters are made. All the former national champions will tell you how they practiced and practiced to perfect themselves. Some of them were so awkward that when they first started to play, they were laughted at. But practice makes perfect in marbles just as in anything else.

Q.: Who is the present national champion? David B.

A.: Henry Altyn, Throop, Pa.

Q.: Don't the larger boys have an advantage over the smaller ones in the marble contest? K. V.

A.: No. Marbles is one game where size doesn't count. Size has nothing to do with shooting ability.

Q.: I have shot at a marble and missed. My shooter stays in the ring. Is it true that my opponent can shoot at my shooter? If so, and he knocks it from the ring, am I out of the game? Tom L.

A.: When you have shot and missed, and your shooter stays in the ring, you are to pick up, and let your opponent shoot. Your opponent never shoots at your shooter.

Q.: Is Ringer the only official tournament game? B. R. M.

A.: Yes. It is the only marble game recognized by the tournament. It has been played, with very few changes in the rules, for 14 years, and practically is the only marble game played throughout the country today.

Q.: What is the best substitute for a good ring made of clay and sand? L. B.

A.: If you can't find a smooth surface on the ground or if it is bad weather, a heavy, thick rug makes a fairly good substitute.

Q.: How many boys and girls play in the national tournament every year? Ben J.

A.: Millions. So many, in fact, that national tournament officials hesitate to give an accurate figure. Since the tournament opened, in 1923 with less than a dozen city champions, it has grown to include more than 100 champions, with three sectional tournaments needed to care for them.

JIMMY THOMSON WINS RICHMOND OPEN MEET

RICHMOND, Va., April 11.—(AP)—Jimmy Thomas, Shawnee-on-the-Delaware pro, who learned to play golf here ten years ago, returned to win the $3,000 Richmond open today with a subpar 285. First place was worth $700 to Thomson.

Second in a field which included some of golfdom's best performers was Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles, who took a 289 in the 72-hole combat against par over James River course of the country club of Virginia.

A three-way deadlock resulted for third position when the two veteran Chicago campaigners, Harry Cooper and Frank Walsh, and Richmond's Bobby Cruickshank finished with 290's.

Horton Smith, Springfield, Mo., who came here after a brilliant finish at Augusta to capture the national invitation tournament, was placed with misfortune in the final round today to card a 291.

TECH NINE TROUNCES CENTENARY TEAM, 13-7

SHREVEPORT, La., April 11.—(AP)—Amassing 17 hits off three hurlers and capitalizing on six miscues by the Maroon and White, Coach Eddie McLane's Louisiana Tech Bulldogs from Ruston squared the series with the Centenary Gentlemen this afternoon. The score was 13-7.

The Gents invaded the camp of the Bulldogs Friday where they registered a win over the Tech team.

Taylor, Tech hurler, had the Gents well in check all afternoon and fanned 13 batters.

Score by innings:

La. Tech	130	230	022	13
Centenary	004	010	020	7

Taylor, Pittard and Hewitt; Stone, Burgess, Serra and Stokes.

New Wrestling War Flourishes As Shikat Jumps To Outlaw Promoters

Everett Marshall Gets Long Deferred Shot At Championship

By Harry Grayson
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 11—Dick Shikat has jumped to the outlaws and a bigger and better burping war is on.

The howls of the heads of the big bone-bending combine make it plain that Shikat wasn't supposed to do what he did to Danno O'Mahony at the Garden the other night.

But Shikat, who really can wrestle, evidently grew tired of being given the run-around, so clamped a hammerlock on O'Mahony, who can't wrestle.

The men hardly were in their dressing rooms before Jack Curley and Joe Mondt, the New York promoters, announced that the result didn't mean a thing inasmuch as the New York commission forces mat engagements to be advertised as exhibitions.

Paul Bowser of Boston said that the heavyweight championship was of little importance, anyhow. Tom Packs of St. Louis and Ray Fabiani of Philadelphia made light of Shikat's surprising victory.

Nevertheless, Curley, Mondt, Bowser, Packs, and Fabiani, directors of the main mat wheel, realize that Al Haft and Billy Sandow of Columbus now have the upper hand with Shikat on the throne.

Sandow virtually controlled the industry in America for more than a decade with Ed Lewis as his shooting star. The powers have treated him like a stepson since he broke with the Strangler in 1932. Meanwhile, Sandow has patiently bided his time on the kerosene circuit with Everett Marshall, a stocky California blond with more hammers, locks and scissors than a hardware merchant.

It is reported that Shikat is to collect $50,000 for pulling and tugging with Marshall in Denver, May 22. The crown is worth vastly more than that to Sandow, who with his man on top would be in position to invade once more the larger centers and make things tough for the opposition.

Those closest to the situation will be surprised if the leadership of the behemoths isn't passed along to Marshall.

Shikat, who has been around for quite a spell, never was overly blessed with bucks office magic, which is the principal requirement of the burly bloke bossing the wrestling works. The dashing Marshall, on the other hand, might succeed in making the turnstiles spin.

As Gus Sonnenberg, who put wrestlers into the more important money by bringing football tactics to the canvas, explains, the next big draw will have to show the public something new and exciting. With Sandow advising him, Marshall can be depended upon to give the customers a show.

Speaking of Sonnenberg, the old Dartmouth lineman is credited with having revolutionized the antiquated dodge with his flying tackle or butt, although the Greeks "lowered their heads and threw themselves forward, butting like rams" 4000 years ago.

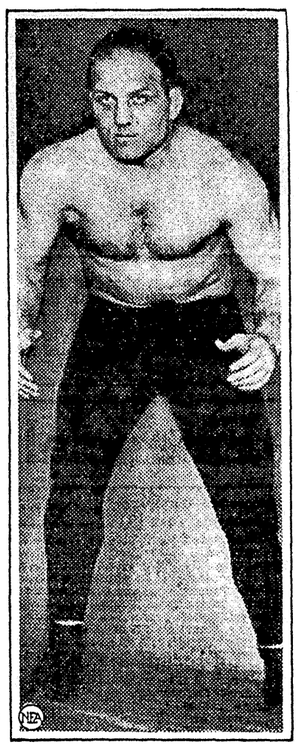
Nor was there anything at all new in Jim Londos' airplane spin. "Wonders of Bodily Strength and Skill in All Ages and Countries," published in 1885, quotes items from some of the better known sporting journals of ancient Rome and Greece.

"Observe," reads one, "how one lifts his adversary by the legs, throws him to the earth, casts himself upon him, drives him into the earth, squeezes his stomach with his legs, sinks his thumbs into his gullet and soon chokes the poor wretch, who begs him with earnest entreaty not to strangle him."

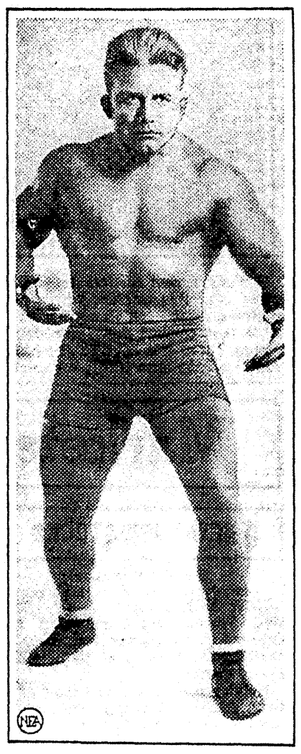
So, you see, Sonnenberg, Londos, the Duseks, and other boydenish fellows are only mimicking Ajax and Ulysses, who probably imitated primitive man.

The only thing really new about grunting, groaning and grimacing is perspiring pachyderms parked in the laps of ringside patrons and the breaking up of chairs. Only the fact that the preferred trade stood well back and that there were no chairs around the plots where they cracked ribs and cauliflowered ears kept the Greeks of 648 B. C. from excelling at that, too, no doubt.

There perhaps were wrestling wars of a sort in those days, too. The most ancient form of combative sport has survived wars since time immemorial. It is as hardy as those who watch it.



Dick Shikat . . . jumps to outlaw mat loop.



Everett Marshall . . . finally gets chance.

BASTROP GRID TEAM PLAYS GAME FRIDAY

BASTROP, April 11.—(Special)—A spring football game between the Bastrop high school Rams and a Bastrop all-star team will be played on the gridiron of the local high school next Friday afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. The game will end several weeks of spring football training which the local charges of Coach "Dutch" Binion have been undergoing.

The game next Friday is being sponsored by the recently organized Citizens Booster club. A small admission charge will be made. Much interest is being manifested in the game because it will give local sport fans their first opportunity to get a line-up on the material that Coach Binion has available for his team next fall.

On Thursday night, the Citizens Booster club will sponsor a smoker for its members at which time the members of the football team will be guests of honor.

Poland sends the greatest number of students to Germany, with the United States ranking second.

SOX HOPES REST WITH OUTFIELD

Cramer And Manush Are Question Marks In Boston Outer Garden

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—When Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox sits in his box at Fenway park next Tuesday afternoon, his eyes probably will roam significantly to the outer fairways where a couple of new hands will be digging in their spikes.

For there are many, and Yawkey probably is one, who feels that whether the owner restores a baseball dynasty in Boston will be determined to a major extent by the shaggers who range the outer reaches.

Roger Cramer, taken in the deal that decimated the Athletics, is a good bet to take care of things in center field but there is some skepticism among the fans as to the men who flank him.

The ravages of time are about due to tell on the veteran Heinie Manush who probably will get first call on the left field post. He had a lean year with the stick last season but Heinie has been a pretty potent batsman in the past and perhaps being with a winning club will make him forget his lame back and the advance of years.

Melo Almada will be in right field and although he is in for a good harvest, the records show that he batted .290 last year. Dusty Cooke, who batted .306 last season, hasn't performed too well in spring training while Bing Miller, who insists that years mean nothing to a fellow who loves to play is about ready to turn the game over to the rising generation.

The big "if" in the outfield situation is whether Manush can return to his former prowess or whether he too, even as Miller, will find that love is no substitute for youth when you take your turn at the plate.

HODGE GOLF TOURNEY TO START ON TUESDA

JONESBORO, La., April 11.—(Special)—Invitations have been sent out by the Southern Advance Bag and Paper company, to all executives of the various transportation companies that handle the finished product of the paper mill, requesting their presence at the first annual golf tournament and banquet, sponsored by the local Traffic club, which will take place next Tuesday and Wednesday.

The tournament was arranged to coincide with the Easter ball given by the golf club, which is one of the outstanding events of the season. Hodge people. The newly organized Traffic club is the second of its kind in the state. The other is in New Orleans.

Many people from all over the state are expected at the Easter ball, among including Gov. James A. Noe, and Mrs. Noe. Joe Cousins, of New Orleans, will act as toastmaster at the banquet.

SOUTH KENNER RACING MEET TO OPEN TOD

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—(AP)—70 day summer racing meet will open tomorrow at South Kenner park, near New Orleans, Ed Bisso, general manager announced today.

Bisso said that many of the horses that raced at the fair grounds track which closed recently would be seen in action, including Habanero, Wharrial, Hyklas, Shoteur and others.

The inaugural program includes five-furlong sprints, two dashes of the six and one half furlong route and two distance events at one and a sixteenth.

EIGHT WELLS IN RODESSA ADDED

Huge Gasser Completed In Bienville, Weekly Report Discloses

SHREVEPORT, La., April 10.—(AP)—The Rodessa deep oil field added eight wells and Bienville parish a huge gasser to the total producing units in northwest Louisiana the past week which ended Thursday.

The United Gas Public Service company, brought in six of the gushers. They are the Ardis No. 5, section 14-23-16, flowing 33 barrels per hour at 6,009 feet; Thomas No. 2, section 13-23-16, 62 barrels hourly at 6,016 feet; Young No. 2, section 21-23-16, 42 barrels an hour; 5,995 feet; Rodessa Oil and Land company, No. 12, section 22-23-16, 58 barrels hourly 6,005 feet; Gipson No. 1, section 15-23-16, 80 barrels per hour at 6,008 feet; and Pitts No. 2, section 13-23-16, 11 barrels per hour through a 1-4 inch choke. Operators of the Pitts well are preparing to shut off the high gas pressure in this hole and set a short string of casing, to make a better producer from it. Other wells completed:

Haynes Production company, Lawton No. 10, section 14-23-16, flowing 157 barrels per hour at 6,041 feet. Flow of wells mostly through 1-2 inch choke.

Arkansas-Louisiana Gas company, Rodessa Oil and Land No. 11, section 22-23-16, 27 barrels hourly through a 5-8 inch choke, at 6,002 feet.

Travis et al, Norton No. 1, section 17-23-15, at 6,080 feet, no gauge of capacity given out.

Bienville Parish-Lide, Greer, Marr et al, Davis No. 1, section 12-16-5, 70,780,000 cubic feet of gas at a registered pressure of 2,241 lbs., at 5,856 feet. Operators claim this is a new gas producing sand for the state.

Sabine parish, Converse field—Monroe Producing company, No. 1, Coyn, section 25-9N-14W, 35 barrel daily pumper at 1,771 feet.

Union parish—Farrell No. 12, section 9-20N-4E, one and half million feet gas at 2,130 feet; Interstate Natural Gas No. 44, section 7-20N-4E, same amount of gas from 2,144 feet; Southern Carbon company, No. 8, section 28-21N-4E, 12,000,000 feet gas at 2,125 feet.

Twenty-five drilling permits were issued the past week, 10 for Caddo parish; Rapides 1; Grant 1; Calsacieu 2; Allen 1; Acadia 3; LaFourche 1; Livingston 1; Iberia 3; Jeff Davis 1 and Ascension 1.

The Texas company staked location for its first well in Rodessa on the Cass county Texas side on the Hall property, a mile south of the American Liberty, Rodgers procuer.

Other tests nearing completion for the week are:

United Gas Rodessa Oil and Land company No. 11, drilling at 6,013 feet; A. W. Norton, Elder No. 1, section 22-23-16 was washing and drilling plug at 6,045 feet.

Belchic and Lasky wildcat proposition section 16-18-16, Caddo parish muddied off high gas pressure below 3,800 feet Sunday and are now drilling ahead around 4,000 feet.

Lincoln parish—Arkansas-Louisiana Causey No. 1, wildcat, section 23-19N-2W, has reached an interesting stage at 4,500 feet.

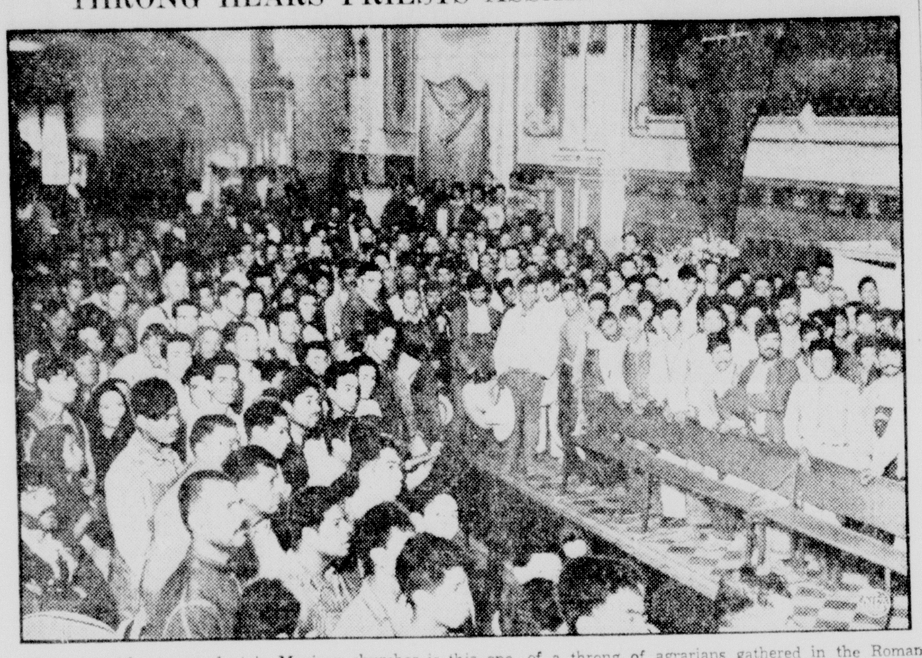
Union-Lent, Bocher and Sears, Frost No. 1, section 27-21-1E drilling below 2,705 feet.

Webster-Evans, Crichton No. 1, section 35-18-9, drilling below 4,670 feet.

Sabine parish—A. H. Tarver No. 2, section 36-6-12, blew wild, indicating another deep producing sand level. Operators brought the well under control and are now drilling ahead of 5,200 feet.

Morehouse and Ouachita parishes each registered a gasser with production of five million feet gas.

THRONG HEARS PRIESTS ASSAILED IN CHURCH



A scene without precedent in Mexican churches is this one, of a throng of agrarians gathered in the Roman Catholic edifice at Ciudad Gonzalez to hear President Lazaro Cardenas denounce three priests as instigators of the bloody riot in the town in which 16 were killed and 30 wounded. The clash occurred when worshipers emerged from the church to find a mission in the plaza nearby explaining Mexico's system of Socialistic education, bitterly opposed by the church.

CALDWELL BACK FROM FAIR MANAGER'S MEET

FERRIDAY, La., April 11.—(Special)—J. R. Caldwell, principal of the Monterey Agricultural high school, and secretary of the Concordia Parish Fair association, has returned from Jennings, where he attended a meeting of all state fair association managers and secretaries.

Professor Caldwell returned home with many new ideas for the Concordia parish exposition which will be held this year at Monterey October 23, 24 and 25, and which he believes will prove the most successful ever staged in the history of the parish.

Among other added attractions to be featured this year is a high class carnival show, an attraction which was lacking last year. A greatly increased exhibition list is being prepared for this year, according to the secretary, and the premium list which will be published soon is considerably larger than in the past.

3 JURY TRIALS SET IN BASTROP

Docket For Spring Term One Of Lightest In Years

BASTROP, La., April 11.—(Special)—The docket for the spring term of criminal court to be held in district court here during the week beginning April 20 has been arranged, and only three jury cases have been set for trial, which makes it one of the lightest dockets ever arranged for a criminal term of court here.

Numerous other cases have been set for trial, but they are, for the most part, misdemeanor charges and will be tried before the judge.

Norman Davis, charged with incest, will go on trial on the opening day of court, before a jury. The case of Norman Davis and Matilda Clark, charged with concubinage, is also scheduled for trial on that day.

On April 22, Joe Porter, white man, charged with wounding less than mayhem, will go on trial before a jury.

Among other cases set for trial during the term of criminal court to be tried before the judge, include the following: Ed Horton and William Hall, forgery; Percy King, assault and battery; Eugene Knight, disturbing the peace; Luther Manning, non-support; Naff Mayo, disturbing the peace; Albert Madison and J. O. Harrist, fishing with net without a license; Lonnie Peters, disturbing the peace.

MU SIGMA EXERCISES HELD AT HARRISONBURG

HARRISONBURG, La., April 11.—(Special)—The Harrisonburg high school held exercises for the introduction of candidates into the Mu Sigma society at the high school auditorium.

The tapping exercises were held at 10 a.m., and were carried out by the old members and their sponsor, Mrs. Cecile Dosher. A discourse was then given by J. A. Wedgeworth, principal of the high school, during which he introduced the candidates. H. W. Wright, superintendent of schools for Catahoula parish, spoke on the value of the Mu Sigma society.

The following officers were elected to serve during the ensuing year: Kathryn Trichel, president; Helen Andrews, vice-president; Ella Mae Beasley, secretary; Carrye Dell Smith, treasurer; Nola Beasley, reporter; Winnie Lee Purvis, guard; H. D. Dosher, sergeant-at-arms.

The new members received into the society were Ella Mae Beasley, Carrye Dell Smith, Inez Taylor, Helen Andrews, Rossie Hair, Maxine Andrews, Iris Dosher, H. D. Dosher, Nola Beasley, Laverne Brown and Winnie Lee Purvis.

Old members who attended the exercises included Kathryn Trichel, Lois Anderson, Violet Hutchens and Annee Heard. Those who assisted were S. E. Lanier, J. G. Bailey, J. A. Wedgeworth, Mrs. Cecile Dosher and Miss Shirley Wren.

The vast Chapada dos Veadeiros, high meseta nestled in the Goyaz hills, could produce all the wheat Brazil needs and turn out a higher grade product than is now imported from Argentina and Uruguay, experts say.

BASTROP TO SEND RALLY DELEGATES

Will Be Well Represented At Meeting At Louisiana Tech

BASTROP, April 11.—(Special)—Bastrop will be well represented at the annual Northeast Louisiana high school rally to be held in Ruston at Louisiana Tech Friday and Saturday. A number of students from the local school will attend the rally and take part in the various literary events.

The winners of the rally at Ruston will be eligible to enter the annual state rally to be held in Baton Rouge early in May.

The students from the Bastrop high school who are to take part in the Ruston rally and the literary contests they will enter are as follows: Helen Goodnight, tenth grade English; Jane Haggerty, second year Latin; Berdie Louise White, first year Latin; Velma Patterson, ninth grade English; Martha Mae Sisks, shorthand; Ralph Simpson, American history; Clydenne Smith, eight grade home economics; Virginia Boykin, ninth grade home economics; LaNell Nunnally, tenth grade home economics; Annie Leona Domino, ninth grade Algebra and Isaac Fife, eleventh grade Algebra.

REPORT PROGRESS ON STREET PAVING

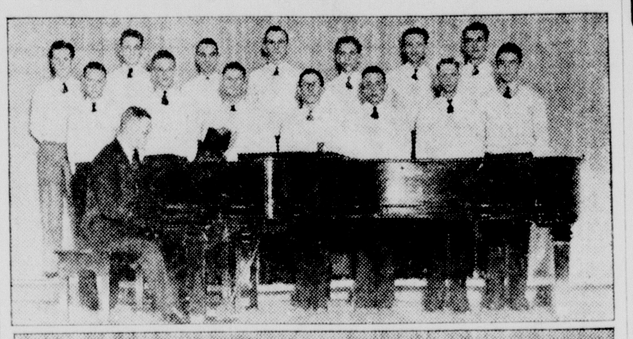
JENA, La., April 11.—(Special)—With the arrival in Jena this week of a black topping crew of the Louisiana highway commission, work of completing approximately three miles of streets is rapidly going forward.

The works progress administration and the town of Jena have already blacktopped over half of the project and are expected to complete their work within the next ten days. The highway commission will black top First street from the Louisiana and Arkansas depot to the city limits and School street from the school house to the residence of T. J. Kendrick.

When all of the black topping is completed practically every street within the city limits will be in first class condition.

More than half the patents issued in the United States during 1931 went to citizens in New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and California.

GLEE CLUBS IN CONCERT FRIDAY



Northeast Center L. S. U. Glee clubs which will appear in concert next Friday night at Northeast Center auditorium. The concert will be given to focus public interest on the projected trip of the Northeast Center Glee clubs to Washington in June to appear on the program of the Kiwanis International convention. The clubs have also received an invitation to appear on a program of the Civic Opera Co., of St. Louis, Mo., at its June presentation. All of the singers of the glee clubs, whose activities are sponsored by the Monroe Kiwanis club, are students at Northeast Center and are residents of Ouachita parish. The program Friday night will include vocal and instrumental numbers, solos, duets, trios and quartettes, besides singing by the combined chorus. The proceeds will be in aid of the Washington trip.

CHURCH TO NOTE ITS ANNIVERSARY

1,000 Persons Expected To Attend Meet At Jonesville

JONESVILLE, La., April 11.—(Special)—The local Trinity Presbyterian church will observe its 80th anniversary. On April 20, 1856, this church was organized in what is now Trinity, a part of the town of Jonesville, located across the Little river from Jonesville. With the exception of a few years following the Civil war, when many of its members had died or had been killed in the war, there have been regular services. Much of the history and records of this old church have been lost or destroyed, but there is enough data remaining to reveal the fact that it has had a very interesting history.

Plans are being formulated for the observance of this anniversary on April 19. Only one of the former pastors is living today, Rev. Alwin Stokes of Winnfield. Invitations were extended to Rev. Stokes to attend this anniversary, and to have charge of the celebration, but he was unable to accept. The members of the church then invited Rev. B. C. Bell of Lafayette, and he accepted the invitation.

Dr. Bell was for a number of years superintendent of home missions in the Red River Presbytery, and was instrumental in getting the present church building erected. He held services for a short period of time in Jonesville.

This being one of the oldest churches in the south and the oldest in the Red River Presbytery, representatives from all over the state will attend the celebration.

Rev. K. C. Seawright, the only full time pastor since before the Civil war, stated that upwards of 1,000 people will attend the services.

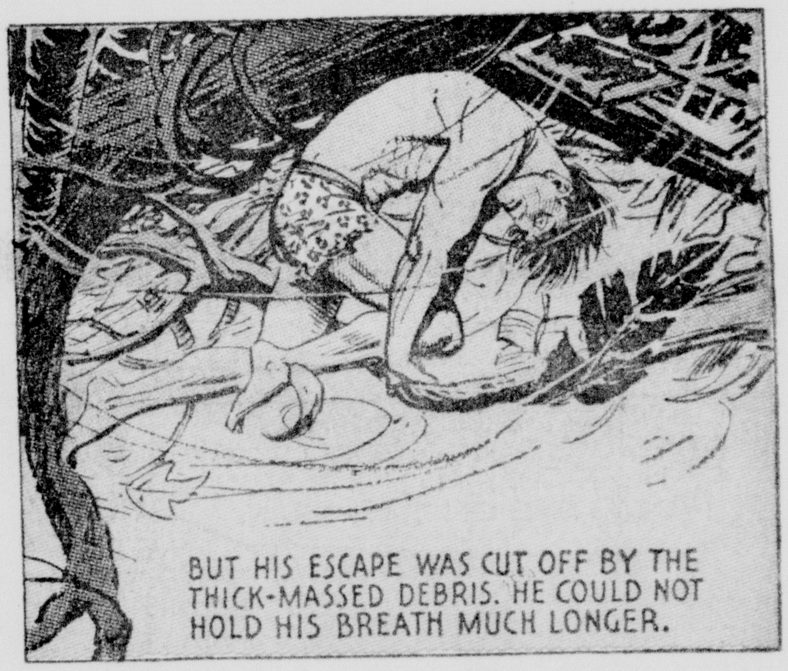
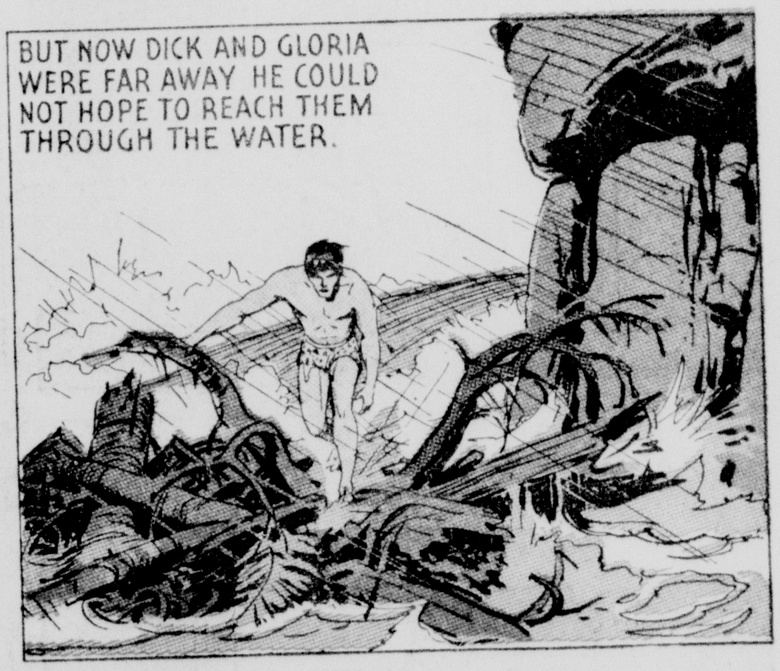
THE CATARACT





BUS STATION JOB BIDS ARE OPENED

Lowest Figure For Construction Entered By Salley And Ellis

Salley and Ellis, Monroe contractors, were low bidders in Shreveport Friday when bids were opened for the new bus station proposed for erection on Grammont street here for the use of the Interurban Transportation company and the Tri-State Transit company. The bid submitted was for $16,654. The several other bids submitted were considerably higher. It was stated Saturday that in all probability the contract will be awarded Monday.

Plans for the proposed new bus station were drawn by Henry Schwarz, Shreveport architect. They call for a building on the Endom lot immediately east of the First Baptist church on Grammont street which, it is said, has already been leased to the Interurban Transportation company and the Tri-State Transit company for a period of 10 years. The structure planned is to have a frontage of 36 feet on Grammont street and will be 92 feet deep. There will be a 14-foot overhanging marquee for the protection of buses for which there will be provision for four at a single time.

Faced tile, of ornamental appearance will be installed, up to four feet from the floor both inside and outside of the building. The floor will be asphalt tile and ceilings and side walls will be extremely ornate.

It is said that there will be no building anywhere in this vicinity like it and that it will attract immediate attention.

Not only will there be a large waiting room, but there will be a cafe, rest rooms and other modern conveniences of a bus station.

PUBLIC FORUM

RURAL LIBRARY SERVICE

To the Editor:

Your editorial on a rural library and the letter from the people who inspired the editorial comments have struck a responsive chord among quite a number of your readers.

While at this time several more or less successful methods to keep the jobless and underprivileged population mentally and otherwise occupied, it seems that a library movement such as that suggested should be given a fair trial. While playgrounds and recreation halls undoubtedly are of great value, it is, however, hard for an undernourished, hungry and half-sick child to enter into the spirit of play, regardless of how well trained the professional director of such activities may be. Good warm clothes a stomach full of nourishing food and a good book to read would, we are sure, inspire a child to play in a normal, healthy way which should be childhood's irrevocable right. It seems that home hygiene and an opportunity for mental development would go farther in rehabilitating the unfortunate children of today who will be the citizens of tomorrow, than any of the elaborate braintrust devices we can think of.

The writer was reared in a country where very few families could afford a shelf of good books, and popular priced magazines were practically unknown. The libraries, however, were within reach of everyone and they were certainly patronized. The children, beginning with Black Beauty, gradually drifted into Dickens, Mark Twain, Anderson, Poe, Zola and so on. The honor system was used in withdrawing and returning books, thus the supervisory and overhead expense was reduced to a minimum. Perhaps the fact that the country above referred to has no illiterate adults can, to some extent, be traced to their long established system of Libraries for all, that reach every one.

Mr. Editor, we do hope that you continue to bring home to your readers the desirability of broader and more extensive library system for north Louisiana parishes.

WINTER CLINGS TO HIS THRONE

While spring scatters its smiles across the land, winter still holds to its sway over this canyon, where a steam shovel bites away with mechanical patience at the huge snowbanks. The mammoth drifts are part of a great slide that crashed down the steep walls of picturesque Provo canyon, near Provo, Utah, and covered the highway for a half mile to depths of 25 to 50 feet, blocking auto traffic for weeks.

Markets--Financial

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—Selective demand lifted scattered rails, coppers, steels, motors and specialties fractions to a point or so in today's stock market.

Holiday apathy marked most of the brief session, although the activity picked up in the last few minutes. Transfers approximated 950,000 shares. The close was steady.

There was a brisk rally in wheat at Chicago. The major cereal responded to the government crop forecast which indicated a yield much under earlier professional guesses.

Santa Fe again came to the fore as a supporting leader, pushing up about 3 points to another new high. U. S. Steel also was given a late run for an advance of around a point. Chrysler, General Motors and White Motors joined in the recovery.

Improvement was displayed by Phelps Dodge, Kennecott, Calumet and Hecla, Delaware and Hudson, General Electric, Mother Lode, Westinghouse, Columbian Carbon, Air Reduction and American Car and Foundry.

Such issues as American Telephone Consoidated Edison, Allied Chemical and Western Union were backward.

Buying in the coppers from London was reported. The revival in the red metal shares was attributed to the anticipated advance in the price of the red metal next week.

Some of the commission houses noted more than the usual "switching" from a few stocks that have had wide swings into others that were thought to be a bit behind the market.

The financial sector seemed to see a better tone to European dispatches. Foreign stock markets were closed, however, for the Easter observances.

Items that attracted attention included: the figures made public by the F. W. Dodge Corp. showing home-building activities in March amounted to $55,270,000, the highest for any month since October, 1931; the Federal Reserve board stressed the expansion of department store sales last month which were up "considerably more than seasonal"; White Motors disclosed a 1935 loss almost double that of 1934, but the company's statement pointed out that the concern was currently operating at a profit for the first time in five years; steel operations in the Youngstown district were expected to start next week at 80 per cent of capacity, an advance of 4 points.

EGG HUNT HELD

JENA, La., April 11.—(Special)—A community-wide Easter egg hunt was staged at city park on Saturday afternoon. The egg hunt was sponsored by the recreational division of the works progress administration under the supervision of Miss Ethlee Neill, parish supervisor.

Whiskey and Gasoline Don't Mix!

Without trying to take the stump for wets or drys, the purpose of this advertisement is to remind YOU that Whiskey and Gasoline don't mix! If you doubt this ask your automobile insurance agency how many of their clients had been drinking at the time of an accident . . . or an arresting officer how many of the cases he handles during the course of a month could be directly traced to intoxication. One city in Texas has a police chief who offers free taxi service to any destination to those who are intoxicated and realize they are not able to drive their own cars. If this unusual service is not available in YOUR city, the next best thing is to hire a taxi of your own. It might save a life . . . or YOUR OWN.

JUDGE DAVIDSON TO MARRY TODAY

Marshall, Texas, Resident Will Be Bride Of Federal Justice

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—(AP)—Judge Thomas Whitfield Davidson, of federal district court of the northern district of Texas and Mrs. Constance Key Wendel, of Marshall, Texas, are to be married in New Orleans Easter Sunday afternoon.

Judge Davidson, his bride-to-be and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Key, Sr., of Marshall, were in New Orleans today and arrangements were being made for a quiet wedding to be attended by relatives and a few friends of Judge Davidson and Mrs. Wendel.

Among those to attend the wedding as guests were Judge Davidson's secretary, William P. Fonville, of Montgomery, Ala., and the Rev. Charles Monroe and his wife, of St. Paul's church, New Orleans.

Judge Davidson's home is in Dallas, Texas. He was Lieutenant Governor of Texas for the two year term, 1922-24 and served ten times as governor during the absence from the state of the governor.

For the past two weeks he has been holding court at Shreveport for Judge Ben C. Dawkins, of the Western District of Louisiana who has been ill.

The bride-to-be and her family are prominent in Marshall.

LAFAYETTE CIVIC LEADER SUCCUMBS

LAFAYETTE, La., April 11.—(AP)—Paul Krauss, Sr., a business and civic leader of Lafayette, died early today at age of 64 years. He had been in ill health for some time, but his condition did not grow serious until a few days ago.

A native of Courrendlin, Switzerland, and a resident of France before becoming a citizen of the United States, Mr. Krauss came to Lafayette in 1897. A few years later he established a jewelry business here which bears his name.

Mr. Krauss was vice-president of the former Peoples bank of this city and has served for many years as vice-president and director of the Home Building and Loan association. He was also actively identified with the former Bank of Lafayette and later the Commercial Bank and Trust company.

Funeral services will be held at St. John's Cathedral at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, followed by interment in St. John's Catholic cemetery.

GILLIS EXPIRES AT WASHINGTON

RAYVILLE, April 11.—(Special)—Word of the death of E. J. Gillis, formerly a deputy sheriff of Richland parish, who succumbed to a long-continued illness at the war veterans' hospital in Washington, D. C., Friday, was received here today. The funeral will be held at Washington Monday afternoon, interment to be made in Arlington National cemetery.

Mr. Gillis was a resident of Rayville for several years before going to the veterans' hospital at Alexandria for treatment. He was transferred to the hospital at Washington about four months ago. He was a veteran of the World war and had been a member of the sheriff's staff for about eight years.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lottie May Gillis, and two children, Johnny Gillis and Elmer Joe Gillis. His father and mother, who live at Demopolis, Ala., also survive. His brother, Grant Gillis, was a famous football player at Alabama university.

INVENTORY OF ESTATE OF LUMBERMAN IS MADE

LAKE CHARLES, La., April 11.—(AP)—An inventory of the assets of the B. M. Talbot succession shows movable and immovable property valued at $61,722.90, all community property. Heirs are the widow and four children, Mrs. Altha Powell, Mrs. Thelma Potter, Mount W. Talbot and Maxwell Talbot.

Talbot, lumberman and capitalist, died last October 17.

Good Pine

Mrs. Bessie Nealy and son, Don, Misses Thelma and Elma Easley of Monroe were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Crit Easley during the week-end.

Bob Summers of Castor was the guest recently in the home of Mrs. M. Clay.

Miss Evelyn Ballard of Urania has returned home after an extended visit here.

Mrs. C. H. Roden and Mrs. Thomas Lee entertained at a house party in the latter's home.

Miss Catherine Ballard and Miss Orell Ballard of Urania have returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Wilson.

Little Bobbie Peppers celebrated his eighth birthday with a party.

"You helped us stay independent!"

"We always paid our own way", a young wife told us, "until sudden illness recently cut off our income. We'd used up our savings and were already to go home for help when a friend suggested you. You loaned us the cash but better still, you helped us stay independent!" . . . We'll lend you cash, too, and arrange the payments to suit you. So add up your money needs and see us TODAY.

Loans up to $300—20 months to repay.

WITNESSES TELL STORY OF INFANT

Relate How Servant Girl Recovered Son From Doctor's Wife

KAHOKA, Mo., April 11.—(AP)—Coming as an anti-climax to startling disclosures of an alleged $250,000 baby hoax, two witnesses told today how Anna Ware, unwed servant girl, recovered her son from Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench.

The testimony of Julius Klein, St. Louis newspaperman, was designed to pave the way for Miss Ware's courtroom appearance Monday. The case repessed over the week-end at noon.

Mrs. Muench, vitrolic, titian-haired sister of State Supreme Court Judge Ernest M. Tipton, was on trial with her husband, Dr. Ludwig O. Muench, a friend, Mrs. Helen Berroyer, and Wilfred Jones, an attorney, on a charge of conspiring to evade adoption laws in obtaining Miss Ware's child. The case was brought here from St. Louis on a change of venue.

Klein, over strenuous defense objections, told of investigations which led authorities to conclude the Muenches had possession of the Ware child and summarized testimony in Miss Ware's successful suit to recover her son.

He was followed on the stand by Mrs. J. R. Plummer of Minneapolis, who the state contended was the mysterious Mrs. J. R. Palmer of Memphis for whom Jones in the St. Louis trial had testified he procured the Ware baby.

Jones' testimony was made the basis for a perjury indictment pending against him.

Mrs. Plummer, repeating the testimony she gave in St. Louis, related she and her husband commissioned Jones to seek a child they could adopt but he never got one for them.

She said Jones' description of the Palmers fitted her and her husband and incidents he related regarding the Palmers actually occurred in her negotiations with him.

Greens Get Horse And No Longer Have To Pull Plow

JENA, La., April 11—(AP)—The Paul J. Green family got a horse through the resettlement administration this spring, and the whole family is glad, because it means they won't have to plow each other this year to make a crop, as they have done for the last three years.

In a desperate, determined effort to stay off relief when the depression made "job work" hard to find, Paul Green and his wife, son and two daughters cleared a "new ground" in the woods owned by his father near Jena and set to work to extract a living from it.

They had no work animal, but that didn't stop them. They made two bales of cotton in 1933. Green obtained a plow point and fashioned a stock to fit it. Then the family took turns pulling it in the stumpy root-tangled new ground.

Sometimes man and wife formed the team, while their eldest daughter, Ruth, aged 17, held the plow handles and pushed as much as she could to ease the strain. Again, Artie, 20, the son of the family, bore the brunt of the pulling. Hesseltine, 14, helped whenever and wherever she could, and tried at the same time to keep up with her school work. Everybody worked, and each member of the family took turns "in harness" without complaint.

They managed to stir the soil sufficiently to plant the crop, and they did the rest of the cultivation with a hoe—their only other farming implement. And in the fall, they picked and ginned and sold two bales of cotton, and were justifiably proud of their achievement.

But two bales were too little. When they had paid for their simple necessities, the barest possible for human existence, there was nothing left. The beginning of the 1934 crop year again found them without a work animal, but still independent of relief aid.

They did it again. By the same back-breaking method, they again produced two bales of cotton in 1934. But it was a losing fight the Greens were waging. In 1935, the inadequately tilled new ground had become infested with weeds, and hand labor couldn't stop them.

They made only one bale of cotton last year, and they knew they were defeated and would have to have outside aid to carry on.

"I heard of this family from time to time in 1934 and 1935," said B. R. Cain of Jena, rehabilitation supervisor for the RA in LaSalle parish. "Several of his neighbors came to me and asked me why we didn't furnish that family with a horse. I told them he hadn't asked for help. In fact, I don't quite believe their stories. They weren't quite credible to me, for I know what plowing a new ground means, even with a good mule to do the heavy work.

"But when Green's case was referred to us by the welfare office, I investigated and found the stories were not exaggerated. Except last year, when they traded a day of hoeing now and then for a day's use of a neighbor's mule in a desperate attempt to save their crop from the weeds, they had farmed for three years without a work animal, doing all the plowing by hand.

"We accepted the Green family for rehabilitation, and advanced them a loan."

Out of the loan, the first expenditure for capital goods was $65 for a horse. They called him Salum and they treated him almost as a member of the family.

SEARCH NORTHWARD FOR FLYING PAIR

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, April 11.—(AP)—The search for two honeymooning fliers, pilot Albert Almoslino of Seattle and his bride, turned north of here today with the coast guard cutter Albert prowling the rugged, indented shoreline of Revillagigedo channel.

A report from the lighthouse keeper at Tree Points that he sighted Almoslino's pontoon-equipped plane "flying close in" Sunday afternoon swung the hunt away from northern British Columbia waters where it was first believed the plane might have been forced down.

The cutter Cyane, northbound from Seattle, was ordered to search Love Inlet on Granville channel in British Columbia.

The the Almoslinos seven days overdue on a flight here from Seattle, coastguardsmen became convinced they lost their way in a storm Sunday afternoon and either crashed or landed their plane, in one of the many lonely inlets along the coast.

Not until 1870 were milk cows known in Japan. An American cow was imported at that time and two men, selected for their strength, were assigned the task of wresting the milk from her.

According to an order in 1935, all officers in the Soviet army must take dancing lessons.

HUGE TELESCOPE 'EYE' DELIVERED

20-Ton Slab Of Glass Reaches Optical Shop On West Coast

PASADENA, Calif., April 11.—(AP)—The 20-ton slab of glass which will become the "eye" for the world's largest telescope, was within 50 feet of its destination today after a 3,300-mile rail journey across the continent.

It arrived here yesterday from Corning, N. Y., and was trucked to the giant doors of the California institute of technology optical shop. Although closely guarded on the trip, no watch was maintained over the slab during the night.

"No burglar is going to run away with it very fast," observed Dr. John Anderson, member of the Palomar council.

Today workmen were to grease the floors of the shop so the truck can be slipped into position for the unloading.

In the next three years, grinding and polishing machines will prepare it for installation at the observatory, now under construction in San Diego county.

Scientists, using the 600,000-eye-power of the reflector, expect to see twice as far into the heavens as man has ever done before.

Every year, a one-ton birthday cake is cut by a Los Angeles department store. The making of this mammoth cake requires 360 pounds of butter, 372 pounds of sugar, 382 pounds of flour, 3,600 eggs, 3 quarts of vanilla, and 400 pounds of icing.

Easter Sunday Brings Reminders Of Faithful Women Of Past

Springtime Lingers In City For Holiday

Nature Leads Fashion Parade In Unrivalled Loveliness; Flowers Still Beautiful Throughout Community

By Eve Bradford

Easter Sunday, "with that nameless pathos in the air," brings reminders today of those faithful women, Esther, the valiant; Rebecca, Rachael and Ruth; Bathsheba, beloved of Solomon; Martha of the busy hands and the younger sister, Mary of Magdala, her of the red gold hair, and the other Mary who stood on Calvary under the cross whose lengthened shadows fall across each Lenten season.

Springtime came to Monroe many weeks ago, but the beauty of the lilies, the columbine, the amaryllis, the dogwood, native iris, clambering Cherokees and the purple wisteria intermingled with eerie festoons of gray moss that waves fantastically from the ancient oaks still remain to keep faith with the Eastertide.

Nature herself is leading the Easter parade in the unrivalled loveliness she has adorned Monroe today. The salubrious April climate is as exhilarating as rare, old wine and many there are who will leave their own small preserve and motor out in the country, where they can feel the earth beneath their feet, the blue sky overhead, hear the winds in the trees and return home feeling that a primitive craving has been satisfied.

The whole world, it seems, craves beauty when Springtime comes. A news article tells of the theft of white gardenias from the grave of Prince Mdivani's grave in Newport. His widow ordered two hundred gardenias placed on the grave daily but later the order was discontinued, as people were coming from miles around to steal the blossoms.

When we heard that Anna Speed, Dorothy Sholars and Etta Sholars were leaving on Wednesday for the flower fiesta in San Antonio and the garden pilgrimage to Mexico City, we were reminded of the principals in Maeterlinck's "Blue Bird." Remember how the children in the play wandered for many leagues throughout the realm of fantasy in search of the mystic blue-bird and only to find it roosting right on the premises of their own home later? They are leaving their own lovely gardens for other far off trails.

We have always said that Monroe people were the world's greatest travelers, and who can contradict the statement now that Boyce Honnoll will soon sail from Los Angeles to Honolulu on the first lap of her trip around the globe. Her lovely niece, Boyce Sadler, who is graduating from Randolph Macon college in June, will be her companion on this supreme adventure in distant, mystic lands. It seems that this trip is a graduation gift from her aunt.

Eleanor Faulk, another world traveler, is off for an airplane trip to Washington on Saturday. She will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Clarence Faulk, who is making her first trip of any length via plane. Lois Bernstein is off for Washington also, but she will travel by rail.

Mrs. Harold Wood finds the time drawing near for her departure with her two handsome children for Colorado Springs. She will take a furnished house in the shadow of the beautiful Broadmoor hotel the first of June. She will not be homesick this summer, as Layton Lamkin and her two children, Vada Bancroft and interesting little brood and Enola Rogers and Crary Smith are planning to join her later in the summer.

Vera Brown found herself so steeped in the good old American traditions that the custom of hand kissing rather repelled her. The gallant Spanish officers on board the Juan Sebastian de Elcano, where she and a party of friends were entertained last week, while in New Orleans, expressed their delight in having them aboard by impassioned kissing of their hands. Perhaps it is the Jerez wine that makes these dark-eyed officers so tempestuous. Our Monroe visitors found its vintage much too ancient and potent for consumption. The trip was rendered unusually thrilling for Daisy Haas and Mary Black as they were included among the guests enjoying New Orlean's night club life as the guests of one of the Spanish officers.

The visiting bankers in the city for the state convention will be peeping at the world through half-closed eyes after the soiree at the Travis Oliver home tonight. Will and Ruth Gladney will also be hosts tonight and will assist in the serving of their favorite sparkling vino. Monday, we will live again, however, as the day is not only full but simply brimming over with interesting affairs, namely a barbecue at Lakeside Country club, boating parties on the Ouachita and a gala affair on the Cherokee terrace, where a superb orchestra will provide music for the dancers. The two-day convention promises to be rather splendorous, if one reckons by large, colorful events, concourses of people, dinners and luncheons.

At the L. S. U. cadet ball in Baton Rouge last week we saw Nellie Breard's flashing smile lighting up the dark corners. She danced past us on the arm of a good-looking cadet in immaculate white. By the way, Nellie has been given a solo part in Madame Butterfly, to be presented by the L. S. U. school of music next Saturday complimentary to Governor and Mrs. James A. Noe. A day spent with Anna Gray Noe at the executive mansion was nothing short of a revelation. We found ourselves wondering at the mechanism that was capable of keeping her moving at high tension every hour in the day. A few intimate hours in her boudoir, where she was dressing for a reception that night, was a delightful experience, as we were privileged to see the handsome afternoon, dinner and evening clothes selected by a New Orleans modiste for Ann Gray's distinctive type. On this occasion she was wearing an exquisite green Alencon lace evening model with short jacket. At a reception that afternoon she wore a pastel pink quilted coat with pink crepe skirt and bright blue blouse with a perky little blue hat and pink and blue sandals. It was the very essence of chic, by the way. The week-end with Anna Gray was a climax to a wonderful week, two days of which were spent in the old homes and gardens in Natchez, each so distinctive in its appeal. They have experienced wars and storms and fires and have distilled from sorrows, as well as from the gay life that they have known, a depth of charm, a haunting wistfulness, a gracious sweetness that, though elusive, is not impalpable. The spirit that broods over them is the spirit of the romantic and magnificent yesteryears.

En passant: When you see "Follow The Fleet" at the Paramount theater today, you will see lovely Harriet Hilliard, who was entertained socially in this city last summer when she appeared as an entertainer with a celebrated orchestra. Those who have already seen the picture say that she has stolen the show from Ginger Rogers. Her voice is gorgeous, low and throaty and very appealing.

Missionary Meeting

An inspirational program featured the meeting of the Louisiana Woman's Missionary union in Ruston. Five sessions were held. One was devoted exclusively to young people.

The mission study group banquet was held on Wednesday, and all members who had completed the first course in mission study were in attendance.

Mrs. W. E. Colvin, general chairman of the First Baptist church and the Temple Baptist church of Ruston, was responsible for the splendid program arranged for the 1936 meeting. All W. M. U. members attending the convention were entertained free of cost during their stay in Ruston.

One of the highlights of the convention was the message of the state president, Mrs. H. M. Bennett, on "Listening in On Louisiana."

The evening program was given over to the young people, the state stewardship declamation winners being Misses Bobbie Jean Matthews of Glenmora, Marjorie Wallace of Jennings, Evelyn McGhee of Bernice, and Mable Kees of Pineville, and Messrs. Angue Youngblood of Baton Rouge, and Herman Eugene Nelson of Bunkie.

Thursday, the closing day, departmental conferences were held, reports of district leaders and reports from the various committees were heard.

Mrs. Bennett, who for six years has served in the capacity of state president, resigned the office and Mrs. M. L. Jenkins of New Orleans, who has for a number of years been dean of women at the Baptist Bible institute there, was elected president. Mrs. R. A. Everett was elected vice-president. Mrs. Everett has been outstanding in religious work for a number of years. She resides at Forrest. Mrs. L. G. Wilkerson of Monroe was named stewardship chairman.

Mrs. Bennett, the retiring president, was the recipient of a beautiful silver service from the state association, which was presented by Mrs. H. L. Driskell. Miss Hannah Reynolds, state corresponding secretary, presented the gift from the district, which was a silver vase. Mrs. Flood Madison, of Bastrop, presented a set of spoons, coming from the First Baptist church of Bastrop, of which Mrs. Bennett is a member.

Birthday Celebrated

Douglas Russell reached the interesting age of nine on the eighth of April and in commemoration of the happy event invited his intimate friends and playmates to share with him the pleasures of the day.

The entire afternoon was devoted to the playing games, with the cutting of the beautifully embossed birthday cake a fitting climax.

Delicious confections were served by Mrs. Russell, assisted by Mrs. Hilda Bonds and Mrs. John Scarff, to: Gay Janet and Lee Allen Brown, Harold and Helen Williams, Dorothy Scott, Benjamen and Byron Broadnax, Tommy Milstead, Thomas Bonds, John Scarff, Jr., John Turner, Lillian Francis Russell, Betty Jean Russell, Kathleen Scott, Lovelle Russell, George Wallace Denton and Russell O'Neal Batson.

Camping Party

Lake Bruin, with its placid waters fringed with live oaks, will supply the attractive setting for Miss Doll Hudson's week-end party at Morgan's camp, with Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hudson and Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Milner chaperones.

Two blissful days of horseback riding, canoeing and fishing will be enjoyed by this interesting group, who comprise members of Monroe's younger beau monde: Misses Jean Terzia, Gloria Frances Major, Mary Lavigna Inabnet, Adelaide Parker, Gay Noe, Jean Graves, Dot White, Mary Eleanor Coverdale, Martha McHenry, Mabel Cole and Doll Hudson, and James Moore, C. H. Adams, Louis Milner, Thomas Wyatt, Billy Wright, Raleigh Whitehead, George LeBlanc, Dick Touchstone, Nelson Abell, Fred Hudson, Jr., and Ben Downing.

Trip Planned

Mrs. H. H. Honnoll of Memphis, Tenn., a former resident of this city, where she is affectionately remembered as Boyce Sadler, has planned a trip around the world in company with her lovely niece, Miss Boyce Leigh Sadler, who will be graduated from Randolph-Macon college, Lynchburg, Virginia, in June. Mrs. Honnoll, a visitor in the city last week, outlined the itinerary.

Sailing from Los Angeles on the twenty-fourth of July, they will make Honolulu their first port of call. They will be joined by Mr. Honnoll in Honolulu and will journey with him to Japan and to Shanghai, China, from which point he will return to the United States. Mrs. Honnoll and Miss Sadler will continue their journey, visiting such interesting places as Hong Kong, Canton, Manila, Singapore, Colombo, Bombay. After a two weke's visit in the interior of China, they will visit the Suez Canal and then drive overland to Cairo and Alexandria, Egypt. They will also tour southern Europe, visiting Nice and Monte Carlo, with an undetermined length of time in Paris and in London. They will sail from Liverpool for New York City the first of the year.

Book Club Meets

The Welcome Branch Book club enjoyed an interesting program on "American Music by American Composers" in the home of Mrs. J. Norman Coon Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. J. Norman Coon, program chairman, gave an interesting outline of the three periods of American music.

Violin selections rendered by Mrs. Dean Selig were "Adoration," by Felix Borowski, and "Flow Gently Sweet Afton" (variation), by Harris.

A duet, "Old Folks at Home," by Stephen Foster, was given by Mrs. W. C. Scott and Mrs. C. S. Gaushell.

"To a Wild Rose," by MacDowell, was rendered by Mrs. C. S. Gaushell.

Piano selections were "Narcissus," by Ethelbert Nevin, and "Punchinello," by Victor Herbert, by Mrs. Marvyn Johnson.

"Prentemps de Amour," by Gotchschak, by Mrs. Dean Selig.

Vocal selections solos given were "His Lullaby," by Carrie Jacobs Bond, by Mrs. W. C. Scott; "Morning," by Oley Speaks, by Mrs. J. Noble White; "Mighty Lak a Rose," by Nevin, and "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life," by Victor Herbert, by Mrs. J. Norman Coon.

Each person on the program told something of the life and compositions of the composer she played from.

After the program Mrs. Coon invited the guests into the dining room, where delicious sandwiches, confections and tea were served.

Members present were Mrs. Frank Black, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. H. J. Fernandez, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. Marvin Johnson, Mrs. George Lofton, Mrs. C. S. Gaushell, Mrs. D. M. Moore, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. W. C. Scott, Mrs. Dean Selig, Mrs. J. F. Prendergast, Mrs. Lewis Oyster, Mrs. Charles Swain, Mrs. J. W. Treadwell, Mrs. J. Noble White, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. F. F. Smith and Mrs. D. C. Shattuck.

Two visitors were present, Mrs. Clyde Sanders and Mrs. Cornett.

Projects Completed

Junior Charity league members will soon fold their tents following a winter of unusual activity and journey toward a more leisurely season. All projects of the year have reached a rich maturity and the free baby clinic, profiting by the financial gain, will continue to thrive. Vacations are unknown, however, to league members, whose duty it is to preside over the clinic in St. Francis sanitarium, where their humanitarian efforts go on month after month, year after year.

Plans for the summer season were discussed over the coffee cups at the Lotus club last week, when Mrs. Milling Bernstein, president, presided during the luncheon hour.

Members present were Mrs. H. F. Madison, Mrs. Victor Davis, Miss Melba Liner, Miss Sara Beth Farmer, Miss Connie McReynolds, Mrs. Duncan Cook, Mrs. J. C. Theus, Jr., Mrs. Mike Winberry, Mrs. Walter Kellogg, Mrs. Thomas Frazer, Miss Lela Germany, Mrs. S. A. Collins, Miss Eleanor Faulk, Miss Jean Dryburgh, Mrs. Elliott Thompson, Mrs. Milling Bernstein, Mrs. Bernard Biedenharn, Mrs. Frances M. Leavell, Mrs. Frances G. Jones, Miss Robbie Lee Hanna, Mrs. R. C. Sparks, Jr., Mrs. J. Hunter Thatcher, Mrs. Theodore Allen, Mrs. Walter Black, Miss Sue Graves, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, Miss Gertrude Hart, Mrs. Merrill F. Bush, Mrs. Gordon Cummings and Mrs. J. H. Dorman.

Miss Noe Feted

Miss Gay Noe, lovely young daughter of Governor and Mrs. James A. Noe, is spending the Easter vacation period with friends in the city, and is being extensively entertained. Prominent among the courtesies of an informal nature was the al fresco affair arranged by Miss Martha McHenry and Miss Barbara McKenzie Friday night.

Following the barbecue supper in the gardens of the McKenzie home, dancing was enjoyed indoors.

Present in addition to the guest of honor, Miss Noe, were Misses Doll Hudson, Gloria Major, Jean Graves, Carolyn Royce, Sara Frances Hinkle, Mabel Cole, Jean Terzia, Virginia Copeland, Dot White, Adelaide Parker, Mary Lavinia Inabnet and Mary Eleanor Coverdale, and Thomas Wyatt, Billy Wright, James Tolson, James Moore, C. H. Adams, George LeBlanc, Dick Touchstone, Nelson Abell, Felix Terzia, Armand McHenry, Bobby O'Donnell, Ben Downing, Herbert Land, Louis Milner, Jake Benton, Fred Hudson, Jr., and Raleigh Whitehead.

Cantatas Scheduled

The victory mood of Easter will be reflected in the music presented in the churches of this city today. The glorious Easter cantatas will tell of Christ's momentary mastery and everlasting triumph over the grave and the splendid sermons will bring an inspirational message of newness of life.

"The Dawn of the Kingdom" will be presented tonight at the Methodist church by members of the choir under the direction of Mrs. Clyde Sanders and with Mrs. John Sholars as organist. This beautiful cantata, with its recitative lines and its lovely aria telling of the risen Christ, will feature a mighty chorus of voices.

An Easter cantata, "Bright Easter Morn," will also be presented at the West Monroe Baptist church tonight at 7:30, by a mixed chorus. This program of music will take the place of the regular Sunday night service, and the public is cordially invited.

Mrs. Louis Hullum, past state president of the Louisiana Federated Music clubs, always music-minded and alert where good music is concernd, draws attention to the General Motors Easter radio concert tonight, featuring a 75-piece symphony orchestra and a chorus of 1,200 voices.

The chorus, accompanied by the symphony orchestra, will introduce the hour's concert by singing Elvey's "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today," and the well known "The Bells of St. Mary's," by Adams. Continuing in the Easter spirit, Mr. Rapee has programmed for the orchestra's first number Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring."

For her first appearance before the Flint audience and the nation-wide radio audience, Miss Pons has selected two numbers—the "Queen of the Night's Aria" from Mozart's "The Magic Flute," and Benedict's "La Capinera" ("The Wren.") The chorus will then sing the "Soldiers' Chorus" from Gounod's "Faust," and Mr. Rapee with the orchestra will end the opening half hour with a rendition of the "Agnus Dei," by Bizet.

Following the brief address of Mr. Knudsen, addressed to the nation-wide audience but particularly to the two hundred thousand General Motors employes and their families, the chorus will introduce the last half of the concert with a playing of Grieg's delightful "Landsighting."

Miss Pons will follow with the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria," and the famous coloratura aria by Delibes—the "Bell Song" from "Lakme." To conclude the concert, Lily Pons will join with the orchestra and the chorus in a presentation of the magnificent and sonorous overture to Wagner's opera, "Tannhaeuser."

Pow Wow Banquet

Flaring yellow tapers in yellow crystal candlesticks encircled the low plaque of purple and yellow pansies centering the dinner table in the Cameo room of the Virginia hotel, where members of the Pow Wow staff of Northeast Center of L. S. U. were seated for their annual banquet.

The five delicious courses were punctuated with clever remarks and talks by the speakers of the evening, State Representative Paul Fink. Dean and Mrs. C. C. Colvert and several Northeast Center students, Charles Beadles, Billy Laffler, Dawson Kennedy, Walter Savage, Lloyd Price, Howard Griffi nand Mrs. Anna Lee West Stahl, sponsor.

Mr. John Berry, editor of the Pow Wow, acted as toastmaster and presented Mrs. Stahl with a handsome gift in behalf of the staff of the Pow Wow.

To Attend Meet

An early spring vacation is in store for leading club women of Monroe, who will travel to Miami, Fla., the end of April to attend the council meeting of the General Federation of Women's clubs. Preparations for the meeting are being completed rapidly, with a full program of speakers and activities that will have for its theme "Education for Living."

Through the representatives in Miami clubwomen throughout the country will vote on a resolution approving the principle and general purpose of a bill introduced in congress by Representative Wesley E. Disney of Oklahoma. This bill provides for the establishment of a National Academy of Public Affairs. Such approval was voted by the board of directors of the general federation in January with a recommendation that the state federations study the purposes of the bill and take informed action at Miami.

One of the highlights of the program will be a coast to coast broadcast in which Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, general federation president, will be one of the principal speakers. After three days of business and program sessions, there will be a play day on which all the visitors to Florida will enjoy the sands and sunshine of Miami beach. After the council meeting some of the members plan to make a cruise to the West Indies.

Study Club Meets

Mrs. Lewis Slater entertained the Study club in the Cameo room at the Virginia Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Neil McHenry gave an outstanding review of "The World War and What Was Behind It."

After a short business session, a delicious luncheon was served at small tables centered with bowls of exquisite blue iris and pink roses.

Present were Miss Carrie Dee Drew, Mrs. James S. Drew, Mrs. D. X. Ellett, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. Fillmore Meadows, Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mrs. Neil McHenry, Mrs. Alymer Montgomery, Mrs. Henry Montgomery, Mrs. Alfred Reid, Mrs. Elmer Richards, Mrs. William Rodriguez, Mrs. H. H. Land and Mrs. Lewis Slater.

ENGAGED

FRANCES ELIZABETH MARTIN

The following announcement will be of interest to a host of friends in Monroe:

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Martin announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Frances Elizabeth, to Mr. Harry Bailey, Jr., at Rayville, April 19, 1936, Methodist church

Miss Martin is a student at Centenary college in Shreveport, where she is a member of the Chi Omega sorority. Mr. Bailey is connected with the McAn Shoe company and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bailey, Sr., of this city.

Class Visits Noes

A charming interlude in the weekly routine of the Germany-Noe Sunday school class will be the house party at the executive mansion in Baton Rouge, the state capital, on the eighteenth and nineteenth of April. Mrs. James A. Noe, former teacher of this class, will be assisted by Governor Noe in extending courtesies. Transportation will be furnished all members of the class, who will arrive at the mansion in time for a buffet supper. Mr. R. W. Germany, teacher of the class, Mrs. Germany and the officers will be guests Saturday night at the mansion and all others will be guests at Highland hall on the state university campus. Regular Sunday morning services will be held in the east room at the mansion and later the entire assemblage will visit the state capital.

Monroe Public Library Is Nearly 20 Years Old

Present Board Of Directors Planning Public Reception In Commemoration Of Founding Of Valuable Institution

"There is no frigate like a book to take you miles away."

Books in the Monroe Public library have played a most important part in the lives of Monroe's reading public during the past twenty years, and especially so these past few years, when the great army of unemployed found books their very best friends and the public library a haven of refuge.

We are reminded, at this time when plans are being formulated for observance of the twentieth anniversary of the important part the public library has played and is playing daily, in the civic life of this community.

The present board of directors, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. R. B. Frizzell, Mrs. G. P. Stubbs, Mrs. Albert Horuff, Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mrs. Louis Masur, Mrs. C. P. Gray, Mrs. J. C. Theus, Mrs. Clarence Oakley and Mrs. Henry Bernstein, has planned a public reception for the third of May in recognition of twenty years of splendid service to the Monroe public.

Like the great oak that grew from a tiny acorn, the Monroe Public Library dates its origin back to a humble beginning in a one-room building on Wood street in 1915. This institution now occupies the comfortable building that was once the home of the late Mrs. Anna Meyer at the corner of Jackson and Calypso streets.

The Monroe Public Library owes its existence to and is an offspring of the Civic League of Monroe. In 1915 the late Mrs. Jessie Sadler was president of the league and appointed a library committee of ten ladies under Mrs. Walter L. Jones, who worked most determinedly for a free public library.

In the face of a most pessimistic public, the movement was launched; the committee canvassed the city and solicited members at $2.50 per member.

The late Judge A. A. Gunby was so interested in the movement that he searched the archives of the city and found the almost forgotten will of Mrs. Louise L. McGuire, which bequeathed to Monroe a little one-room building on Wood street, opposite the courthouse, with the "hope" that it would be used for a library.

For a long time this building had been used as a coal house and storage room, so it was in a most dilapidated condition. However, the library committee appeared before the city council and made an appeal for the use of the building for a library, and the appeal was granted.

Active work was then begun. Coal was shoveled out the building over-hauled, shelves built and books and furniture installed.

The library opened on May 8, 191 with 731 books on the shelves an an income of $50.00 per month. Mi Alice R. D. Gillam, a graduate of t Carnegie Library school of Pittsburg was the first librarian. In Decembe 1916, Miss Gillam resigned and Mi Edith Gunby was asked to fill h place. Miss Gunby resigned in Apr 1917, and Mrs. Lillian Herron Williar son was appointed librarian, and ser ed in that capacity until a few yea ago. Mrs. James I. Townes is n librarian.

The library is governed by an exe utive board of ten ladies. An advisc board of ten men assist the executi board.

The collection of books soon o grew the little biulding on Wo street, but was forced to remain th until the 28th day of January, 1921.

In 1920, Mrs. Anna Meyer died, queathing her home on the corner Jackson and Calypso streets and $ 000 for a library. The trustees of estate and the executive board of Monroe Public library, working gether, made it possible for the brary to be moved into this bu ing, which has a spacious read and reference room; a non-fic room; a club room, rebuilt and nished by the Book club of Mon a circulation room which houses fiction and children's books, and w rooms.

The library has furnished infor tion and recreation for thousand people. It is a good business inv ment for the community. It will and grow, for it is full of silent s ants who are at the community's c mand any time they want them. T servants will entertain or help, they are always ready and loyal

Barkdull Faulk P.-T. A.

"Art as Taught in the Schools" was the subject discussed by Miss Louise Moore and Lloyd Stewart at the April meeting of the Barkdull Faulk school Parent-Teacher association of the Louisiana branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Miss Moore said in part:

"Most of us know that art is valuable in the life of a child, first, for the enjoyment the child receives when he uses pencil or colored chalk in creating or copying things he sees; second, it teaches the co-relation in the growth of a child, in working with other subjects, when they make pictures of their other studies; third, it teaches appreciation, not only of art, but of all things around them. Such things as the clothes we wear, the furnishings of our homes and buildings around us are all the outcome of several artists' work.

"In order to appreciate anything one must have some understanding of one's subject. So we teach appreciation in order that the children may know the good points of things they come in contact with.

"Those who have the talent, need the foundation they receive in art in the grammar grades."

Miss Moore displayed some work done by her pupils at Neville High school in the making of note book covers and books, in color harmonies, in lettering and in posters.

Lloyd Stewart said in part:

"The intention of college art courses is to give the student a general acquaintance with past and present civilization, the ability to use this acquaintance for the enrichment of life, whatever special careers he may later adopt. It strives to guide the student along lines that native character and preference indicate, to teach a buying sense of things that are in good taste and good style. Art appreciation strives to make the student an intelligent consumer, conscious of good design and good lines, so that he may choose wisely in his purchases.

"College art is offered to home economic students and education students.

"The only worthwhile art is absolutely original. The underlying principal of college art is not so much to teach one to paint a beautiful landscape or a man on a horse, but to make him intelligent as to correctness in his personal appearance, his surroundings and his habits. He must know the difference between what is good taste and bad taste.

"Both Miss Moore and Mr. Stewart received their first art intruction in Monroe public schools. Mr. Stewart received his first art appreciation lessons in Barkdull Faulk school. Mrs. Irving, the art chairman, told of plans for an art exhibit at the school. The assemblage was favored with four numbers by the school band, led by Mr. Charles Gauchell, and two beautiful songs by Mrs. A. R. Doughty.

Mrs. Lloyd Surghnor's 2-A grade received the prize for having the most parents present.

Refreshments were served in the school cafeteria following the meeting.

Mounds P.-T. A.

TALLULAH, La., April 11.—(Special)—Dr. Walter E. Johnson of Vicksburg, Miss., was the guest speaker at the April meeting of the Mounds Parent-Teacher association at Mounds. He delivered an interesting address on "Alcohol and Narcotics." Mrs. H. W. Burleigh read an article on "Courtesy of Adults Toward Children."

Officers recently elected by the organization, who began their work at this meeting, were Mrs. Frank Hoxie, president; Mrs. Greer, vice-president; Mrs. Frank Thomas, secretary; Mrs. Bistrunk, treasurer.

Plans are being made for the "summer round-up," which will be held in May.

Exhibit Planned

Plans were formulated for an art exhibit at Barkdull Faulk school the afternoon and night of April 17 at a meeting of the executive committee of the school's P.-T. A.

The exhibit will consist of art work done by the various grades of the school. The room mother of the class selling the greatest number of tickets to the exhibit will give the members of the class a party.

Funds were set aside at the meeting to defray the expenses of the association's three delegates to the state P.-T. A. convention in Lafayette. The delegates are Mrs. B. S. Rust, Mrs. R. F. McCook and Mrs. Taylor Jones. Mrs. E. F. Jones is alternate.

The treasurer reported payments had been made on band instruments and books for the school.

Study Group

"Children as Future Homemakers," was the subject of the discussion by Mrs. Virginia Newsom at the April meeting of the Study club of Barkdull Faulk school Parent-Teacher association. She said in part:

"One of the hardest but one of most important lessons to learn is to give up immediately pleasures in order to attain lasting but remote satisfaction.

"It is easier to have our pleasures today than to forgo them in order to have more permanent and satisfying pleasures in the future.

"In the care and rearing of children, it is necessary to think not only of today but in terms of what effect today will have on the child's life at adolescence and later.

"Parents must remember that while there are things that people learn 'with their minds,' that they learn as much, if not more, with their emotions.

"It is imperative for parents to realize that what they teach through their emotions may stand in the way of or aid what children learn with their minds.

"The pattern set up by the parents determines what children learn about marriage and home life."

Members of the Fine Arts club are looking forward with pleasant anticipation to the regular monthly meeting Monday evening at 8 o'clock, when Mrs. Louis Hullum, past state president of Louisiana Federation of Music clubs, will entertain the club in her home, 1405 Fairview. "Louisiana Art" will feature the program. Several outstanding members of Monroe's musical world are named upon the roster of the Fine Arts club, one of the city's oldest of the cultural clubs and the only one embracing all of the arts. Monday night's program will feature the music and songs of Louisiana artists.

Miss Winifred Folse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Folse, Oak Ridge, was given recognition last week by the Southern States' Art league for two of her water colors. These will be shown in exhibition throughout the month of April.

This exhibit is held annually during the convention of the League of Southern Artists. For the past two years, the exhibition has been held in Tennessee.

Miss Folse is an instructor in the department of art in Mary Hardin-Baylor college.

Mrs. E. V. Hemperley and two daughters, Helen Louise and Betty Jane of Vivian, La., are guests in the home of Mrs. Hemperley's mother, Mrs. A. T. White in West Monroe.

Mrs. James A. Noe announces through this medium that two hundred complimentary tickets are available to friends who would like to attend the performance of Madam Butterfly at the Louisiana State university auditorium in Baton Rouge on the eighteenth of April. Dr. James Monroe Smith has arranged the presentation in honor of Governor and Mrs. Noe and has reserved two hundred seats for their Ouachita parish friend. Complimentary tickets are now available at the office of the editor of this page.

Misses Hilda Hair and Martha Files arrived home from the state normal at Natchitoches to spend the Easter holidays with their parents.

Mrs. A. R. Holloway, Mrs. C. A. McGimsey, Mrs. A. Johns, Mrs. Ralph Coates and Miss Leta Mae Benson will motor to Alexandria on Tuesday to attend the conference of the Methodist Missionary society.

Friends of Miss Margie Buce, who is a student at Southwestern college, will regret to learn that she is a patient in the St. Frances sanitarium, where she underwent an appendectomy the first of the week. She will be glad to have friends call. When fully recovered, Miss Buce will resume her studies.

Dr. and Mrs. G. M. G. Stafford of Alexandria and Baton Rouge are the guests over the week-end of Mrs. Stafford's father, Judge Charles Schulze.

Mrs. Fred Cantrell and daughter Miss Bunch Cantrell, left Wednesday for Chattanooga, Tenn., to join their son and brother, who is a student at Riverside Academy. They have been guests for the past week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hilton.

Among the L. S. U. students, home for the Easter vacation are Miss Rachel Haynes, Miss Elizabeth Cudd and Herbert Henry.

Miss Laura Grace Kendall, student at Userline Academy in New Orleans, is spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Calvert.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Butler and sons, James and Harry, who have been residing in Natchez, Miss., have returned to West Monroe to reside and will be at home to their friends on Travis street.

Martin Hebert, Jr., student at Tulane University in New Orleans, is spending the Easter holidays with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Martin Hebert.

Miss Hayes Littleton has returned to her home in Newport, Ark., after a delightful visit in the home of her sister, Mrs. H. A. Gentry.

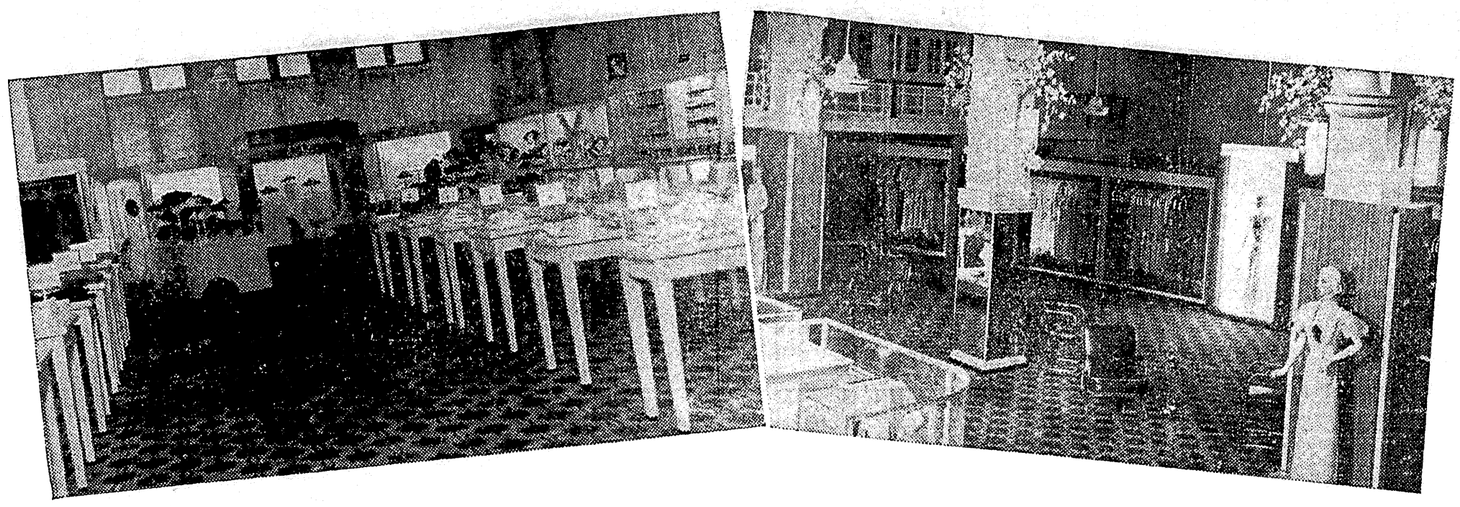
Mrs. Joseph Dillard, accompanied by Mr. Dillard, left today for St. Louis, where she will be under the care of a specialist for a few days.

Friends will regret exceedingly to hear of the departure from this city of Mrs. Cody Watkins and her two sons and daughter, Miss Noalie Watkins, for their new home in El Paso, Texas, where they will join Mr. Watkins, whose health necessitates a western climate.

Mrs. Clarence Faulk, regent of Fort Miro chapter, D. A. R., accompanied by her daughter, Miss Eleanor Faulk, will leave next Sunday via airplane for Washington to attend the National D. A. R. convention. Miss Faulk will represent Louisiana in the capacity of page and Mrs. Faulk as a delegate. Mrs. Milling Bernstein, also a delegate, will leave at the same time, but will make the trip by railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. John Middleton were among those enjoying the Garden Pilgrimage at Natchez.

SPACIOUS AND BEAUTIFUL IS PALACE'S NEW READY-TO-WEAR DEPARTMENT



Formal opening of the remodeled and modernized ready-to-wear department of The Palace last week was an event of importance in the history of the store. Described as "the most beautiful ready-to-wear department in the state," the floor space has been utilized to give more spacious aisles and more effective display of merchandise. Luxurious refinement is the keynote of the innovations which are accentuated by a harmonious decoration scheme in oriental mahogany, ivory and ebony. Two views above give a suggestion of the artistic effect produced in the modern idea of store arrangement. Left: The millinery and underwear section. Right: A corner of the ready-to-wear section.

P.-T. A. LEADER

Mrs. C. W. Williams (above), Barkdull Faulk school P.-T. A. president, has done outstanding work as the head of her organization, holding it to the standard of superior among the many P.-T. A. units of the state.

Mrs. Williams' success has been due to her untiring efforts in fitting the work of the group she heads into the needs of the school as a cooperative body working with the educational forces for improved conditions in the training of children; to her earnestness of purpose, which has been a challenge to her co-workers for successful effort in all the undertakings of her committees; to her consideration for the opinions of others, which has been productive of a fine spirit of harmony in the group of which she is leader.

Mrs. Williams, as a former teacher, has realized that much of the equipment of schools for extra-curricular activities, cannot always be included in the school budget, and has made it possible for her organization to furnish this equipment, the largest item being musical instruments to supplement the school band.

As publicity chairman of the Twin City P.-T. A. council last year, Mrs. Williams made such a success that she was appointed fifth district chairman of publicity for this year, and in addition to her activities as president of Barkdull Faulk P.-T. A., is responsible for the P.-T. A. column in the Sunday editions of the combined World and News-Star.

Several Spring Weddings Scheduled To Take Place In City

Betrothal Is Announced

Kathleen Marie Jones Will Marry C. C. Bell, Jr., In June

The time has come, as everybody knows the famous walrus said, to talk about the late spring brides who have claimed the attention of society ever since their engagements were announced.

Of prominence will be Miss Jean Dryburgh's betrothal to Mr. Baskin Wright late in May. Whether or not the ceremony will have a garden background and a sylvan setting still remains on the lap of the gods. May is whimsical and capricious, so in case the clouds scurry across the evening sunset and stir up an unwelcome rain, the ceremony will be performed indoors. We do hope that it will take place in the garden, as Jean will fit beautifully into the picture. She is the fresh, wholesome type that awakens thoughts of green meadows, fragrant flowers and the warm brown earth. In either case the wedding will be beautiful, as Jean has selected several lovely girls to walk altarward with her. They will wear exquisite garden frocks of flower shades.

The wedding plans of Miss Katherine Morrison and Mr. Travis Oliver, Jr., are also in the embryonic stage, as a garden wedding at Pargoud plantation is very much to their liking. In case Katherine uses the feminine prerogative and changes her mind, the vows will be spoken at Grace church.

Still another June wedding claiming interest will be that of Miss Kathleen Marie Jones and Mr. C. C. Bell, Jr.

The engagement is being formally announced today as follows: Mrs. Mary Jones announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Kathleen Marie to Mr. C. C. Bell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bell, Sr., of West Monroe.

Miss Jones, a popular and lovely young woman, is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school and attended Northeast Center of L. S. U. Mr. Bell was graduated from Riverside Military academy, Gainesville, Georgia, and attended the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa and Northeast Center of L. S. U. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sigma Phi Omega fraternities. Mr. Bell is secretary of the C. C. Bell Manufacturing company. His father is mayor of West Monroe and is closely identified with the civic life of the community.

It is not too early now, for girls preparing for June weddings to begin formulating their plans for the big event. A budget of the bride's time is quite important. And two months, if carefully planned, will allow quite enough time to arrange all the necessary details without placing any undue pressure on the bride and her family, and without causing them any unnecessary worries.

By following a systematic order, one may accomplish everything with ease. The bride then can walk down the aisle of the church with a feeling of calm and assurance, knowing that the smallest detail hasn't been forgotten, everything is going smoothly, and just as it was planned.

The various lists for invitations to the ceremony and the reception, and the announcements, lists of both the bride's and bridegroom's, should have been completed by this time (four or five weeks before). And the order for the engraving should be placed with the stationer, because it does take quite a long time before it can be completed and delivered. The "at home" cards should be ordered at the same time, the visiting cards with the new name, and monogrammed stationery for the "thank you" notes. If any alterations on the house, cleaning, or decorating are to be done before the wedding, they should be completed two or three weeks in advance of the date of the occasion. Begin addressing the invitations and announcements.

Fifteen days before the wedding, at least, the invitations should be mailed. Soon after they are received, wedding presents will begin to arrive.

At least ten weeks or, perhaps, twelve before the wedding, the exact date, time, whether it is to take place at church or home, and whether it is to be a large or small affair should be decided. Until these matters are arranged nothing else can be accomplished. And when they are settled such duties as arranging for the church, engaging the clergyman, completing the plans for the reception, may be performed. Then may begin the enjoyment of the selection of the trousseau, including the bride's own personal wardrobe and the household linens, the wedding gown, and the going-away costume.

Ramsey-Sherrell

The interest of friends is centered in the marriage of Miss Delphia Sherrell and Mr. Frank Ramsey on Monday evening, April the sixth, at the Assembly of God tabernacle, with Reverend E. L. Tanner, pastor, officiating in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

The bride wore a lovely model of aquamarine blue crepe with accessories of the same shade and a corsage of bride's roses and valley lilies.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey motored to Vicksburg and other points in Mississippi for a brief honeymoon.

Mrs. Ramsey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sherrell, formerly of Biloxi, Miss.

Reynolds-Hooks

Interest is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Laverne Hooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Hooks of this city, to Mr. Ray Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Z. Reynolds of Texarkana, Ark.

The ceremony was solemnized Thursday afternoon, April 2, at the First Methodist church in Texarkana with the Reverend George W. Myers officiating.

The bride wore a lovely navy blue crepe model with white accessories and a corsage of valley lilies.

Miss Hooks was graduated from Ouachita Parish High school and attended Northeast Center of L. S. U. For the past year she has been connected with the Palace.

Mr. Reynolds is a member of a prominent Texarkana family. He is associated with the Deryer Motor company of that city.

After May 1, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds will be at home to their friends in Texarkana.

Flower Pilgrimage

Beauty sufficient to last a life time is in store for Mrs. Hillyer Speed, Mrs. Thomas Sholars, Mrs. Allan Sholars and Mrs. J. Q. Graves, who will motor on the fifteenth of April to San Antonio, Texas, for the flower fiesta and then join the flower pilgrimage tour to Mexico City.

A special train composed entirely of flower lovers from every section of the country will leave San Antonio for the world's garden spot, Mexico City.

As this is the season when this quaint city is overflowing with beauty and the climate is ideal, tourists take advantage of the opportunity to see the city under the most delightful circumstances.

Rural Conference

Washington will be the Mecca for rural women from all over the world the week of May 31, when the third triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World will be held. Names of delegates from England, Union of South Africa, Kenya, New Zealand, Australia, Germany, Sweeden, Canada, and the United States are already in. Representatives from rural women's organizations in Finland, Czechoslovakia, Holland, Bulgaria, India, Estonia, Nairobi, and Palestine, are expected also. In addition to the discussion of subjects of common interest to rural women all over the world, there will be an exhibit of hand crafts made from farm-grown products—leather work from France; spinning and weaving from Scotland, Norway, and Sweden; embroideries, lace and handwoven linens from Switzerland. The international organization has asked especially that an opportunity to see at first hand the home demonstration work of the United States be included in the program.

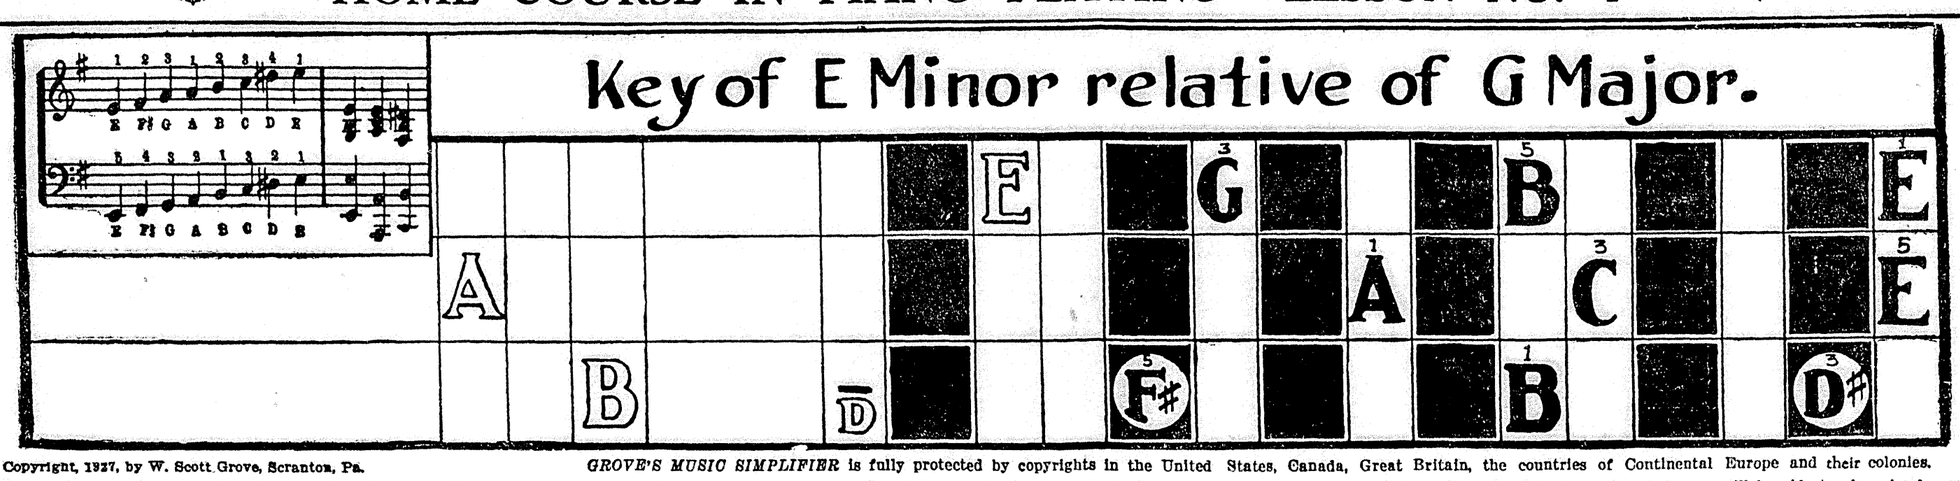
HOME COURSE IN PIANO PLAYING—LESSON NO. 4



Copyright, 1927, by W. Scott Grove, Scranton, Pa. GROVE'S MUSIC SIMPLIFIER is fully protected by copyrights in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, the countries of Continental Europe and their colonies.

The fourth lesson in this series of twenty-four lessons of the modern method of instructions for the piano or organ according to system originated by Mr. Grove, takes up the key of E Minor. It is proposed to give in this complete series all of the fundamental chords used in musical composition. There will be twenty more lessons before this twenty-four lesson course in music is completed. The pupils are expected to learn these chords so that they can be played almost intuitively. This means diligent practice. When this lesson has been mastered the students will be fully qualified to take up the study of the fifth lesson which will be next presented.

INSTRUCTION—Place chart upon the keyboard of piano or organ so that the small letter D with a dash above it, at the bottom of the chart, is directly over the key D on the keyboard. The white and black spaces will then correspond to the white and black keys. Each of the three horizontal series of letters represents a chord. Beginning with the upper row, play the white letter with the left hand and play the three black letters in unison with the right hand, making the first chord. Then, in the same way, play the notes indicated in the second horizontal series, then those in the third and back to the first, forming a complement of chords in E Minor.

The first things necessary to become a good player are patience and practice. During the time before the next lesson the chord shown should be played over and over again until you memorize it and can play it without the chart. Memorize the letters also. You will find that before long you will be able to play simple accompaniments in this key to any melodies you or your friends may sing.

Every triad in black letter is marked 1, 3, 5. Always read it so, no matter in what vertical order the notes may be written. Note that the small letter D with a dash above it must not be played.

Never play small white letter D with a dash above it.

NEXT LESSON—Key of C—The natural key.

The bells ring out—the birds sing — joyously in time; in learning; in achievement; in experience—and in the hope and faith that we can turn all these factors to ushering in another Spring—another Easter with its miraculous message of eternal Hope. Man has traveled far since the first Easter— both spiritual and material benefit. Such hope and faith carry us through emotional strife and economic privations to the life of greater spiritual and material abundance which beckons for us. For in Faith there is Hope—in Hope there is action—and Action makes this a better world in which to live.

EASTER IN THE CHURCHES

HAPPY EASTER!

What thou sawest, Mary, say,
As thou wentest on the way.
"I saw the tomb wherein the Living One had lain;
"I saw His glory as He rose again:
"Napkin and linen clothes, and angels twain:
"Yea, Christ, my hope, is risen, and He
"Will go before you into Gallilee."

Come, Let Us Meet and Worship the Risen Lord On His Day

Christianity is unique in many respects. It is the ONLY religion that bases its claim to acceptance upon the RESURRECTION of its FOUNDER FROM THE DEAD.

"He is not here; He is Risen, as He said"

He Is Risen!

Blessed Message....May It Fill Your Heart Anew With The Peace and Joy and Comfort...

FAITH IN HIM Will Bring to You!

Without Christ's Resurrection life is a dream without substance, a progress without purpose, and a journey without destination. Before Christ's Resurrection the thought of Eternal Life was considered too good to be true, but since the first Easter Morning it is too good not to be true. We live in a world where what is good enough can be made true and where faith in the utmost grows from more to more.

"Good Morning! Christ is risen."

The star rank was presented by Walter Rohr, Boy Scout commissioner, to Tim Heninger, of troop No. 31, Monroe.

The life rank was presented to two scouts by P. S. Mulhearn of the executive board. They were James Whitten, troop No. 34, Monroe, and Dalton Veach, troop No. 67, Sterlington.

Eagle rank was presented by Fred Williamson, chairman of the public relations committee, to Fred Thatcher, troop No. 13, West Monroe, and to Calvin L. Buffington, troop No. 67, Sterlington.

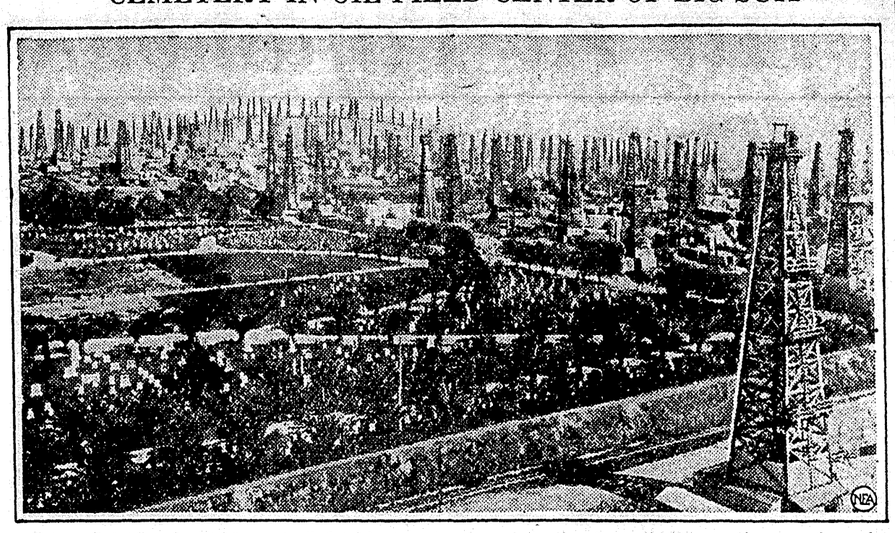
First aid certificates were given by Parker McComb to those who had passed successfully the Red Cross standard course.

Announcement was made by scout executive that Camp Ki-Ro-Li will open on June 7. The meeting closed with the scout benediction by Hessel Cahn, assistant district commissioner.

BAND MOTHERS MEET

OAK GROVE, La., April 11.—(Special)—The Mothers of the Band club met in the home economics department in Oak Grove high school with 20 mothers present, for the purpose of making suits for the boys and girls who belong to the band. The uniforms, which are to be worn when the band has its next performance, are capes of the school colors, black and gold, and the pants and skirts, which will be white.

CEMETERY IN OIL FIELD CENTER OF BIG SUIT



Surrounded by a forest of gaunt oil derricks towering toward the sky, from which issues the roar of ceaseless activity, Sunnyside cemetery, shown in this airview, is the center of an $85,000,000 suit, one of the strangest in American legal annals. Descendants of the dead who rest there and owners of lots in the burial ground, in the great Signal Hill oil district at Long Beach, Calif., are suing oil corporations and the Long Beach Cemetery association for the enormous sum. They charge that the graves are being desecrated as oil is removed from beneath them by "whipstocking" (drilling on an angle), and that cemetery lot owners are entitled to a share in the huge profits that the oil men have reaped.

15 CONCORDIA PARISH SCHOOLS ENTER CONTEST

JONESVILLE, La., April 11.—(Special)—Fifteen schools in Concordia parish will enter the Rosenwald contest in a program to improve and beautify school grounds and buildings. The white and colored schools are divided into two distinct classes and will compete for the prizes, two elementary school libraries, one of which will be presented to a white school, and one to a colored school, judged to have shown the greatest improvement during the school session of 1935 and 1936.

The white schools that are entered are Shaw, Vidalia, Ferriday, Clayton, Monterey, Silver Lake and New Era.

The colored schools are Saughy, Concordia Parish Training school, Sevior-Rosenwald school, Clayton colored school and Lake St. John school, Frogmore, Hornsby, and Wildsville.

On April the fifteenth, Superintendent J. S. Burris and a committee composed of C. P. Seab, parish agent, Effie Walsworth, home demonstration agent, and Mrs. A. Laurant will meet and check the results and forward their opinion to State Superintendent T. H. Harris at Baton Rouge. The superintendent will then appoint a committee to judge the parish winners and name the two schools to receive the Rosenwald libraries.

OUR MODERN AGE

FEARLESS COURAGE

"Great courage indeed has been displayed by those on whom the burden of flood was laid. These noble men, and women too, have set back to work without much ado. The once turbulent waters, now quiet and still, continue to yield to their own will. From many places they are gone, but in many more they still remain and resist man's efforts with might and main."

"The duty of all is made quite clear. To these unfortunate souls we must bring good cheer."

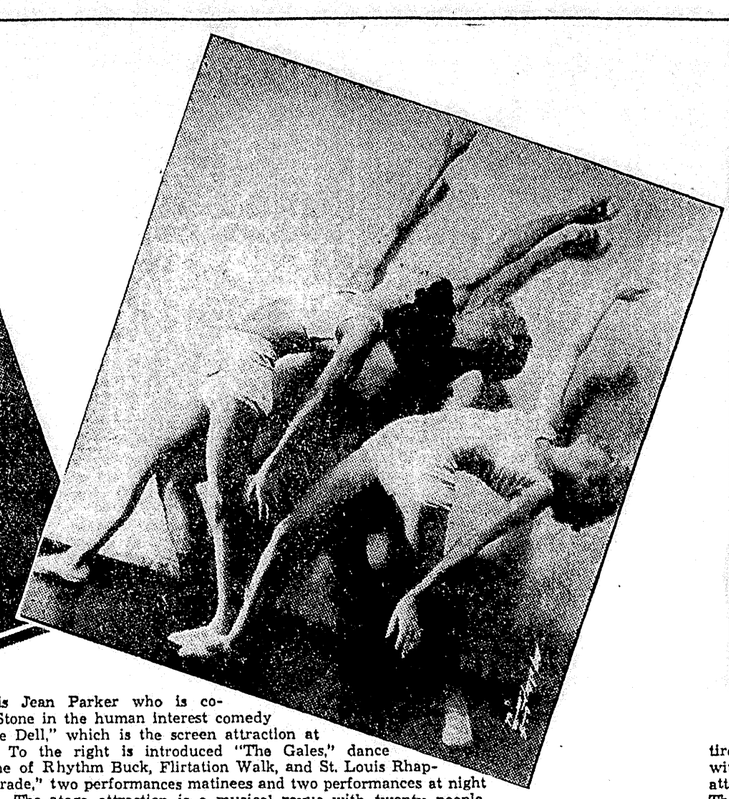
New Astaire-Rogers Musical Hit At Paramount Today

Two of the world's loveliest voices are to be heard at the Capitol theater Wednesday and Thursday. They belong respectively to Jan Kiepura and Gladys Swarthout and they are on display in the new movie, "Give Us This Night," which ranks distinctly as "tops" in screen entertainment. The film is filled with music, laughter and love.

To the left is Jean Parker who is co-featured with Fred Stone in the human interest comedy drama, "The Farmer in the Dell," which is the screen attraction at the Paramount for Monday only. To the right is introduced "The Gales," dance sophisticates who introduce a smart routine of Rhythm Buck, Flirtation Walk, and St. Louis Rhapsody in Ed Gardiner's musical revue, "Passing Parade," two performances matinees and two performances at night on the same program Monday at the Paramount. The stage attraction is a musical revue with twenty people, including a stage band.



In the most bewitching role of a dance girl who captivates the entire Pacific navy personnel, Ginger Rogers sings, dances and romances with Fred Astaire through the gay musical, "Follow the Fleet," the attraction playing at the Paramount theater for the last times today. The complete musical score is by Irving Berlin, and Randolph Scott, Harriet Hillard and Astrid Allwyn head the big supporting cast.

'Follow The Fleet' Closes Engagement

Irving Berlin Wrote Music For Film; Harriet Hilliard In Cast

IN the parlance of the men who write motion picture ad copy, "Follow the Fleet," the new Astaire-Rogers picture booked for showing at the Paramount theater, is a terrific musical bombshell, with a complete score by Irving Berlin. The music master doesn't come to the screen himself, but his genius floods it from front to back to provide rhythm for the miraculous feet of Astaire and Rogers and infectious lyrics for their voices.

The nimble Astaire and his lithe titian-haired partner, have scored three record smashing hits within the short period of a year. They come to the public with quite a new and bewildering display in "Follow the Fleet."

Astaire sings and dances to "We Saw the Sea," and "I'd Rather Lead a Band." With Miss Rogers he sings and dances to "All My Eggs in One Basket" and "Let's Face the Music and Dance." Miss Rogers has a solo song and dance, "Let Yourself Go," which is reprised with Fred as a dance contest.

Randolph Scott, who first crashed the big time with the dancing stars in that musical fantasy of Paris, "Roberta," reaches for new laurels in this show. He neither sings nor dances but delivers red-blooded romantic appeal.

All Astaire-Rogers pictures have one or more personality surprises to pop. "Gay Divorcee" was loaded with them. . . . Astaire, Erik Rhodes, Eric Blore. "Roberta" had Scott. "Top Hat" gave Helen Broderick to the screen, and now comes "Follow the Fleet' with Harriet Hilliard, considered by Hollywood the most important find of the year. "Beauty, a lovely figure, a gloriously voice, acting talent and a personality that will reach out from the screen to capture any audience," are her assets. She came from the radio and the New York dance bands to play opposite Randolph Scott and help weave the second of the two romantic threads of the story. She sings two of Irving Berlin's numbers, "Get Thee Behind Me, Satan" and "Here Am I, But Where Are You?"

"Follow the Fleet" is an adaptation of two famous plays, "Hit the Deck" and "Shore Leave," New York stage sensations. It is a story of gobs and girls when the fleet's in. It catches the invigorating spirit of the navy afloat and ashore, dramatizing its high-pitched excitement and gaiety, couching its robust humor, plumbing its romantic depths and setting the whole dizzy whirl to effervescent music. There is a spectacular climax in which an elaborate style show is staged as an incidental to the plot.

Behind the melody of the picture, behind the singing and dancing of Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, behind the beautiful sets, the gay costumes, have been woven two romantic stories. One is of a girl who possesses a world of charm and beauty but doesn't know how to sell them. When she learns, she makes the mistake of believing what a sailor tells her. The other is of a sailor, with music in his soul and wings on his feet, whose only ambitions are to lead a band and marry the girl he loves.

"Follow the Fleet" was directed by Mark Sandrich who is responsible for the direction of "Gay Divorcee" and "Top Hat." Pandro S. Berman, the producer of all Astaire-Rogers and Hepburn pictures, brought this one to the screen for RKO Radio. Dwight Taylor and Allan Scott wrote the screen play.

San Francisco, one of the most colorful ports of call in the world, provides the setting and a typical sailor rendezvous is the arena for most of the shore action. The action afloat was photographed on a gigantic reproduction of a battleship.

The year's biggest song hit has been made into a screen musical smash. Here is Rochelle Hudson and Harry Richman who, with Walter Connolly, Douglas Dumbrille, Farley and Roley and a big cast and chorus, are featured in "The Music Goes 'Round," which comes to the Paramount theater for Thursday and Friday. One of the junior features is the most perfect short subject ever made, Chic Sale in "The Perfect Tribute."

While Popeye the Sailor watches with a gleam in his eye, Max Fleischer, the producer of the cartoon, starts the Sailor Man on another of his animated adventures. Popeye is the hero of the new Popeye club, coming to the Capitol theater this coming Saturday, starting at 9:30 o'clock. A huge program has been arranged for the kiddies. On the stage Jack Tracy and his Hotel Frances orchestra will appear in person.

Robert Montgomery and Myrna Loy, the gay stars of "When Ladies Meet," are together again in another merry mix-up, "Petticoat Fever," which comes to the Paramount theater for Tuesday and Wednesday. She wouldn't say "yes," and she wouldn't say "no," but it was Myrna's "maybe" that gave Bob petticoat fever and your gayest screen fun. It was adapted from a Broadway stage success.

POLICE JURY MEET DELEGATES NAMED

JENA, La., April 11.—(Special)—All members of the LaSalle parish police jury have been elected as delegates to the annual meeting of the Louisiana Police Jury association to be held at New Orleans April 28-29. Thirty dollars for the convention expenses of each delegate from the parish was appropriated from the general fund.

Delegates from the parish will be J. M. Thompson, president, and P. S. Gaharan, Jr., secretary-treasurer of the police jury, W. A. Poole, W. E. Harris, W. C. Holloway, Frank Benton, H. N. Tannehill, J. L. Paul and L. U. Manchester.

Wheat, wine, olive oil, and hemp are the four leading crops of Italy.

Hark to the Indian warhoop. List to the coyote yelping in the far sagebrush. Lend an ear to the crunch of wagon wheels on the sunset trail. Cringe to the sound of forceps uprooting a renegade's molar. Yea. Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey light out in the virgin West of the gold rush days for their latest and greatest comedy of errors and exultations, "Silly Billies," playing today and Monday at the Capitol theater.

In his latest film, "Charlie Chan in Shanghai," Warner Oland is called upon to solve a mystery that baffles the secret service of two nations. Here he is seen with Irene Hervey and Charles Locher who play the romantic leads. Charlie Chan has never been so perilously close to death, nor so shrewd or amiable a Chinese detective as Warner Oland makes him seem in this latest spine chiller. The picture plays Tuesday at the Capitol theater.

New Comedy Hit Showing At Capitol

Wheeler And Woolsey Star In 'Silly Billies' Today And Monday

STRIKING a brand-new note in feature comedy settings, the noted clown team of Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey abandoned the present era in favor of the hectic days of '49 in their current RKO Radio vehicle, "Silly Billies," showing today at the Capitol theater.

With its scenes laid in the old Indian Territory just as the gold rush to California is starting, with the two famous comics cast as a pair of quack dentists, and with all the picturesque features of the period—stage coaches, wagon-trains, Indian tribes, cavalry troops and the rest of it—highlighting the story, "Silly Billies" represents a genuine novelty in motion picture entertainment.

For some reason, the humorous possibilities of the covered wagon days have been overlooked by screen producers. Not since the late Will Rogers made "Two Wagons—Both Covered" as a two reel comedy many years ago, have the trials and tribulations of the pioneers been employed as the basis for film humor.

The colorful West has been used to great advantage in writing the story and screen play of the new offering. The original by Thomas Lennon and Fred Guiol, the screen play by Jack Townley and Al Boasberg, and Guiol's direction under the supervision of Lee Marcus, have all been coordinated to get the best results in the way of comedy situations, novel treatment and surprise elements, as well as to maintain the flavor and spirit of the old Western days.

A stage-coach hold-up, an Indian attack on a wagon-train, a cavalry rescue, the abandonment of whole communities as the inhabitants set out for the California Golconda, all are faithfully recorded as part of the dramatic background against which the two celluloid clowns perform some of the funniest antics of their careers.

They extract teeth under the menace of bandit guns, fight off an Indian assault, are captured and made members of a redskin tribe, narrowly escape death by drowning and lynching, and otherwise cavort through the film in a manner that will delight their admirers everywhere. Thrills and humor alternate throughout the picture in unique fashion.

The dainty Dorothy Lee again has the feminine lead for the comics, with Harry Woods, Ethan Laidlaw, Delmar Watson, Jim Thorpe, Chief Thunderbird and other well-known players in the cast, as well as a band of some 50 redskins who wear their own tribal costumes, and hundreds of extras.

Local filmgoers are promised laughs galore in the hilarious hit "Three Live Ghosts," coming to the Capitol theater Friday. Richard Arlen and Cecilia Parker form the romantic interest with the laughs coming from Claude Allister, Charles McNaughton and Beryl Mercer.

Screen Life In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—The indorsement business amounts to quite a nice little sideline for movie stars, and may keep them in cigarets, shoes, automobiles, toothpaste or whatever products they choose to approve.

Several get good cash money in addition to free samples and the publicity afforded by publication of their pictures. More of them than skeptics would guess actually use the products they indorse. Popularity is a fragile thing, and they have to be pretty careful.

Western stars, for example, do not indorse cigarets. One horse-opera hero appeared in a tobacco advertisement and received a great many disapproving letters from parent-teacher associations. For several months his pictures actually were dropped from some of the preferred lists compiled by local censors.

Innumerable propositions are rejected by the stars. One company wanted Jean Harlow to stand next to a ventilating fan and allow her skirt to be blown this way and that—mostly up. It would have made quite an interesting picture. Miss Harlow said, "No thanks."

Makers of women's nether finery and foundations are forever after Mae West's indorsement. She always declines, figuring that this would be the most illusion-shattering publicity possible.

One manufacturer wants to sell corsets bearing her autograph. Can you imagine Klondike Annie posing in a corset? Oh, well—don't try.

They say that Greta Garbo was asked to indorse a garbage can, to have been called the "Greater Garbo Garbage-ola," or something like that. That was probably the first time the wan Swede decided that she wanted to go home.

The radio signal for a laugh is t dashes, two dots, two dashes.

HOUSING STUDY IN GOTHAM SCHOOLS

Educators Endorse Plan To Teach Fundamentals As Economic Need

BUFFALO, N. Y.—A plan whereby students in schools of this section will be taught economic fundamentals of home ownership has been adopted by school superintendents in many sections of the state.

The purpose back of teaching home ownership is to provide school students with advance experience or familiarity with financial obligations involved in home ownership other than that acquired by the trial and error method at the time of purchase.

The plan has been submitted to educators under the title, "Arithmetic Home Ownership Project," which was prepared by the local Federal Housing Administration office. The plan has been accepted by Dr. Ernest G. Hartwell, superintendent of Buffalo Public schools, Dr. James C. Spinning, superintendent of schools in Rochester and Mr. H. O. Hutchinson, superintendent of the board of education, at Elmira.

The idea of teaching home ownership in the schools has been heartily endorsed by leading architects, realtors, building supply dealers, and financial institutions in these three cities.

FIRST FLOOR

The attractive Colonial home shown here was built at Greenway Downs, Va., under terms of the Federal Housing Administration's Single Mortgage System. This charming, bungalow type house derives its beauty from simplicity of line and symmetry of window arrangement. The plan is good, with distinct separation of living and sleeping quarters. The living room is well proportioned and lends itself to attractive furnishing. The dining room is small but ample and is in keeping with the balance of the house. The bedrooms have adequate furniture spaces and, while comparatively small in actual dimensions, have ample open-floor space, which is the most important factor. The covered back porch connecting the garage and kitchen is both serviceable and ornamental. The garage, although connected with the house, is set well back where it is inconspicuous. Homes similar to the one illustrated above readily fall within the terms and provisions of the Federal Housing Administration's Single Mortgage System.

ANNUAL EASTER HUNT PREPARED

Boys And Girls Will Compete For Prizes At Forsythe Park

Early this morning a total of 4,000 gaily dyed Easter eggs will be hidden in Forsythe park under the direction of the members of the Eastern Star. No one will be permitted to interrupt the hiding of the eggs and the public will be barred from the park while the eggs are being placed. Promptly at 2:30 p.m., the annual Easter egg hunt will be started.

The hunt will be open to all children in the parish whose ages range from two to 12 years. Parents are asked to see that no older children are allowed to participate. They are asked to assemble immediately south of the municipal golf course clubhouse. A space will be roped off for boys and girls and an officer in charge will give instructions.

Girls will hunt eggs south of where the old street car tracks were formerly placed. Boys will hunt eggs north of this point. Then a special place will be provided in which little tots will hunt unmolested by their elders.

Eggs that have numbers will be brought at once to a truck stationed nearby, where prizes will be awarded in conformity with the numbers on the eggs.

The sound truck of Lloyd Walters will be used for the conveying of instructions. During the afternoon a 30-piece band of the Teflis Grotto, which is the sponsor of the program, will play.

This hunt will be given through the efforts of the Teflis Grotto, with which members of the fire department and city police as well as state highway officers are cooperating. The prizes, many of which are valuable, are being donated by merchants of Monroe and West Monroe.

The first prize for girls will comprise a diamond ring; the first prize for boys, $5 cash; the first prize for little tots, a "bunny rabbit." The second prize for girls will be $2.50 cash and the second prize for boys also $2.50 cash. In addition to these prizes there will be fully 100 or more prizes donated by merchants.

BASE PLUG

Why is it that the base plug never seems to be in the right place? Well, in many cases it is because it is in the wrong place. To be sure to have a base plug always at a convenient spot, there should be one at every point between door and window openings. Another refinement that is now widely practiced is taking the plug out of the baseboard and placing it in the wall above. If you have a table on which you want to place a lamp, the plug can be placed 20 inches or so above the floor. This keeps the cords off the floor where they gather dust fuzz and look untidy. The wall plates that cover the plugs may be painted like the walls so they are scarcely noticeable.

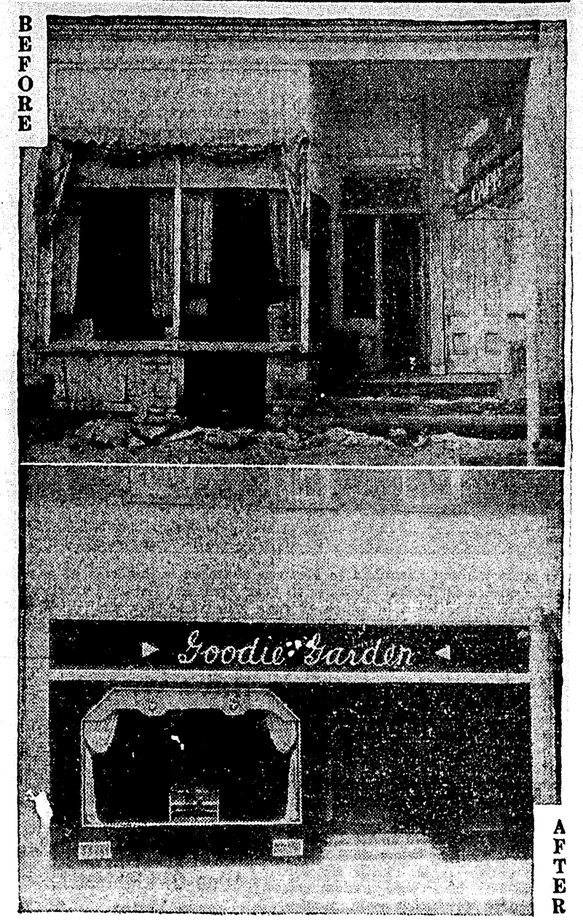
Concealed Plumbing

It has taken a long time to overcome the old selling point of "open plumbling," but at last the public has become less suspicious of anything that closes in the piping beneath a lavatory or kitchen sink, and the manufacturers, taking advantage of this wearing down of prejudice have come out with lavatories that look like cabinets with doors below the basin that open up and disclose a nice big medicine cabinet or place for linen or soiled clothes hamper. In these days when architects search out every available inch of space as diligently as Diogenes sought for his honest man, this gain is a real one.

HOME CLUB MEETS

The Claiborne Home Demonstration club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Allen Cloud. Reports were submitted by various leaders. Plans were formulated for a picnic for club members to be held late in May. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. L. De Freese.

Modernized Food Shop



Commercial modernization frequently produces remarkable changes, both in the appearance of a shop as well as the income of the tenant or owner. Above is shown how an outmoded cafe in a small Iowa town was remodeled into an up-to-date restaurant. According to information furnished the Federal Housing Administration, the modernization cost less than $1,000. Funds with which to carry out such projects are available at private financial institutions operating under provisions of the National Housing Act. For full particulars, consult any Housing Administration insuring office,

Housing Question Box

Q. Are lightning rods a protection or a danger? Some tell me one thing and some another.

A. Lightning rods of adequate size properly installed are a distinct protection. Inadequate ones might be dangerous. If you wish to have them installed, go to some reliable concern and let them figure out your needs.

Q. The floor in our living room has settled. What do you presume causes that?

A. If the settlement is in one place only, there probably has been settlement of some portion of the foundation or of a pier or column. Have a competent builder check your foundations and piers. It may be necessary to jack up the house and strengthen the weak spot. If the settlement is even over the whole floor, it is probably due to the shrinkage of the floor joists. In that case, have the molding at the junction of the floor and baseboard reset and be sure it is nailed to the floor and not to the baseboard.

Q. Can you tell me the best way to keep a room dark in the morning without shutting out the air?

A. There are two possibilities, outside blinds or Venetian blinds on the interior. If your house has double hung windows or in-opening casements, outside blinds would do. Be sure the slats are stationary and that they are so hung that when closed they slope down and out, so the rain will not come in. If you have out-opening casements, Venetian blinds should be used. If you prefer them Venetian blinds can also be used with double hung windows.

Q. Sometimes the hot water in our house practically turns to steam. Is this dangerous?

A. Yes, unless there is a safety release valve on the tank. If there is one already on the tank, have it examined to see that it is in working order. If there is none, have one installed.

Q. The floor of the living room of our new house has an awful lot of spring in it; do you think that is all right?

A. Wood floors all have a certain amount of spring, but excessive spring is due either to the floor joists being too small or too widely spaced or not sufficiently braced with bridging. Have them examined by some competent carpenter.

Q. Is there a good imitation tile I can put on my bathroom walls?

A. Yes; there are several that will serve the purpose well. Ask some building-supply dealer to show you samples. Select one with a backing that will withstand moisture and with a high-gloss finish.

Q. Should I have to run my furnace wide open all day in extreme weather to get enough heat in the house?

A. Is your house insulated? Are there weatherstrips on all doors and windows? Have you storm windows? If not, one or all of these will help considerably and will save an appreciable amount of fuel. If your house has all of these features, the furnace must be too small and a new one must be installed.

Q. What can I do with rusting brass hinges? They run streaks all over the paint.

A. If they rust, the hinges are not brass but brass-plated steel. The plating is evidently wearing off, and the only remedy is to replace them.

On tomorrow, and Tuesday, the Banks of Monroe and West Monroe will be hosts to the annual convention of Louisiana Bankers Association.

Practically every Bank, and many of the Bond Houses, will have representatives here both on business and pleasure bent.

Incidentally Monroe and West Monroe will gain some wide spread publicity from our convention. Besides our Louisiana Bankers, we will have representatives from five big banks in New York and from several in Chicago, St. Louis, Atlanta, Kansas City, Memphis, Houston, etc. We likewise expect representatives from R. F. C., Federal Reserve Bank, F. D. I. C. and the Commissioners of Banks from Arkansas, Mississippi and Texas.

Likewise the "Mid-Continent Banker," published in St. Louis, and "Louisiana Banker" of New Orleans, both use an aerial view of Monroe on their front covers, the "Southern Banker" of Atlanta published our program and gave a write up of Monroe and the "Southwest Banker" of Dallas gives Monroe the spotlight.

The Bankers Convention is pushing Monroe to the front, and we feel sure our good people of Monroe and West Monroe will assist wherein occasion may present.

EIGHT WELLS IN RODESSA ADDED

Huge Gasser Completed In Bienville, Weekly Report Discloses

SHREVEPORT, La., April 10.—(AP)—The Rodessa deep oil field added eight wells and Bienville parish a huge gasser to the total producing units in northwest Louisiana the past week which ended Thursday.

The United Gas Public Service company, brought in six of the gushers. They are the Ardis No. 5, section 14-23-16, flowing 33 barrels per hour at 6,009 feet; Thomas No. 2, section 13-23-16, 62 barrels hourly at 6,016 feet; Young No. 2, section 21-23-16, 42 barrels an hour; 5,995 feet; Rodessa Oil and Land company, No. 12, section 22-23-16, 58 barrels hourly 6,005 feet; Gipson No. 1, section 15-23-16, 80 barrels per hour at 6,008 feet; and Pitts No. 2, section 13-23-16, 11 barrels per hour through a 1-4 inch choke. Operators of the Pitts well are preparing to shut off the high gas pressure in this hole and set a short string of casing, to make a better producer from it. Other wells completed:

Haynes Production company, Lawton No. 10, section 14-23-16, flowing 157 barrels per hour at 6,041 feet. Flow of wells mostly through 1-2 inch choke.

Arkansas-Louisiana Gas company, Rodessa Oil and Land No. 11, section 22-23-16, 27 barrels hourly through a 5-8 inch choke, at 6,002 feet.

Travis et al, Norton No. 1, section 17-23-15, at 6,080 feet, no gauge of capacity given out.

Bienville Parish-Lide, Greer, Marr et al, Davis No. 1, section 12-16-5, 70,780,000 cubic feet of gas at a registered pressure of 2,241 lbs., at 5,856 feet. Operators claim this is a new gas producing sand for the state.

Sabine parish, Converse field—Monroe Producing company, No. 1, Coyn, section 25-9N-14W, 35 barrel daily pumper at 1,771 feet.

Union parish—Farrell No. 12, section 9-20N-4E, one and half million feet gas at 2,130 feet; Interstate Natural Gas No. 44, section 7-20N-4E, same amount of gas from 2,144 feet; Southern Carbon company, No. 8, section 28-21N-4E, 12,000,000 feet gas at 2,125 feet.

Twenty-five drilling permits were issued the past week, 10 for Caddo parish; Rapides 1; Grant 1; Calsacieu 2; Allen 1; Acadia 3; LaFourche 1; Livingston 1; Iberia 3; Jeff Davis 1 and Ascension 1.

The Texas company staked location for its first well in Rodessa on the Cass county Texas side on the Hall property, a mile south of the American Liberty, Rodgers procuer.

Other tests nearing completion for the week are:

United Gas Rodessa Oil and Land company No. 11, drilling at 6,013 feet; A. W. Norton, Elder No. 1, section 22-23-16 was washing and drilling plug at 6,045 feet.

Belchic and Lasky wildcat proposition section 16-18-16, Caddo parish mudded off high gas pressure below 3,800 feet Sunday and are now drilling ahead around 4,000 feet.

Lincoln parish—Arkansas-Louisiana Causey No. 1, wildcat, section 23-19N-2W, has reached an interesting stage at 4,500 feet.

Union-Lent, Bocher and Sears, Frost No. 1, section 27-21-1E drilling below 2,705 feet.

Webster-Evans, Crichton No. 1, section 35-18-9, drilling below 4,670 feet.

Sabine parish—A. H. Tarver No. 2, section 36-6-12, blew wild, indicating another deep producing sand level. Operators brought the well under control and are now drilling ahead of 5,200 feet.

Morehouse and Ouachita parishes each registered a gasser with production of five million feet gas.

THRONG HEARS PRIESTS ASSAILED IN CHURCH

A scene without precedent in Mexican churches is this one, of a throng of agrarians gathered in the Roman Catholic edifice at Ciudad Gonzalez to hear President Lazaro Cardenas denounce three priests as instigators of the bloody riot in the town in which 16 were killed and 30 wounded. The clash occurred when worshipers emerged from the church to find a mission in the plaza nearby explaining Mexico's system of Socialistic education, bitterly opposed by the church.

3 JURY TRIALS SET IN BASTROP

Docket For Spring Term One Of Lightest In Years

BASTROP, La., April 11.—(Special)—The docket for the spring term of criminal court to be held in district court here during the week beginning April 20 has been arranged, and only three jury cases have been set for trial, which makes it one of the lightest dockets ever arranged for a criminal term of court here.

Numerous other cases have been set for trial, but they are, for the most part, misdemeanor charges and will be tried before the judge.

Norman Davis, charged with incest, will go on trial on the opening day of court, before a jury. The case of Norman Davis and Matilda Clark, charged with concubinage, is also scheduled for trial on that day.

On April 22, Joe Porter, white man, charged with wounding less than mayhem, will go on trial before a jury.

Among other cases set for trial during the term of criminal court to be tried before the judge, include the following: Ed Horton and William Hall, forgery; Percy King, assault and battery; Eugene Knight, disturbing the peace; Luther Manning, non-support; Naff Mayo, disturbing the peace; Albert Madison and J. O. Harrist, fishing with net without a license; Lonnie Peters, disturbing the peace.

CALDWELL BACK FROM FAIR MANAGER'S MEET

FERRIDAY, La., April 11.—(Special)—J. R. Caldwell, principal of the Monterey Agricultural high school, and secretary of the Concordia Parish Fair association, has returned from Jennings, where he attended a meeting of all state fair association managers and secretaries.

Professor Caldwell returned home with many new ideas for the Concordia parish exposition which will be held this year at Monterey October 23, 24 and 25, and which he believes will prove the most successful ever staged in the history of the parish.

Among other added attractions to be featured this year is a high class carnival show, an attraction which was lacking last year. A greatly increased exhibition list is being prepared for this year, according to the secretary, and the premium list which will be published soon is considerably larger than in the past.

MU SIGMA EXERCISES HELD AT HARRISONBURG

HARRISONBURG, La., April 11.—(Special)—The Harrisonburg high school held exercises for the introduction of candidates into the Mu Sigma society at the high school auditorium.

The tapping exercises were held at 10 a.m., and were carried out by the old members and their sponsor, Mrs. Cecile Dosher. A discourse was then given by J. A. Wedgeworth, principal of the high school, during which he introduced the candidates. H. W. Wright, superintendent of schools for Catahoula parish, spoke on the value of the Mu Sigma society.

The following officers were elected to serve during the ensuing year: Kathryn Trichel, president; Helen Andrews, vice-president; Ella Mae Beasley, secretary; Carrye Dell Smith, treasurer; Nola Beasley, reporter; Winnie Lee Purvis, guard; H. D. Dosher, sergeant-at-arms.

The new members received into the society were Ella Mae Beasley, Carrye Dell Smith, Inez Taylor, Helen Andrews, Rossie Hair, Maxine Andrews, Iris Dosher, H. D. Dosher, Nola Beasley, Laverne Brown and Winnie Lee Purvis.

Old members who attended the exercises included Kathryn Trichel, Lois Anderson, Violet Hutchens and Annee Heard. Those who assisted were S. E. Lanier, J. G. Bailey, J. A. Wedgeworth, Mrs. Cecile Dosher and Miss Shirley Wren.

The vast Chapada dos Veadeiros, high meseta nestled in the Goyaz hills, could produce all the wheat Brazil needs and turn out a higher grade product than is now imported from Argentina and Uruguay, experts say.

BASTROP TO SEND RALLY DELEGATES

Will Be Well Represented At Meeting At Louisiana Tech

BASTROP, April 11.—(Special)—Bastrop will be well represented at the annual Northeast Louisiana high school rally to be held in Ruston at Louisiana Tech Friday and Saturday. A number of students from the local school will attend the rally and take part in the various literary events.

The winners of the rally at Ruston will be eligible to enter the annual state rally to be held in Baton Rouge early in May.

The students from the Bastrop high school who are to take part in the Ruston rally and the literary contests they will enter are as follows: Helen Goodnight, tenth grade English; Jane Haggerty, second year Latin; Berdie Louise White, first year Latin; Velma Patterson, ninth grade English; Martha Mae Sisks, shorthand; Ralph Simpson, American history; Clydenne Smith, eight grade home economics; Virginia Boykin, ninth grade home economics; LaNeil Nunnally, tenth grade home economics; Annie Leona Domino, ninth grade Algebra and Isaac Fife, eleventh grade Algebra.

REPORT PROGRESS ON STREET PAVING

JENA, La., April 11.—(Special)—With the arrival in Jena this week of a black topping crew of the Louisiana highway commission, work of completing approximately three miles of streets is rapidly going forward.

The works progress administration and the town of Jena have already blacktopped over half of the project and are expected to complete their work within the next ten days. The highway commission will black top First street from the Louisiana and Arkansas depot to the city limits and School street from the school house to the residence of T. J. Kendrick.

When all of the black topping is completed practically every street within the city limits will be in first class condition.

More than half the patents issued in the United States during 1931 went to citizens in New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and California.

GLEE CLUBS IN CONCERT FRIDAY

Northeast Center L. S. U. Glee clubs which will appear in concert next Friday night at Northeast Center auditorium. The concert will be given to focus public interest on the projected trip of the Northeast Center Glee clubs to Washington in June to appear on the program of the Kiwanis International convention. The clubs have also received an invitation to appear on a program of the Civic Opera Co., of St. Louis, Mo., at its June presentation. All of the singers of the glee clubs, whose activities are sponsored by the Monroe Kiwanis club, are students at Northeast Center and are residents of Ouachita parish. The program Friday night will include vocal and instrumental numbers, solos, duets, trios and quartettes, besides singing by the combined chorus. The proceeds will be in aid of the Washington trip.

CHURCH TO NOTE ITS ANNIVERSARY

1,000 Persons Expected To Attend Meet At Jonesville

JONESVILLE, La., April 11.—(Special)—The local Trinity Presbyterian church will observe its 80th anniversary. On April 20, 1856, this church was organized in what is now Trinity, a part of the town of Jonesville, located across the Little river from Jonesville. With the exception of a few years following the Civil war, when many of its members had died or had been killed in the war, there have been regular services. Much of the history and records of this old church have been lost or destroyed, but there is enough data remaining to reveal the fact that it has had a very interesting history.

Plans are being formulated for the observance of this anniversary on April 19. Only one of the former pastors is living today, Rev. Alwin Stokes of Winnfield. Invitations were extended to Rev. Stokes to attend this anniversary, and to have charge of the celebration, but he was unable to accept. The members of the church then invited Rev. B. C. Bell of Lafayette, and he accepted the invitation.

Dr. Bell was for a number of years superintendent of home missions in the Red River Presbytery, and was instrumental in getting the present church building erected. He held services for a short period of time in Jonesville.

This being one of the oldest churches in the south and the oldest in the Red River Presbytery, representatives from all over the state will attend the celebration.

Rev. K. C. Seawright, the only full time pastor since before the Civil war, stated that upwards of 1,000 people will attend the services.

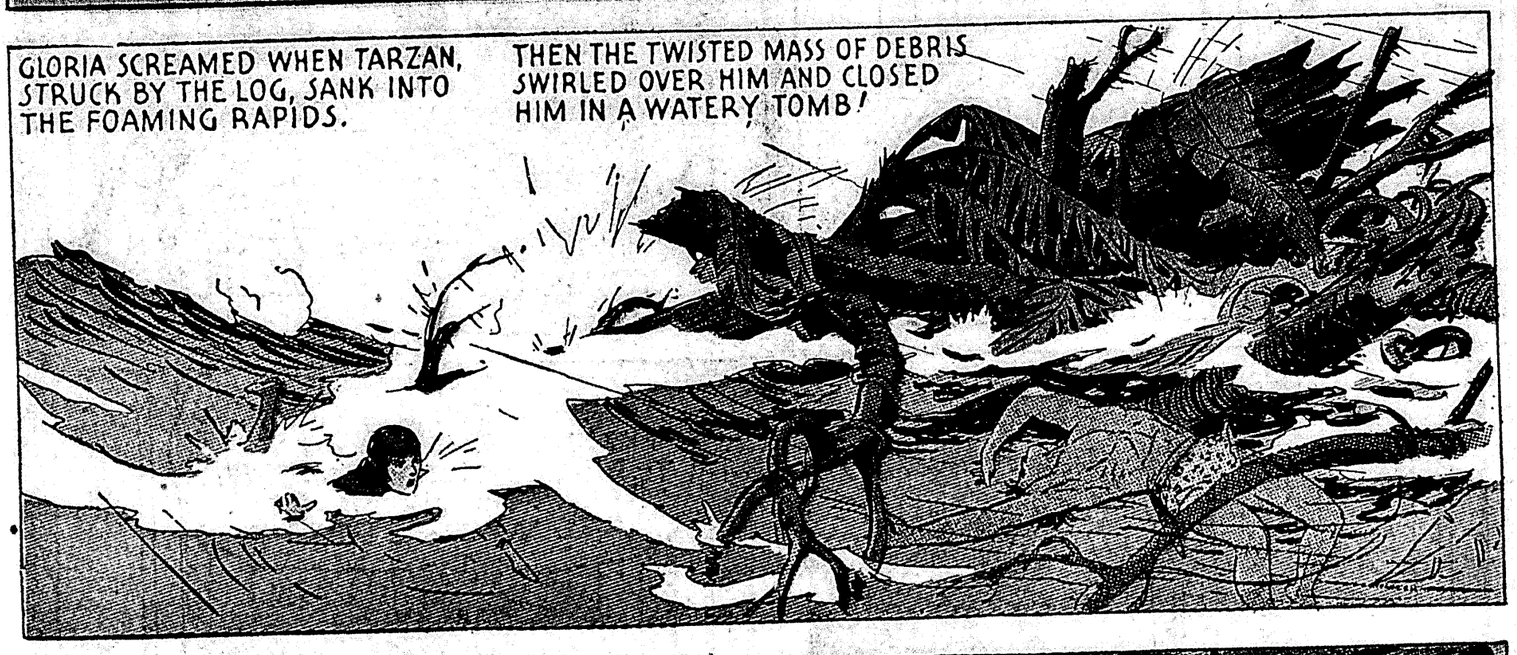
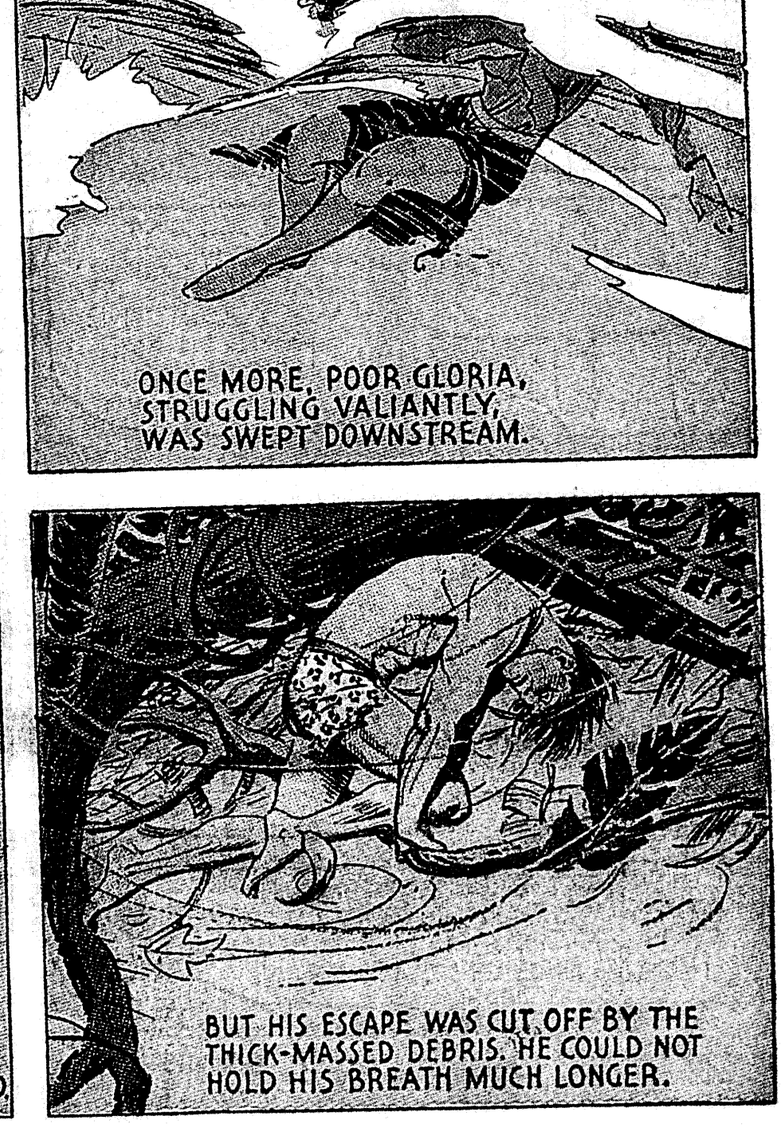
THE CATARACT

GLORIA SCREAMED WHEN TARZAN, STRUCK BY THE LOG, SANK INTO THE FOAMING RAPIDS.

THEN THE TWISTED MASS OF DEBRIS SWIRLED OVER HIM AND CLOSED HIM IN A WATERY TOMB!



ONCE MORE, POOR GLORIA, STRUGGLING VALIANTLY, WAS SWEPT DOWNSTREAM.



BUT HIS ESCAPE WAS CUT OFF BY THE THICK-MASSED DEBRIS. HE COULD NOT HOLD HIS BREATH MUCH LONGER.

IN VAIN DICK FOUGHT TO REACH HER, KNOWING THAT WITHOUT TARZAN'S AID SHE WAS DOOMED.

LUCKILY TARZAN WAS ONLY BRIEFLY STUNNED. THE COOL, GUSHING WATERS REVIVED HIM. HE THRUST UPWARD.

THEN, WITH ONE LAST SURGE OF POWER, HIS STRAINING ARMS PARTED THAT TANGLED MASS. HE WAS FREE!

BUT NOW DICK AND GLORIA WERE FAR AWAY. HE COULD NOT HOPE TO REACH THEM THROUGH THE WATER.

THERE WAS STILL ONE DESPERATE CHANCE. HE SWAM SHOREWARD AND ASCENDED THE CANYON WALL WITH APE-LIKE AGILITY.

AND SO DICK AND HIS FRIENDS WERE OUT OF SIGHT OF THE CANYON.

AND AHEAD OF THEM NOW THE FLOOD WATERS PITCHED IN MIGHTY CATARACT OVER A LOFTY PRECIPICE!

NEXT WEEK: TARZAN'S HAZARD

DICK TRACY

by CHESTER GOULD

THE TRAIL AFTER THE MURDERER OF ADDIE GOTHORN GROWS HOTTER AS DICK TRACY AND HIS MEN, WITH THE AID OF JUNIOR, CONTINUE INVESTIGATION OF THE LATEST SUSPECT, ONE ATHNEL JONES. . . .

GOSH! PLAYING BELLHOP IN A RITZY HOTEL JUST TO GET THE DOPE ON A MURDER SUSPECT IS NO SNAP. THIS FELLOW JONES DEMANDS SERVICE.

HUMPH! YOU FINALLY GOT HERE WITH THAT BOTTLE OF SODA, DID YOU? HAH! OF ALL THE ROTTEN SERVICE!

311

I'M GOING TO REPORT YOU TO THE MANAGER AND DEMAND THAT A NEW BOY BE PUT ON MY CALLS!

YES SIR.

CLICK

WHAT WAS THAT CLICK?

ER. . . I'M SORRY, SIR. . . . . I GUESS IT WAS JUST THE KEYS IN MY POCKET.

WILL THAT BE ALL, SIR?

GET OUT- GET OUT OF HERE!

OH BOY! THAT WAS A CLOSE CALL! NOW TO GET DOWN TO THE BOILER ROOM WHERE TRACY AND JIM TRAILER ARE WAITING FOR ME.

SLAM

HERE'S THE BUTTON-HOLE CAMERA! I GOT A GOOD PICTURE OF HIS FACE. AND HIS FINGER-PRINTS ARE ON THIS TRAY.

WE'LL TAKE THEM BOTH. I'M ANXIOUS TO DEVELOP THE SNAP SHOT. NOW GET BACK UPSTAIRS!

WELL, MR. ATHNEL JONES, TRACY WILL SOON HAVE YOUR PEDIGREE. . . .

OW-W! WHAT WAS THAT?

ZING

GREAT GOVERNOR! SOMEBODY SENT A BULLET RIGHT THROUGH MY CAP!

APRIL 12

THAT'S WHERE THE BULLET HIT THE WALL- BUT IT DIDN'T MAKE A HOLE---WELL FOR. . .

THERE WAS NO BULLET- OR ELSE IT DISAPPEARED! WHAT'S THIS. . . . ON THE FLOOR. . .?

LITTLE PIECES OF ICE! YES SIR! - ICE! HOLY SMOKES! I MUST CATCH TRACY BEFORE HE LEAVES THE HOTEL.

PARDON ME, BUT I AM YOUR NEW NEIGHBOR ACROSS THE STREET AND I WONDER IF SOME OF YOU FOLKS WOULD MIND COMING OVER AND SITTING WITH ME A WHILE.

MY WORD! ER-AH WHY YES, I MYSELF WOULD BE DELIGHTED, LADY.

I WOULDN'T BOTHER YOU, BUT MY HUSBAND ISN'T HOME YET AND I CAN'T REACH HIM AT THE OFFICE.

NO BOTHER AT ALL, I ASSURE YOU.

YOU SEE, I AM SIMPLY FRIGHTENED TO DEATH AFTER HEARING OF THAT BURGLAR INVADING YOUR HOME LAST WEEK.

YES, ONE CAN'T HAVE TOO MUCH PROTECTION THESE DAYS - I BELIEVE I WILL PHONE MY NEPHEW KAYO TO COME OVER.

KAYO, BRING YOUR POLICE WHISTLE OVER HERE AND IF YOU SEE ANY SUSPICIOUS CHARACTERS PROWLING ABOUT OUTSIDE, BLOW IT! THEN I SHALL SWING INTO ACTION.

LOOK OUT! LOOK OUT FOR MY SILVER SERVICE.

TSK-TSK-TSK! NOW WASN'T THAT CLUMSY OF ME?

EXCUSE ME. I THINK I SMELL SOMETHING BURNING IN THE KITCHEN.

ULP!

GOOD NIGHT NURSE!

HUMMM- OUTSIDE OF A SLIGHT DENT, THIS POT AIN'T HURT MUCH - I THINK I CAN FIX THAT MYSELF.

SO!

APRIL 12

OHHH! MY POOR HEAD! I THOUGHT HIS LITTLE WOMAN NEVER WOULD GET IN THERE TO EXPLAIN THINGS.

FER TH' LOVA MIKE! WHEN YOU SEEN THAT GUY, KAYO, WHY DIDN'T YOU BLOW YOUR WHISTLE?

I SWALLERED IT!

WELL, THE NEXT TIME, DADGUMMIT! I'M GONNA GIVE YOU A BASS VIOL!
